PREFACE

THIS volume presenting the history of the ancestors and descendants of Robert Coe, a Puritan founder of New England in 1634, contains the results of the labors of several persons extending over a period of more than a century.

In 1802 William Thompson of New York City [a grandson of William[4] Coe (No. 16)], compiled in a blank-book in modern genealogical form an account of all the descendants to that time of Lieut. Samuel[3] Coe (No. 7), (Capt. John[2], Robert[1]), born in Newtown, L. I., about 1672 and who removed in 1734 with his large family to Rockland County, N. Y. This manuscript was not published but was later circulated among the descendants in Rockland County, many of whom added to it the records of their families; and the book is now in the possession of the family of the late Augustus[7] Coe, Esq. (son of No. 86), of Ramapo, N. Y., who kindly allowed it to be copied by the Editor for use in this work.

The earliest printed genealogical account of the American Coes appeared in 1852 in Riker's "Annals of Newtown, L. I.," which gave a short genealogy of the Newtown branch of the family descended from Robert[1] Coe; much of this was repeated the next year in Hinman's "Early Puritan Settlers of Connecticut," which also gave records of a few of the early Coe families in that State descended from Robert[1] Coe.

The first actual Coe Genealogy to be printed was compiled and published in 1856 by Rev. David B.[8] Coe, D. D. (No. 391) of New York City, who issued in a small edition a fourteen page pamphlet entitled, "Record of the Coe Family 1596–1856," which gave a partial account of some of the Connecticut lines of the family descended from Robert[1] Coe, principally the descendants of Capt. Joseph[4] Coe (No. 19) of Durham, Conn. In 1859 this pamphlet was reprinted by Eben[7] Coe, Esq. (No. 226) of Bangor, Me., who also added two pages, giving details of his particular branch.

During the next twenty-five years short accounts of a few branches of the family were printed in various local histories like Boyd's "History of Winchester, Conn." (1873); Orcutt's "History of Torrington, Conn." (1878); Cogswell's "History of Nottingham and Northwood, N. H." (1878); Cole's "History of Rockland County, N. Y." (1884); and Orcutt's "History of Stratford and Bridgeport, Conn." (1886).

About 1875, Dr. David Williams Patterson (b. 1824, d. 1892) of Newark Valley, N. Y., an expert professional genealogist, announced his intention to compile a Coe genealogy. He collected a comparatively small amount of material, his mss. finally coming into the possession of the late Mrs. William G.[9] Coe of Winsted, Conn. (see under No. 363); and it was later copied by Mr. David[8] Coe (No. 506) of Stratford, Conn., during his compilation which is incorporated in this volume.

In 1894 Henry F. Coe (b. 1835, d. 1906) of Boston, Mass., published a small forty-seven page volume which he had compiled entitled, "Descendants of Matthew Coe." This Matthew[1] Coe settled in New England about 1640, and in Appendix IV. of this volume is given a short account of him and his children. This family is a small one, all the known descendants of Matthew[1] Coe born of the name amounting to only about three hundred persons.

For many years Hon. Levi E.[8] Coe (No. 426) of Meriden, Conn., was deeply interested in his ancestry, and he compiled and in 1897 published the "Coe-Ward Memorial," a hundred and thirty-six page history of his own branch of the Coe family descended from Robert[1] Coe, and of the various allied families from which he descended.

Bolton's "History of Rye, N. Y." (1871), published a badly mixed-up account of a Coe family of that place, erroneously stating them to be descended from Robert[1] Coe. Appendix I. of this volume presents a corrected account of six generations of this family; and Appendix II. gives an account of a Coe family early in Brooklyn, N. Y., also commonly but erroneously stated to be descended from Robert[1] Coe. The total descendants of these two families number but a few hundred persons.

The first important attempt to compile and publish a complete genealogy of all the descendants of Robert[1] Coe was made about 1890 by Mr. Charles D.[9] Coe (son of No. 422), then of Allegheny City, Pa. For nearly four years he pursued this work, mostly by correspondence, devoting his evenings to the undertaking, business requiring his attention daytimes. He was assisted by a few members of the family, particularly by Ernest E.[8] Coe, Esq. (No. 509) of Newark, N. J., who gave him copies of his records of the New Jersey branches which he had been collecting for several years. With this assistance Mr. Charles D.[9] Coe collected records of over two thousand descendants of Robert[1] Coe born of the name; but not having either the training and experience requisite for such work or the capital or adequate financial backing to complete and publish his genealogy, he finally abandoned the undertaking.

A few years later (about 1900), Mr. John H. Wallace of New York City (b. 1822, d. 1903) announced a proposal to compile and publish a genealogy of the descendants of Robert[1] Coe. Mr. Wallace, a retired publisher of ample means and genealogical experience, was an ardent Presbyterian layman, and his interest in the Coe family was due to the prominence of the New Jersey and Pennsylvania branches in that denomination. Although nearly eighty years of age Mr. Wallace vigorously pursued the work and collected records of neary two thousand descendants of Robert[1] Coe born of the name, his collection being especially strong on the decendants of Benjamin[2] Coe (Robert[1]). His mss. had been hastily arranged and partially typewritten, when the work was abruptly terminated by his death, May 2, 1903. His mss. was later acquired by Rev. William Wallace[9] Coe, D. D. (son of No. 520), who kindly loaned it to the Editor of this volume, and it has furnished considerable data not otherwise obtainable.

In 1897 Mr. David[8] Coe (No. 506), who had retired from business in New York City and returned to his native town of Stratford, Conn., decided to devote himself to the compilation of a comprehensive history and genealogy of the Coe family. To further this object he initiated in the spring of 1898 the formation of a Coe Association which was soon organized with the following officers:

President; Rev. Edward B. Coe, D. D., of New York City, N. Y.

Treasurer; Hon. Levi E. Coe of Meriden, Conn.

Secretary; David Coe of Stratford, Conn.

Executive Committee; Hon. Levi E. Coe of Meriden, Conn., Hon. Edward T. Coe of Torrington, Conn., Ernest E. Coe, Esq., of Newark, N. J., Hon. Lyman A. Mills of Middlefield, Conn., Andrew M. Camp of Durham, Conn., Miss Emma Camp Savage of Meriden, Conn., and Mrs. Ellen Coe Rylance of New York City.

This Coe Association raised about $250 for the printing of blanks and circulars and for stationery and postage, and Mr. David Coe volunteered to perform the work of compilation and immediately entered upon this arduous undertaking For nearly five years much of his time was devoted to this work which he pursued with unremitting patience and careful accuracy, collecting mostly by correspondence the records of nearly three thousand decendants of Robert[1] Coe born of the name, and of many others descended in female lines. During his work he was assisted by Hon. Levi E. Coe., Ernest E. Coe, Andrew C. Camp, Miss Emma Camp Savage, Ward E. Coe, and others of the Coe Association. In 1903 Mr. David Coe suspended his collecting as there then appeared no means for publication, so the work lay dormant for about six years. All members of the Coe family are deeply indebted to Mr. David Coe for his long and painstaking labors which furnished a basis for the production of this volume.

In 1908 Miss Mittie Belcher Fairbanks of Farmington, Me., commenced collecting data on some of the New England branches of the family, and secured considerable material which has been contributed to this volume.

In the spring of 1909 the present Editor undertook the compilation, editing, and publishing of a genealogy of the Coe family. Thereupon Mr. David Coe turned over to the Editor his collections made by him and others under the auspices of the Coe Association, which collection provided material suitable for a foundation for the genealogy of the family in America. During the last two years these collections have been extended by the Editor by personal research among original records in Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Connecticut, New York, and New Jersey, by exhaustive investigations in the great genealogical libraries in Boston, New York, and Philadelphia, and by correspondence resulting from nearly two thousand circulars and letters sent to all known living descendants of Robert [1] Coe, so the Editor has been able to secure records of over five thousand descendants of Robert [1] Coe born of the name, thus nearly doubling the number of descendants secured by the Coe Association; and it is probable that this volume has the records of ninety-five per cent. of these descendants of Robert [1] Coe born before 1800, and nearly ninety per cent. of those born since 1800.

During the autumn and winter of 1909–10 the Editor spent over five months in England investigating the ancestry of Robert [1] Coe, the results of which are given in the first part of this volume. For many years an idea had prevailed among some of the Coes in America that Robert[1] Coe was descended from a Coe family of Long Melford, co. Suffolk, England, and also that he was descended from Roger Coo, a martyr of the Reformation who was burned at the stake in 1555 at Yoxford, co. Suffolk; but these ideas which never had any substantial basis are shown to be erroneous. The Coe family of Gestingthorpe, co. Essex, England (from which family Robert[1] Coe descended) were entitled to bear the arms emblazoned as the frontispiece of this volume, but had no authorized crest. Appendices VI.–X. contain accounts of other Coe families of Suffolk County, England.

No genealogical work of this scope can be fully complete or wholly free from small errors. Often there is a disagreement in dates and other details in the same particular family as supplied by its different members which data also may disagree with official town records. Except in such minor points it is believed the work is as correct as is possible in work of this nature, and that all the lines of descent may be fully relied upon as accurate.

As so many different persons have taken part in this compilation, the chances for small errors are greater than usual, and it has not been possible to have an absolutely uniform and equally full schedule of all the families; the accounts of John E.[6] Coe (No. 153) and John J.[6] Coe (No. 86) are examples having the complete schedule of data which the Editor desired to have for each family.

As a general rule it is intended in the accounts of married Coe daughters to give full data of them and their husbands and also to give the names of their children; but the history and descendants of the latter are not generally pursued, as it is considered that their history properly belongs in genealogies of their respective family names.

At the present time (1910) there are numerous Coes living in the United States who are descended from several immigrants of the name who settled in Maryland and Virginia during the eighteenth century and in various parts of the country during the nineteenth century. The fragmentary material secured of these families has not been printed in this book, as it is considered to be outside the scope of the work.

It is evident that over three fourths of all the Coes now living in the United States are descended from Robert [1] Coe, the Puritan colonist of New England in 1634; and it is hoped that his descendants will derive much pleasure in perusing this memorial of a family of unusual worth.

EXPLANATORY NOTE

The index at end of volume gives alphabetically the names of all persons in the book and the pages on which the names occur. To find the line of ancestry of any descendant of Robert [1] Coe, for example WYATT COE, proceed as follows:

According to the index, Wyatt [8] Coe is to be found on page 223, where he appears as the sixth child of 178. ROBERT BELL [7] COE, after whose name is given in italics his ancestry, viz. (Samuel S. [6] (79), Samuel S. [5], Samuel [4], Lieut. Samuel [3], Capt. John [2], Robert [1]). Turning back in the personal serial numbers to No. 79, is found (on page 150) the account of 79. SAMUEL S. [6] COE, whose ancestry is given in italics in similar manner, his father being Samuel S. [5] (31), etc. In like manner turn back in the personal serial numbers successively to 31. SAMUEL S. [5] COE (on page 109), 14. SAMUEL [4] COE (on page 94), 7. LIEUT. SAMUEL [3] COE (on page 85), 2. CAPT. JOHN [2] COE (on page 77,) and 1. ROBERT [1] COE (on page 71).

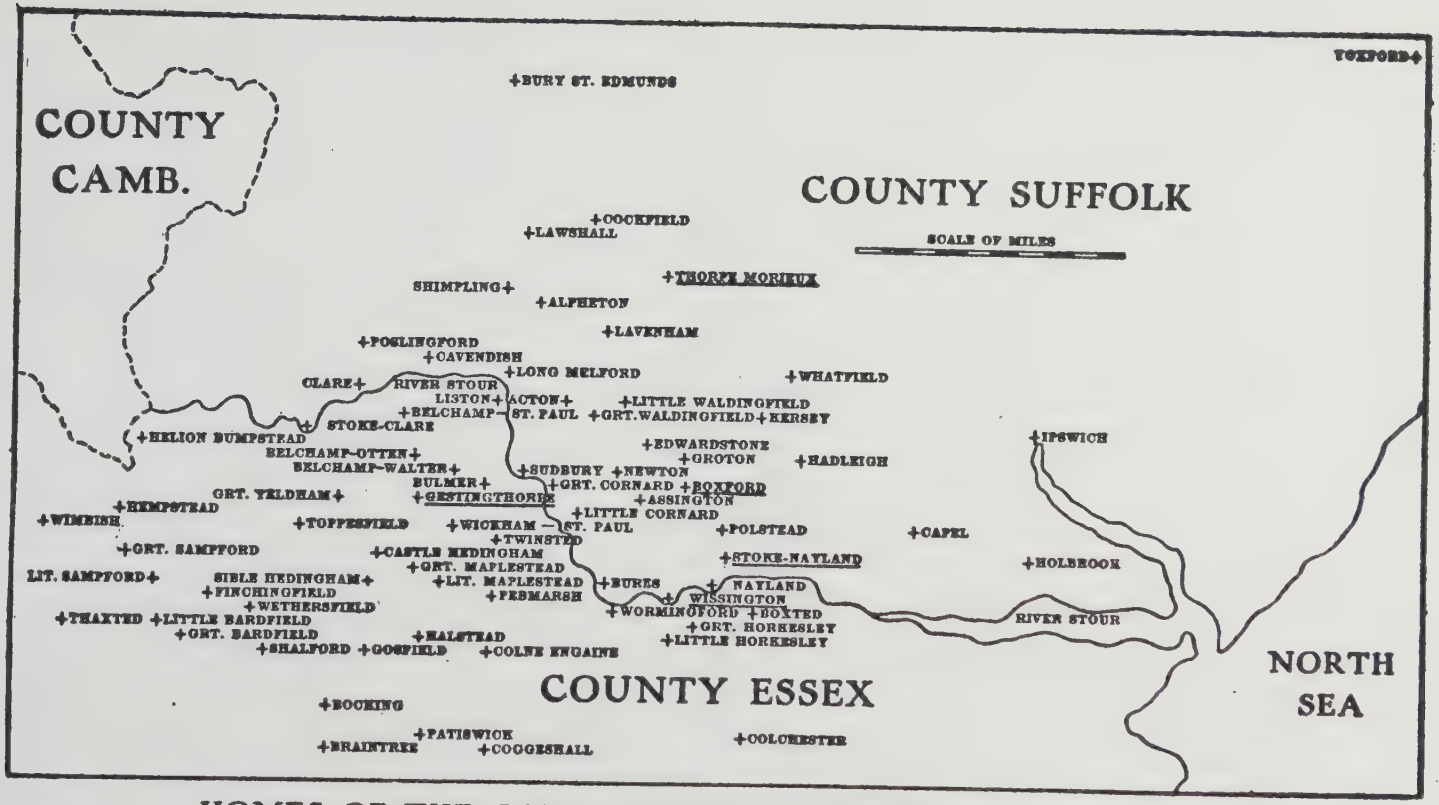
ANCESTRY OF ROBERT COE



HOMES OF THE COES IN SUFFOLK AND ESSEX, ENGLAND.

THE ENGLISH SETTLERS OF NEW ENGLAND

At the beginning of the seventeenth century the population of England was a homogeneous race amalgamated in the course of centuries from several races which in the remote past successively invaded and overspread the country.

A thousand years before Christ, the ancient Iberian aborigines of the Stone Age in England were overwhelmed by the Celtic Britons, the vanguard of the Aryan invasion of Central Europe, who overran and populated the country. During the first four centuries of the Christian era the Britons were under the military sway of Imperial Rome, although but little Roman blood was infused into the native population. The Roman legions were withdrawn in A. D. 420, and the island was gradually overspread by hordes of Angles, Saxons, and Jutes, Gothic tribes from Sleswick in Germany, who in a century exterminated or expelled the majority of the Britons, reduced the remainder to serfdom, and by A. D. 550 constituted over four-fifths of the blood of the population, and indelibly impressed on the country their language and characteristics which prevail in the English race to this day. For five centuries the Anglo-Saxons dominated England, and while toward the close of their régime there was considerable Danish settlement in the country, yet in A. D. 1066 nearly three-fourths of the blood of the two million population was Anglo-Saxon. In this year the Norman conquest extinguished the rule of the Anglo-Saxons in England and stripped them of all ownership of the land, reducing them to artisans, laborers, and serfs of the soil; and although the Norman invaders comprised but one-sixth of the population, the establishment of the feudal system securely founded a powerful Norman landed aristocracy, which by the custom of primogeniture has endured over eight centuries. For a few generations after the Norman conquest there was a sharp caste distinction between the Normans and Anglo-Saxons; but gradually a welding together of the general mass of the population took place, and from the great numerical preponderance of the Anglo-Saxons their tongue became the predominant element in the evolution of the modern English language.

At the time of the settlement of New England (1620–1640), in the blood of the English nobility the Norman strain was still strongly preponderant; but it is considered that of the blood of the great mass of the then four million population of England (the yeomanry, craftsmen, laborers, etc.) nearly two-thirds was Anglo-Saxon, the remainder being chiefly Norman, Briton, Danish, Roman, and Iberian, in amounts decreasing in the order named; and this preponderance of Anglo-Saxon blood pertained especially to Suffolk and Essex whence were derived nearly two-thirds of the twenty-five thousand English colonists who settled New England between 1620 and 1643, among whom was Robert Coe, the earliest and principal founder in America of that family name.

The causes leading to the settlement of New England may be briefly treated. About A. D. 1500 under a general awakening in knowledge in Europe, the Reformation, or revolt from the church of Rome, was started in Germany by Luther and others and soon spread to England during the reign of Henry VIII. (1509–1547), resulting in the conversion of the majority of the population, the dissolution of the monasteries and confiscation of their estates to the crown, and finally the Act of Supremacy terminating Papal authority in England and establishing the Protestant Church of England. In the time of Philip and Mary (1554–1558), the Papal power was temporarily restored and attempts were made to crush out Protestantism; the dungeons were crowded with victims and nearly three hundred martyrs (among them a Roger Coo of Suffolk) endured the frightful doom of the stake in their persistence of adherence to their belief. On the accession of Elizabeth in A. D. 1558 the Protestant religion was restored to power, the Catholics dwindled in numbers, and an era of great prosperity for England set in.

During the reign of Elizabeth (1558–1603), there grew and spread among some of the Protestants a desire for a simpler form of religion with independent congregations, and even a separation of church and state; these dissenters became severally known as Puritans and Separatists and in spite of persecutions to enforce conformity to the established church they increased rapidly in numbers, principally among the great middle class, and particularly in Essex and Suffolk. Under James I. and Charles I. the persecutions of the Puritans became so obnoxious as to induce an emigration, between 1620 and 1643, of some twenty-five thousand of them to the wilds of New England where they might enjoy their religious belief unmolested; of these colonists nearly two-thirds were from Essex and Suffolk, among them Robert Coe, the Puritan ancestor of most of the Coes in America. To secure religious freedom was not, however, the only cause of this emigration; a corrupt and incompetent government and profligate court had brought the country to great industrial distress, poverty among the masses, and crushing taxation; and it is certain that many of New England's early settlers left their native country to better their living conditions. In A. D. 1643 the Puritan party secured control of the English government, their persecution ended, and emigration to New England practically ceased for nearly a hundred and fifty years; consequently at the outbreak of the American Revolution in A. D. 1775 over nine-tenths of the then New England population of seven hundred thousand were descended from the twenty five thousand English colonists who came to New England between 1620 and 1643.

FAMILY NAMES

Family names in England followed lines of evolution similar to those which occurred in all other countries in which the subject has been studied.

Among the ancient Briton and Saxon inhabitants of England hereditary family surnames were unknown, and individuals had but a single given name. With the Norman conquest in 1066 a change in nomenclature was introduced into England as the Norman barons bore as hereditary family surnames the names of the places of their lordships there; as William de Warrenne, later Warren, (William [Lord] of Warrenne), Roger de Beaumont, William d'Albini, Roger de Montgomerie, Hugh de Beauchamp, etc.; and when they settled in England they and their male descendants retained their Norman family names, the "de" in course of time disappearing. In general, names of parishes, hamlets, and towns in England were not changed by the Norman conquest, and the lords of the manors held by knights fee under the Crown or under the great baronies took for hereditary family surnames the Saxon names of their manors, as John de Gestingthorpe, William de Maplesteade, Robert de Wissington, etc.; most of these persons, however, were Normans of lesser rank, although some were Saxons. The great mass of the population owning or holding no land, and mostly of Saxon blood, bore no hereditary family surnames until about A. D. 1300, when as civilization advanced and the population increased, it became necessary to have a general systematic means of family and personal identity. Therefore, during the fourteenth century hereditary family surnames gradually came into general use among the mass of the English population (but in Wales the custom did not obtain until towards the close of the sixteenth century).

Family surnames in England were derived mainly from seven sources:

I. Places in Normandy and England as before described.

II. Localities: John at-the-well became John Atwell or Wells; William at-the-wood became William Atwood or Wood; in like manner originated Hill, Dale, Field, Leigh or Lee, Brook, Downs, Ford, Heath, Lane, Marsh, Park, Pond, Tower, Underwood, Styles, etc., etc.

III. Patronymics in three forms:

a. The Saxon form: John the son of William became John Williamson, Williams, or Wilson; Robert the son of Richard became Robert Richardson, Richards, Dickson, or Dixon; likewise were derived Johnson, Jones, and Jackson; Davidson, Davis, and Dawes; Thompson, Tomson, and Tompkins, etc., etc.

b. The Norman form: Roger fils [son of] Gilbert became Roger Fitz Gilbert; and in like manner were derived Fitz Gerald, Fitz Warren, Fitz Payne, etc.; but this form came but little into use.

c. The Welsh form: John ap [child of] Hugh became John Pugh, and in a similar way evolved ap Rice into Price, ap Owen into Bowen, ap Richard into Pritchet, ap Howell into Powell, etc., etc.

IV. Occupations: John le Smith later became John the Smith, and finally John Smith; John le Cocus evolved into John le Coke, John the Cook and John Cook; likewise were adopted Carpenter, Mason, Baker, Barber, Taylor, Cooper, Carter, Chapman, Miller, Shepherd, Wright, etc., etc.

V. Offices: King, Prince, Duke, Earl, Baron, Knight, Lord, Marshal, Constable, Sargent, Summoner or Sumner, Burgess, Bailiff or Bailey, Bishop, Abbot, Priest, Clerk or Clark, 'Squire, Forrester or Foster, Parker, Woodward or Woodruff, Hayward, etc., etc.

VI. Personal Characteristics: Long, Tallman, Bigg, Gross, Short, Lowe, Little, Small; White, Gray, Brown, Black, Green, Read [Red]; Clement, Savage, Gay, Grave, Sweet, Goode, Best, Meane; Rich, Poor, Hardy, Strong, Armstrong, Swift, Wild, etc., etc.

VII. Animals, Birds, and Fishes: Wolf, Bull, Fox, Lyon, Lamb, Doe, Hare, Leverett, Hind, Badger, Hogg, etc.; Bird, Fowle, Hawke, Wrenn, Partridge, Swallow, Martin, Swan, Crane, Drake, etc.; Fish, Fiske, Salmon, Herring, Crabb, Haddock, Ray, Sturgeon, etc. Persons given these names doubtless had some real or fancied physical or mental characteristics of these creatures.

THE NAME "COE"

Down to about A. D. 1600 the family name "Coe" was localized mainly in the eastern English counties of Essex, Suffolk, Cambridge and Norfolk. In the form "le Koo" it commences to appear in records about A. D. 1300, which spelling in about half a century began to be superseded by "le Coo"; later the "le" was dropped and before A. D. 1400 the form "Coo" came in vogue and (except for a rare use of "Coho") was almost universally used until after A. D. 1550, and is found occasionally even as late as A. D. 1650; between about A. D. 1550 and A. D. 1600 "Cooe" is frequently met with, being a transition stage into the modern form "Coe" which commences to appear about A. D. 1575, increased constantly in use, and by A. D. 1650 had become the generally accepted spelling and has so continued to the present time. Although in early times spelled "Koo" and "Coo," on account of the broad accent prevalent in the East Anglian dialect it is likely that the pronunciation was always more like "Coe."

Of the origin of the name "Koo," "Coo," "Coho," "Cooe," and "Coe," at least five explanations are possible.

I. For over two centuries after the Norman conquest of England, Norman-French was the language of the Court, the nobility, and the landed gentry, and of official documents in which Latin was not used. In the purest Norman-French of the twelfth century the term for "the cook" [Latin coquus or cocus] was "le queu," also written "le quou," "le qeu," "le quec," "le cou," etc.; and in England this was "anglicized" into "le keu," which in the broad East Anglian dialect would be pronounced more like "koe." From about A. D. 1200 down to nearly A. D. 1350 there are very numerous references to be found in English records of persons in all parts of the country called "le Keu," like "John le Keu," meaning "John the Cook"; about A. D. 1350 "le Keu" suddenly disappears, and in East Anglia "le Koo" a generation earlier begins suddenly to appear; so it seems reasonable that the latter may have been a still further Anglican evolution of the former; and from "le Koo" to "Coe" the descent is certain.

II. In the midland counties of England in former times the word "coe," also spelled "ko," "koo," "keo," "co," and "coo," was applied to the jackdaw or chough, a small kind of crow; this use of the word is now obsolete. As numerous names of birds provided family names, the coe (or jack-daw) may also have done so. It is also to be noted that the Coe arms bear twelve black martlets; the latter however are footless swallows and not jackdaws.

III. Coe is also an obsolete English word (probably from the jackdaw coe), used, especially in county Norfolk, as a nick-name for an odd or eccentric person. Nicknames were the source of many family names.

IV. In the mining districts of England from ancient times the word "coe" has been applied to a shanty covering the opening of a mining-shaft, and this use of the word still continues.

V. In Scotland a Celtic termination "coe" is used, meaning rivulet; e. g., "Glencoe." The family name Coe found in the north of England and south of Scotland, although very rare, may have this derivation, which however would not apply to the Coes of East Anglia.

As the name "Coe" in its earliest positively known form of "le Koo" appears about A. D. 1300 suddenly and simultaneously in various parts of Norfolk, Suffolk, Cambridge, and Essex, it is evident that all persons of the name are not descended from one single progenitor, but from several individuals in no degree related who assumed the name early in the fourteenth century, some deriving from one of the origins above suggested, and others from another.

THE COES OF ENGLAND

Among the Coes of England three branches were in past times particularly prominent for several generations, viz.:- The Coes of Gestingthorpe etc., co. Essex; the Coes of Boxford and Groton, co. Suffolk; and the Coes of Sahamtony, co. Norfolk. These three branches were armorial and bore similar arms, but no proof of relationship to each other has been found; the first named was the most ancient, although the other two have been traced back to early in the fifteenth century. Other families of the name, of minor importance, were scattered in numerous parishes of Essex, Suffolk, Norfolk, and Cambridge.

The Coe family of Sahamtony co. Norfolk held that manor in capite (of the Crown) for several generations in the fifteenth and sixteenth centuries; as they were not related to the ancestors of the Coes of America, their history has not been pursued.

The Coe family of Boxford and Groton co. Suffolk began to rise to prominence about A. D. 1450 and acquired wealth as clothiers [clothmakers]; for two centuries they were landholders and in a few individual cases landowners in that region; but about A. D. 1620 the head of the family removed to Essex and thence to Northamptonshire, and the family eventually became extinct in the Suffolk parishes where they had resided for several generations. An account of this family is given in Appendix VI.

The Coe family of Gestingthorpe etc. became extensive landholders in that region before A. D. 1400 and so continued for over two hundred and fifty years; a few members of this family were also landowners, but in general this branch of the family were yeomen or farmers of the copyhold class, their land tenure being by leases of various forms, as for terms of three lives, fixed terms of years, etc.; by these leases some lines of the family occupied the same lands for several generations. The senior branch of this family became extinct in the male line upon the death of Abner[9] Coo M. D. in 1664; but there are a few farmers of the name still living in the vicinity who doubtless are descended from junior branches of the ancient main line at Gestingthorpe, from which family also descended Robert[9] Coe, a Puritan colonist of New England, who in A. D. 1634 transplanted the family name to America where it has wonderfully flourished and become highly esteemed, producing a race of exceptional worth in all walks of life, among whom are found many individuals of eminence in professional life, business activities, and public service.

EARLY RECORDS OF COES IN ENGLAND

In the English government archives known as the Close Rolls and Patent Rolls the family name "le Keu" [the Cook] first appears about A. D. 1235, increases in frequency until about A. D. 1300, and then decreases in use, appearing for the last time in A. D. 1354; during this period these rolls contain over four hundred mentions of this name scattered in all parts of England and always preceded by "le." In the Hundred Rolls [lists of landholders etc. of all England], 2 Edward I. (1273), Cocus appears ninety-seven times, Coc, Cok, or Koc one hundred and seventy times, le Keu seven times, and le Koo once only and that in co. Cambridge. In the Calendar [List] of Wills in the Court of Husting, A. D. 1258–A. D. 1358, le Keu occurs five times.

The following miscellaneous early mentions of le Koo, le Coo, etc. have been found in records before A. D. 1400:

Dec., 1273. William le Koo, a resident of co. Cambridge. (Hundred Rolls,* 2 Edward I.)

Nov. 22, 1306. Agnes le Koo and the heirs of Ralph le Koo were tenants of the manor of Bukenham [Buckenham], co. Norfolk. (Close Rolls, 35 Edward I, m. 17.)

Nov. 28, 1314. Bail was allowed to William son of Nicholas le Koo of Mildenhall, co. Suffolk, who was in jail at Bury St. Edmunds for the death of Richard son of Nicholas le Koo. (Close Rolls, 8 Edward II.)

A. D. 1327, Subsidy for co. Suffolk: Bosmere Hundred, Bresete [Bricet] Great and Little, Radulpho le Co, xv d; Hoxne Hundred, Hoxne cum Durham, Galfrido le Coo, xv d; Blything Hundred, Leystone [Leiston], Henrico le Coo, viij d; Thingoe Hundred, Nowton, Roberto le Coo. (Subsidy, co. Suffolk, 1327, Suffolk Green Books, No. IX.)

Feb. 14, 1327–8. The will of Thomas de Hales of London mentions a Thomas le Koo. (Calendar of Wills, Court of Husting, vol. 1, p. 332.)

July 12, 1340. A commission was appointed to inquire as to the death of Hugh le Koo murdered at Rameseye [Ramsey], co. Hunts. (Pat. Rolls, 14 Edward III, m. 57 d.)

June 29, 1344. A pardon for rebellion was granted to the inhabitants of Yarmouth co. Norfolk, among them John le Coo and John le Coo the younger. (Pat. Rolls, 18 Edward III, m. 36.)

Mar. 10, 1347. A complaint was made against John le Koo et als. for rioting etc. at Berkeweye [Barkway] co. Herts. (Pat. Rolls, 21 Edward III, m. 27 d.)

July 13, 1347. A complaint was made against Hugh Koo of Overe, co. Camb. et als. for rioting, etc. (Pat. Rolls, 21 Edward III, m. 14 d.)

A. D. 1359. Roger Coo paid entry fine for lands and tenements in Panfield, co. Essex, acquired from [William] Lightwater. (Court Rolls, Honour of Clare, vol. 1859, p. 85.) [The Honour of Clare was a great feudal jurisdiction over parts of Essex and Suffolk held by the Earl of Clare whose castle was in Clare, co. Suffolk.]

Oct. 27, 1369. Will of Gilbert Koo of London directs that he be buried at Writtle, co. Essex, where he held lands; names late wife Katharine, dau. Katharine, brother John Koo, kinsman John Koo, son John Koo. (Calendar of Wills, Court of Husting, vol. 2, p. 142.)

* The rolls as printed by the Government also show a Beatrix le Coe of Co. Norfolk, which reference has been quoted by several writers in commenting on the name "Coe"; this however is a misprint as the original rolls have Beatrix le Coc and not le Coe.

Nov. 16, 1386. A license issued to William Koo of Royston co. Camb. to alienate lands there. (Pat. Rolls, 10 Richard II, m. 12.)

Sept. 3, 12 Richard II, (1388). A letter of attorney was given by John Aleyne of Boxford, co. Suffolk, to John Coo of Wodekeystre, fuller, to deliver seisin of certain lands in Stoke Nayland, co. Suffolk, to Sir Robert de Marny, John Coo, clerk, et als. (Ancient Deeds at Record Office, C. 238.)

Jan. 20, 1389–90. John Coo and William Coo were inhabitants of Overe, co. Cambridge. (Pat. Rolls, 12 Richard II, m. 23.)

A. D. 1397 (20 Richard II). On a Subsidy Roll for co. Essex, in the parish of Bumpstead-at-the-Tower appear: Roger Coo, taxed xij d., and Raduphus Coo et uxor ei, taxed ij sh.; and at Great Saling appear Johannes Cohoo et uxor, taxed ij sh. (Lay Subsidies, Essex 107–68.)

HERALDRY

About the time of the First Crusade (A. D. 1100), the custom arose in western Europe for knights to depict certain devices on their shields to identify their bearers, who completely encased in the metal armor of the age could not otherwise be recognized in battle. This was the origin of "coats-of-arms," and soon the custom became established for one particular device to be borne hereditably in one particular family; and later in England the right to bear a hereditary coat-of-arms became an honor and privilege issuing from the Crown under the supervision of the Earl Marshall.

With no especial regulations in the matter difficulties arose, among them that of two families claiming the same arms; a remarkable case of this kind was the celebrated "Scrope-Grosvenor Cause at Arms" which begun in A. D. 1385 before the Earl Marshall and continued for five years, being finally decided in A. D. 1390 by the King to whom the case had been appealed. To organize and regulate heraldry which had gradually become a science, the College of Arms (often popularly called the Heralds' College) was instituted as early as A. D. 1464 and later incorporated; the Earl Marshall is the head of this College solely in which is vested the right to grant or confirm arms, legally certify pedigrees in connection therewith, etc.

To properly enroll the gentry entitled to bear coats-of-arms and to prevent the use of arms by persons without right to them, the College of Arms commenced about A. D. 1530 to hold county "Visitations," in which the heralds would visit the various counties, secure from the nobility and gentry information of their pedigrees from verbal statements and family documents, settle their claims to coats-of-arms, and publish lists of those who unlawfully had assumed arms. These Visitations were held irregularly about every forty years up to about A. D. 1670 after which time that custom ceased; but the College with all its authority still continues. At the Visitations the custom of the heralds seems to have been, that if a gentleman could prove that the arms he claimed had been borne or used by his lineal male ancestors over a century before, his right to the arms was acknowledged; if he did not prove this, his right to the arms was "respited" [withheld] until he should do so.

The completed results of these Visitations were copied and enrolled in the archives of the College of Arms; but the heralds were allowed to retain their original manuscripts, a large number of which are now in the libraries of the Universities of Cambridge and Oxford and the British Museum.

For persons of English descent the right to bear arms must be derived from one of the following three sources:

I. A new creation and personal grant by the College of Arms. This can be secured only by a British subject possessing certain qualifications of property etc., on payment of scheduled fees.

II. Proof of descent in an unbroken lineal male line from an ancestor to whom personally a coat-of-arms was granted or confirmed by the College of Arms.

III. Proof of descent in an unbroken lineal male line from a family line recorded in a Visitation by the heralds of the College of Arms, which was acknowledged by them to be entitled to arms.

As when arms are granted, confirmed, or acknowledged to certain individuals, the right to their use descends to all their lineal male descendants forever, it is immaterial whether or not said descendants are British subjects, or where they reside, or whether or not all the intermediate generations of their ancestors have availed themselves of their privilege.

ARMS OF COE OF GESTINGTHORPE, CO. ESSEX, ENGLAND

At the Visitation of Essex in 1612*, (see ante, p. 10), Edward [8] Coo of Patiswick and Belchamp Walter (then the senior representative of the Coe family of Gestingthorpe), entered a pedigree of his family which is shown on opposite page, claiming for arms, Argent, three piles wavy meeting near the base gules, between twelve martlets sable, also described, Argent, three piles in point wavy gules, a semée of martlets sable; and a seal of his brother Roger [8] Coo bearing these arms (differenced with a crescent as second son and also impaling the arms of Clopton, the family of the wife of the latter) was shown to the heralds.

Edward [8] Coo based his claim to these arms upon ancient family usage, as he proved by his possession of two ancient deeds two centuries old, one dated June, 1403, the other May 20, 1423, on which the names of his ancestors John [1] Coo and John [2] Coo of Gestingthorpe respectively appeared with their seals bearing similar arms, viz., Three pales wavy charged with twelve martlets. The heralds acknowledged the descent of Edward [8] Coo from John [1] Coo and John [2] Coo to be proved by his possession of these deeds (although, in the pedigree they compiled, the names in the first three of the five intermediate generations were omitted); and they also acknowledged the right of Edward [8] Coo as a descendant of John [1] Coo and John [2] Coo, to bear the arms he claimed, which are emblazoned as the frontispiece of this volume.

Now as Henry [8] Coe, the father of Robert Coe the Puritan colonist of New England in A. D. 1634, was a second cousin of Edward [8] Coo and so equally descended from John [1] Coo and John [2] Coo, the right to the same arms also, therefore, descended to Henry [8] Coe and his son Robert Coe and the latter's lineal male descendants. The Coe family of Gestingthorpe and its descendants are not entitled to any crest.

* Harleian Manuscript No. 6065, in the Library of the British Museum, is the original manuscript of the Visitation of Essex in 1612. On page 66 is the Coo pedigree given on opposite page as nearly identical with the original as is possible to print a manuscript. This visitation pedigree is proved correct except in the following particulars: 1. The date 1304 is a clerical error for 1403; 2. The date 1422 should be 1423; 3. The John Coo who married ——— Hill, daughter of Hill of Alderton, was not son, but great-great-grandson of the preceeding John Coo.

COE FAMILY OF GESTINGTHORPE, ENGLAND, ANCESTORS OF ROBERT COE

1. JOHN[1] COO, the earliest historical progenitor of the Coe family of Gestingthorpe, co. Essex, etc., ancestors of Robert Coe the principal founder of the Coe family of America, was born probably in Essex county, England, about A. D. 1340 during the reign of Edward III; a period when chivalry was at its height and when martial prowess elevated to wealth and power many heroes who, rising from obscure origin, became historical characters and founders of great families.

At just this time commenced the wars in France which lasted over a score of years and during which the English arms attained immortal glory under the leadership of the Black Prince, the most illustrious hero of the age of chivalry. Among his followers to rise to fame was Sir John Hawkwood Knt., born about A. D. 1320 at Sible Hedingham, co. Essex (the parish adjacent to Gestingthorpe on the southwest), a younger son of an obscure family, who when a young man entered the English army in France and so distinguished himself by valor as to secure the favor of his royal commander and be raised to the honor of knighthood. About A. D. 1360 the war with France terminated, and Sir John Hawkwood, who had acquired an international reputation as a soldier, went to Italy (which then was divided into several small states and independent cities, continually at war with one another), and there the celebrated warrior passed the remaining thirty-five years of his life as a professional "condottiere" in the pay and service of different states at various times as commander of their armies. As a nucleus of his forces he secured from England several thousand picked men whom he organized into a highly efficient heavy cavalry known as "Compagnia Bianca," or "The White Company," who were irresistible in battle, and whose achievements famed throughout Europe are mentioned in Conan Doyle's romantic novel bearing their name. During his career Hawkwood secured large wealth which was lost in his later years, and in his old age he lived on a pension from the city of Florence where in the Duomo still may be seen a heroic equestrian fresco of him painted by Paolo Uccello as a memorial of the renowned commander.

In Hawkwood's "White Company" was an Englishman called in the Italian chronicles Coc, Cok, or Cocco*, who won the spurs of knight-

* "The Englishmen were always the mercenaries preferred by the Florentines. . . . On October 3d, 1384, John Gulion, JOHN COKUM, Thomas Ball, and Richard Sticklet were engaged as constables [captains] each with 100 lances and 4 trumpeters." (See "Sir John Hawkwood," p. 182, footnote.) Each "lance" consisted of three men; the knight, his squire, and his page.

hood by desperate valor in the sanguinary battle of San Gallo, May 1, 1364, and later became one of Hawkwood's principal constables [captains]. Accounts of many of his exploits during the next twenty years were preserved by the Italian historians, and among the Papal Registers are several letters in A. D. 1373 from Pope Gregory XI, addressed to Coc and other English officers under Hawkwood, then in service of the Pope, promising them the pay for their services. (See "Sir John Hawkwood," by John Temple-Leader and Gieuseppe Marcotti, translated by Leader Scott, pp. 27–8, 93, 106, 139, 160, 182; also Calendar of Papal Registers, (English State Papers), vol. 4, pp. 120, 122, 129, 136.)

Sir John Hawkwood died at Florence Mar. 16, 1394–5, and was honored by a magnificent public funeral; later his body was removed to England, at the special request of King Richard II, and interred in his native place. "At Sible Hedingham in the parish church of St. Peter may still be seen part of a canopy under an arch where once rose a noble cenotaph, the arch bearing the allusive heraldic decoration of a hawk flying amid trees. . . . . This monument was the tomb of Sir John Hawkwood . . . . . erected by his zealous friends Robert Rokenden, Sen., Robert Rokenden, Jun., and John Cook [should be JOHN COO as hereafter shown], perhaps the man whom the Italian chroniclers called Cocco and who was among the leaders in Hawkwood's company. And not content with merely perpetuating the memory and providing a tomb for their captain, they also took thought for his soul by founding a chapelry in that church and another in the priory of Castle Hedingham to pray for the soul of Sir John Hawkwood," etc. (See "Sir John Hawkwood" by Temple-Leader and Marcotti, translated by Leader Scott, pp. 307–8.)

In the original records the founder of the Hawkwood chantries is called John Coo (not Cook) of Gestingthorpe, as appears from the following documents:

Inquisition taken at Branketre [Braintree, co. Essex], on Tuesday before the Feast of St. Matthias, 13 Henry IV., (Feb. 1411–12). The jury say it will be no prejudice to the King or any other to allow Robert Rykedon the elder, Robert Rykedon the younger, and John Coo to establish a chantry in the parish church of Hengham Sibille [Sible Hedingham] and another in the Priory of Nuns at Castle Hengham [Hedingham], with an endowment of lands in those places and in Gosfield, Mapletrestede [Maplestead], Great and Little Yelham, and Topesfeld, for the souls of Sir John Haukewode Knt., John Olyver Esq., and Thomas Newenton Esq. Besides the lands to be so assigned there will remain to the Rykedons lands in Shalford etc.; and to John Coo two hundred acres of land, ten acres of pasture, and 20 sh. rents, all in Gestyngthorpe, held of Lady Joane de Swynbourne by Knight's service, worth 10 marks yearly. (Inquisition ad Quod Damnum, Record Office, File 443, No. 24.)

On Oct. 20, 1412, License was issued for £20 paid into the Hanaper [Treasury] by Robert Rykendon the elder, Robert Rykendon the younger, and John Coo, for them to found a chantry of one chaplain in the parish church of Hengham Sibille and another chantry of one chaplain in the church of the Priory of Nuns of Hengham at the Castle, and to grant four messuages [dwelling houses], four tofts [old dwellings], four hundred and twenty acres of land, thirteen acres of meadow, twenty acres of pasture, four acres of wood, and twenty-two acres of alder, in Hengham Sibille, Hengham at the Castle, Gosfield, Mapeltrested, Great Gelham [Yeldham], Little Gelham, and Topesfeld, not held of the King, to the said chaplains to celebrate divine service daily in the said churches for the souls of John Hawkwode knight, John Olyver esquire, and Thomas Newenton esquire. (Patent Rolls, 14 Henry IV, membrane 18.)

It was suggested by the historians Morant and Weever that the founders of these chantries were executors of Hawkwood, and that the endowment was from his estate; but as the chantries were also for the souls of two of his companions and as it is known that Hawkwood died insolvent, this idea is untenable and moreover the wording of the Inq. ad Quod Damnum makes it evident that the foundation was a gift of Coo and the Rykedons.

What caused John[1] Coo of Gestingthorpe to donate so much of his estate to found chantries for the soul of Sir John Hawkwood? That he had gained his wealth in service with Hawkwood in Italy is the only reasonable explanation; in the Italian chronicles the English names of Hawkwood and his officers were so mutilated by Italian spelling as to be hardly recognizable; i. e., Hawkwood was distorted into Haucut, Haud, Auchut, Agut, Agud, Auguth, Agostino, Acuto, Aguti, Aucudo, Agulio, Karcoud, Kauchwole, etc.; Brise appears as Brez, Briche, Breschi, Breccia, etc.; Thornbury becomes Tournaberil, Tornabarilli, Comneberil, etc.; so the identity of Coc or Cocco, the Cavalier of the "White Company," with John[1] Coo* of Gestingthorpe, founder of the Hawkwood chantries and progenitor of the Coe family of Gestingthorpe and America, seems well established.

We therefore conclude that John[1] Coo in early manhood joined Hawkwood's "White Company" in Italy and for many years participated in the famous exploits of that celebrated band. Such a career was the acme of the strenuous life; physical prowess, skilled horsemanship, indomitable courage, reckless daring, and romantic chivalry were the characteristics of the cavalier of that period "when knighthood was in flower," and when warfare with all its scenes of valor, carnage, and pillage, was considered the greatest glory of mankind.

Having secured by his sword rank, fame, and fortune, John[1] Coo returned to his native land, acquired extensive estates in the region of his birth, and passed his remaining years as a country gentleman. The earliest reference yet found of him in England is in 20 Richard II (1397), when he is assessed on a subsidy [royal tax] as a married man for lands

* It has been previously shown how Coo, Coho, and Koo were probably anglicized forms of the Norman-French Keu, meaning Cook, from the Latin Coquus or Cocus shortened to Cok or Coc. (See ante, p. 7.)

in Belchamp St. Paul, co. Essex, appearing in the tax list as Johannes Koo et uxor ei, iij sh. (Lay Subsidies, Essex, 107–68.) At the Visitation of Essex in 1612, his descendant Edward[8] Coo produced a deed dated the Feast of the Holy Trinity 4 Henry IV (about June, 1403), signed by John[1] Coo, with the latter's seal bearing a holy lamb with a banner* and within an escutcheon the following arms: Three pales wary charged with twelve martlets. (Visitation of Essex 1612, Harl. Mss. 6065, fol. 66.) About his time John[1] Coo also held lands in Wickham St. Paul, co. Essex, as tenant of the Dean and Chapter of St. Paul's Church, London. (See Morant's "History of Essex," vol. 2, p. 276.) The following records of his acquisition of lands have also been discovered: On the Feast of St. Martin the Bishop 9 Henry IV, (Nov. 11, 1407), Nicholas Berners and Margery [Swynbourne] his wife granted to John[1] Coo and Geoffrey Swynbourne of co. Essex, et als., the manor of Ambirden [in Debden, Essex]. (Ancient Deeds at Record Office, C. 2883); also in 9 Henry IV, (1407), John[1] Coo paid entry fine [fee] on one messuage [dwelling-house] and twenty-six acres of land in Gestingthorpe called Grene's, acquired of John Warner. (Court Rolls, Honour of Clare [a great feudal baronial jurisdiction of the Earls of Clare, co. Suffolk], vol. 1859, p. 35.)

Having attained an age of about seventy years, John[1] Coo settled his affairs in A. D. 1412 by donating a large part of his estate to found the Hawkwood chantries as previously described, which is the last mention found of him. No records have been found to show the name of his wife and the names of all their children.

Children:

2. i. JOHN[2], b. about 1375, was eldest son and heir according to the Visitation of Essex in 1612. (See ante, p. 12.)

ii. WILLIAM, b. about 1380, was of Halstead, co. Essex, 8 Henry V, (1415). (Court Rolls, Honour of Clare, vol. 1859, p. 48.) His further history has not been traced, but perhaps he was father of John Coo who d. in 1452, progenitor of the Coes of Boxford and Groton, co. Suffolk, who bore the same coat-of-arms as the Coes of Gestingthorpe. (See Appendix VI.)

* The paschal lamb, or holy lamb with the banner of St. George, was originally the badge of the Knights Templar, a military-religious order founded about the year A. D. 1115 by some crusaders, for the service of the Christian church in the Holy Land, and although at one period of great power throughout Europe, was suppressed about A. D. 1315. At one time part of Hawkwood's "White Company" called "The Company of St. George," was in the service of the Pope and Church; John[1] Coo being in this service perhaps adopted this badge on that account. (See "Sir John Hawkwood," p. 56; also Calendar of Papal Registers in English State Papers, vol. 4, pp. 120, 122, 129, 186.)

The description of the seal of John[1] Coo as given in the Visitation, is not clear as to the position on it occupied by the paschal lamb; but perhaps the latter was above the escutcheon and so in the nature of a crest.

2. JOHN[2] COO (John[1]), born probably about 1375, is first found on records in 20 Richard II (1397), when he was assessed (on the same subsidy [royal tax] with his father) as a married man in Belchamp St. Paul, co. Essex, appearing in the list as Johannes Koo jun. et uxor ei, ij sh. (Lay Subsidies, Essex, 107–68.) No further records have been found of John[2] Coo until after the decease of his father John[1] Coo who died about 1415, upon which he succeeded as eldest son to the paternal estates in Gestingthorpe held of Lady Joane Swynbourne as previously shown (See ante p. 16).

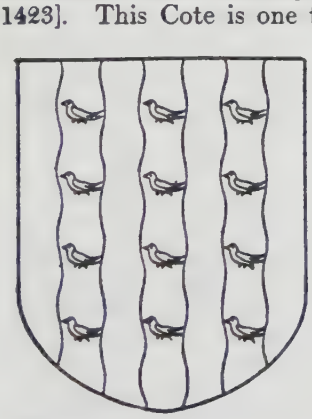
The next mention of John[2] Coo that has been discovered is in 9 HenryV, (1421) when he paid an entry-fine [fee] on lands acquired of John Pulter in Hempstead, co. Essex, in which parish his descendants continued land-holders for several generations. (Court Rolls, Honour of Clare, vol. 1859, p. 63.)

In the Coe pedigree in the Visitation of Essex in 1612, it is stated that "John[2] Coo of Gestingthorpe in Com Essex, Gent, sonne and heire [of John[1] Coo], lived in the first yeare of K: Hen the 6, proved by a Auncient deade bearinge date the 20 of maye in y[e] same yeare 1422 [1423]. This Cote is one the Seale of the deade in K: H: 6: tyme." (The accompanying arms are depicted in the Visitation.)



It is apparent that this ancient deed of 1423 was in 1612 in the possession of Edward[8] Coo who entered the pedigree in the Visitation, and that he showed it to the heralds, claiming descent from this John[2] Coo who used these arms two centuries earlier, and basing his own right to use arms on this ancient family usage; and his descent from John[2] Coo and his right to arms were acknowledged by the heralds.

That John[2] Coo was a man of mark is evident from his association with the great and powerful Swynbourne family. As the Coes for several generations held their lands as tenants of the Swynbournes and the latter's descendants, it is desirable to give an account of the Swynbournes and the devolution of their estates among their descendants as manorial lords.

Sir Robert Swynbourne, Knt., Lord of Little Horkesley, co. Essex, and of Wiston, co. Suffolk, by his marriage in 1375 to the Lady Joane de Boutetourt, a very rich heiress, acquired a score of manors with thousands of acres of lands in northern Essex, among the estates being the manors of Overhall and Gernons in Gestingthorpe, the manor of Belchamp-Walter, the manor of Belchamp Otten, etc., etc. By this great heiress Sir Robert Swynbourne had five sons and three daughters, but all the sons and one daughter died without issue before the decease of their mother who lived to great age, and after whose death in 1433 the great estates came to the heirs of two daughters, Margery (Swynbourne) Berners and Alice (Swynbourne) Helion; and among the descendants of both these daughters the estates continued in several generations for ninety years until 1523, when on the death of Thomas Fynderne the descendants of Margery Berners became extinct and all the Boutetourt estates became vested in Anne (Tyrell) Wentworth, sole surviving heiress by descent from Alice Helion, and wife of Sir Roger Wentworth, Knt.; and thence the estates descended for a century in the Wentworth family until their extinction in the senior male line in 1631. The accompanying pedigree shows the descent of the great Swynbourne-Boutetourt estates, of some of which the Coes were tenants for several generations.

Sir William Swynbourne, Knt. (son of Sir Robert and Lady Joane (Boutetourt) Swynbourne), born about 1377, was a famous commander under Henry V. in the wars in France, and was one of the heroes of the battle of Agincourt in 1415. When about to start on another expedition to France in 1421, he made his will, dated at Little Horkesley, co. Essex, June 12, 1421, which states that the document is tripartite, "one part to remain in the hands of my lady mother and John[2] Coo, another in my own possession, and the third with John Coote." The will is very lengthy, but among the bequests were 20 marks to John[2] Coo and "one flate pece of silver without a cover" to Eleanor Coo. The executors were Robert de Teye, William Rookwoode, John[2] Coo, William Bodulgate, and John Coote; and John[2] Coo was one of three of the executors who probated the will at London on Nov. 4, 1422. (P. C. C. 54 Marche.)

From this will it may be inferred that John[2] Coo was a man of ability and standing, and that he enjoyed the confidence of one of the most powerful families in Essex, and held an important position in the management of their great estates. It seems likely, however, that John[2] Coo was cut off by death in middle life, as no records have been found of him after his discharge from executorship of Sir William Swynbourne's estate on Mar. 6, 1422–3; so he probably died soon after.

The name of his wife is not certainly known; but it is likely that she was the ELEANOR COO who received the silver plate in the will of Sir William Swynbourne.

Children:

3. i. JOHN[3], b. about 1400.

ii. ROBERT, b. about 1404. On Friday, before the Feast of the Annunciation, 5 Edward IV, [Mar. 20, 1464–5], an inquisition was taken at Belchamp-William [Belchamp-Walter], co. Essex, for proof of age of Isabel, one of the daughters and heirs of John Helion Esq., and wife of Hugh Tyrell. Among the witnesses was "Robert Koo aged sixty years and more who says the said Isabel was born at Belchamp-William [Belchamp-Walter] on Sept. 1, 29 Henry VI, [1450],and this he remembers because on that very day he sold his best horse, called 'Lyarde of Branketre,' to Richard Norton, then servant of the said John Helion, for 5 marks, and never received any of the said money for the same, wherefore he well recalls the date of said Isabel's birth," etc. (Chancery Inq. Post Mortem, 5 Edward IV, No. 56.)

8. JOHN[3] COO (John[2] (2), John[1]), born about 1400, as eldest son and heir succeeded to the paternal estates in Gestingthorpe, and also to the favor enjoyed by his father under the patronage of the powerful Swynbourne family, evidence of which is found in the fact that Lady Joane (Boutetourt) Swynbourne in her will dated at Belchamp-Walter Feb. 3, 1432–3, probated at London Feb. 24, 1432–3, appointed John[3] Coo one of the executors of her great estate. (P. C. C. 17 Luffenam.)

On Nov. 4, 5 Henry VI, (1426), Lady Joane Swynbourne, by charter dated at Belchamp Otten, granted to Sir Richard Waldegrave, Knt., Robert Cavendysshe, Geoffrey Brice, clerk, John[3] Coo, and Thomas Hardekyn, the manors of Belchamp-Otten and Gernons. (Inq. Post. Mort. on Joane Swynbourne 11 Henry VI, (1433), Chancery Series, file 59, no. 42.) These grantees reconveyed these manors several years later, as appears from the following document: At the Inq. Post Mort.* taken after the death of John Helyon Esq., at Bumpstead, co. Essex, on Tuesday after the Feast of St. Matthew the Apostle, 29 Henry VI, (Sept. 21, 1450), the jury say that John[3] Coo, Geoffrey Brice, clerk, et als., were lately possessed as of fee of the manor of Belchamp-Otten, co. Essex, and by their charter, produced to the jury, lately enfeoffed the said John Helyon Esq. et als. of the same. Also the jurors say that Robert Cavendysshe, John[3] Coo, and Thomas Hardekyn were lately possessed of the manor of Gerener [Gernons in Gestingthorpe] and the advowson of the church of Lyes in the same county of Essex, and by their charter of July 1, 21 Henry VI, (1443), produced to the jury, conveyed the same to the said John Helyon, Esq., and Edith his wife. (Inq. Post Mort., 28 Henry VI, (1450), Chancery Series, no. 31.)

Further connection of John[3] Coo with the affairs of the Swynbourne estates is made evident by the following deed: On June 28, 11 Henry VI, (1433), Thomas Rolfe et als. quitclaimed to John Helyon Jr., son of John Helyon, and to Edith daughter of said Thomas Rolfe, all rights to lands in Withermondeford [Wormingford, co. Essex], which John[3] Coo, Thomas Hardekyn, et als. by charter dated Aug. 1, 8 Henry VI, (1430), granted to said Rolfe et als., and which said Coo, Hardekyn, et als. had of the feoffment of Joane widow of Sir Robert Swynbourne, Knt. (British Museum, Additional Charters, no. 5253.) This deed doubtless pertains to the marriage settlement of John Helion Jr. and Edith Rolfe.

The following interesting deed in 1435 associates John[3] Coo with John Rykedon, grandson of the Robert Rykedon Sen. who was associated with John[1] Coo (grandfather of John[3] Coo) in founding the Hawkwood chantries in 1412 (See ante, pp. 16, 17): In 13 Henry VI, (1435), John Rikedon, son of Robert Rikedon of Witham, co. Essex, now deceased, John[3] Coo, and John Shirwood, grant to Thomas Chetwood of Warkworth, co. Northampton, certain lands [not specified in printed abstract]. This deed bears the seals herewith depicted. (Chetwood Family Charters in "Miscellanea Genealogica et Heraldica," Series 2, vol. 1, p. 60.)

*An inquisition post mortem was an official inquiry held after the death of a landowner who held any estates "in capite" (directly of the Crown) in which a jury reported a schedule of the lands of the deceased, their tenure, and the name and age of the heir.

The main seal was evidently too small to show the birds on the escutcheon, so the small supplementary seals were made to go with it to designate this detail of the arms.

A little later, John[3] Coo is mentioned in connection with some litigation. At Hilary term, 15 Henry VI, (Jan. 1436–7), the prior of the Hospital of St. John sued one Turvey in regard to certain lands in Gestingthorpe, co. Essex, and John Coho was one of the honest and lawful men summoned on the jury. (Placita in Cancellaria, roll 27, no. 13.) Also at Hilary term, 17 Henry VI, (Jan. 1438–9), the King sued John Coo et als. in regard to the manor of Syfrewastes in Culford, co. Suffolk, it being reported by due inquisition that William Gulion of Mildenhall, co. Suffolk, deeded the said manor to John Cote of Suffolk, and that the manor is held directly of the King in capite. Now, John Coo of Gestingthorpe, esquire, Thomas Martell, esquire, Thomas Mylde, esquire, Thomas Hardekyn, John Sumpter junior, Thomas Carbonell, goldsmith, and the said John Cote, answer that the above-said manor is identical with the manor of Esthalle in Culford, and is held of the Abbot of Bury St. Edmunds. (Placita in Cancellaria, roll 26, no. 13.) The title "esquire" [original meaning "shield-bearer"] applied to John[3] Coo is interesting, as at that period it signified he was recognized as a gentleman entitled to bear a coat-of-arms.

In 1446 Thomas Rosshay is recorded as holding certain lands in Twynsted, co. Essex, formerly William Pelham's, afterwards William Astell's, lately John Coo's, called "Pelhams," and paid 5 sh. per annum to the manor of Barentines Fee. (Rental Rolls, Manor of Barentines Fee, 24 Henry VI, [1446].)

The last record found of John[3] Coo is his appearance as a juror at the Inq. Post Mort. after the death of Thomas Bendyssh, held at Branktre [Braintree, co. Essex], on Wednesday next after the Feast of St. Leonard the Abbot, 27 Henry VI, (Nov. 6, 1448). (Inq. Post Mort., 26 Henry VI, Chancery Series, no. 24.)

Long continued and widely extensive researches have failed to show the name of the wife of John[3] Coo and to positively prove the names of his children; but that John[3] Coo was grandfather of John[5] Coo who died in 1520 is positively established by the descent of certain lands to the latter and his descendants, and by the evidence of the Visitation of Essex in 1612. However, it seems established beyond reasonable doubt that John[3] Coo was father of at least these two

Children:

4. i. THOMAS[4], b. about 1480, eldest son and heir.

ii. WILLIAM, b. about 1435–1440, was a resident of Great Sampford, co. Essex, but no information of him has been obtained except that supplied by his will which shows he attained advanced years and left a young second wife. The will of William Coo of Great Sampford, co. Essex, was dated Dec. 15, 1503. To be buried at Great Sampford. Bequests to the high altars of Great Sampford and Little Sampford. A tenement called Cokks and a copyhold called Peterborough to be sold, and from the proceeds a priest to sing at Great Sampford church for my soul, the soul of my late wife and the souls of my friends. Wife to have the house Johan[5] my daughter gave me. To daughter Margery[5] £ 8–6–8. To an unborn child 40 sh., but if said child and my wife both die, then this legacy to charity. All residue to wife, she and my brother Thomas[4] to be executors. (Arch. of Colchester, Clerke, fol. 78.)

Children by first marriage:

1. JOANE[5], b. about 1465.

2. MARGERY.

4. THOMAS[4] COO (John[3] (3), John[2], John[1]), born about 1480, first appears on records in a list of jurors at an inquisition held at Thaxted, co. Essex, on Tuesday before the Feast of St. James, 30 Henry VI, (July 25, 1452), for proof of age of Philippa one of the daughters of John Helion of Bumpstead-Helion, and one of the heirs of the great Swynbourne-Boutetourt estates. (Chancery Inq. Post Mort., no. 49, 29–30 Henry VI.) Earlier members of the Coo family had previously been connected with the same subject. (See ante, pp. 21, 22.) The next mention found of Thomas[4] Coo is as a witness (together with Thomas Copyn et als.) to an indenture between William Pykenham, archdeacon, John Redbourne, clerk, et als., dated on the Feast of St. Martin the Bishop, 18 Edward IV, (Nov. 11, 1478.) John Redbourne was rector of Gestingthorpe and part of the tithes of that parish were held by the College of St. John the Baptist at Stoke-Clare, co. Suffolk, of which college William Pykenham was dean. (Dugdale's Monasticon Anglicanum, vol. 8, p. 1661.)

In 1495, Thomas[4] Coo, by William Gilbert his attorney, was plaintiff against Robert George of Walden, co. Essex, bocher, for a debt of 45 sh.; also against John Tytrell alias Jankys of Great Bardfield, co. Essex, bocher, for a debt of 40 sh.; and also against John Spylman of Thaxted, co. Essex, bocher, for a debt of 40 sh. (Common Pleas Rolls, roll 974, mem. 280, Essex, Mich., 11 Henry VII, [1495].)

In 17 Henry VII. (1501), Thomas[4] Coo acquired lands in Hempstead, co. Essex, called Woodbirds (Court Rolls, Honour of Clare, vol. 1859, p. 64), and in 1503 he was an executor of the will of his brother William[4] Coo which is the last mention found of him; and he probably died about 1507 in which year John[5] Coo first appears as paying an entry fine [fee] on inheriting ancestral estates in Gestingthorpe.

Thomas[4] Coo lived through the turbulent period of the civil wars commonly called "The Wars of the Roses" which raged intermittently from 1455 to 1485. Many classes and series of English records are very defective during this destructive period, and lack of records has caused prolonged research to fail to positively prove either the parentage or the children of the Thomas[4] Coo of whom the above records are given; but he is the only Coo to be found in northern Essex who can fill the gap between John[3] Coo and the latter's certain descendant John[5] Coo, and his associations and the appearance of the name "Thomas" in generations five, six, and seven, seems to establish beyond reasonable doubt that Thomas[4] Coo was eldest son and heir of John[3] Coo, and father of the following three

Children:

5. i. JOHN[5], b. about 1460, eldest son and heir.
6. ii. WILLIAM, b. about 1465.
iii. THOMAS, b. about 1470, appears as a witness to the will of William Pyche of Hempstead, proved May 26, 1501. (Arch. of Colchester, Clerke, fol. 15.) In 1509 he was a trustee of the estate of his brother William[5] Coo; and in 1515 Thomas[5] Coo and Richard Westly, executors of the will of Thomas Westly of Hempstead, were sued by Thomas Westley of Panfield, co. Essex, in regard to his father's estate.

Thomas[5] Coo of Hempstead, co. Essex, d. before 1521. His will cannot be found. He m. JOANE ———. The will of Joane Coo, widow of Thomas Coo of Hempstead, was dated Aug. 2, 1521. To the churches of Hempstead and Old [Great] Sampford, and to the latter church for masses for the souls of William[5] Coo and his wife. To William Petytt certain goods. To Agnes Clayden, daughter of William[5] Coo. To Isabel Dawkyn. All lands to be sold to Thomas Freeman, if he will buy them, according to my husband's will; if not they to be sold to best advantage. Executor Thomas Walker, priest. (P. C. C. 14 Maynwaryng.) No children.

5. JOHN[5] COO (Thomas[4] (4), John[3], John[2], John[1]), born about 1460, was a prosperous farmer on an extensive scale, holding estates in Gestingthorpe, Belchamp-Walter, Great Maplestead, Halstead, Hempstead, Great Sampford, and Finchingfield, all in co. Essex.

The earliest record of him yet discovered is in 23 Henry VII, (1507), when he paid entry fine [fee] on one messuage [dwelling house] and twenty-six acres of land in Gestingthorpe called Wyatts [Whytes], formerly Grenes, and for a tenement with appurtenances called Wildes in Gestingthorpe. (Court Rolls, Honour of Clare, vol. 1859, p. 35); on the first of these estates his great-great-grandfather John[3] Coo paid an entry fine just a century previous. (See ante p.18.)

On the Court Rolls of the Manor of Netherhall in Gestingthorpe

(which are preserved from 4 Henry VIII, A. D. 1512) it is recorded at the successive annual courts held from Mar. 15, 1512–13 to Mar. 1519–20, that John[5] Coo took the oath of frank-pledge*, holding of this manor a tenement called Bytys and a tenement called Mayes: at the court held Mar. 15, 1512–13, mention is made of some cattle which came as strays to the hands of John[5] Coo, farmer. At the annual court held in Mar. 1520–21, it was reported that John[5] Coo senior had died since the last court, holding of this manor a free tenement called Mayes, which by his last will descended to his son John[6] Coo junior; also the said John[5] Coo senior deceased held of the lord of this manor a free tenement with appurtenances called Bytys.

John[5] Coo also held estates of the Manor of Overhall in Gestingthorpe which manor was under the jurisdiction of the Honour of Clare [a great feudal barony]. The annual courts of the Manor of Overhall were held usually on the Vigil of SS. Philip and James (April 30). The Court Rolls of this manor are preserved from 10 Henry VIII, (1518), and John[5] Coo is mentioned in them at the court in 1518, 1519, and 1520. At the court held Apr. 30, 1521, it was reported that John[5] Coo senior had died since the last court, holding of the lord of the manor a toft [old dwelling house] formerly built [Whytes]; and also certain parcels of customary land called Smythes and Hykkes-atte-Dene of which latter his son John[6] Coo junior was his heir and of full age.

John[5] Coo died in the latter part of the year 1520. His will dated Sept. 3, 1520, probated Feb. 14, 1520–21, directs that his body be buried in Gestingthorpe Church, and over it to be laid a marble grave-stone with an inscribed brass tablet set in same. The will makes bequests to wife Joane, and to her son Thomas Sewall and Rose his wife; also to Joane Fyrmyn, Agnes Coo, and Alice Coo, daughters of testator. To son John[6] Coo "the elder" was given all lands etc. in Belchamp-Walter, Hempstead, and Finchingfield, and Whytes tenement in Gestingthorpe; to son John[6] Coo "the younger" was given all other lands etc. in Gestingthorpe and all lands etc. in Great Maplestead and Old [Great] Sampford; to son Thomas[6] Coo, who was then under twenty-one years of age, was given lands in Halstead. Supervisor, John Golding, Auditor of the Exchequer. Executors, sons John[6] Coo "the elder" and John[6] Coo "the younger." (P. C. C., 5 Maynwaryng.)

In the floor of Gestingthorpe Church may still be seen, after a lapse of almost four centuries, the stone slab over the grave of John[5] Coo; in this stone is cut a matrix about two feet long showing the outline of two figures, male and female, facing each other; the brass effigies of John[5] Coo and his wife with their inscriptions, which formerly filled this matrix according to his will, were torn out and destroyed during Cromwell's time (1643) when thousands of such mutilations were perpetrated in churches all over England, with the idea of destroying all evidences of ancient Catholic superstitions.

The custom of conferring the name "John" upon two sons in a family, was quite prevalent in England, especially in East Anglia, during the sixteenth century; in the Coe families alone over half a dozen such instances have been found. It seems probable the idea was to have children named for both St. John the Evangelist and St. John the Baptist.

John[5] Coo was the last member of the Gestingthorpe family who was a Catholic; within a score of years after his death the Protestant Reformation was firmly established in England, to which his children and their descendants conformed.

As John[5] Coo was a direct ancestor of Robert Coe, the founder of the family in America, and as his will is a document of historic interest illustrative of his times, four hundred years ago, it is herewith given in full, verbatim et literatim:

Probated at Lambeth Feb. 14, 1520, and commission issued to John Coo and John Coo sons of the deceased. (P. C. C., 5 Maynwaryng.)

John [5] Coo married about 1490, JOANE GOLDING daughter of Thomas Golding of Cavendish, co. Suff., and Belchamp-Walter, co. Essex, by his first wife Agnes Letton, and eldest half-sister of John Golding Esq., Auditor of the Exchequer, whom John [5] Coo appointed supervisor of his will. The pedigree of this Golding family appears in the Visitations of Essex in 1552 and 1558 with the following arms: Gules, a chevron or, between three bezants. (Harl. Soc. Pub., vol. 13, pp. 8, 55, 580.) The will of Thomas Goldyng dated at Cavendish, co. Suffolk, Jan. 5, 1504–5, probated Feb. 13, 1504–5, mentions Agnes "that was my wife"; seven daughters, Johane Coo, Alice Barker, Margery Strut, Johane Crisale, Agnes Smyth, Kateryn Golding and Johane Goldyng (to each of whom was left £20); three sons Roger Golding, John Golding, and Thomas Golding; and present wife Elizabeth. (P. C. C., 25 Holgrave.)

It is apparent that the wife Joane mentioned in the will of John [5] Coo had been previously married, either to one Sewall by whom she had a son Thomas Sewall, or to some other person by whom she had a daughter Rose married to Thomas Sewall. Some features of the will suggest that this wife Joane was a second wife of John [5] Coo, but it is certain that Joane Golding was the mother of his children.

Children of John [5] and Joane (Golding) Coo:

7. i. JOHN [6], "the elder," b. about 1490.
   ii. JOANE, m. ——— FIRMIN.

8. iii. JOHN, "the younger," b. about 1495; ANCESTOR OF ROBERT COE, progenitor of the Coes of America.
iv. AGNES, living unm. in 1520.
v. ALICE, living unm. in 1520.
vi. THOMAS, b. about 1508, inherited by his father's will lands in Halstead, co. Essex, where he evidently settled. In 1568 William Marten acquired of Thomas Coo and Anne his wife, one messuage, one cottage, one garden, one orchard, and thirty acres of land in Halstead, co. Essex; consideration £60. (Essex Feet of Fines, Mich., 10 and 11 Elizabeth.) Further details of this Thomas[6] Coo and his family have not been obtained.

6. WILLIAM[5] COO (Thomas[4] (4), John[3], John[2], John[1]), born probably about 1465, appears as a juror at the Inq. Post Mort. taken at Great Bardfield, co. Essex, on Friday next after the feast of St. Botolph, 10 Henry VII, (June 17, 1494), upon the death of Margaret Green. (Chancery Inq. Post Mort., Series II, vol. 10, no. 74.) He died in 1509 possessed of lands etc. in Hempstead, Great Sampford, Finchingfield, and Little Bardfield, held of the manor of Crochmans, which before his decease he surrendered to the lord of the manor and his brothers John[5] Coo and Thomas[5] Coo as trustees for the use of his wife Agnes until his sons became twenty-one years of age, and then the lands etc. in Hempstead to son Thomas[6] Coo, those in Great Sampford to son William[6] Coo, and those in Finchingfield and Little Bardfield to son John[6] Coo. (Court Rolls, Manor of Crochmans, 2 Henry VIII, 1510.)

He married AGNES ———, who died before 1521.

Children:

i. AGNES[6], b. about 1495, m. before 1521, ——— CLAYDEN.
ii. THOMAS, b. about 1498, inherited by his father's will lands in Hempstead which he retained, but when a young man located in Gestingthorpe (where his cousins John[6] "the elder," John[6] "the younger," and Thomas[6] Coo resided) and where he was taxed xxd. as "Thomas Coo, Sen." in the Subsidy Roll of 15 Henry VIII, (1523), the "Sen." being used to distinguish him from his latter cousin. (Lay Subsidies, Essex, 108–168.)

Soon after this he settled in Belchamp St. Paul where he leased lands of the Dean and Chapter of St. Paul and in 36 Henry VIII, (1544) appears there in a Subsidy Roll, assessed for lands. (Lay Subsidies, Essex, 109–819.) His will dated Aug. 5, 1558, directs that he be buried in the church at Belchamp St. Paul. To wife Agnes for life a tenement called Myllehouse and lands called Newing in Hempstead with reversion to son "young John[7] Coo" and his heirs male. To son Roger[7] Coo the house at the church gate in Hempstead. To son "old John[7] Coo" lands called Donchesse. To son William[7] Coo lands in Hempstead called Bounys. Wife and son Thomas[7] Coo to occupy the house where I now dwell. Wife Agnes and son Thomas[7] Coo to be executors. Probated Oct. 17, 1558. (P. C. C., 57 Noodes.) He was buried at Belchamp St. Paul, Aug. 7, 1558.

He m. about 1530 AGNES ———.

Children:

1. THOMAS[7], b. about 1532, executor of his father in 1558; further history untraced.
2. WILLIAM, b. about 1534, m. at Belchamp St. Paul, Nov. 17, 1560, PHILIPPA AGNES. Further history untraced.
3. JOHN "the elder," b. about 1536, was living and married in 1559, but his later history has not been traced.

   Child:

   a. JOANE[8], bapt. at Belchamp St. Paul, Nov. 8, 1559.
4. AGNES, b. about 1538, buried June 20, 1558.

6. ROGER, bapt. at Belchamp St. Paul Aug. 13, 1543. The record of his marriage has not been found.

   Children:

   a. PHILEMON[8], bapt. July 12, 1579.

   b. THOMAS, bapt. Mar. 4, 1581.

iii. WILLIAM[6], b. about 1500, appears at Finchingfield in the Subsidy Roll of 15 Henry VIII, (1523), paying a tax of iiij d. (Lay Subsidies, Essex, 108–163.) By his father's will he inherited lands in the adjoining parish of Great Sampford, but his later history has not been learned.

iv. JOHN, b. about 1502, inherited lands in Little Bardfield and in Finchingfield where he is enrolled in the Subsidy of 15 Henry VIII, (1523). (Lay Subsidies, Essex, 108–163.) The will of John[6] Cooe of Finchingfield, dated Aug. 15, 1556. To wife Gryssill free-hold messuages and lands for life and copyholds that were my father's until my son Robert[7] be twenty-one. To son Christopher[7] a tenement called Barnefield and a tenement in Wethersfield called Perye Croft. To daughter Margaret[7] a tenement in Finchingfield. To [daughters?] Loore and Alice [illegible] xxvj sh. viij d. each. To Robert Boyse xiij sh. iv d. To Christian Walford for his paines xiij sh. ivd. To my cousin John Cooe one acre of ground to sowe one crop of wheate, whether I live or die. My wife and Robert Boyse executors. Witnesses: William Elmsden, Thomas Hall, John Cooe, Thomas Smith, Christopher Walford, Robert Boyse, and Christopher Wilson. Probated Aug. 1556. (Comm. of London for Essex and Herts.)

He m. about 1530 GRISSELL ——— who in 1566 was taxed ij sh. viij d. on lands in Finchingfield valued at xl sh. (Lay Subsidies, Essex, 8 Elizabeth, 110–425.) Her will dated Feb. 5, 1570–71, directs executors to pay unpaid legacies in the will of her late husband John[6] Coo. To the eight children of my sons-in-law William Elmesynge and Alysander Bacon, 2sh. 6d. each. Residue to son Christopher[7] Coe and daughter Margaret[7] Coe, they to be executors. Administration issued in behalf of Robert[7] Coe son of testatrix and of Agnes relict of Roger Bridge, son [sic!] of deceased. Probated in May 1571. (Comm. of London for Essex and Herts.)

Children:

1. CHRISTOPHER[7], b. about 1530, was of Wethersfield where he d. in 1586. His will dated Feb. 6, 1585–6, left to wife Margerie for life the tenement with two acres they occupied with reversion to the heir of their bodies begotten. All residue to said wife she to be sole executrix. Probated in 1586. (Arch. of Midd., Essex, and Herts., 91 Mansfield.)

2. AGNES, m. ROGER BRIDGE.
3. A DAUGHTER, m. WILLIAM ELMSDEN.
4. A DAUGHTER, m. ALEXANDER BACON.
5. MARGARET.
6. ROBERT, b. about 1545, inherited lands in Little Bardfield and in Finchingfield and in 1572 was assessed in the latter parish vij sh. on goods valued at vij li. (Lay Subsidies, Essex, 14 Elizabeth, 111–440.) Later he lived some time in Halstead where in 1597 he was assessed xvj sh. on goods valued at vi li. (Ibid., 39 Elizabeth, 111–512.) He finally was of Little Bardfield where he made his will dated Feb. 7, 1611–12. Wife Mary sole executrix. To son Robert[8] Coe £100. To son Thomas[8] Coe £60 and Hooche Croft. To daughter Mary[8] £80 at marriage. To Arter[8] Coe's son 20 sh. To John[8] Coe's son 40 sh. To son Edward[8] Coe £10 after my wife's decease "if he molest not his mother and brethren in this my will." Residue to wife Mary. Witnesses: Thomas Smith Sr. and Thomas Smith Jr. Probated in 1612. (Arch. of Colchester, 44 Ashe.)

   He m. MARY ——— who was living in 1628.

   Children:

   a. EDWARD[8], b. about 1575.
   b. ARTHUR.
   c. THOMAS.

   e. MARY, m. ——— SWEET.
   f. ROBERT, was a grocer in Halstead where he d. unm. in 1628. His will dated May 9, 1628, names eldest brother Edward[8] Coe, brothers Thomas[8] and John[8] Coe, only sister Mary[8] Sweet, and mother Mary[7] Coe. Probated in 1628. (Comm. of London for Essex and Herts., 1627–8, no. 12.)

7. JOHN[6] COO "THE ELDER" (John[5] (5), Thomas[4], John[3], John[2], John[1]), born about 1490, inherited by his father's will all the latter's estates in Belchamp Walter, Finchingfield, and Hempstead, and also the estate known as Wyats or Whytes in Gestingthorpe where probably he generally lived as had his ancestors; also in 1537 he acquired of Alice Man, widow, of Sudbury, seventy-six acres in Belchamp St. Paul etc. as we learn from a suit in chancery of Robert Jacob vs. his son John[7] Coo about 1570. (Chancery Suits, Series II, 102–22.) This conveyance to John[6] Coo is also mentioned in the will of Alice Man of Sudbury, widow, dated Aug. 14, 1538, probated Aug. 25, 1539. She married first ——— Jacob and had a son Thomas Jacob who was father of Robert Jacob. (P. C. C., 29 Dyngeley.)

The following mentions of John[6] Coo "the elder," appear in the Subsidy [royal tax] Rolls for Essex: Roll 15 Henry VIII, (1523), Gestingthorpe, John Coo, tax viij d. (Lay Subsidies, Essex, 108–163); Roll 36 Henry VIII, (1544), Gestingthorpe, John Coo the elder, goods, valuation £xxv, tax xl sh. (Ibid. 109–292); Roll 37 Henry VIII, (1545), Gestingthorpe, John Coo the elder, tax xx d. (Ibid. 110–379.)

tain after 1522 many mentions of this John[6] Coo "the elder," who is always described as John Coo, "senior," to distinguish him at first from his brother John[6] Coo "the younger," and later from his nephew John[7] Coo, and from his own son John[7] Coo. At the court held Mar. 25, 1522, John[6] Coo senior appeared and rendered homage to the lord of the manor for a tenement called Bytys with appurtenances in Gestingthorpe, lately descending to him by inheritance upon the death of his parent John[5] Coo; and he rendered to the lord in lieu of service 4 d. At each of the annual courts from 1523 to 1553 John[6] Coo senior appeared to take the oath of frank-pledge [fidelity]; from 1553 to 1563 the rolls of this court are lost. At the court held in April 1552, it was reported that there was in the custody of John[6] Coo farmer, a stray ram of white color which had not been claimed; also that a stray boar came on the lands of William[7] Coo, which later was claimed and taken away by John Clarke of Gestingthorpe.

In the Court Rolls of the Manor of Overhall in Gestingthorpe, John[6] Coo senior appears to render homage at the annual courts on April 30, from 1522 to 1546, when there comes a hiatus of thirteen years in these rolls. At the court held Apr. 30, 1521, he made fealty to the lord of the manor for a certain messuage with lands and tenements which late were of John[5] Coo. [This was evidently "Whytes."] At the courts held in 1544 and 1545 "John[6] Coo now senior, son and heir of John[5] Coo formerly senior deceased," made a claim to the estates called Smythes and Hykkes atte Dene, on which his nephew John[7] Coo had entered, having become of age. John[6] Coo died probably about 1558 as he appears as a witness to the will of John Clerke of Gestingthorpe, dated Oct. 17, 1557, (P. C. C., 14 Noodes); and his widow Margaret Coo appears on the Overhall Court Rolls in 1559, 1560, and 1561. At the court held Apr. 30, 1562, it is recorded that Margaret Coo widow, now deceased, formerly wife of John[6] Coo, deceased, held for life a certain messuage [dwelling house] called Whights in Gestingthorpe, which on her death descended to Thomas[7] Coo, gent., son and heir of the said John[6] Coo; and that the said John[6] Coo in his life-time about seven years since [so in 1555] built a brick edifice adjoining his tenement called Whights, obstructing and injuring a way of the other tenants of the lord of the manor, etc.

It appears that John[6] Coo "the elder" left a will, which is mentioned in the chancery suit of Robert Jacob vs. John[7] Coo in 1570 (Chancery Suits, Series II, 102–22); but this will is not now to be found.

John[6] Coo "the elder" died about 1558, and was buried in Gestingthorpe Church.

He married about 1522, MARGARET HILL, who was daughter of ——— Hill of Alderton, co. Suffolk, according to the Visitation of Essex in 1612; she died about 1562.

Children:

9. i. THOMAS[7], b. in 1524, eldest son.
   ii. EDITH, b. probably about 1526; m. ADAM CARDINAL of Barfold, co. Suffolk. (Visit. of Essex, 1612.)

10. iii. WILLIAM, b. in 1528, second son.
11. iv. JOHN "the elder," b. about 1530.
    v. JOHN "the younger," b. about 1535; appears at Wickham St. Paul on Subsidy Roll of 8 Elizabeth (1566), paying a tax of v sh. on goods valued at £v (Lay Subsidies, Essex, 110–425); also he was of Wickham St. Paul in 14 Elizabeth (1572), being assessed vi sh. on goods valued at £vi (Ibid. 111–440). In 1573 John Buttolff acquired from John[7] Coo and Elizabeth his wife, a messuage [dwelling], toft [old dwelling], two gardens, and two acres of land in Tilbury, co. Essex; consideration £40. (Essex Feet of Fines, Hilary 16 Eliz.) In 1582, Roger Martin Esq. acquired of Thomas[7] Coo gent., John[7] Coo, and John[7] Coo junior [brothers], two acres and one rood of meadow in Belchamp-Walter, co. Essex; consideration £40. (Essex Feet of Fines, Trinity 24 Eliz.) His further history is unknown; but perhaps he was father of a John Coe of Little Cornard co. Suff., who was buried at Bures St. Mary, May 1, 1616, leaving a will dated Apr. 6, 1616, probated May 16 following, in which he left his goods to wife Margaret, and his lands to George[8] Coo Esq. of Great Maplestead. (P. C. C. 49 Cope.)

8. JOHN[6] COO "THE YOUNGER" (John[5] (5), Thomas[4], John[3], John[2], John[1]), born about 1495, inherited by his father's will estates in Old [Great] Sampford and Great Maplestead, and all the latter's estates in Gestingthorpe (except Whytes); of these latter properties the Court Rolls of the Manors of Overhall and Netherhall give particulars.

From the Overhall Manor Rolls we learn that at the court on Apr. 30, 1521, John[6] Coo junior, of full age, appeared, and on payment of fine [fee] and taking oath of fidelity to the lord of the manor, was admitted to the premises called Smythes and Hykkes atte Dene in Gestingthorpe and Maplestead as heir of his father; and John[6] Coo junior appears on the Rolls annually thereafter up to and including the court held Apr. 30, 1533. During this year he died, as at the next court, Apr. 30, 1534, it was reported that John[6] Coo junior had died since the last court, and before his decease surrendered to the lord of the manor and Henry Hale as trustees, a toft [old dwelling] and lands called Smythes and Hikkes atte Dene for the use of Margaret Coo his wife until his son John[7] Coo should come to the age of nineteen years, and then to the said son John[7] Coo and his lawful heirs. It was also recorded that the said son John[7] Coo aged ten years and the said widow Margaret Coo were admitted to the said premises on conforming to the customs of the manor.

The Court Rolls of the Manor of Netherhall also have records of John[6] Coo "the younger." At the court on Mar. 25, 1522, John[6] Coo junior appeared and made allegiance to the lord of the manor for a tenement called Mayes with appurtenances which came to him by the last will of John[5] Coo his parent; and as John[6] Coo junior he appeared at later annual courts to take the oath of frank-pledge, up to March 1532. For some reason undiscovered no further courts were held in this manor until July 9, 1538, when it was reported that John[6] Coo junior had died [in 1533] since the last court, holding of this manor a tenement with two acres of land called Mayes, and by his last will bequeathed the same to Margaret then his wife and now the wife of Richard Garrard. At courts held in 1545, 1546, 1549–1552 mention is made of Mayes held by Margaret wife of Richard Garrard, as dower from her former husband John[6] Coo junior.

In 1522 John[6] Coo junior paid entry fine on lands in Maplestead inherited from John[5] Coo senior. (Court Rolls, Honour of Clare, vol. 1859, p. 74.) In the Subsidy Roll 15 Henry VIII, (1523), John[6] Coo is assessed viii d. on lands in Great Maplestead. (Lay Subsidies, Essex, 108–163.)

From the foregoing records we learn that John[6] Coo "the younger" died in 1533, leaving a will, and that he married about 1522 MARGARET ———, who afterwards married RICHARD GARRARD and was living as late as 1552. The will of this John[6] Coo cannot now be found; he was buried at Gestingthorpe church.

Children:

12. i. JOHN[7] "the elder," b. in 1523; ANCESTOR OF ROBERT COE, progenitor of the Coes of America.
    ii. JOANE; was married before 1552, probably to RICHARD WALFORD of Wethersfield. (See wills of her brothers.)
    iii. JOHN "the younger," b. probably about 1527; d. unmarried in Aug. 1552. The will of John[7] Coo of Gestyngthorpe, Bachelor, ye sonne of John[6] Coo ye younger late of the countie of Essex wythyn ye Diocese of London, dated ye vth day of August 1552, 6th Edward VI being in goode mynde etc. Bodye to be buryed yn ye churche yarde of Gestyngthorpe. To ye pore of Gestyngthorpe £5. To John[7] Coo my brother xxvi sh. viii d. To every chylde that my brother hath xxvi sh. viii d. apece. To Jone my sister xxvi sh. viii d. and to her chylde xxvi sh. viii d. To ye porest of these townes, Bulmer, Wycam, Water-Belcham, and Ottyn-Belcham, xii d. each. All residue to my cosyn [nephew] John[8] Coo, the sonne of my brother John[7] Coo ye eldyr of Gestingthorpe whom I make my executor. Wytness my brother John[7] Coo, Thomas Cottyn, Catheryn Coo, wyth many more. Probated Aug. 1552. (Comm. of London for Essex and Herts.)

9. THOMAS[7] COO, GENT. (John[6] "the elder" (7), John[5], Thomas[4], John[3], John[2], John[1]), was born in 1524 as appears from the Netherhall Court Rolls of Apr. 16, 1539, which state that Thomas[7] Coo son of John[6] Coo, aged fourteen years and more, appeared before the court and swore allegiance, etc. He is also mentioned at the courts held in 1563 and 1571.

The Court Rolls of the Manor of Overhall for Apr. 30, 1562, state that Thomas[7] Coo gent., son and heir of John[6] Coo, succeeded to the tenement with appurtenances called Whights in Gestingthorpe, after the decease of his mother Margaret Coo who held it as dower for life; and he had a controversy with the lord of the manor concerning a structure erected by his father John[6] Coo, which obstructed a public way, etc; further controversy on this matter occurred at the courts in 1566 and 1567, and as a result Thomas[7] Coo was fined £6–13–4. A hiatus occurs in these rolls until Feb. 25, 1575–6, at which court Thomas[7] Coo gent. rendered homage; his name does not appear again in the rolls until the court of Apr. 25, 1600, when Thomas Coo gent. and Katharine his wife appeared and surrendered to the lord of the manor a messuage [dwelling house] called Shotwell for the use of Thomas Watts, etc.

Thomas[7] Coo also held lands in Belchamp St. Paul, and inherited estates of his father and grandfather in Belchamp-Walter where he generally resided. On a Subsidy Roll of 8 Elizabeth (1566), Thomas[7] Coo was taxed iv sh. on lands in Belchamp-Walter worth yearly lx sh. (Lay Subsidies, Essex, 110–425); and on a Subsidy 14 Elizabeth (1572), Thomas[7] Coo of Belchamp-Walter was taxed x sh. for goods valued at £x. (Ibid. 111–440.) On Feb. 5, 1576–7, Thomas[7] Coo of Belchamp Walter alias Belchamp William, co. Essex, gent., son and heir of John[6] Coo late of Gestingthorpe co. Essex, deceased, gave recognizance to pay £40 to Thomas Watts of London, clerk. (Indentures on Close Rolls, 19 Elizabeth, part 17.) In 1577 —— Watts, widow of [Thomas] Watts, Archdeacon of Essex, paid a fine of 22 sh. for entry into her hereditament of a messuage with appurtenances called Wyatts [Whytes], formerly of [Thomas] Coo, in Gestingthorpe, falling to her after the death of the aforesaid Watts, her late husband. (Court Rolls, Honour of Clare, vol. 1859, p. 37.) In 1582, Thomas[7] Coo gent., John[7] Coo, and John[7] Coo junior [brothers] conveyed two acres and one rood of meadow in Belchamp-Walter to Roger Martin; consideration £40. (Essex Feet of Fines,* Trinity 24 Elizabeth.) In 1590 Thomas[7] Cooe and Katharine his wife conveyed to John[8] Cooe [their son] a messuage, a garden, an orchard, twenty-three acres of land, five acres of meadow, and twenty-three acres of pasture, all in Belchamp-William alias Belchamp-Walter, co. Essex; consideration £40. (Essex Feet of Fines, Mich. 32 and 33 Elizabeth.)

Thomas[7] Coo appears in litigation in the following causes: About 1570 Thomas[7] Coo, Robert Goldyng, et als., inhabitants of Belchamp-Walter, sued Henry Wayte for a tenement which William Repyngale by his will dated Mar. 6, 1497, devised for the reparation of the church there, after the decease of his wife. (Chancery Suits, Series II, 43–56.) In 1595 Edward, Earl of Oxford, sued Thomas[7] Coe for unpaid rents of the rectory of Belchamp St. Paul, leased to defendant, and also claimed expiration of lease as defendant had unlawfully sub-leased the premises to his sons Edward[8] Coe and Roger[8] Coe. Thomas[7] Coo, defendant, replied that eighteen years ago plaintiff devised the rectory to defendant for twenty-one years. By another indenture five years since plaintiff leased it to defendant for another twenty-one years to begin at end of the first term, and defendant has conveyed said terms to one or more of his children for their maintenance. Defendant denied unpaid rent; the premises had lately been seized for Her Majesty for debts due to Her by the Earl, and the rents were paid to Her Majesty's agents. (Chancery Suits, Series temp. Elizabeth, O–0–2–13.) On Apr. 3, 1600, Thomas[7] Coo of Gestingthorpe co. Essex, gent., complained that he had a long lease from Henry Golding of the rectory of Belchamp St. Paul, and that one Richard Harris D. D. of Colchester, under pretext of claim to tithes, got Robert Byrd and twelve others to make a forcible entry on the premises, armed with bills, shards, daggers, pitchforks, and long pikes, and prevented plaintiff from tilling the premises. Defendant claimed the rectory was presented to him by the Lord Keeper on Dec. 13 last, at which time the rights of Golding and of Coe as the latter's tenant, terminated. (Star Chamber Proceedings, temp. Elizabeth, C–1–28.)

* For over five centuries a custom has existed in England of transferring land by "fine." The process is for the grantee (plaintiff) to bring a friendly lawsuit against the grantor (defendant), claiming ownership of the land to be conveyed; the defendant acknowledges the right of the plaintiff to the property for a consideration, and the record of the "suit" is enrolled in the court archives called "Feet of Fines," the "fine" being the court fees. This is the usual process by which deeds have been publicly recorded in England, as the American method of deed registration was not used there until recently.

Thomas[7] Coo gent. died about 1601, and was buried in Gestingthorpe Church. (Visit. of Essex, 1612.) No will or administration on his estate can be found.

He married about 1555, KATHARINE WINCOLL, daughter of Roger Wincoll of Great Waldingfield, co. Suffolk. (Visit. of Essex, 1612.)

Children:

i. THOMASINE[8], bapt. at Great Waldingfield, June 20, 1557; probably d. young.

13. ii. EDWARD, b. about 1560, eldest son and heir.

iii. ROGER, b. about 1565, was of Newton in the Isle of Ely, co. Cambridge; his seal bearing the Coe arms impaling the arms of Clopton (his wife's family), both differenced with a crescent for the second son, was shown to the heralds at the Visitation of Essex in 1612; this document also states that his wife was ——— CLOPTON, a daughter of ——— Clopton of Liston; her father was doubtless Roger Clopton, second son of William and Elizabeth (Everard) Clopton of Liston. Roger[8] Coo d. about 1616; no will can be found.

Children:

1. CHARLES[9], bapt. at Belchamp Walter as "Charles Cooe son of Roger," Aug. 27, 1593; is mentioned in the will of his uncle Edward[8] Coo in 1620; his further history is uncertain, but perhaps the following records pertain to him: On May 21, 1636, Bridget Kilwarden sued Charles Coe for an estate in Mildenhall co. Suff., forty years before the property of John Kilwarden; defendant claimed he bought the premises in 1628 of Henry Pannell who acquired them in 1626 from James Bailey by a fine, which fine is a bar to any action by plaintiff. (Chancery Suits, Series temp. Chas. I, K–15–29.) The will of Charles Coo of Ely, co. Camb., yoeman, dated Apr. 4, 1644, probated June 5, 1655, left to wife Weyllesin ten cows and a mare, to disobedient dau. Eme Ingree 10 sh., and all residue to brother William Coo, he to be sole executor. (P. C. C. 286 Aylett.)

2. WILLIAM, perhaps progenitor of the Coes of Mildenhall, co. Suff.

3.–6. Four children, names unknown, referred to in the will of their uncle Edward[8] Coo.

7. LAWRENCE, mentioned in will of his uncle Edward[8] Coo.

14. iv. THOMAS, bapt. at Belchamp Walter, July 14, 1567.

v. JOHN, b. about 1570, lived at Belchamp Walter where in 1590 his parents conveyed to him an estate of about sixty acres as previously described on p. 36. (Essex Feet of Fines, Mich. 32 and 33 Elizabeth.) At the Subsidies in 39 and 42 Elizabeth (1597 and 1600), John[8] Coe of Belchamp Walter was assessed viij sh. on goods valued at £iij. (Lay Subsidies, Essex, 111–512, and 111–518.) On Oct. 9, 1595, he was a plaintiff with his cousin William[8] Coe, for whom he had become a bondsman, in a suit against Robert Wade et als. (Chancery Suits, Series temp. Elizabeth, C. c. 6–45.) He d. s. p. in 1602. His will dated Apr. 7, 1602, probated that year, gave annuities to his wife Anna and mother Catharine; mentions brothers Edward[8] Coe, Roger[8] Coe, Thomas[8] Coe, and Robert[8] Coe, and Catharine[9], Martha[9], and Penelope[9], children of brother Thomas[8] Coe; also cousin Richard Holborough, five children of brother John Kente, three children of brother Wiseman and his wife, and the wife of brother Robert Rise. Residue to brother Roger[8] Coe with reversion to brother Robert[8] Coe. (P. C. C. 29 Montague.) He m. ANNA KENT who was buried at Belchamp Walter, Feb. 19, 1623–4. No children.

vi. ROBERT, bapt. at Belchamp Walter, May 18, 1578; lived with his brother Roger[8] Coe at Newton, co. Camb., where he d. unm. in 1604. The will of Robert[8] Coe, yeoman, of Newton in Isle of Ely, co. Camb., dated Aug. 20, 1603, probated Oct. 24, 1604, left small bequests to the poor of Belchamp Walter and Newton and to the servants of his brother Roger[8] Coe to whom he left all residue. (P. C. C. 81 Harte.)

10. WILLIAM[7] COO (John[6] "the elder" (7), John[5], Thomas[4], John[3], John[2], John[1]), called in the Visitation of Essex in 1612 "of Wickham St. Paul, second son," was born in 1528, as the Netherhall Court Rolls of July 14, 1543, record that to this court came William[7] Coo son of John[6] Coo, aged fourteen years and more, who swore allegiance, etc. From the same Rolls we learn of his early marriage, as at the court in April 1549, William[7] Coo appeared and rendered service for a tenement with lands pertaining, containing by estimation ten acres, being without bounds or walls, situated in Gestingthorpe and formerly the estate of Robert Parke deceased, which the said William[7] Coo holds as husband to Edith now his wife formerly wife of the said Robert Parke. William[7] Coo took the oath of frank-pledge at the courts in 1551–1553, and (after a hiatus of ten years in the Rolls) also in 1563 and 1564. At the court in 1571 William[7] Coo with Edith then his wife, formerly wife of Robert Parke, appeared in relation to property of the Parkes.

In the Overhall Court Rolls William[7] Coo appeared to render homage at the annual courts from 1559 to 1565. About this time he located for a while at Poslingford, co. Suff. In January 1565–6, William[7] Coo acquired of Sir Thomas Goldinge, Knt., et als., tenements etc. in Poslingford and Clare, co. Suff. (Suff. Feet of Fines, Hilary 8 Elizabeth); on June 20, 1566, he mortgaged these to George Goldynge gent., to whom on May 2, 1568, he gave bonds for same in £60 and £200. (Indentures on Close Rolls, 10 Elizabeth, part 3.) In 1567 William[7] Coo and Edith his wife conveyed part of these premises in Poslingford and Clare to John Calton and William Rede. (Suffolk Feet of Fines, Trinity 9 Elizabeth.)

William[7] Coo is next found at Wickham St. Paul where on a Subsidy in 14 Elizabeth (1572), he was taxed viij sh. on goods valued at £viij. (Lay Subsidies, Essex, 111–440.) Further details of his history are unknown, but he and his wife were living there in 1591, as appears in the will of their son John[8] Coe "the elder," of Wickham St. Paul.

His wife EDITH, widow of Robert Parke, was daughter of ——— Walker. (Visit. of Essex, 1612.)

Children:

i. WILLIAM[8], b. about 1552, appears on the Netherhall Court Rolls in 1579 as "Willm Coo junr. defalt." No other record is known of him; he probably d. unm.

15. ii. JOHN "the elder," b. about 1555.

16. iii. JOHN "the younger," b. about 1560.

17. iv. GEORGE, bapt. at Poslingford, co. Suffolk, about February 1564–5. (Register Transcripts, Bury St. Edmunds.)

11. JOHN[7] COO "THE ELDER" (John[6] "the elder" (7), John[5], Thomas[4], John[3], John[2], John[1]), born about 1530, first appears in the Netherhall Court Rolls, Apr. 8, 1551, where is recorded, "Essoign John[7] Coo jun. pro John[6] Coo senr. iij d." At the courts in 1563 and 1564 he took the oath of frank-pledge as "John[7] Coo Sen." [to distinguish him from his younger brother John.]

The Overhall Court Rolls of May 12, 1564, state that John[7] Coo was chosen constable; also his name appears as making homage at the annual courts from 1577 to 1584.

Besides his lands in Gestingthorpe where he lived, John[7] Coo also inherited lands in Belchamp St. Paul as appears from the following litigation: In 1570 Robert Jacob of Balyndon, co. Essex, complained that his father Thomas Jacob deceased held a messuage with eighty acres of land etc. lying in Gestingthorpe, Belchamp St. Paul, and Bulmer, which should descend to him as eldest son and heir; but one John[7] Coo, yeoman, of Gestingthorpe, has wrongfully seized the premises, claiming them by means of divers privy conveyances between him and one John[6] Coe his late father deceased. John[7] Coo, defendant, replied that one Alyce Man, widow, late of Sudbury, was possessed of a messuage [dwelling] and seventy-six acres of land etc. mentioned in the bill of complaint, held of the manor of "Powle Haule in Powles Belchamp," of which she enfeoffed one John[6] Coo of Gestingthorpe now deceased, father of the defendant. The said John[6] Coo did about twelve years past by his last will in writing bequeath the premises to the defendant, who is thus lawfully seized of them. (Chancery Suits, Series II, 102–22.)

The Subsidy Rolls show the following mentions of this John[7] Coo: Roll of 8 Elizabeth (1566), John[7] Coo of Gestingthorpe, goods, value £x, tax x sh. (Lay Subsidies, Essex, 110–425); Roll of 14 Elizabeth (1572), John[7] Coo of Gestingthorpe, goods, value £xij, tax xij sh. (Ibid. 111–440.)

In 1585 Roger Gooddaye gent., acquired of John[7] Coo senior and Joanna his wife and John[7] Coo junior [brothers] three messuages, [dwellings] a dovecot, three gardens, twenty acres of land, ten acres of meadow, twenty acres of pasture, and two acres of wood, in Belchamp St. Paul, Belchamp Otton, and Tylbury; consideration £80 (Essex Feet of Fines, Mich. 27 and 28 Elizabeth.)

John[7] Coo for some years had a lease of the manor of Netherhall as shown by the following legal cause: On June 21, 1585, the Atty-Gen. complained that the Queen had granted to one Robert Holmes the tithes of the parish of Gestingthorpe in her Duchy of Lancaster; but one John[7] Cooe tenant of Netherhall farm had refused for three years to pay the small tithes on hay, wool, lambs, etc. to said Holmes. Defendant answered that he held Netherhall farm by lease, formerly of the Earl of Oxford and now of the estate of Geo. Golding gent., deceased, and that he had paid the tithes to said Holmes except on two acres which from time out of mind belonged to the vicar of Gestingthorpe. (Pleadings, Duchy of Lanc. 132–21.)

The next year John[7] Coo and his eldest son William[8] bought the manor of Netherhall, a license being granted by the Crown on Mar. 2, 1585–6, to Arthur Golding Esq. to alienate to John[7] Cooe and to William[8] Cooe in reversion, the manor of Netherhall with lands in Gestingthorpe, Walter Belchamp, Wethersfield, Castle Hedingham, and Yeldham, held in capite of the Crown as is said. (Pat. Rolls, 28 Elizabeth, part 4.)

John[7] Coo enjoyed the position of a manorial landowner but about two months, dying in May 1586. His will dated May 2, 1586, probated June 1 following, directs that he be buried at Gestingthorpe, and left all his estate to his executor who was to pay therefrom the following legacies: to wife Joane an annuity of £20 for life; to sons John[8] Coe, Albone[8] Coe, and Edward[8] Coe, £100 each at their several ages of twenty-eight years; to daughters Bridget[8] Coe, Margaret[8] Coe, and Dorothy[8] Coe £40 each at age of twenty-three; to son Robert[8] Coe £60 at age of twenty-five, "in consideration that three years profits are to be taken by my executor out of my farm called Parke in Gestingthorpe, before that William[8] Coe the younger, my son, doth enterupon said farm"; to daughters Edethe[8] Hayward and Joane[8] Hale 20 sh. each; small bequests to the poor of Gestingthorpe and to servants John Parmitter, Jeffery Forset, and John Odwell; to Edith Marshall and to John Coo "my boye," 2 sh. 6 d. each and to Robert Marshall and John Marshall "my boies" 10 d. each. Wife Joane and son William[8] Coo the elder to have all household goods and plate. Son William[8] Coo the elder to keep his brethren William[8] Coo and Robert[8] Coo until they be thought meet to be placed in some good [calling?]. All residue to son William[8] Coo the elder, he to be sole executor and to give a bond of 1000 marks to my brother William Davenant of Posselingford, who is to be supervisor. (Arch. of Middlesex, Essex, and Herts.; 110 Mansfield.)

John[7] Coo married about 1560 JOANE DAVENANT; after her husband's death she lived at Croyden, co. Surrey, near London, where she made her will Apr. 29, 1595, in which are named: eldest son William[8] Coe and his wife Elizabeth, sons John[8], Alban[8], Edward[8], William[8] the younger, and Robert[8]; daughters Joane[8], Margaret[8] wife of George Copley, Bridget[8] Coe, and Dorothy[8] Coe; and brother John Davenant and his wife. Mention is made of household goods in a tenement called Spinx at Gestingthorpe, co. Essex. Son John[8] Coe residuary legatee and executor. Probated 1595. (P. C. C. 47 Scott.)

Children:

18. i. WILLIAM[8] "the elder," b. about 1560.
ii. JOANE, m. before 1586, ——— HALE.
iii. EDITH, m. before 1586, ——— HAYWARD.
iv. JOHN, b. probably about 1567, executor of his mother in 1595.
v. ALBAN, living in 1595; probably d. s. p.
vi. MARGARET, m. about 1590, GEORGE COPLEY.
vii. EDWARD, b. probably about 1575, was a farmer and lived with his cousin George[8] Coe at Byam Hall, where he d. unm. in 1612. The will of Edward[8] Coe of Great Maplestead, co. Essex, yeoman, dated Sept. 2, 1612: To each of my sisters now living £5; to each of the children of my sister Ellis 20 sh. to be paid to their father; to Margaret Franklin and to widow Whiting 20 sh. each; "to my cousin George[8] Coe's wife where I now keep 40 sh. for a ring"; to each of my brother's-in-law children 10 sh; bequests to John Payne, John Trolles, John Clark, Margaret Clark, Thomasine Berry, William Lorkyn, and goodwife Griggs. Brother Robert[8] Coe residuary legatee and sole executor. Probated in 1612. (P. C. C. 110 Fenner.) viii. BRIDGET, living unm. in 1595.
19. ix. WILLIAM "the younger," b. about 1580.
x. DOROTHY, b. about 1583; m. at Castle Hedingham, Oct. 10, 1601, HENRY ELLIS.
20. xi. ROBERT, b. about 1585; executor of his brother Edward Coe in 1612.

12. JOHN[7] COO "THE ELDER" (John[6] "the younger" (8), John[5], Thomas[4], John[3], John[2], John[1]), was born in 1523, as the Court Rolls of the Manor of Overhall on Apr. 30, 1534, record that John[7] Coo aged ten years and his mother Margaret, were admitted to the messuage and lands of his deceased father John[6] Coo junior, called Smythes and Hikkes atte Dene in Gestingthorpe and Maplestead, which premises were to come to the said John[7] Coo at the age of nineteen years. After the succession of John[7] Coo to these estates, his uncle John[6] Coo "the elder" unsuccessfully claimed a title to them at the courts in 1544 and 1545; the basis of his claim is not clear, but was probably grounded on primogeniture. No further mentions of John[7] Coo appear in these rolls, as a hiatus in them occurs until May 1, 1559, a year after his decease.

As John[7] Coo was survived by his mother Margaret who held as dower the estate called Mayes in the manor of Netherhall, this property was never held by him, but later came to his son John[8] Coe.

John[7] Coo of Gestingthorpe was taxed xx sh. viij d. on goods at the Subsidies in 36 and 37 Henry VIII, (1544 and 1545). (Lay Subsidies, Essex, 109–319 and 110–327.) He was still at Gestingthorpe in 1552, as disclosed by the will of his brother John[7] Coo "the younger" (see ante, p. 35). About 1555 he leased of Sir John Wentworth, Knt., the extensive manor of Wissington (or Wiston) co. Suffolk and removed thither, but retained the estates in Gestingthorpe and Maplestead he had inherited from his father and grandfather. At Wissington he occupied Wissington Hall, the ancient manor-house which adjoins the church yard, and which with rebuilt front* is still extant and occupied; but he lived but a few years to enjoy this estate, dying in August 1558, aged thirty-five years, and was buried at Wissington Church.

His will dated Aug. 19, probated Oct. 12, 1558, left to wife Dorothy profits of lands etc. in Great Maplestead and elsewhere in co. Essex, with reversion to son and heir John[8] Coe at age of nineteen. Also to wife Dorothy the lease of the manor of Wiston, she to pay to four younger sons Henry, Robert, Thomas, and William, £20 each at their ages of twenty-one years, and she to give a bond for same to friend Robert Golding of Belchamp-Walter and brother-in-law Richard Walford of Wethersfield. Wife Dorothy sole executrix and Sir John Wentworth, Knt., supervisor. (P. C. C. 54 Noodes.)

As the testator was the grandfather of Robert Coe, the founder of the Coe family in America, a complete copy of this will, taken from the original, is appended.

Prob. at London Oct. 12, 1558, on the oath of William Syday, attorney for Dorothy the relict and executrix. (P. C. C., 54 Noodes.)

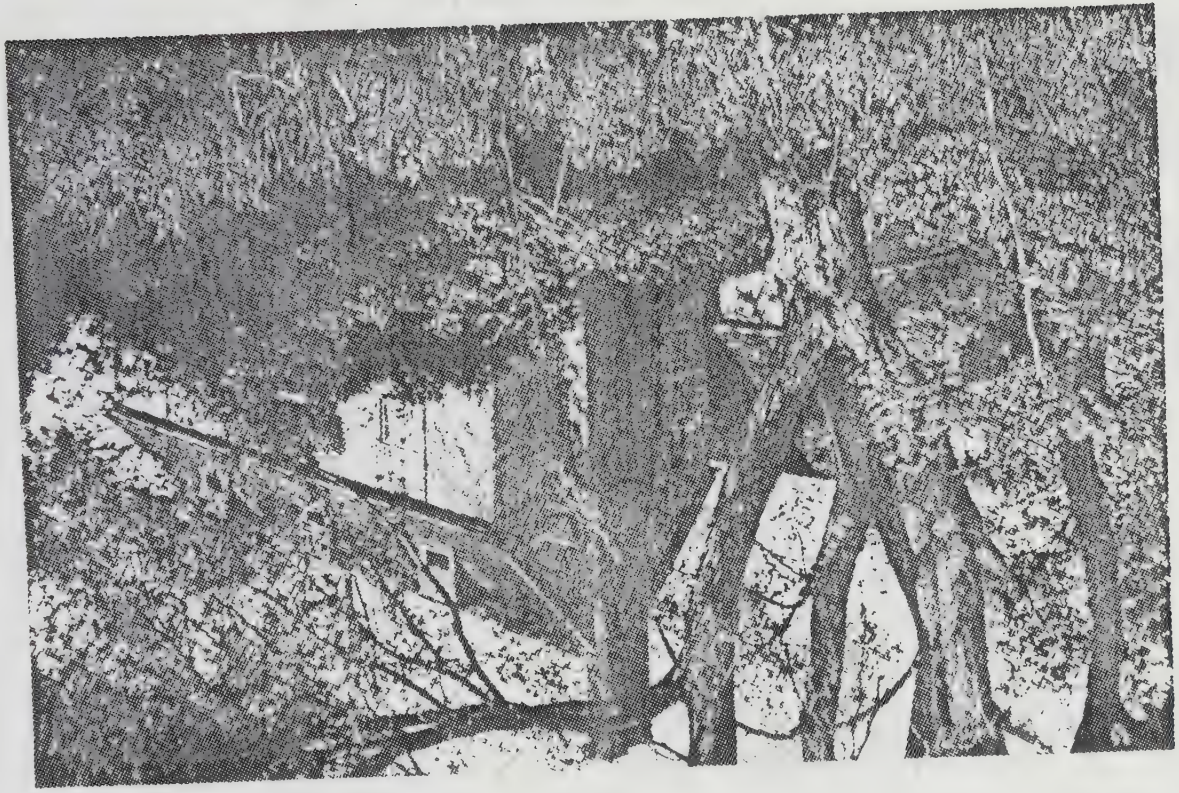
John[7] Coo married about 1545, DOROTHY ———; she married second, ROBERT TURNER of Groton and Stoke-Nayland who died in 1571, and married third, OLIVER DIXON (an extensive landholder of Groton, Boxford, and Stoke-Nayland who died in 1582), as is shown by their wills and by the following lawsuit:

On May 13, 1582, Thomas Turner complained that his late father Robert Turner of Groton willed to plaintiff a messuage called Oversmiths held of the manor of Groton, on which he entered at his father's death as recorded on the court rolls of Jan. 10, 1571–2; but plaintiff confiding in his mother-in-law [step-mother] Dorothy, widow of Robert Turner and executrix of his will, did permit her to occupy the said premises. Afterwards the said Dorothy in conspiracy with Lawrence Locke now deceased, then steward of the said manor, got herself secretly admitted as tenant of the premises and later married Oliver Dixon the elder, and they hold possession of the said messuage and the evidences to same, to the undoing of plaintiff. Most of the tenants of the manor are allied to defendants and so prejudiced against plaintiff who has no remedy in the common law. [No Answer is extant.] (Court of Requests Series 1485–1603, bundle 77.)

The will of Robert Turner of Stoke-next-Nayland, dated Sept. 1, 1571, names his children Thomas Turner, John Turner, William Turner, Dorothy Turner, and Phennena Turner; also his wife Dorothy and her children John Coe, Robert Coe, Thomas Coe, and Henry Coe, each of whom to have 20 sh. when twenty-one. (Arch. of Sudbury, Book "Hum," no. 31, fol. 84.)

The will of Oliver Dixon, the elder, of Stoke-Nayland, yeoman, dated Sept. 30, 1582. To son Robert Dixon lands etc. in Groton and Milding; to son Oliver Dixon lands in Groton and Edwardstone; to son John Dixon lands in Poulstead. To every one of my children's children 6 sh. 8 d. at marriage. All residue to wife Dorothy, she to be sole executrix. Friend John Spencer of Groton, supervisor. To the poor of Groton, Edwardstone, and Waldingfield. (P. C. C., 42 Tirwhite.)

The will of Dorothie Dixson of Stoke-next-Naylande, co. Suff., widdowe, dated Jan. 2, 1584–5. Sick in body. To be buried in churchyard of Stoke. To son John[8] Coo 20 sh. within one year. To my son John[8] Cooe's eldest son 6 sh. 8 d. at age of twenty. To Dorothie[9]



Rear view of Scotland Hall, Stoke, Nayland.

Cooe, my son John Cooe's daughter, 6 sh. 8 d. at age of twenty. To each of the other children now living of my said son John[8] Cooe, 6 sh. 8 d. at twenty. To son Thomas[8] Cooe certain household goods to be delivered within one year. To Robert[9] Cooe, Faith[9] Cooe, and Alice[9] Cooe, children of my son Robert[8] Cooe, £3–6–8 each at age of twenty-one or marriage. To each of my two brothers and two sisters 10 sh. each within one year. To the wife of my son John[8] Cooe 10 sh. To the wife of my son Robert[8] Cooe 20 sh. and certain goods. To Frances Forgin 3 sh. 4 d. To daughter Dorothy Turner £90 with the £5 her father gave her, at age of twenty-one; if she die before of age, then £20 of it to son Thomas[8] Cooe and £20 to each of the three children now living of my son Robert[8] Cooe when twenty-one. To daughter Dorothie Turner at twenty-one some goods left me by the will of my late husband Oliver Dixon. Residue of goods at Scotland Hall to sons Robert[8] Coe and Henry[8] Coe. All residue of goods to son Henry[8] Coe he to be sole executor. Witnesses Launcelot Baker, Robert Wentt, Thomas Joslyn. Probated by executor Henry[8] Coe, Feb. 8, 1585–6. (P. C. C., 6 Windsor.)

Dorothy Coe-Turner-Dixon passed her last years at Scotland Hall in Stoke-Nayland, probably her dower from her last husband Oliver Dixon; and she was buried in the church-yard of Stoke-Nayland, Oct. 25, 1585, aged sixty-three years, according to the church registers of that parish.

Children of John[7] and Dorothy Coo:

21. i. JOHN[8], b. about 1545, eldest son and heir.
    ii. THOMAS, b. about 1547, was living in 1585, but his further history is not certainly known. He was possibly the Thomas Coo who was bur. at Little Cornard, co. Suff., May 7, 1609, having m. there Nov. 25, 1583, ALICE WARNER; no further record.
22. iii. ROBERT, b. in 1550.
    iv. WILLIAM, b. about 1552; as he is not mentioned in the wills of his stepfather in 1571 and of his mother in 1585, he had probably died unm.
23. v. HENRY, b. probably about 1555; FATHER OF ROBERT COE, ancestor of the Coes of America.

13. EDWARD[8] COO, GENT. (Thomas[7] (9), John[6] "the elder," John[5], Thomas[4], John[3], John[2], John[1]), born about 1560, appears at Belchamp-Walter in the subsidies of 39 and 42 Elizabeth (1597 and 1600), being assessed x sh. viij d. on goods valued at £iiij. (Lay Subsidies, Essex, 111–512 and 111–518); and about 1601 as eldest son and heir of his father he inherited lands in Belchamp-Walter and he also acquired by purchase of Richard Barnard a large estate in Patiswick, co. Essex, which became his principal seat. About this time he elevated his position by his marriage into the great landed Norman family of Chauncey, of ancient, knightly, and distinguished lineage, whose pedigree is traced back to the Norman Conquest (A. D. 1066), in an unbroken lineal male line of landowners in Hertfordshire and Yorkshire. Edward[8] Coo does not appear in any of the Court Rolls of the Gestingthorpe manors of Overhall and Netherhall.

In a list of the justices of the peace for co. Essex in 1601, Edward[8] Coo Esq. of Patiswyke in Essex appears with these arms: Argent three piles in point wavy gules, between twelve martlets sable (Harl. Mss. 1137, p. 18); and at the Visitation of Essex in 1612 Edward[8] Coo of Patiswick, gent., entered a pedigree of his family and claimed the foregoing arms, basing his right to them on ancient family usage, as he proved by his possession of ancient deeds of his ancestors bearing their seals with similar arms. (See ante, pp. 12, 13.)

The will of Edward[8] Coo of Walter-Belchamp, co. Essex, gent., dated Feb. 14, 1620. To be buried in Gestingthorpe church or chancel near my parents. To wife Jane all household goods except my books and ring with my seal of arms which I give to my son Abner[9], and my instruments of music which are to be divided among my children according to their faculties. Also to wife Jane 100 marks and rents for life of the copyhold in Pathwick bought of Richard Barnard, with reversion to son Abner[9]. To daughters Jane[9] Coo and Deborah[9] Coo £200 each at age of twenty-three. To son Abner[9] £100 at age of twenty and £24 a year to maintain him at the University. To son Abner[9] the overplus of the lease where I now dwell, and if he die s. p. reversion to my daughters, and if all my children die s. p. reversion to my father-in-law Mr. George Chauncey Esq. and my brother Mr. Henrie Chauncey, gent., as trustees, for use of my wife. To daughter Jane[9] a tenement in Walter-Belchamp I bought of John Cranfield. Whereas my brother Roger[8] Coe deceased did owe me some money as by his sonnes bill expressed, I forgive them half the debt if Charles[9] Coo or his mother shall pay the other half to Lawrence[9] Coe my brother's son, to apprentice him to some decent trade. Executors my brothers-in-law George Chauncey jun. and Charles Chauncey, and my cousin Mr. Henry Miller, son of John Miller, gent. Codicil dated July 14, 1623. If all my children die s. p. the last survivor shall convey £20 to every one of the living children of my brother Roger[8] Coe, and £20 each to the four children of my brother Thomas[8] Coe viz., Bendlowes[9], Catherine[9], Martha[9], and Penelope[9], "to be paid eleaven children, seaven of my brother's and four of my brother Thomas[8]." Probated in 1624. (P. C. C., 18 Byrde.)

Edward[8] Coo of Walter-Belchamp, gent., was buried in Gestingthorpe Church, Jan. 22, 1623–4.

He married about 1602, JANE CHAUNCEY, bapt. Sept. 19, 1577, daughter of George and Jane (Cornwell) Chauncey of Gedelston, co. Herts., and half-sister of Rev. Charles Chauncey, ancestor of the Chauncey family of America and second president of Harvard College. She appears at Walter-Belchamp in the Shipmoney Tax for Essex in 1636, and was living as late as 1651.

Children:

i. ABNER[9] Coo, M. D., b. about 1605. Educated at Trinity Coll., Cambridge, A. B. 1627, A. M. 1630; studied medicine and received M. D. at Rheims 1634, incorporated at Cambridge in 1645; admitted a Licentiate of the Royal College of Physicians, London, on June 26, 1654. (Munk's Roll of the Royal Coll. of Physicians, vol. 1, p. 269.)

He was a physician at Cambridge and later at London, and died s. p. in 1664. His will dated May 16, 1662, directs that he be buried in the chancel of Stanmore Magna, co. Middlesex, or at Gestingthorpe, co. Essex, "where my parents and Auncestors for many preceeding generations have been interred." To three nieces at Eyeham in Derbyshire, daughters of eldest sister Wilson deceased, viz., Elizabeth, Anne, and Deborah, to other sister Deborah Steele of Walter Belchamp, and to her two daughters, to each a gold ring. "To niece Elizabeth Wilson my gold sealed Ring of Arms, it being my father's ring." To Abraham Alston and Thomas Steele, sons of said younger sister, £5 each. "To Mary Price, daughter of my wife by a former husband, a silver dish with my arms in the middle thereof," etc. To kinsmen Isaac and Ichabod Chauncey a mss. de Morbos subcutaneos Cura, they to get it printed; also to said kinsmen certain medical folios "for the great respect sake I bear their Reverend Father my uncle and quondam Tutor in Cambridge," [President Chas. Chauncey]. All residue to wife, she to be sole executrix. Probated May 5, 1664, by relict Anna Coe. (P. C. C., 50 Bruce.) He married ANNA, widow probably of ——— Price; no children.

ii. JANE, m. ——— WILSON of Eyeham, co. Derby; children, Elizabeth, Anne, Deborah.

iii. DEBORAH, m. (1), ABRAHAM ALSTON of Sudbury, co. Suff., etc.; children, Abraham, Margaret, Deborah; m. (2), ——— STEELE and lived at Walter-Belchamp; child, Thomas.

14. THOMAS[8] COO, ESQ. (Thomas[7] (9), John[6] "the elder," John[5], Thomas[4], John[3], John[2], John[1]), baptized at Walter-Belchamp, July 14, 1567, educated for the law, and according to his own account "a laureate of both universities and a student of the Inner Temple," settled at Lambeth, co. Surrey, now part of London, and led a checkered career. He appears to have been an eccentric character and a shyster in his legal practice; and mixing unwarily in political intrigues he suffered imprisonment for several years both in Newgate and in The Fleet.

To support a claim to some property in Lambeth, formerly owned by one Christopher Coo Esq. of the Norfolk Co. family who died in 1538, Thomas[8] Coo entered a "fake" pedigree in the Visitation of Surrey in 1623, falsely claiming that this Christopher Coo was his grandfather. (Harl. Mss. 1397, fol. 145b.)

For nearly a score of years Thomas[8] Coo was continually embroiled in litigation, the records of the Court of Chancery alone showing nearly a score of suits in which he was involved, viz.: Coo vs. De la Hay (Chancery Suits, Series temp. Jas. I, C–1–72); Coo vs. Fletcher (Ibid. C–5–10); Coo vs. Gore (Ibid. C–8–20); Coo vs. Heyhoo (Ibid. C–11–26); Coo vs. Mansell (Ibid. C–23–2); Coo vs. Matterday (Ibid. C–29–67); Vesey vs. Coo (Ibid. V–2–29); Stanhope vs. Coo (Chancery Suits, Series temp. Chas. I, S–100–40); Pitham vs. Coo (Ibid. P–67–26); Coo vs. Woodward (Ibid. C–2–56); Coo vs. Conradus (Ibid. C–3–25); Coo vs. Inger (Ibid. C–95–37); Coo vs. Wright (Ibid. C–43–71); Coo vs. Coo (Chancery Suits, Series II, 399–63); Coo vs. Reynall (Ibid. 342–61); Allyn vs. Coo (Ibid. 330–63); Coe vs. Bancroft et Coo (Ibid. 338–51);

Coo vs. Frith (Ibid. 226–15). Extracts from a few of these suits are appended.

On June 15, 1624, Thomas[8] Coo Esq. of Lambeth, co. Surrey, complained that by conspiracy of his wife Ann Coo with Sir Geo. Reynall, et als., he had been unlawfully detained in Newgate prison for five years, first at the suit of said Ann Coo under pretext of attachment, and then by Sir John Bennett for ecclesiastical causes, etc. (Chancery Suits, Series II, 342–61.)

On Oct. 9, 1628, Thomas[8] Coo Esq. of Lambeth complains that about sixteen years past he married Ann Highoe, widow of Robert Highoe merchant of London, who was well estated by her said former husband, and she in confederacy with William Allyn et als. has conspired to defraud plaintiff of the estate she brought to him, especially a mansion in Tower St., London, etc. (Chancery Suits, Series II, 399–63.)

On May 5, 1628, Elizabeth Pitham, a prisoner in The Fleet, widow of Gerrard Pitham, complains that she engaged Thomas[8] Coo of London, a common solicitor in the law, to manage her affairs, and that he embezzled the estate of her husband. The defendant Thomas[8] Coo answers that the plaintiff's bill was evidently drawn up by some common solicitor unlearned in the law. Defendant is a laureate of both universities and a student of the Inner Temple; he denies the charges, and assails the character of the plaintiff. (Chancery Suits, Series temp. Chas. I, P–67–26.)

In 1631 Thomas[8] Coo of Lambeth sued Katharine Woodward et als., claiming a certain messuage there had belonged to his grandfather* Sir Christopher Coo, Knt., which they detained from him; and by a conspiracy of defendants plaintiff had been imprisoned in The Fleet. Defendants state they do not know that the premises in question ever belonged to Sir Christopher Coo, and deny he was grandfather of plaintiff; and they deny any conspiracy to imprison plaintiff, etc. (Chancery Suits, Series temp. Chas. I. C–2–56.)

Among the English State Papers are several letters written by Thomas[8] Coo while in prison addressed to Lord Chief-Justice Popham, Robert Cecil, Earl of Salisbury, and other State officials. (See Notes and Queries, Second Series, vol. 6, pp. 344, 375.)

The following document may refer to the death of Thomas[8] Coo. On Feb. 20, 1642–3, the parishioners of Lambeth certified that Hugh Cocks, one of Capt. Andrewe's soldiers, during a riot, killed Thomas Coe, one of the parishioners, in the churchyard, at the time of Sunday prayers, etc. (Hist. Mss. Comm. Rep. no. 5, p. 73.)

Thomas[8] Coo married first, at Belchamp-Walter, Dec. 26, 1591, Alice Wentworth (called in the Registers "Alce Wenthsante"), daughter of Henry Wentworth Esq. of Bumpstead Steeple, co. Essex, (by Elizabeth his wife, daughter of Sir William Bendlowes, Knt., the famous "only serjeant-at-law temp. Elizabeth," who died in 1584), and great-granddaughter of Sir Roger Wentworth Knt. of Codham Hall and Gosfield Hall, co. Essex. (See ante p. 20, Swynbourne pedigree; also registers of Belchamp-Walter; also Visit. of Surrey 1623; Visit. of Essex 1612; Wentworth Genealogy, pp. 193, 196–7.) "Mrs. Ales Cooe wife of Thomas Cooe," buried Mar. 1, 1603–4. (Registers of Castle Hedingham, co. Essex.)

Thomas[8] Coo married next (according to statement of his son Bendlowes[9] Coo in a Chancery Bill quoted below), ——— BENDLOWES, the only daughter of William Bendlowes (William Bendlowes junior who died in 1613), and so an own cousin of Alice Wentworth first wife of Thomas[8] Coo. No other evidence of this marriage has been found, and it seems doubtful.

Thomas[8] Coo married also, about 1612, ANNE (HARLESTON) HIGHOE, daughter of ——— Harleston, of co. Essex and widow of Robert Highoe or Heyhoo of London; this marriage was disastrous for Thomas[8] Coo as previously shown.

Children:

i. CATHERINE[9], b. about 1593, living 1623.

ii. MARTHA, b. about 1595, living 1623.

iii. PENELOPE, b. about 1597, living 1623.

iv. BENDLOWES, b. about 1602; in his 22[d] year at the Visitation of Surrey in 1623. In 1628, Bendlowes Coo of London, gent., complained that he was left a large legacy by his grandfather William Bendlowes whose only daughter married plaintiff's father Thomas[8] Coo, who was to have the use of the legacy until plaintiff became of age. Said Thomas[8] Coo falling into the hands of great oppressors was compelled to redeem himself with the legacy of plaintiff, and when plaintiff became of age his father deeded to him certain plate etc. as security for the legacy, which plate etc. has been unlawfully seized by one Thos. Coo, Anne Coo mother-in-law [stepmother] of plaintiff, and Richard Spencer, etc. (Chancery Suits, Series temp. Chas. I, C–117-48.) Bendlowes[9] Coo of London, gent., also had a suit in Chancery against Thomas West of London, in regard to a business transaction. (Ibid. C–109–52.) The further history of Bendlowes[9] Coo has not been learned.

15. JOHN[8] COE "THE ELDER" (William[7] (10), John[6] "the elder," John[5], Thomas[4], John[3], John[2], John[1]), born about 1555, leased from the Dean and Chapter of St. Paul for a long term, the manor of Wickham St. Paul, co. Essex, where he resided; but he died in early manhood, in 1592, aged about thirty-five years.

His will was dated May 13, 1591. To be buried at Wickham St. Paul. To wife Margaret an annuity of £40 for sixty years (if she live so long), to be paid by executors out of my lease of the manor of Wickham St. Paul, if William Luckyn of Chickney Finch, co. Essex, his son John Luckyn, and my wife Margaret release all claim to same in a deed dated Dec. 26, 1581. Certain goods to wife Margaret to bring up three youngest children, Joane[9], Richard[9], and a child[9] unborn. To daughters Maryan[9] and Joane £100 each at age of twenty-four. To my father and mother an annuity of £3. My executors (my brothers John[8] Cooe and George[8] Cooe), to hold for eighteen years my lease of my farm of Wickham Hall, out of which to pay my legacies and debts, and then it is to revert to my sons William[9] and Richard[9]. My executors to pay out of my goods a mortgage of £200 on my farm of Wickham Hall, due Aug. 1, 1594. Overseer my brother-in-law William Luckyn. Executors and overseer to be properly compensated and to educate my son William[9] Coe. Witnesses: William Tyffyn, Robert Parke, Matthew Simson. Probated May 8, 1592. (Wills in Dean and Chapter of St. Paul, Book B, p. 368.)

He married in 1581, MARGARET LUCKYN, daughter of William Luckyn of Chignal Smealy, co. Essex. (Visit. of Essex 1634.)

Children:

i. WILLIAM[9], b. about 1583; was of Wickham St. Paul in 1634 when he entered a family pedigree in the Visitation of Essex for that year, claiming for arms: Argent three piles in point wavy gules between twelve martlets sable, a crescent for difference [second house]. This pedigree commenced simply with his grandfather William[7] Coo of Wickham St. Paul; and failing to show the latter's connection with the Coes of Gestingthorpe who were recognized as armorial at the Visitation of 1612, and failing to show any other authority for use of these arms, his right to them was respited [withheld] until he should do so. As a fact he was entitled to the arms he claimed, his grandfather William[7] Coo, being second son of John[6] Coo "the elder" of Gestingthorpe, as proved by the Court Rolls of the Manor of Netherhall. (See ante, p. 38.) William[9] Coe, gent., was assessed at Wickham St. Paul in the Shipmoney Tax for Essex in 1636. His further history is not clear. Possibly he later was of Malden, co. Essex, where a William Coe, draper, d. in 1646, administration on whose estate was given in November of that year to a brother Richard Coe (P. C. C., Admons. 1646); in 1647 the latter as administrator was plaintiff against William Chandler and Katharine his wife for withholding goods of William Coe of Malden, draper, deceased, etc. (Chancery Suits, Series temp. Charles I, C–49–26.)

ii. MARIAN, b. about 1585; m. JOHN LONGE of Banfeld Salin [Bardfield Saling], co. Essex. (Visit. of Essex in 1634.)

iii. JOANE, b. about 1587.

iv. RICHARD, b. about 1589, living in 1634; his history is uncertain, but possibly he was the Richard Coe who was assessed for lands in Stebbing, co. Essex, in the Subsidies of 22 James I, (1624), and 3 and 4 Chas. I, (1627–1628) (See Lay Subsidies, Essex, 112–606, 112–619, 112–630, 112–627); a Richard Coe, perhaps the same man, appears at Liston in the Essex Shipmoney Tax for 1636. A Richard Coe, brother of William Coe, was of Malden, co. Essex, in 1646 and 1647. (See supra.)

v. A CHILD, name unknown, b. in 1591.

16. JOHN[8] COE "THE YOUNGER" (William[7] (10), John[6] "the elder," John[5], Thomas[4], John[3], John[2], John[1]), born about 1560, was one of the executors of the will in 1591 of his brother John[8] Coe "the elder." He resided for a few years at Castle Hedingham, co. Essex, but his full history has not been worked out. The name of his wife has not been found.

Children recorded at Castle Hedingham:

i. JOHN[9], bur. Dec. 28, 1586.

ii. WILLIAM, bapt. Aug. 17, 1589, appears at Castle Hedingham, assessed for lands, in the Subsidy of 22 James I, (1624). (Lay Subsidies, Essex, 112–606.) He had recorded at Castle Hedingham the following Children:

1. DOROTHY HESTER[10], bapt. May 1, 1609.
2. GEORGE, bapt. [illegible] 1610–11.
3. WILLIAM, bapt. May 10, 1613.
4. ELIZABETH, bapt. Sept. 5, 1615.
5. JOANE, bapt. Feb. 10, 1617–18.
6. EDITH, b. about 1620; bur. Feb. 11, 1620–21.
7. MARY, bapt. Apr. 14, 1622.

iii. MARY, bapt. Feb. 7. 1590–91.

iv. EDITH, bapt. Nov. 19, 1592.

17. GEORGE[8] COE, GENT. (William[7] (10), John[6] "the elder," John[5], Thomas[4], John[3], John[2], John[1]), baptized about February, 1564–5, at Poslingford, co. Suff., was educated for the law, and was evidently successful in its practice as he gained wealth which enabled him to acquire extensive real estate, finally becoming about 1612 the lord of the manor of Byam Hall in Great Maplestead, co. Essex, where he established his residence. In 1591 he was an executor of the will of his brother John[8] Coe "the elder," and thereafter he appears in numerous records.

Between 1591 and 1624 he acquired lands in Holbrook, Harkstead, Cockfield, and Woolverstone, all in co. Suffolk, and in Belchamp-Walter, Twinstead, Halstead, Great and Little Maplestead, and Wickham St. Paul, all in co. Essex, by nearly a score of purchases by fine, as shown by the Feet of Fines for Essex and Suffolk.

The Subsidy Roll of 3 Jas. I, (1605), shows George[8] Coe, gent., of Pebmarsh, taxed viij sh. iv d. on goods valued at £v; in the Roll of 22 Jas. I, (1624), George[8] Cooe, gent., of Great Maplestead was assessed xviij sh. viij d. on goods valued at £vij. (Lay Subsidies, Essex, 111–573, and 112–606.)

On May 8, 1604, John Ball of Earlestonham, co. Suff., gent., complained that Robert Ball of Wakes Colne, co. Essex, by his will bequeathed to plaintiff his interest in Loveney Hall in Wakes Colne; that George[8] Coe then of Holbrook, co. Suffolk, and his wife Joane, daughter and heiress of said Robert Ball, made a claim to said premises, but on June 13, 1596, made an agreement to release their claim thereto to plaintiff, within five years, which agreement they now repudiate. The defendant George Coe answers that when Robert Ball made his will he had no children, and by his will left the estate in question to his wife with reversion at her death to plaintiff, only in default of issue of his own. After said will was made, Robert Ball had a child and heiress Joane who carried the estate to her husband the defendant. (Chancery Suits, Series temp. Jas. I, B–26–60.)

In 1611 George[8] Coe was appointed by his cousin William[8] Coo "the younger" (No. 19) one of the executors of the latter's estate, which trust

he faithfully performed, but nevertheless litigation ensued thereon which continued after his death, as shown by the following documents: On May 23, 1615, Stephen Ashwell, uncle of the wife of William[8] Coe late of Gestingthorpe, deceased, and one of the executors of the latter's will, complains that said William[8] Coe left lands in Pentlow, co. Essex, and a farm called Parkegate held by long lease of the Earl of Oxford, and goods worth over 1000 marks. Testator left sons John[9] and William[9], of whom the son John[9] was to be brought up by plaintiff who was to have the profits of the lands until said John[9] became of age when he was to succeed to them; and the son William was to have £300 when twenty-one. Plaintiff and George[8] Coe, the other executor, have leased Park farm for £40 per year, but the said George[8] Coe has embezzled the goods of the testator. George Coe, defendant, answers that the inventory of testator's estate may be seen. When testator died, defendant got one William Tyffen to take the children from the house in Gestingthorpe and care for them which they and others were fearful to do, as the said testator, his wife, her child, and a maidservant all died within a fortnight. Defendant has been to great expenses of which he has accounts, and denies any embezzlement. (Chancery Suits, Series temp. Jas. I, A–7–56; also Series temp. Chas. I, A–46–7.)

George[8] Coe, gent, died Nov. 23, 1625, aged sixty, possessed of the messuage and farm called Byam Hall, held of the manor of Overhall; also of lands and tenements called Buckmongers held of the manor of Ballingdon Fee; also of a wood called Lepingwell, and lands in Halstead; also of one hundred and five acres of land in Wickham St. Paul, held of the Dean and Chapter of St. Paul's, London; also of the manor of Shadlowe in Gosfield, etc. Isaac[9] Coe his son and heir was fourteen years of age. (Inq. Post Mort., Chancery Ser., 2 Chas. I, (1626), 449–41.)

The will of George[8] Coe of Great Maplestead, co. Essex, gent., dated Nov. 19, 1625. To be buried there. "Whereas I received half the goods of William[8] Coe deceased, and half the profits of a farm called Parkgate amounting to £545, my executors shall take the rents for seven years of my manor of Shadlowe in Gosfield and of tenements in Halstead and Wickham St. Paul, to be paid to John[9] Coe and William[9] Coe sons of said William[8] Coe at their ages of twenty one." My debts to be paid from profits of lands in Cockfield, co. Suff., conditionally conveyed to me by my cousin [John Walker]. To daughter Hannah[9] Coo my term in Parkgate in Gestingthorpe and Castle Hedingham. To daughter Edith[9] lands in Maplestead, late of the Earl of Oxford. To wife Joane for life the manor of Byam Hall with lands pertaining, with reversion to son and heir Isaac[9] Coe, and if he die s. p. reversion to son George[9] Coe. To son Isaac[9] estates in Wickham St. Paul, and to son George[9] estates in Halstead. Goods to wife, she and my son-in-law John Higham to be executors. To daughters Marshall, Higham, and Strutt. To brother Talcat and my sister. To widow Margery Whiting, an annuity. A tenement in Cockfield to Christopher Manning and his heirs. Probated Dec. 22, 1625. (P. C. C., 136 Clarke.)

He married at Brent Ely, co. Suffolk, Apr. 12, 1596, JOANE BALL, daughter of Robert Ball of Wakes Colne, co. Essex, etc. In Oct. 1641, Susan Walker, widow of John Walker late of Lavenham, co. Suff., deceased, sued Joane Coe, widow of George[8] Coe of Great Maplestead, and her son Isaac[9] Coo, to recover equity of redemption in property in Cockfield mortgaged by John Walker to George[8] Coe. (Chancery Suits, Series temp. Chas. I, W-58-34 and W-29-36.)

Joane Coe, widow, of Great Maplestead, was assessed on goods valued at £v xiij sh. iv d., in the Subsidy of 3 and 4 Chas. I, (1627-1628). (Lay Subsidies, Essex, 112-619, 112-626, 112-630.) She also appears in the Shipmoney Tax for Essex, 1636.

Her will was dated Jan. 31, 1641-2. To daughter Bridges £20. To son Bridges 20 sh. To Mrs. Hackett one of my grandchildren. Grandchild Matthew Bridges. My daughter Leigh and my son Leigh. Joane Leigh, Anna Leigh, and George Leigh. My daughter Strutt and her sons John and Thomas Strutt. My daughter Edith Coo. My sons Isaac and George Coo. To my sister Taylcott's son Thomas £3, and to her other four children £2 each. My son Higham and my daughter his wife. To my cousin Thomas Cooke 20 sh. My lands at Byrt Hall in Colne. To Mr. Daniel Rogers, Mr. Carr, and Mr. Brewer. My cousin Lenton of Sudbury. My Cousin Greene, widow, of Hedingham. My son Isaac[9] Coo sole executor. Probated Aug. 9, 1647. (P. C. C., 180 Fines.)

Although this will was not probated until 1647, Joane Coe the testator died in 1642 as appears from the following records in the Court Rolls of the manor of Overhall in Gestingthorpe which asserted a suzerainty over the manor of Byam Hall: Oct. 17, 1642; It is reported that Joane Coo, widow, holding lands of this manor, has died since the last court, and that Isaac Coo, Armiger, is her son and heir of full age, and that no one has come to render service on said inheritance, etc.

Children of George[8] and Joane (Ball) Coe:

i. JOANE[9], b. about 1598, m. JOHN STRUTT of Wickham St. Paul, etc. Children: John, Thomas.

ii. SARAH, m. (1) JOHN MARSHALL of Chelmsford, co. Essex, wollen draper, who d. in 1625; child, Sarah; m. (2) MATTHEW BRIDGE of Chelmsford; child, Matthew.

iii. MARY, m. JOHN HIGHAM.

iv. HANNAH, m. ——— LEIGH. Children: Joane, Anna, George.

v. EDITH, m. ROBERT STANSTED, of Witham, co. Essex.

vi. ISAAC, b. in 1610, eldest son and heir, was educated for the law at the Inner Temple, and was an attorney-at-law of Lincolns Inn, London; died unmarried and was buried Nov. 30, 1649, in Great Maplestead Church.

vii. GEORGE, b. about 1613, as heir of his brother Isaac[9] Coe, succeeded to the manor of Byam Hall, etc. At a court of the manor of Overhall held Sept. 29, 1652, it was reported that Isaac[9] Coo Esq. held of this manor by fealty suit and annual rent of 4 sh. certain lands called Byam Hall, etc., and that he died since the last court, leaving as heir George[9] Coo his brother of full age and more, and that on the death of said Isaac[9] Coo a release of 4 sh. was due to the lord; and likewise also the said George[9] Coo has since died seized of the premises, and Sarah Bridges, Edith Stansted and Hannah Leigh are his sisters and next heirs, and on the death of said George[9] Coo another release of 4 sh. was due to the lord, which two releases the bailiff is ordered to collect.

About 1649, John Wyles of Colchester, co. Essex, merchant, sued George[9] Coe gent., and Mary his wife, formerly wife of Anthony Robinson of Castle Hedingham, for a bill for wine bought by the latter before December 1643, amounting to £56–15–2. (Chancery Suits, Series temp. Chas. I, W–84–29.)

George[9] Coe died without issue in 1652, and the manor of Byam Hall passed by sale to his stepson Roger Robinson among whose lineal descendants it continued for several generations. The will of George[9] Coo of Hedingham Castle, co. Essex, gent., dated Apr. 24, 1651, left to wife Mary all personal estate, and directed the manor of Byam Hall to be sold, and from the proceeds Roger, Rebecca, Anne, and Mary Robinson, children of wife Mary, were to receive £20 each, and the residue was to be divided into four parts, whereof one was devised to kinsmen Thomas Strutt and John Strutt, the second to sister Bridges and her daughter, the third to sister Hannah Leigh and her children, and the fourth to sister Edith Stansted. Executors Thomas Strutt of Lincoln's Inn, London, Esq., and Robert Stansted of Witham, co. Essex, gent. Probated June 24, 1652. (P. C. C., 129 Bowyer.)

He married about 1647, Mary Robinson, widow of Anthony Robinson of Castle Hedingham, by whom he had no issue.

18. WILLIAM[8] COE "THE ELDER" (John[7] "the elder" (11), John[6] "the elder," John[5], Thomas[4], John[3], John[2], John[1]), born about 1560, is first found on the Court Rolls of the manor of Overhall, where on Sept. 30, 1583, is recorded his appearance to render homage. On the death of his father in May 1586, he succeeded to the manor of Netherhall which they had acquired of Arthur Golding but two months previous. (Pat. Rolls, 28 Elizabeth, part 4.)

William[8] Coe soon became involved in debt and was obliged to mortgage the manor of Netherhall as we find from the following documents: On Apr. 5, 1593, William[8] Coo, yeoman, son and heir of John[7] Coo of Gestingthorpe, co. Essex, yeoman, late deceased, and also executor of the will of said John[7] Coo, conveyed to Deane Tyndall, son and heir of John Tyndall of Great Maplestead, co. Essex, Esq., the reversion of the manor of Netherhall; consideration £40. (Indentures on Close Rolls, 35 Eliz., part 20.) In October 1593, John Tyndall Esq., complains that William[8] Coe late of Gestingthorpe, yeoman, being possessed of the site of the manor of Netherhall for thirteen years from Sept. 29, 1590, did on Jan. 1, 1591, convey four years of said term to Peter Alston son of William Alston of Newton, co. Suff., at an annual rent of £76; later said William[8] Coe did by deed dated Feb. 25, 1593, convey to plaintiff the whole of his term in the premises. Plaintiff requested Peter Alston to pay to him the rent which Alston refuses to do, and the latter in conspiracy with said Coe withholds his deed from said Coe which should come to plaintiff. William[8] Coe, defendant, answers that plaintiff met him and Peter Alston in a field while ploughing, and the latter told plaintiff to go to his house and his father William Alston would pay the rent. Plaintiff and defendant went there and saw William Alston who refused to pay. Defendant denies any conspiracy. (Chancery Suits, Series temp. Eliz. T–t–9–39.)

About this time a marriage by William[8] Coe further complicated his difficulties as shown by these law suits: On Oct. 9, 1595, William[8] Coe, late of Thorpe-Morieux,* co. Suff., yeoman, Peter White of Great Cornard, Nicholas Martin of Little Maplestead, and John[8] Coe of Belchamp-Walter [No. 9, v], yeomen, complain that on Nov. 3, 1593, they became bound in £1000 to Robert Wade of Colchester et als., in an indenture that the said William[8] Coe (who was about to marry Elizabeth Polley of Tolleshunt Knight, co. Essex, widow), should make her a jointure of the manor of Netherhall, then held by said William[8] Coe and formerly by his father John[7] Coe, but "entangled" to John Tyndall Esq. of Great Maplestead. The indenture and bond were drawn up by said Wade, a man of sharp understanding, who trapped the plaintiffs (who are unlearned in the law) into a bond they could not possibly perform, as the inheritance of said manor then lay forfeited to the son of the said John Tyndall, a fact then unknown to plaintiffs. William[8] Coe then married the widow Elizabeth Polley, and being unable to make her a jointure of said manor, the plaintiffs have been sued by Wade in the common law for the amount of the bond. Robert Wade et als., defendants, answer that William[8] Coe the chief complainant is outlawed [bankrupt], and so claim defence is not required. They had no knowledge that the reversion of the manor of Netherhall had been conveyed to Tyndall, but they claimed that the plaintiff William[8] Coe knew it, and inveigled the widow Elizabeth Polley into marriage by false pretences. (Chancery Suits, Series temp. Eliz., C–c–6–45.) In 1596, William[8] Coe of Malden, co. Essex, sued Edward Bullock, son and heir and executor of the will of Edward Bullock, deceased, claiming lands in Tolleshunt Knight, co. Essex, formerly the property of Giles Polley, deceased, whose widow Elizabeth had married the plaintiff. (Chancery Suits, Series temp. Elizabeth, C–c–10–60.)

The foregoing difficulties finally compelled William[8] Coe to alienate all his interest in the manor of Netherhall to Deane Tyndall, gent. by license dated Mar. 2, 1600–1. (Pat. Rolls, 43 Eliz. part 1.) His further history has not been traced.

He married in 1593, ELIZABETH POLLEY, widow of Giles Polley of Tolleshunt Knight, co. Essex. No records of any children have been found.

19. WILLIAM[8] COE "THE YOUNGER" (John[7] "the elder" (11), John[6] "the elder," John[5], Thomas[4], John[3], John[2], John[1]), born about 1580, inherited by his father's will Parkegate or Parke farm in Gestingthorpe, etc., and he also acquired lands in Pentlowe, co. Essex. In the

* His stay there must have been brief; perhaps he lived a short time with his second cousin Henry[8] Coe, who resided there a score of years after 1590.

Subsidy Roll of 3 James I, (1605), William[8] Coe of Gestingthorpe was taxed v sh. on goods valued at £iij. (Lay Subsidies, Essex, 111–573.) He died at the early age of about thirty and was buried at Gestingthorpe, Aug. 10, 1611. Some epidemic (perhaps small-pox) attacked his family, as he himself, his wife, her child, and a maid-servant, all died within a fortnight. (Chancery Suits, Series temp. Jas. I, A–7–56, "Ashwell vs. Coe.")

The will of William[8] Coe of Gestingthorpe, yeoman, was dated Aug. 5, 1611. To each of my three sisters now living £3. To brother Edward[8] Coe £15. To brother Robert[8] Coe 15 marks. To eldest son John[9] Coe estates in Gestingthorpe and Pentlowe, co. Essex, when twenty-one; my uncle Stephen Ashwell of Bury St. Edmunds and my aunt his wife to bring up said son and have profits therefrom until he be of age. If son John[9] Coe die s. p., reversion to son William[9] Coe. If my uncle Ashwell decline to bring up my son John, then my cousin George[8] Cooe to have his bringing up and profits of said lands. To youngest son William Coo £300 at twenty-one. To the wife of Nicholas Clark, and to servants John Payne and Daniel Smith. To Mr. Rogers, preacher at Wethersfield, 20 sh. To Margaret Franklin and goodwife Marshall. To wife of cousin George Coe. To each of the children of my sister Ellis. My uncle Ashwell and kinsman Geo.[8] Coe executors. Probated Jan. 24, 1611–12. (P. C. C., 1 Fenner.)

The name of his wife has not been found.

Children:

i. JOHN[9], b. about 1606, inherited lands in Pentlowe, co. Essex, consisting of one messuage, one garden, one orchard, twenty-five acres of land, seven acres of meadow, and ten acres of pasture, which he and his wife Anne conveyed to Robert Crane in 1628. (Feet of Fines, Essex, Easter, 4 Chas. I.) He then settled in Whatfield, co. Suff., where as "John Coe, gent.," he appears in the Shipmoney Tax for Suffolk in 1640. On June 14, 1630, Sir Gilbert Garrard, Bart., and Sir Richard Younge, Bart., conveyed to John[9] Coe of Whatfield, co. Suff., yeoman, two messuages etc. in Semer, co. Suff.; consideration £1050. (Indentures on Close Rolls, 6 Chas. I, part 39, no. 7.) He married ANNE ———; and from the will of his brother we learn he had the following children:

1. JOHN[10], b. about 1628.
2. WILLIAM.
3. GEORGE.
4. HENRY.
5. ANNE.

ii. WILLIAM, b. about 1608; was a linen-draper at Bury St. Edmunds, and later of Whatfield, co. Suff., where he d. s. p. 1638. In 1630 William[9] Coe of Bury St. Edmunds, linen-draper, sued the executors of George[8] Coe late of Great Maplestead, claiming the latter had not rendered a proper account of the estate of William[8] Coe, father of plaintiff, of which said George[8] Coe was an executor. (Chancery Suits, Series temp. Chas. I, C–118–52.)

The will of William[9] Coe of Whatfield, singleman, dated Mar. 6, 1637. To godson William[10] Coe, second son of my brother John[9]

Coo of Whatfield, lands in Cockfield when twenty-two; my copyhold lands to be sold and said nephew to be trained at the University. To Roger Pechell of Bury, draper, £200. To niece Anne[10] Coo daughter of brother John[9] Coo, £100 at twenty-one or marriage. If my nephew William[10] Coo die s. p. reversion to his brothers Henry[10] Coo, George[10] Coo, and John[10] Coo. To my brother John[9] Coo and my sister Coo. To cousin George Carter of Elmsett, clerk. To Mr. Thomas Canham my father-in-law. To sister Snelling of Thetford. To sister-in-law Susan Canham. Cousin Henry Mannock of Elmsett, gent. To brother Bartholomew Canham. Probated, Apr. 2, 1638. (Bury St. Edmunds Wills.)

20. ROBERT[8] COE (John[7] "the elder" (11), John[6] "the elder," John[5], Thomas[4], John[3], John[2], John[1]), born at Gestingthorpe about 1585, was living in 1612 when he was executor of the will of his brother Edward[8] Coe. While his further history is not positively known, it seems probable that he was identical with a Robert Coe of Maldon, co. Essex, whose history is appended.

Robert Coe of All Saints Parish, Maldon, was a grocer, chandler, and linen-draper, acquired considerable estate, and was a prominent citizen of the borough. That he was a sharp man of business and of pugnacious temperament is shown by the details of the following chancery suits (which however reveal no genealogy and so no abstracts are given): Clark vs. Coe (Chancery Suits, Series temp. Chas. I, C–62–13 and C–84–18,); Fowlger vs. Coe (Ibid. F–42–40); Heath vs. Coe (Ibid. H–68–19); Lincoln vs. Coe (Ibid. L–6–20).

On a Subsidy Roll for Essex, 3 and 4 Chas. I, (1627–8), Robert Cooe was taxed xx sh. iiij d. on lands in the Parish of All Saints, Maldon. (Lay Subsidies, Essex, 112–621, 112–633, 112–635.) He died in April 1656.

The will of Robert Coe of Maldon, co. Essex, linen-draper, dated Apr. 3, 1656. To five youngest children, viz., Robert, Thomas, William, Matthew, and Anne, £60 in household good. To wife Elizabeth for life certain tenements, with reversion to son Robert. To daughter Anne Coe £120. To son William Coe all goods in shop. To son Matthew Coe £120 at twenty-one. To son Thomas Coe £150. To son John Coe £5. To daughter Elizabeth, wife of John Wonham, 20 sh. Wife Elizabeth and sons Robert and Thomas executors. Probated Apr. 30, 1656. (P. C. C., Berkeley 431.)

He married ELIZABETH ——— who was probably a Collin, as in 1639 Robert Coe of All Saints, Maldon, linen-draper, aged fifty-four years, claimed £40 of Margery Collin, administratrix of Abraham Collin, deceased, which he had loaned said deceased in August; Coe states "Margery Collin is daughter of my wife's brother."

Children:

i. ELIZABETH[9], m. JOHN WONHAM.

ii. JOHN, b. about 1625, was probably the John Coe, grocer of Maldon, who left a will dated Mar. 13, 1673–4. To wife Martha for life estates in Maldon, Northsambridge, and Heighbridge, with reversion to sons Charles Coe and John Coe. To daughter Mary Coe £60. Wife Martha executrix. Probated Apr. 30, 1674. (Comm. of London, Essex, and Herts., 1673–4, no. 8.)

He m. MARTHA ———.

Children:

1. CHARLES[10], b. about 1660.
2. JOHN.
3. MARY.

iii. ROBERT, was a butcher of Maldon where he d. in 1664. His will dated Nov. 10, 1664, mentions wife Judith, sons Robert and John, brothers John, Thomas, William, and Matthew, and sisters Elizabeth Wonham and Anne Coe. Executors brothers Thomas and Matthew Coe, linen-drapers. Probated Feb. 21, 1664–5. (Comm. of London, Essex and Herts., 1664–5, no. 18.)

He m. JUDITH ———.

Children:

1. ROBERT[10], b. ab. 1655–1660.
2. JOHN.

iv. THOMAS, b. ab. 1630, a linen-draper of Maldon, living 1664.

v. WILLIAM, living 1664.

vi. ANNE, living unm. in 1664.

vii. MATTHEW, b. about 1637, is the only "Matthew" Coe yet found by the compiler at any time or place in England; but he could not have been the emigrant to New England of that name, as he was a linen-draper in Maldon where he d., adm. on his estate being given about 1675.

21. JOHN[8] COE (John[7] "the elder" (12), John[6] "the younger," John[5], Thomas[4], John[3], John[2], John[1]), born about 1545, when nineteen years of age succeeded, according to his father's will, to ancestral estates in Great Maplestead and Gestingthorpe formerly held by his father, grandfather, and great-grandfather, appearing at Great Maplestead in the Subsidy Rolls of 8 and 14 Elizabeth (1566 and 1572), in the former being taxed ij sh. viij d. on lands of yearly value of xl sh., and in the latter paying x sh. viij d. on lands of yearly value of £ viij. (Lay Subsidies, Essex, 110–425 and 111–440.) On the death of his grandmother he succeeded also to the estate called Mayes (which she had held as dower) on which he paid iiij d. at the Court of the Manor of Netherhall held in 1579; also the rolls of this manor record in 1584 that he sold this property, and in 1598 that he owed at that court 1 sh. iij d. The Rolls of the Manor of Overhall of Dec. 10, 1588, have a record of John[8] Coo of Maplestead and his parcel of land lying in Le Downe formerly Hickes at Deane, but the remainder of the reference is illegible.

In 1590 John[8] Coo acquired of John Payne and Elizabeth his wife, ten acres of land and ten acres of pasture in Great and Little Maplestead; consideration £40. (Essex Feet of Fines, Hilary 32 Eliz.) Also in 1590, John[8] Cooe et als. acquired of William Tyffyn et als., a messuage, an orchard, three acres of land, two acres of meadow, and two acres of pasture in Gestingthorpe; consideration £40. (Essex Feet of Fines, Mich. 32 and 33 Eliz.) In 1601, John[8] Coe senior and Dorothy his wife conveyed [mortgaged?] to William Alston, three gardens, three orchards, thirty acres of land, two acres of meadow, ten acres of pasture, and eight acres of wood in Maplestead, Gestingthorpe, and Wickham St. Paul; consideration £100. (Essex Feet of Fines, Easter 43 Eliz.)

On May 1, 1588, John[8] Coo of Great Maplestead, co. Essex, sued John Warde of Gestingthorpe in regard to a loan of £7 from Warde, by bond dated July 9, 1582. (Suits in Court of Requests, Series temp. Elizabeth, bundle 119.)

On Nov. 23, 1604, Adam Bingham of Rettingdon, co. Essex, gent., complained that some years since John[8] Coe surrendered to William Bingham, father of complainant, a certain copyhold in Little Maplestead and Pebmarsh, co. Essex, held of the manor of Dagworth in Pebmarsh; and afterwards said William Bingham leased back to said John[8] Coe a part of the premises, and said John[8] Coe has unlawfully felled timber to the value of £20. John[8] Coe, defendant, answered that he had a right to fell the timber, as in the conveyance he made to William Bingham he did not surrender the wood. (Chancery Suits, Series temp. Jas. I, B-21-47.)

On June 12, 1596 John[8] Cooe of Great Maplestead, co. Essex, yeoman, for his love to his son John[9] Cooe, enfeoffes Jasper Taverner to the use of said John[9] Cooe his son and his heirs, of certain messuages in Maplestead and Pebmarsh, viz.: a messuage called Wards, sometime of Thomas Collyn, afterwards of John Cratchrood, then of Robert Walshe, and late of John Carter; also a messuage [dwelling] with lands adjoining sometime of Thomas Spring and late of John Pricke, and also lands adjoining called Brockhole. (Indentures on Close Rolls, 38 Eliz., part 2.) The actual status of this transaction later appears in the following litigation: Oct. 19, 1612, John[8] Coe senior complains that about fifteen years ago he became indebted to Jasper Taverner of Ixford, co. Suff., and by "arrangement" with the latter, plaintiff devised lands called Wards etc. in Maplestead to his son John[9] Coe junior who became bound for the debt and was to have the use and profits of the said lands until the debt was paid, when they were to revert to the plaintiff John[8] Coe the elder and his wife Dorothy, for life. The said Taverner and others deposed that the bonds had been paid, but John[9] Coe junior refuses to give up the lands to his father. (Chancery Depositions 1558-1649, 57-13.)

John[8] Coe died about 1613. He married twice; the name of his first wife has not been discovered. He married second about 1580, Dorothy Hale, daughter of John and Alice Hale of Great Maplestead. The will of Alice Hale of Great Maplestead, co. Essex, widow, dated Apr. 27, 1601, gives £10 to daughter Dorothy, wife of John[8] Coe, and 20 sh. each to Thomas[9], William[9], Margaret[9], Dorothy[9], Anne[9], and Mary[9] Coe, children of daughter Dorothy Coe. Probated Aug. 26, 1601. (Consistory of London, 24 Sperin.)

Children by first marriage:

i. John[9], b. about 1570, was deeded estates in Maplestead etc. by his father in 1596, as described above. (Close Rolls, 38 Eliz., part 2.)

On June 26, 1622, Edmund Harrington of Westminster, gent., and Elizabeth Wilbore, formerly wife of Robert Harrington, clerk, father of said Edmund Harrington, complain that about 13 Eliz. (1570), John[8] Coe late of Great Maplestead, deceased, mortgaged his estates there to said Robert Harrington, and failed to pay the mortgage when due. Said John[8] Coe died about ten years since when the premises should have descended to said plaintiff Edmund Harrington as son and heir of said Robert Harrington; but on the death of John[8] Coe senior, his son John[9] Coe and wife Ulala seized the premises and held them. John[9] Coe, defendant, answers that his father paid the mortgage due to Robert Harrington, and states that minions of the plaintiffs made a forcible entry on the premises and did most barbarously assault Ulala the wife of defendant. (Chancery Suits, Series temp. Jas. I, H–21–15; also Chancery Depositions 1558–1649, 46–16.) In 1624 John[9] Coe of Great Maplestead, husbandman, complained that eighteen years ago Thomas Cooke of Thorpe got plaintiff to go on his bond of £60 for a debt to Richard Collet of £30. Cooke defaulted payment, but Collet later agreed to settle with him for £27, and also agreed to release plaintiff from his bond by payment of £3. Plaintiff being very poor, he borrowed £3 from friends, which his wife paid to William Daniel, as agent for said Collet. The latter now repudiates his agreement, and has sued plaintiff in the common law for the whole bond, to the utter undoing of the poor plaintiff and his poor wife and children. Richard Collet, defendant, answers that Cooke defaulted and has paid nothing, and he called on John[9] Coe as bondsman to pay. The latter was then very poor but of good possibilities after the death of his aged father to whom he was heir; so defendant was persuaded to accept £3 on account, until the death of plaintiff's father. William Daniel gave plaintiff's wife merely a receipt for £3.

The further history of John[9] Coe has not been traced. By his wife Ulalia he had children, but their names and history have not been discovered.

ii. Peter, b. about 1575. In 1610 Peter[9] Coo and Martha his wife acquired of John[8] Coo and Dorothy his wife [his parents], a messuage, a toft, six acres of land, and two acres of pasture in Great and Little Maplestead, co. Essex; consideration £60. (Essex Feet of Fines, Mich. 8 Jas. I.) In 1622 Peter Cooe of Newport, co. Essex, yeoman, aged about forty-six years, deposed (in the suit of Wilbore and Harrington vs. John[9] Coe) that John[8] Coe father both to defendant and to deponent, was seized of premises called "The Lodge" in Great and Little Maplestead which he mortgaged to Robert Harrington, which mortgage was paid, but he knows not the amount nor times of payment. (Chancery Depositions 1558–1649, 46–16.) The further history of Peter[9] Coe has not been traced.

Children by second marriage:

iii. Thomas[9], b. about 1580, was of Little Maplestead in the Shipmoney Tax for Essex in 1636; later he was of Sible Hedingham where he d. The will of Thomas Cooe of Hedingham Sible, tailor, dated Nov. 5, 1653. To wife Mare goods she brought at marriage. To son John Cooe the copyhold where I now dwell in Hedingham Sible and Much Maplestead. To daughter Ane £10. To daughter Mare Cooe, wife of John Pierman, part of a tenement in Sible Hedingham. To daughters Elizabeth and Susan Cooe a tenement in Hedingham Sible bought of John Webb, and certain goods. All residue to son John Cooe, he to be sole executor. Probated at Braintree July 16, 1662. (Comm. of London for Essex and Herts., 1661–2, no. 180.) His wife MARY was probably a second wife.

Children:

1. JOHN[10].
2. ANNE.
3. MARY, m. JOHN PIERMAN.
4. ELIZABETH.
5. SUSAN.

iv. WILLIAM, b. perhaps about 1585, appears at Little Maplestead in the Shipmoney Tax for Essex in 1636. The will of William[9] Coo of Little Maplestead, co. Essex, husbandman, dated Dec. 11, 1648. To sons William[10], Thomas[10], and Peter[10], and daughter Mary[10], five sh. each. All residue of goods to wife Susan (as long as she remain unmarried) to bring up my four small children, Susan, Anne, Joane, and John. If she remarry, William Carter the elder, of Little Maplestead, to take the goods and bring up said younger children. Wife Susan sole executrix. Probated at Dunmow, Dec. 17, 1649. (Comm. of London for Essex and Herts., bundle Clarke, no. 154.)

v. DOROTHY.

vi. MARGARET.

vii. ANNE.

viii. MARY.

22. ROBERT[8] COE (John[7] "the elder" (12), John[6] "the younger," John[5], Thomas[4], John[3], John[2], John[1]), born in 1550, was given £20 when of age by his father's will, and he, his wife, and his children, were also legatees of his mother's will. He settled in Stoke-Nayland, co. Suff., where the church registers give particulars of his family and descendants. He was buried at Stoke-Nayland, Mar. 21, 1597–8, aged 48. The name of his wife does not appear.

Children born at Stoke-Nayland:

i. ROBERT[9], bapt. Nov. 17, 1578, lived at Stoke-Nayland where he was buried June 1, 1642. No will or adm. is of record. He m. (1), June 1, 1609, SARAH CARBULL [Cobbold?], who d. about 1620; and he m. (2), Nov. 14, 1623, ALICE KING.

Children by first marriage:

1. JOHN[10], bapt. Feb. 15, 1609–10; his further history is uncertain, but perhaps he was later of Bures St. Mary, co. Suffolk, where a John Coe by wife Elizabeth had baptized: Elizabeth[11], Oct. 9, 1631; Edward, Apr. 7, 1633; Mary Oct. 4, 1635; John, Jan. 22, 1636–7; Sarah, Oct. 10, 1641.
2. ROBERT, bapt. July 15, 1613, bur. June 19, 1615.
3. ROBERT, bapt. Feb. 15, 1615–16; his further history is uncertain but perhaps he was the Robert Coe who m. ELIZABETH BEALE, June 29, 1638, at Great Cornard, co. Suff., and was bur. there, Nov. 6, 1638, having had a son Robert[11] bapt. July 23, 1638.
4. SARAH, bapt. Nov. 10, 1618, m. EDWARD EPELFORD.

Children by second marriage:

5. THOMAS[10], buried Jan. 10, 1624–5.
6. ALICE, bapt. Apr. 22, 1627.

ii. FAITH, bapt. Feb. 29, 1580–81.
iii. ALICE, bapt. Feb. 6, 1582–3.
iv. ELE [ZABETH?], bapt. May 26, 1585.
v. WILLIAM, bapt. Aug. 23, 1587; on Feb. 9, 1602–3, he was apprenticed for nine years to Thomas Andrews of Little Bealings, co. Suff.
vi. ANNE, bapt. Mar. 15, 1589–90.
vii. THOMAS, bapt. Mar. 9, 1591–2. "Thomas Coo, widower, m. SUSAN GOYMER, Apr. 11, 1630," at Stoke-Nayland. No further record.
viii. MARY, bapt. Aug. 6, 1594.
ix. HENRY, bapt. Sept. 16, 1596, was of Stoke-Nayland where he was living in 1632; no will or adm. on record. He m. May 12, 1618, HESTER NYCE, perhaps daughter of Charles Nyce who was bur. Mar. 30, 1631–2; she was bur. June 13, 1632.

Children:

1. JEOFFREY[10], bapt. Dec. 6, 1618, lived at Wissington, co. Suff., where the church registers furnish details on his family, and where he was buried Dec. 21, 1679. By his wife ANNE he had bapt. at Wissington: Jeffrey[11], Aug. 24, 1644; Henry, May 16, 1647; Anna, May 6, 1649; James, Nov. 1, 1652; Sarah, July 22, 1655.
2. JUDE, bapt. Mar. 1, 1619–20.
3. JOHN, bapt. Apr. 14, 1622; no further record at Stoke-Nayland. As his father was own-cousin of Robert Coe the colonist of New England in 1634, possibly this John Coe also went to America and was identical with the John Coe who appeared with Robert Coe at Stamford, Conn., receiving a two acre grant of land there Dec. 7, 1641, and became progenitor of the Coe family of Rye, N. Y., etc. (See Appendix I.)
4. CHARLES, bapt. Oct. 31, 1624.
5. ANNE, bapt. ——— 1626, bur. Dec. 10, 1629.
6. MARGARET, bapt. Oct. 5, 1628.

23. HENRY[8] COE (John[7] "the elder" (12), John[6] "the younger," John[5], Thomas[4], John[3], John[2], John[1]), was born probably about 1555 at Great Maplestead, co. Essex, (the early registers of which parish are lost), just prior to his parent's removal to Wissington, co. Suffolk, where the registers are extant from 1538 and do not record his baptism. According to his father's will he was to receive £20 when twenty-one years of age; and in the spring of 1576, Henry[8] Coo acquired of Oliver Dixon and Dorothy his wife [his stepfather and mother], six acres of meadow in Boxford, co. Suff., with warranty against them and the heirs of Dorothy; consideration £20. (Suffolk Feet of Fines*, Easter, 18 Eliz.) It seems likely that Henry[8] Coe took this land to represent his patrimony in the will of his father. Later this land came by various transfers into the possession of the Coe family of Boxford, and the following litigation ensued thereon, which supplies interesting details of Henry[8] Coe and his parents:

In 1624, John Mason and John Garyth, church wardens of Stoke-Nayland, co. Suff., complain that on Aug. 15, 1552, Edmond Todd of Groton conveyed to John Payne et als. as trustees a tenement called the Guildhall and land opposite the church in Stoke-Nayland and a meadow called Barnard's or Mistress Anne's meadow of two acres in Boxford, for the use of the poor of Stoke-Nayland; also one Hedge, vicar of Stoke-Nayland, by will dated Oct. 12, 1536, devised certain lands there for the use of the poor of Stoke-Nayland; also one Grace Daniel of Messing, co. Essex, by will dated Dec. 6, 1508, devised that out of lands called Thomas atte Hills her heirs should annually pay 6 sh. 8 d. to the church of Stoke-Nayland. Now one John Payne and one William Cooe, both of Stock, co. Essex, gents., have got possession of the said estates and refuse to use the profits therefrom for charitable purposes. John Payne surviving trustee of Todd and long since deceased and ancestor of the defendant John Payne, did in conspiracy for a nominal sum convey Barnard's or Mistress Anne's meadow to one William Cooe long since deceased, grandfather of the defendant William Cooe. Also John Payne the said trustee conveyed the Guildhall to the town but kept to his own use the other lands in Stoke-Nayland, which are now in the possession of his descendant, the defendant John Payne. William Coo of Stock, co. Essex, Esq., defendant, answers that on Dec. 15, 3 Elizabeth (1560), Sir Edward Warner, Knt., and Ralph Sheldon were granted by the Crown by letters patent the meadow of about two acres in Boxford called Mistress Agnes meadow, who shortly after conveyed same to one Robert Turner from whom the said meadow came to one Dorothy, wife of Oliver Dixon, who defendant has heard was first the wife of one [John[7]] Coo of Stoke-Nayland by whom she had with other issue Robert[8] Coo and Henry[8] Coo, and later she married said Oliver Dixon; and the said Oliver Dixon and Dorothy his wife, on Mar. 6, 18 Elizabeth (1575–6), agreed to convey the said Mistress Agnes meadow and another meadow called Giles Blyndes meadow, by a duly levied fine, to the said Henry[8] Coo, then of Stoke-Nayland, sithence of Thorpe, which fine was duly levied in Easter term following in the Common Pleas. By due conveyances in law said meadows later came to Robert[8] Coo of Stoke-Nayland, sithence deceased, brother of said Henry[8] Coe, and said Robert[8] Coe on Sept. 17, 26 Elizabeth (1584), did by sufficient conveyance in law convey same to William Coe, grandfather of this defendant, from whom it descended to his son and heir Thomas Coo, at whose death it came to defendant as son and heir, who has enjoyed the profits therefrom as had his father and grandfather. Defendant claims the above fine to be a bar to any action, and denies the premises were ever called Barnard's meadow; he has no knowledge that Edmund Todd ever owned the premises, and denies that they were conveyed to his grandfather by John Payne. (Suits in Court of Requests, temp. Jas. I, bundle 39.) [The defendant accurately described the descent of the meadow in question, but failed to state how it passed from Robert Turner to Dorothy later the wife of Oliver Dixon of Stoke-Nayland and Boxford, apparently not knowing that Turner was her second husband.]

Henry[8] Coe evidently lived unmarried with his mother in her later years at Scotland Hall, Stoke-Nayland, until her decease in 1585; and he was her executor and the residuary legatee of her goods, but inherited no lands. A few years later he married, and is next found at Thorpe-Morieux, co. Suff., a small rural parish about eight miles north of Boxford, where, from a chance reference in the church registers, it seems probable that he lived at Thorpe Hall, which estate adjoins the churchyard and is a venerable and picturesque mansion built early in the reign of Elizabeth (about 1560); it is still extant in its original form, in excellent preservation, and is occupied by a prosperous farmer. In the Subsidy Rolls of 39 Eliz. (1597), Henrie[8] Coe of Thorpe-Morieux was taxed viij sh. on goods valued at lx sh. (Lay Subsidies, Suffolk, 182–426); this was the highest assessment in the parish on personal property.

Henry[8] Coe was a man of standing in the community, serving as church-warden at Thorpe-Morieux in 1594 and in several subsequent years to 1611. The registers of this church contain no Coe entries from their beginning in 1538 to 1690, except of the family of Henry[8] Coe. During his life the Puritan movement originated in England, steadily increased in influence, and early in the seventeenth century became the dominant element in Essex and Suffolk. From the fact that Henry[8] Coe in naming a daughter after his mother Dorothy, had the child christened in the Puritan form of the name, "Godsgift," tends to show his affiliation with that body and the consequent bringing up of his children in their beliefs and practices. His residence at Thorpe-Morieux continued until after 1610, but how much later has not been ascertained; and he is next found with his sons at Boxford, co. Suff., (a former place of residence with his mother in his youth), where the registers record: "Henrie Coe was buried Januarie 28, 1630"; and "Mary Coe widdow was buried Oct. 20, 1631." No stones mark their graves in the village churchyard,

"Where the rude forefathers of the hamlet sleep."

Henry[8] Coe left no will, and no administration of his estate is preserved as the Administration Records at Bury St. Edmunds are lost for several years about the time of his decease.

He was married about 1588 to MARY ———, but neither the record of the marriage nor her parentage has come to light. Five children were christened at Thorpe-Morieux, as appears by the ancient registers, still preserved.

Children:

i. (ANDREW[9] b. about 1590?) An Andrew Coe appears between 1617 and 1653 at Stoke-Nayland and Assington, contemporary with the sons and nephews of Henry[8] Coe. Extensive search has failed to establish his parentage, but it seems likely he may have been the eldest son of Henry[8] Coe, although there is no proof of it. This Andrew Coe first appears at Stoke-Nayland in 1617 where he lived until about 1636 when he moved into the adjoining parish of Assington where he appears on the Shipmoney Tax for Suffolk in 1640; and he was buried there Nov. 2, 1653. No will or administration of his estate is to be found.

He m. (1), at Stoke-Nayland, Dec. 4, 1617, ANNE SILVESTER, the young widow of William Silvester; she was buried at Stoke-Nayland, May 28, 1634.

He m. (2), at Assington, July 19, 1638, ELIZABETH CLARK.

Children by first marriage bapt. at Stoke-Nayland:

1. HENRY[10], bapt. July 24, 1618.
2. ANDREW, bapt. Nov. 28, 1619.
3. MARY, bapt. June 23, 1622.
4. SARAH, bapt. May 29, 1625.

The history of these children has not been learned.

ii. MARY, b. 1592. "Marie Coe the daughter of Henry Coe was baptized on Thursday the 4 day of May being the Assension Day comonly called Holy Thursday Anno Domini 1592, in the 34 year of the regne of Quene Elizabeth." No further record of her has been found.

iii. GODSGIFT, b. 1594. "Godsgift filia Henrici Coe baptizata erat 16 die Junie anno 1594." No further record of her has been found.

24. iv. ROBERT[9], b. 1596, THE FOUNDER OF THE COE FAMILY IN AMERICA. "Robert the sonne of Henrie Coe was baptised the 26th day of October, 1596."

v. WILLIAM, b. 1598. "William the sonne of Henrie Coe was baptized the 7 day of December, 1598." He was of Stoke-Nayland from 1623 to about 1635 when he settled in Assington where he appears in the Shipmoney Tax for Suffolk in 1640; some years later he moved to Wissington, co. Suffolk, where he was buried Oct. 16, 1670. No will or administration of his estate can be found.

He m. (1), at Kersey, co. Suffolk, Apr. 22, 1622, MARGERY SUGG who d. about 1633.

He m. (2), about 1635, SUSAN ———, who was buried at Assington, Feb. 15, 1644–5.

He m. (3), ELIZABETH ———, who was buried at Wissington, Mar. 25, 1663.

Children by first marriage:

1. MARY[10], bapt. at Stoke-Nayland, May 18, 1623, m. at Assington, Nov. 5, 1646, ROBERT COOKE.
2. SUSAN, bapt. at Stoke-Nayland, Nov. 27, 1625, m. at Assington, July 5, 1647, JOHN FOXE.
3. A SON, b. and buried at Polstead, Mar. 12, 1627–8.
4. MARGERY, bapt. at Polstead, July 12, 1629.
5. ELIZABETH, bapt. at Stoke-Nayland, Mar. 24, 1632.

Children by second marriage:

6. SARAH[10], bapt. at Assington, May 28, 1637.
7. JOHN, bapt. at Assington, July 9, 1640, buried at Wissington, Feb. 8, 1662–3.

vi. THOMAS, b. 1601. "Thomas the sonne of Henrie and Mary Coe [baptized] 25 of March 1601." He removed to Boxford with the rest of the family where he m. June 24, 1631, MARY BRONDE. His further history has not been learned.

24. ROBERT[9] COE, (Henry[8] (23), John[7] "the elder," John[6] "the younger," John[5], Thomas[4], John[3], John[2], John[1]), born at Thorpe-Morieux, co. Suffolk, and baptized there Oct. 26, 1596, has next been found in records at Boxford, co. Suffolk (about eight miles south of Thorpe-Morieux), where on Apr. 18, 1625, he was chosen overseer of cloth and in 1629 elected questman. (Boxford Church Records.)

Robert[9] Coe married first, about 1623, MARY ———, by whom he had four children; her burial is recorded, "Marie Coe the wife of Robert Coe the 27th of October, 1628." (Boxford Registers.)

He married second, HANNAH DEARSLEY, as appears from the registers of Assington (the parish adjoining Boxford on the south); "Robert Coe & Hannah Dearslay, April 29th 1630."

Children by first marriage baptized at Boxford:

i. JOHN[10], (In the Boxford Registers his baptism is erroneously recorded as "Geoffry Coe the sonne of Robert Coe & Mary his wife the 20th of August, 1625.") This error* in the Boxford Registers is deplorable, and is probably due to the fact that the present "original" registers are not the original sheets upon which the various entries were consecutively made as the events took place, but are a series of copies of the original sheets transcribed into the present beautifully written parchment volume, from time to time. This is proved by several entries in the Church Wardens Accounts similar to the following record in 1631: "Itm layde out to Mr Bealle for 10 yeares writing of the regester, 1—.—." The writing in the registers is uniform from 1621 to 1631, differing from that before and after, and so confirming this record of Bealle's work. Probably Bealle blundered in copying; the entry of baptism of "John the sonne of John Brownsmith and Elizabeth his wife the 13th of August, 1625," immediately precedes the entry of baptism of "Geoffry Coe the sonne of Robert Coe & Mary his wife the 20th of August, 1625"; in copying perhaps Bealle transposed the names of these two children, Brownsmith's child perhaps being "Geoffry" and Coe's child "John," on the original sheet.

ii. ROBERT, b. in 1626. "Robert Coe the sonne of Robert Coe & Marie his wife was baptized the 19th of September, 1626."

iii. MARY (twin), b. in 1626. "Mary Coe the daughter of Robert Coe & Mary his wife was baptized the 19 of September, 1626."

iv. BENJAMIN, b. in 1628. "Beniamine Coe the sonne of Robert Coe & Marie his wife was baptized the 18th of October, 1628." [This is the sole record of the name "Benjamin Coe" that our researches have disclosed in England at any time or place, except the entry on the shipping-list hereafter given.]

*A similar error occurs earlier in these same Boxford Registers in the Boxford Coe family, when is recorded the baptism of "Willm Coe sonne of Tho: Coe & Suzan his wyffe the xixth of Januarye," 1584–5. That this child's name was Thomas and not William is proved by four independent sources of evidence, viz.: (1). The will of his grandfather William Coo of Boxford dated Oct. 31, 1585, mentions his grandchild Thomas Coo son of son Thomas Coo (P. C. C., 61 Windsor); (2). The Diary of Adam Winthrop of Groton records in 1604, "The viij of Sept. Thomas Coe the eldest sonne of Thom• Coe of Boxforde, gent., my god-sonne, died of the age of xix yeres & x monethes," (Life and Letters of Gov. John Winthrop, p. 421); (3). The Boxford Registers record, "Thomas Coe son of Thomas Coe buried Sept. 13, 1604"; (4). The Visitation of Suffolk in 1611, states, "Thomas Coo of Boxford in Suff: sone & he: of willm, mar: susan d: of John Spencer of Groton in Suff. & had issu Thomas who died wtout issue, willm 2d sone & he: age 23," etc. (Harl. Mss., Brit. Mus., 1820, fol. 15.) This William Coe, second son of Thomas and Susan (Spencer) Coe, was baptized at Boxford, Apr. 18, 1588.

After 1630 Robert[3] Coe and his family totally disappear forever from the registers of Boxford and all the neighboring parishes. On Apr. 30, 1634, there embarked at Ipswich, the port of co. Suffolk and fifteen miles east of Boxford, on the ship Francis bound for New England, Robert Coe aged 38, Anna Coe his wife aged 43, and children John Coe aged 8, Robert Coe aged 7, and Benjamin Coe aged 5. (Custom House Archives at Record Office, London, printed in Hotten's "Original Lists" of early emigrants to America, pp. 278–80.) Except for the name of the eldest son (which discrepancy is explanable), the names and ages of the family of the Robert Coe of the shipping-list agree with the records of the family of the Robert[3] Coe of Thorpe-Morieux and Boxford who disappear from there; so the identity of the two families must be regarded as certain, as for two different families to have such duplicate records is incredible.

That Robert Coe, the colonist of New England, was identical with Robert[3] Coe of Boxford, England, is further indicated by the following evidence. In a petition to the Dutch government at New Amsterdam [New York] in 1661 by Robert Coe the colonist, he calls Richard Crabb "brother-in-law." (Dutch Mss., Albany, N. Y., vol. 9.) Just how this relationship existed is not clear; Coe may have married a sister of Crabb, the latter may have married a sister of Coe, or Coe and Crabb may have married sisters. This Richard Crabb appears in Wethersfield, Conn., in 1637, was later at Stamford and Greenwich, Conn., and finally at Oyster Bay, L. I., where he died in 1685. We have not been able to find the name of his first wife whom he married in England; his second wife, whom he married after 1675, was Alice, widow of Peter Wright of Oyster Bay, L. I. In the early part of the seventeenth century there were Crabb families in numerous parishes in Essex county, England, but Boxford and Groton are the only Suffolk parishes in which the name appears at that period. A John Crabb of Boxford had three grandsons named Richard Crabb, born respectively in 1597, 1600, and 1605; doubtless one of these was the emigrant to New England and "brother-in-law" of Robert Coe, progenitor in New England of the Coe family of America.

DESCENDANTS OF ROBERT COE

Thorpe Arnold Church

DESCENDANTS OF ROBERT COE

1. ROBERT COE (Henry[8], John[7] "the elder," John[6] "the younger," John[5], Thomas[4], John[3], John[2], John[1]), the progenitor in New England of most of the Coes in America, was born at Thorpe-Morieux, a small rural parish in Suffolk county, England, and was baptized in the ancient and picturesque church there, Oct. 26, 1596, as recorded in the old parish registers still preserved. His father Henry Coe was a substantial yeoman, probably also a clothmaker, and a man of character and standing in the community, holding for several years at Thorpe-Morieux the honorable position of church warden.

But few memorials of Robert Coe in England have been discovered, and of his early life no details are known. Doubtless he remained in his native parish with his parents during their residence there until after 1610, but his exact residence thereafter is uncertain until he appears in 1625 in Boxford, co. Suffolk (then a populous and thriving rural and manufacturing parish), about eight miles south of Thorpe-Morieux, where he lived until his removal to America in 1634. His education was superior to that of the majority in his station of life at that period, and perhaps at some time he may have attended the Boxford Grammar School, founded by Queen Elizabeth in 1596. It is also likely that he early learned the clothmaking business, then flourishing in Suffolk, as the first record found of him in manhood is his election to the office of overseer of cloth at Boxford, Apr. 18, 1625, implying he was versed in that business. That he was of good repute and held in esteem is shown by the fact that in 1629 he was chosen "questman" of the Boxford church, an office now called sidesman. (Church Wardens' Accounts of Boxford.)

Religious conditions and environment were the dominant factors in determining for Robert Coe a career different from the lives of his ancestors. During his early manhood Puritanism, which had been growing in England for a generation, became paramount in Essex and Suffolk, and persecution of its adherents resulted in the great Puritan emigration to New England in 1630 under the leadership of Gov. John Winthrop of Groton, co. Suffolk, the parish adjoining Boxford on the north. Brought up amid Puritan influences, Robert Coe became imbued with their fervid faith and desire for religious liberty, and joined the throng that left their beloved ancestral home and braved the perils of the deep and the hardships of pioneer life in a wilderness infested with hostile savages, to found a nation in the New World.

"What sought they thus afar?—
Bright jewels of the mine?
The wealth of seas, the spoils of war?—
They sought a Faith's pure shrine!"

In the spring of 1634, Robert Coe took his family to Ipswich, the port of Suffolk county, and about fifteen miles east of Boxford, and there on Apr. 30, 1634, they were among the eighty-three passengers who embarked for New England in the ship Francis, commanded by Capt. John Cutting. At the Record Office in London is still preserved the roll of the ship's passengers taken at the Custom House in Ipswich, on which appears Robert Cooe aged 38, Anna Cooe his wife aged 43, and children John Cooe aged 8, Robert Cooe aged 7, and Benjamin Cooe aged 5. (See Hotten's "Original Lists" of early emigrants to America, pp. 278–80.)

In those days a voyage to New England took about ten weeks, so Robert Coe probably arrived in Boston in July 1634, and he immediately went to Watertown, Massachusetts, a suburb of Boston, where he found located many settlers who came with Gov. Winthrop in 1630 from the vicinity of Boxford in England. The first mention of his name in New England is his admission as a freeman of the Massachusetts Bay Colony on Sept. 3, 1634, showing previous admission to the church which was a requisite to be freeman, i. e., a citizen entitled to vote and hold public office. (Records of Massachusetts Bay Colony, vol. 1, p. 369.) His residence at Watertown lasted less than a year as the town became crowded by the influx of new settlers; so in June, 1635, Robert Coe joined with a few others in starting a new plantation at Wethersfield, Conn., in the fertile valley of the Connecticut River, being dismissed from the Watertown church May 29, 1635, as appears from the following document: "Whereas there was a dismission granted by the C [hurch] of Waterton in the Masachusetts, dated 29th of May last to Andrewe Warde, Jo: Sherman, Jo: Stickland, Rob'te Coo, Rob'te Reynoll, & Jonas Weede, wth intent to forme anewe in a Ch: Covennte on this River of Conectecott, the saide p^{r}ties have soe accordingly done wth the publicke allowance of the rest of the members of saide Churches, as by certificate nowe p^{r}duced app^{rs}. It is therefore in this p^{r}sent Cort ratified & confirmed, they p^{r}missing shortlie publicquely to renewe the [said] Covennte uppon notice to the rest of the Churches." April 26, 1636. (Col. Rec. of Conn., vol. 1, p. 2.)

Robert Coe resided at Wethersfield, Conn., about five years. His house stood on a three acre homelot situated at what is now the northwest corner of East Main and Broad Streets. Besides this homelot he also owned several other parcels of land in Wethersfield, amounting to twelve acres of meadow, thirteen acres of swamp, and over a hundred acres of upland, recorded Apr. 28, 1641. (Town Records, vol. 1, p. 196.) These lands he sold to James Boosey who had them recorded May 11, 1644. (Ibid. p. 81.) On May 4, 1641, Robert Coe had recorded a tract of nine hundred acres which he bought of Matthew Mitchell, bounded west on the Connecticut River and south on Sturgeon River [now called Roaring Brook] and extending three miles easterly up same, and north on land of Mr. Chaplin. This latter great tract, situated in the present town of Glastonbury, he sold to Robert Rose who had it recorded Nov. 4, 1643. (Ibid. p. 117.) A few years after the settlement of Wethersfield a disagreement arose in the church there, the exact nature of which is not certainly known, but it has been claimed that it was caused by a faction to which Robert Coe belonged desiring a form of church government of a nature similar to that of the present Presbyterian church. After fruitless efforts by the churches at Watertown and New Haven to reconcile the dissension, it was proposed that one faction should withdraw. Accordingly in November, 1640, Robert Coe and his adherents purchased lands for a new plantation at Stamford, Conn., and removed thither, under the following agreement: Nov. 4, 1640. "Whereas Andrew Ward and Robt. Coe of Weathersfield were deputed by Weathersfield men on the 30th of the 8th moneth comonly called October 1640 to treate w^th^ the court att Newhaven about the plantatio (lately purchased by said towne) called Toquams, w^ch^ being considered of, itt was agreed upon by the said court and ptyes aforesaid that they shall have the said plantatio upon these tearmes following: First, thatt they shall repay unto the said towne of Newhave all the charges w^ch^ they have disbursed about itt, w^ch^ comes to 33 l. as appeares by a note or scedule hereunto annexed. Secondly thatt they reserve a fift pt of the said plantatio to be disposed off att the appoynt of this court to such desireable psons as may be expected, or as God shall send hither, provided that if wthin one whole yeare such psons doe not come to fill up those lotts so reserved, thatt then itt shall be free for the said people to nominate and present to this court some psons of their own choyce w^ch^ may fill up some of those lotts so reserved, if this court approve of them. Thirdly thatt they joyne in all poynts w^th^ the plantatio in the forme of goverm^t^ here settled according to agreem^t^ betwixt this court and Mr. Samuell Eaton about the plantatio of Totokett. These articles being read, together w^th^ Mr. Sam: Eatons agreem^ts^ in the hearing of the said partyes or deputyes, itt was accepted by them and in witnes thereof they subscribed their names to the articles in the face of the court." (Colonial Records of New Haven, vol. 1, p. 45.)

The settlement at Stamford, Conn., took place in the early spring of 1641, and Robert Coe was granted a homelot of fourteen acres, but two of the company of twenty-eight proprietors having a larger amount. *(History of Stamford, p. 19.) He seems to have been the leading man at Stamford, being appointed a magistrate there on Apr. 5, 1643, and serving as deputy to the General Court at New Haven the same year and also in 1644 (Colonial Records of New Haven, vol. 1, pp. 85, 129); but his residence there was destined to be of brief duration. With the growth of the town from new settlers and attempts by the government at New Haven to regulate its affairs, in a short time a difficulty arose in the Stamford church similar to that which had caused the withdrawal from the Wethersfield church; and the faction led by Rev. Richard Denton and Robert Coe, despairing of success in living at peace in their views under Connecticut jurisdiction, in 1644 crossed the Sound to Long Island (then under the Dutch government at New Amsterdam, after its conquest by the English in 1664 called New York), where a new settlement was established which was named Hempstead. A church was immediately organized of which Robert Coe is said to have been chosen elder, and here he remained eight years, acquired extensive grants of land, some of which he retained until near the close of his life, and was the magistrate of the town under the Dutch government.

*On Dec. 7, 1641, a John Coe was granted a houselot of two acres and a woodlot of three acres at Stamford, as appears by the town records. (This cannot refer to John[2] Coe, son of Robert[1], who was then but a boy of sixteen years.) It is likely this John Coe had recently arrived from England and he was probably a relative of Robert Coe, perhaps the John[10] Coe bapt. at Stoke-Nayland, co. Suffolk, Apr. 14, 1622, son of Henry[9] Coe own cousin of Robert Coe. (See ante p. 62; and for account of this John Coe and his descendants, see Appendix I.)

But the energetic and enterprising spirit of Robert Coe craved for further activities, and in the spring of 1652 he was the leader in the formation of another new settlement a few miles further west on Long Island at a place then known as Mespat, which had previously been settled in 1642, but had been destroyed in the following year in an Indian attack, and abandoned. ("Annals of Newtown," pp. 17–20.) A patent was obtained from the Dutch government at New Amsterdam (later New York) and the land was bought from the Indians. The proprietors immediately organized a new church of which Rev. John Moore became pastor and Robert Coe elder. The new settlement was at first called Middleburg, and later for a few months in 1664, Hastings, but in 1665 was permanently named Newtown. On a rate made in 1656 for the Indian payment, fifty-five proprietors appear; the land was purchased at 1 sh. per acre and the assessments varied from 2 sh. to £4, only Robert Coe and Edward Jessup paying this largest sum. ("Annals of Newtown," p. 43.) Mr. Coe remained at Middleburg (Newtown) for four years, being the most prominent man in the town and the local magistrate during the whole period of his residence there. (Ibid. p. 418.) In 1653 he went to Boston as the deputy of the town to invoke the protection of the Massachusetts Bay Colony against the Indians who were threatening to attack the English settlements on Long Island, and in November of the same year he was sent as a deputy to New Amsterdam to confer with the Dutch government for the common safety. (Ibid. pp. 31–3.)

The settlement at Newtown being well established, Robert Coe made over his interests there to his eldest son John[2] Coe, and in the spring of 1656 was again the leader of another new settlement, he and his youngest son Benjamin[2] Coe and several others having purchased of the Indians in September preceding, a large tract of land south of Newtown, and removing thither founded the town of Jamaica (in the Dutch records also called Rustdorp), by patent from the Dutch government dated Mar. 21, 1655–6. At the first town meeting held Feb. 18, 1655–6, a house lot was granted to Robert Coe and another to his son Benjamin[2] Coe; also on Jan. 13, 1657–8, is recorded, "It is this day granted by ye town that Mr. Robert Coe and his son Benjamin shall take up, possess, and enjoy ten acres of land apiece at ye rear off theire home lots." (Records of Jamaica, vol. 1, pp. 1, 5, 6.) The Records of Jamaica contain also the following references to Robert Coe: Apr. 30, 1659, the town engaged to pay Mr. Coe of Rustdorp £11–17–0 (vol. 1, p. 20); Dec. 20, 1662, the town appointed Mr. Coe, goodman Benedict, goodman Smith, and Daniel Denton a committee to settle the minister (vol. 1, p. 22); Feb. 14, 1662–3, Mr. Coe, goodman Benedict, and Daniel Denton appointed to make a rate for the maintenance of Mr. Walker, the minister (vol. 1, p. 25); Aug. 30, 1663, Mr Coe and Ralph Keeler appointed to make a contract with George Norton to build a meeting-house 26 ft. square (vol. 1, p. 27). Robert Coe's title of "Mr." (then a mark of distinction) shows his high position in the community.

On Nov. 20, 1660, Robert Coe aged sixty-four years deposed in regard to certain boundaries in Hempstead; and in a petition to the Dutch government dated May 9, 1661, Robert Coe refers to Richard Crabbe as his brother-in-law. (Dutch Mss. at Albany, N. Y., vol. 9.) (Just how Robert Coe bore this relationship to Richard Crabb has not been established. The latter was of Wethersfield 1637 to 1641, and then successively at Stamford and Greenwich, Conn., and Oyster Bay, L. I., where he died in 1685. The name of his first wife is not known. He married second, after 1675, Alice, widow of Peter Wright of Oyster Bay.)

Robert Coe was appointed by the Dutch government in 1658 the magistrate for Jamaica, and held that office until 1664. During this period a turmoil arose in Jamaica over the prosecution of some Quaker, and on Jan. 28, 1662–3, it was ordered that all records at Rustdorp be delivered to Mr. Robert Coe, actual magistrate and oldest inhabitant of the town.

In the autumn of 1663 the English population on Long Island revolted from the Dutch government at New Amsterdam and transferred their allegiance to Connecticut; following this revolution, in May 1664, Robert Coe was deputy for Jamaica to the General Court at Hartford, by which body he was appointed commissioner (or magistrate) for Jamaica. (Col. Records of Conn., vol. 1, pp. 425–8.) Aug. 27 the same year New Amsterdam surrendered to an English fleet and force commanded by Col. Richard Nicolls who became its governor as an English province, the name being changed to New York. On the reorganization of the government by the English, Long Island returned to the jurisdiction of New York as a county called Yorkshire; Robert Coe was appointed judge of courts of oyer and terminer held Apr. 7, and July 2, 1669, and from October 1669 to September 1671, he was high-sheriff of Yorkshire. (Report of Historian of N. Y., vol. 1, pp. 237 and 246; also N. Y. Civil List, p. 421.) At the age of seventy-five the patriarch retired from the office of high sheriff, and withdrew to private life, appearing no further in public office.

In July 1673 New York surrendered to a force of Dutch who again controlled the government until November 1674, when by treaty between England and Holland it was ceded to the former. At a court held under this temporary Dutch regime on Dec. 12, 1673, Robert Coe was unjustly sued by a Dutchman for £15, and the fearless independence of the aged Puritan is shown when at the next court held Jan. 30, 1673–4, the court messenger announced he had served a summons on Coe to appear "who said he had nothing to do with this Council and would not come." (Records of New Amsterdam, vol. 7, pp. 33 and 48–49.)

Of the patriarch's old age but few glimpses are seen. During his active life he settled most of his estate on his three sons; and in February 1674–5 when almost an octogenarian he married a third wife Jane, formerly wife of John Smith and also of Edward Rouse, she being nearly a score of years his junior. On Nov. 29, 1678, he bought of Jonah Fordham a farm of fifty acres at Foster's Meadow in Hempstead where he settled with this bride of his old age and passed his declining days. (Printed Records of Hempstead, vol. 1, p. 441.) The following land records furnish the final mention of him: On June 9, 1687, Robert Coe and Jane his wife conveyed to their son John Smith, late of Jamaica, a house and fifty acres of land at Foster's Meadow, after their decease, etc.; June 28, 1690, Know all men by these presents that since my son John Smith has been so kind as to make over above deed by bill of sale for me to sell for my comfort, I the said Jane Coe of Foster's Meadow in Hempstead do give to my son John Smith of St. Jonses in Kent Co. upon Dover River in the Province of * Penn., whatever estate I may leave at my decease. (Printed Records of Hempstead, L. I., vol. 8, pp. 246–7.) From this document it seems likely that Robert Coe died about 1689 at the advanced age of about ninety-two years. No record of his death or place of burial has been found, and as he disposed of all his property in his lifetime there are no probate records of him.

In the foregoing records gleaned of Robert Coe we see in him a fine example of the Puritan of his day; a man of vigorous physique, restless energy, strict integrity, strong convictions, and great force of character; and these characteristics have remained impressed on his descendants for generations. His abilities and worth were recognized by his contemporaries by whom he was honored for many years with numerous positions of trust which he filled with ability, performing well his part in laying the foundations of a new nation.

Robert Coe married first in England about 1623, MARY ———, who was the mother of all his children. Her burial is recorded, "Marie Coe the wife of Robert Coe the 27th of October, 1628." (Burials in Registers of Boxford.) Efforts to ascertain her ancestry have been fruitless.

His second marriage is recorded in the Registers of Assington, co. Suffolk, the parish adjoining Boxford on the south: "Robert Coe & Hannah Dearslay, April 29th 1630." She came to New England with her husband, but the time of her death is unknown. Whether she were a maid or widow when she married Robert Coe does not appear. She was doubtless connected with a Dearsley family of Edwardstone, co.

* That part of Pennsylvania later and now Delaware.

Suffolk (the parish adjoining Boxford on the northwest), one of whom, Thomas Dearsley, became rector there about 1590, and held the living half a century; but a careful search among all available Dearsley records fails to establish her place in the family.

He married third, at Long Island, by license dated Feb. 15, 1674–5, JANE ROUSE. (Printed N. Y. Marriage License Bonds, p. 83.) Further details of this marriage appear in the Records of the Council of N. Y.: "Feb. 15, 1674–5. Read and considered the petition of Robert Coe of Rustdorp, requesting to be admitted in marriage state with Jane Rause, widow of Edward Rause, who died two and a half years ago at Carolina; ordered that the Magistrates of the town of Rustdorp inquire as to the certainty of said Edward Rause's death, and report their conclusions." (Printed Col. Doc. of N. Y., vol. 2, p. 688.) Jane the third wife of Robert Coe, was first the wife of John Smith of Taunton, Mass., to whom she was married about 1633; they were pioneers in the original settlement at Mespat, L. I., where her husband was killed in the Indian raid which destroyed the settlement in 1643. Her second husband was Edward Rouse who died in 1672, and she married third Robert Coe, as above. In 1701 she deposed before John[3] Coe and Nicholas Everett, justices, as to the birth of John Ludlam, son of William and Elizabeth Ludlam. (N. Y. Gen. and Biog. Record, vol. 15, p. 93.)

Children of Robert and Mary Coe recorded at Boxford, co. Suffolk, England:

2. i. JOHN[2], b. 1625. (His baptism is erroneously recorded in the Boxford registers as "Geoffry Coe the sonne of Robert Coe & Mary his wife the 20th of August, 1625." For discussion of this matter, see ante p. 66.)
3. ii. ROBERT, b. 1626. "Robert Coe the sonne of Robert Coe & Marie his wife was baptized the 19th of September, 1626."
iii. MARY, b. 1626. "Mary Coe the daughter of Robert Coe & Mary his wife was baptized the 19 of September, 1626."
4. iv. BENJAMIN, b. 1628. "Beniamine Coe the sonne of Robert Coe & Marie his wife was baptized the 18th of October, 1628."

2. CAPT. JOHN[2] COE (Robert[1]), born in Boxford, co. Suffolk, England, and baptized there Aug. 20, 1625; came to New England with his father and stepmother in the spring of 1634, when eight years of age, and accompanied them in their successive locations at Watertown, Mass., Wethersfield and Stamford, Conn., and Hempstead, Long Island. An education superior to that of most of his contemporaries, and the wealth and prominent position of his father, coupled with his own natural abilities and energy of character, enabled him in early manhood to assume a leading position in public affairs which he maintained throughout his life.

He is first * mentioned in America about 1648 when he appears in

*On Dec. 7, 1641, a John[1] Coe was granted a houselot of two acres and a woodlot of three acres at Stamford, Conn. John[2] Coe (Robert[1]) was but a boy of sixteen years at this time; and extensive evidence makes it clear that this John[1] Coe of Stamford, was not John[2] Coe (Robert[1]). See Appendix I.

a list of grantees of land at Hempstead, L. I., where eventually he owned over a hundred and fifty acres. (Printed Records of Hempstead, vol. 1, p. 32, etc.) When his father Robert [1] Coe founded Middleburg (Newtown), L. I., in 1652, John [2] Coe also removed thither, and settled there permanently for the rest of his life. In 1656 he was taxed 12 sh. on a rate made for paying the Indians for a title to the lands in Newtown. For some years, however, he still retained lands in Hempstead, part of which he sold by the following deed on May 2, 1659: "I Robert Koa doe hereby in the behalfe of my Sonn John Koa, fully free, and absolutely sell" etc. to Thomas Champion land in Hempstead. Signed "Robart Coo." (Printed Records of Hempstead, vol. 1, pp. 107–8.)

Upon locating in Newtown, John [2] Coe began the improvement of a farm, and also built and operated a gristmill on Flushing Creek, an important adjunct to the new settlement, which was owned and carried on by his descendants for several generations. ("Annals of Newtown," p. 44.) Having thus well established himself in life, about 1656 he married, and soon after was called into public affairs in which he took a prominent part. In 1658, 1661, and 1662, he was appointed the magistrate for Newtown by the Dutch government at New Amsterdam (New York). (Ibid. p. 418.) In the revolution of Long Island from the Dutch government in 1663, John [2] Coe was the most prominent leader; in August 1663 he sent a letter to Hartford concerning annexation to Conn., and in October went there as a deputy of the English on Long Island who about this time made him captain, and at the head of a force of three hundred men, marched through the English towns in the western part of Long Island, overturned the Dutch government, and threatened the Dutch towns with attack. ("Annals of Newtown," pp. 55–58.) On May 12, 1664, Capt. John [2] Coe was deputy for Newtown at the Conn. General Court at Hartford, by which government he was appointed commissioner (magistrate) at Newtown. (Col. Records of Conn., vol. 1, pp. 425–8.)

After the conquest of New York by the English in 1664, Capt. John [2] Coe was deputy from Newtown at a convention called by Gov. Nicolls at Hempstead on Feb. 28, 1664–5, to reorganize the government of Long Island. ("Annals of Newtown," p. 66.) The Records of Newtown show Capt. John Coe as an overseer of the town in April 1666; on Mar. 6, 1666–7, Capt. John Coe is named among the freeholders of Newtown in a confirmation patent by Gov. Nicolls, and his name also appears in a list of Newtown freeholders on Nov. 25, 1686. (Ibid. pp. 74, 110.) In a rate list for Newtown in September 1675, Capt. John Coe was taxed for three horses, two oxen, five cows, six sheep, and nine swine. On Sept. 5, 1675, Capt. John Coe et als. were witnesses against Mary Case and Samuel Scudder, Quakers. (Ibid. p. 94.)

When Capt. Jacob Leisler secured control of the New York government in a revolution in 1689, he commissioned Capt. John [2] Coe, sheriff of Queens Co., Long Island, on Dec. 13, 1689, which office he held until Jan. 19, 1690–91. (New York Civil List, p. 416.) On the fall of the Leisler regime Capt. John Coe was arrested, indicted for treason, and imprisoned in New York for over a year; on Sept. 9, 1692, he petitioned to be set free having been in jail over fifteen months. Although Leisler and several of his adherents forfeited their lives for treason, Capt. Coe managed to escape this fate, and retired to private life. ("Annals of Newtown," pp. 117, 121.) No further records of him appear. He probably died about 1693 although the exact time of his decease is unknown, and no probate records exist of his estate.

The descendants of Capt. John[2] Coe, through three of his sons who married, were mostly Presbyterians; those descended from his second son Robert[3] Coe remained on Long Island, and through excessive intermarriage among themselves became extinct about 1800; descendants of his fourth son Jonathan[3] Coe lived on Long Island for several generations and then removed to New Jersey and the West, but this branch is a small one; the youngest son Samuel[3] Coe, late in life removed with his large family to Orange (now Rockland) County, N. Y., where intermarriage with Dutch families produced a prolific and vigorous race which flourished there for several generations and then dispersed over the United States.

The name and parentage of the wife of Capt. John[2] Coe are unknown, nor are the births of his children recorded; but from the will and a deed of his son John[3] Coe, we probably have the names of all who survived childhood.

Children born in Newtown, L. I.:

i. Hon. John[3], b. about 1657, lived in Newtown, L. I., where he was a man of note; besides farming and the operation of the gristmill inherited from his father, he was also a successful lawyer, his legal abilities being such that in 1699 he was appointed judge of the Court of Common Pleas for Queens Co. and continued on the bench by successive appointments until 1723. (N. Y. Civil List, p. 391.) Under the Act of 1693 for settling ecclesiastical matters, Hon. John[3] Coe served as vestryman from 1702–1719. (Hist. of Presb. Church in Jamaica, p. 256.)

On Oct. 21, 1723, "John Coe Sr. of Newtown, Queens Co., Long Island, in New York," for £80 conveyed to William Whitmore 184 acres of land in Middletown, Conn. (Land Records of Middletown Conn., vol. 5, p. 269.) Probably these lands were commons rights from proprietors' rights of Robert[1] Coe which descended to his eldest grandson Judge John[3] Coe as heir male.

"Judge John Coe died about 12 o'clock, June 22, 1735." (Newtown Church Records.) He was probably unmarried. His will dated June 17, probated June 27, 1735, leaves lands to his brothers Jonathan[3] Coe and Samuel[3] Coe, and to his nephews Samuel[4] Coe and John[4] Coe, sons of his brother Robert[3] Coe deceased; to his nephew Robert[4] Coe, son of his brother Robert[3] Coe deceased, he left his homestead and the gristmill. Other legatees were Rebecca Furman and Benjamin Hinchman; nieces Abigail Coe, Mary Denton, and Hannah Wood; and sisters Mary and Hannah. Executors Benjamin Fish and Benjamin Hinchman, the latter to have the care of the part of sister Mary for her children. Witnesses: Timothy Wood, Edward Howard, and Jonathan Wood. (Wills in Surrogate's Registry, New York City, vol. 12, p. 348.)

5. ii. ROBERT, b. about 1659.
iii. HANNAH.
iv. MARY.
v. DAVID, b. about 1665, lived in Newtown, L. I., where he was a vestryman under the Act of 1693, from 1709 to 1720 (Hist. of Presb. Church in Jamaica, p. 256); he left no issue and probably never married. "David Coe died Dec. 21, 1728." (Newtown Church Records.) On Apr. 20, 1693, Morris Smith and his wife Bethia of Flushing conveyed to John[3] Coe, Robert[3] Coe, David[3] Coe, Jonathan[3] Coe, and Samuel[3] Coe, all of Newtown [brothers], certain meadows on Old Town Neck, Jamaica. (Queens Co. Deeds, vol. A, p. 105.) "Know all men, etc.; whereas I, John[3] Coe, gent., did in 1724 convey to my brother David[3] Coe, certain premises in Newtown, and he dying without heirs the same reverts to me as heir at law; now I convey to my brothers Robert[3] Coe and Jonathan[3] Coe the house and land where said David[3] Coe lived." (Records of Newtown, vol. 6, p. 356.)
6. vi. JONATHAN, b. about 1668.
7. vii. SAMUEL, b. about 1672.

8. ROBERT[2] COE (Robert[1]), born at Boxford, co. Suffolk, England, and baptized there Sept. 19, 1626, was brought to New England by his father in the spring of 1634 when seven years of age, and taken in the successive removals to Watertown, Mass., and Wethersfield and Stamford, Conn. Although his father and brothers removed to Long Island in 1644, he remained permanently in Connecticut, perhaps in care of his father's interests there, some of which were not disposed of for some time. About 1650 he married and settled at Stratford, Conn., where he purchased a homestead of the widow of Thomas Ramble as appears in the following deed recorded in 1652: The lands of Robert Coe purchased by him of Widow Ramble; one house lot, three acres and a quarter, more or less, butting east upon the highway, and bounded with Samuel Sherman on the north, Thomas Ufford on the south, and west upon the swamp, etc. (Stratford Land Records, vol. 1, pp. 58–9.) This homestead was located on what is now the west side of lower Main St., between South Ave. and Birdsey St. Besides this homestead he also had forty-seven acres of land elsewhere in Stratford.

It seems likely that Robert[2] Coe was of a delicate constitution, and as he was cut off by death at the early age of thirty-three years, he acquired no prominence in public affairs as did his father and brother John; but there is evidence from some memorial lines written after his decease by Rev. Abraham Pierson of Branford, Conn., that the young man was esteemed for piety and exemplary character.

The descendants of Robert[2] Coe were a prolific and vigorous race and for a century after his death lived in Connecticut. Then about 1756 some descendants settled in western Massachusetts, and after the Revolution, branches were established in New Hampshire and in New York State, whence they have spread to all parts of the United States. Most of the descendants of Robert[2] Coe have been Congregationalists, several members of the family being ministers in that church.

Robert[2] Coe died intestate about September 1659, and was buried at Stratford. On Oct. 20, 1659, his widow presented an inventory of £179–18–0. The court ordered the estate to be divided among the widow, son John[3] aged one and a half years, daughter Susanna[3] aged six and a half years, and daughter Sarah[3] aged three and a half years; son John[3] to have his portion at twenty-one, and the daughters theirs at eighteen or at marriage. (Fairfield Co. Probate Records.)

He married about 1650, HANNAH MITCHELL, baptized at Halifax, Yorkshire, England, June 26, 1631, daughter of Matthew and Susan (Butterfield) Mitchell. Her parents came to New England with their family in the spring of 1635, and located at Wethersfield, Conn., where her father was a prominent man. She married second NICHOLAS ELSEY of New Haven, Conn., whither she went to reside, taking her Coe children with her; and she died at New Haven, Apr. 2, 1702.

Children of Robert[2] and Hannah (Mitchell) Coe, born in Stratford, Conn.:

i. HANNAH[3], b. Dec. 14, 1651; no further record and probably d. young.

ii. SUSANNA, b. Aug. 16, 1653, d. at New Haven, Conn., Apr. 2, 1746; m. Jan. 11, 1671–2, CAPT. AND HON. JOHN ALLING of New Haven, b. Oct. 2, 1647, d. Mar. 25, 1717, son of Roger and Mary (Nash) Alling. Their monuments still remain in Grove Street Cemetery, New Haven. Capt. John Alling was a man of ability and wealth and attained distinction in public life, serving as a member of the Conn. Council 1704–1716, auditor 1693–5, 1698–9, 1702–3, and judge of the Court of Common Pleas and Probate Court of New Haven, 1705–1717. He was also treasurer of Yale College 1702–1717. Children: Abigail, Susanna d. y., Hannah, Mary, Jonathan, Sarah, Ebenezer, Stephen, Lydia, Susanna.

iii. SARAH, b. about April 1656, m. (1), about 1680, TIMOTHY GIBBARD, b. in New Haven, Conn., in Oct. 1655, son of Hon. William and Ann (Tapp) Gibbard. They resided in New Haven, Conn., where he d. Mar. 21, 1684–5. Children: Ann, b. Mar. 7, 1681–2, d. y.; Abiah, b. May 3, 1685, d. y. She m. (2), about 1687, HON. JEREMIAH OSBORNE, b. in New Haven, Conn., Nov. 28, 1656, son of Jeremiah and Mary Osborne. They resided in New Haven, Conn., where Mr. Osborne was a lawyer, for several years representative to the Conn. Assembly and a judge of the County Court, and d. Jan. 4, 1712–13. In 1703 he is termed "brother-in-law" by Capt. John[3] Coe in a deed. Children: Sarah, b. May 19, 1689; Jonathan, b. Mar. 29, 1692.

8. iv. JOHN, b. May 10, 1658.

4. BENJAMIN[2] COE (Robert[1]), born at Boxford, co. Suffolk, England, and baptized there Oct. 18, 1628, when a child of five years was brought to New England by his father in the spring of 1634, and taken by him successively to Watertown, Mass., Wethersfield and Stamford, Conn., and in 1644 to Hempstead, Long Island. While at the latter place Benjamin[2] Coe attained to manhood, and his name first appears in America as a grantee of lands there about 1648. (Printed Records of Hempstead, vol. 1, p. 32, etc.) On the settlement of Middleburg (Newtown) in 1652, he remained in Hempstead, but joined his father in 1656 in the founding of Jamaica, L. I., where he became an extensive landholder and permanently resided the remainder of his life, a period of about forty years.

Like his brother Capt. John[2] Coe, Benjamin[2] Coe was a farmer and miller, but did not participate in public affairs, although he served as town clerk of Jamaica in 1676. (Jamaica Town Records, vol. 1, p. 12.) On a rate for Jamaica in 1683, Benjamin[2] Coe was taxed for seven cows, one horse, and twenty-seven acres of land; total value £85; one male over age in his family. (Hist. of Presb. Church in Jamaica, p. 239.)

The Town Records of Jamaica furnish some particulars of Benjamin[2] Coe. At the first town meeting held Feb. 18, 1655–6, he was granted a house lot, and at a meeting on Jan. 13, 1657–8, he was granted ten acres in the rear of his house lot. (Records of Jamaica, vol. 1, pp. 1, 5, 6.) Sept. 21, 1671, the town of Jamaica voted to give to Benjamin[2] Coe land upon record in the town book if he build the dam for the mill he is to set up, and the town agreed no other dam should be built. (Ibid. vol. 1, p. 50.) On Mar. 17, 1684–5, the town granted liberty to Benjamin[2] Coe and John Hanson to set up a corn mill and a fulling mill on Foster's River. (Ibid. vol. 1, p. 113.) On Mar. 7, 1686–7, George Woolsey Sr. and Rebecca his wife, and Benjamin[2] Coe and Abigail his wife, all of Jamaica, conveyed to John Mountfort five acres of land in Jamaica. (Ibid. vol. 2, p. 488.) On Dec. 27, 1689, Benjamin[2] Coe of Jamaica sold land there to Joseph Phillips. (Ibid. vol. 2, p. 153.)

On Mar. 29, 1689, Benjamin[2] Coe of Jamaica sold eight acres there to Daniel Whitehead of Jamaica. (Queens Co. Deeds, vol. B–1, p. 171.) On July 2, 1686, Benjamin[2] Coe of Jamaica sold to John Hanson sixty acres of land in Hempstead near Foster's Meadow. (Queens Co. Deeds, vol. B–2, p. 148.) On Aug. 8, 1692, Benjamin[2] Coe was allowed sixty acres from the undivided lands in Hempstead. (Printed Records of Hempstead, vol. 8, p. 178.) Benjamin[2] Coe appears on a ministerial subscription list in Jamaica, dated Jan. 1, 1693–4, which is the last record found of him, and he probably died during this year, although no record of his decease can be found.

Benjamin[2] Coe left no will, there was no administration or division of his estate recorded, no deeds are recorded by which he conveyed lands to any children, no vital records of Jamaica ever existed, the early church records are lost, no private register of his family is known to exist; nor have any records whatever been found directly stating he had children, except the rate of 1683 mentions one male of age in his family. But about 1700 several Coes appear in Jamaica who must have been his descendants as it is certain they were not descended from the other sons of Robert[1] Coe. Early in the eighteenth century this branch of the family removed from Long Island to New Jersey where some descendants still remain, and whence other descendants about the time of the Revolution removed to western Pennsylvania and thence spread throughout the United States. Most of the descendants of Benjamin[2] Coe have been Presbyterians, of whom many have been ministers and elders or otherwise prominent in that denomination.

Benjamin[2] Coe married before 1660, ABIGAIL[2] CARMAN, born about 1635, daughter of John[1] and Florence Carman, early settlers of Hempstead, L. I., in 1644. On Apr. 7, 1661, John Carman and Caleb Carman and "Benjamin Coe husband of Abigail Carman," petitioned the government of New Amsterdam that John Hicks, who had married their mother, render an account of her estate. (Calendar of Dutch Mss. of N. Y., p. 223.) From the following deed it seems likely that Abigail the widow of Benjamin Coe married second, as his second wife, MAJ. DANIEL WHITEHEAD, a prominent resident of Jamaica: "May 5, 1701, Daniel Whitehead of Jamaica sends greeting; whereas there was of late [Aug. 8, 1692] granted to Benjamin[2] Coe late of Jamaica, deceased, by the town of Hempstead, sixty acres which is now by order made over to me, now I the said Whitehead and Abigail my now wife convey same to John Cornwell," etc. (Queens Co. Deeds, vol. B–1, p. 440.)

Benjamin[2] Coe doubtless had several daughters, although no evidences of them can be found; and the following were probably his

Sons born at Jamaica, L. I.:

9. i. BENJAMIN[3], b. about 1660.

10. ii. JOSEPH, b. about 1665.

iii. JOHN (?), b. about 1670 (?). It seems likely that the following individual was son of Benjamin[2] Coe although proof of it is not found.

John Coe bought of James Askew on Feb. 6, 1697–8, one hundred and forty acres of land in Sussex County, Delaware, which he sold to Joseph Niell Sept. 4, 1699. ("Some Records of Sussex Co., Delaware," p. 25.) On Mar. 22, 1708, John Coe was a witness to the will of Thomas Fenwick of Lewes, Sussex Co., Delaware; and at a court held at Lewes, May 8, 1715, Henry Draper acknowledged conveyance to John Coe of Kent Co. of six hundred acres called Martin's Vineyard in Sussex Co. ("Allied Families of Delaware," pp. 65, 66, 120.) [John Smith, b. about 1634, step-son of Robert[1] Coe and step-brother of Benjamin[2] Coe, and several other persons in Jamaica, L. I., settled in Kent Co. and Sussex Co., Delaware, before 1690. See ante p. 76.]

John Coe, "batchelor," m. ELIZABETH ROADS, spinster, at the house of Mrs. Comfort Scott [her mother] at Rehoboth, Delaware, June 30, 1697. ("Some Records of Sussex Co., Delaware," p. 186.) Further information of this John Coe has not been secured, but perhaps he was the father of a Daniel Coe who before 1740 sold land in Sussex Co., Delaware, to Richard Hinman. (See Avery Genealogy, p. 47.) It is possible that the Coes of Frederick Co., Maryland, descend from this line.

iv. WILLIAM (?), b. about 1675 (?). A William Coe witnessed the marriage at Lewes, Sussex Co., Delaware, in 1705, of George Ely and Jane Pettit whose family were from Jamaica, L. I. (See "Some Records of Sussex Co., Delaware," p. 149.)

5. CAPT. ROBERT[3] COE (Capt. John[2] (2), Robert[1]), born at Newtown, Long Island, about 1659, lived there during his whole life and was prominent in town affairs. In 1705 he was appointed a vestryman under the Act of 1693, but soon resigned. (Hist. of Presb. Church in Jamaica, p. 256.) On Jan. 2, 1690, he was commissioned ensign of the Newtown military company commanded by Capt. Content Titus, and in 1700 was promoted to be captain of another company. (Documentary Hist. of N. Y., vol. 4, p. 808; Calendar of N. Y. Mss., p. 192.)

On Apr. 20, 1693, he was a grantee with his four brothers of a meadow on Old Town Neck, Jamaica, from Morris Smith and Bethia his wife of Flushing. (Queens Co. Deeds, vol. A, p. 105.) On Mar. 9, 1694–5, Deliverance Graves of Newtown conveyed to Robert[3] Coe of same her interest in a messuage formerly of William Graves. (Ibid. vol. A, p. 107.)

"Robert Coe died suddenly June 21, 1734." (Newtown Church Records.) The name of his wife is uncertain; but perhaps she was the Elizabeth Coe who died at Newtown, Feb. 17, 1733. (Newtown Church Records.) Robert[3] Coe took the pains to have the births of all his children entered on the town records of Newtown, it being the sole case of the kind; so the full record of his family is preserved.

Children born at Newtown, L. I.:

i. MARY[4], b. Apr. 17, 1701; m. (1), ——— DENTON; m. (2), JOSEPH SMITH of Newtown.

11. ii. JOHN, b. Sept. 27, 1702.

iii. ABIGAIL, b. Sept. 1, 1704; m. WILLIAM FURMAN of Newtown.

12. iv. ROBERT, b. Mar. 11, 1706–7.

v. HANNAH, b. Aug. 20, 1709; m. JOHN WOOD of Newtown.

vi. SAMUEL, b. Feb. 20, 1711–12, was left lands in Newtown by the will of his uncle Judge John[3] Coe in 1735. Samuel Coe conveyed a meadow in Newtown to John White by deed recorded Mar. 28, 1738. (Newtown Town Records.) The further history of this Samuel Coe is unknown. The statement in Riker's "Annals of Newtown," p. 401, that he was the Samuel Coe who d. at "Oblong," Westchester Co., N. Y., in 1768, is incorrect. The latter was a descendant of John[1] Coe of Stamford, Greenwich, etc. (See Appendix I.)

6. LIEUT. JONATHAN[3] COE (Capt. John[2] (2), Robert[1]), born at Newtown, Long Island, about 1668, passed his life in farming in his native town, in the military company of which he was commissioned ensign in 1700, and promoted to lieutenant Aug. 5, 1710. (Documentary Hist. of N. Y., vol. 4, p. 808.) In 1714 he was appointed vestryman under the Act of 1693. (Hist. of Presb. Church in Jamaica, p. 256.) He died about 1750.

The will of Jonathan[3] Coe of Newtown, yeoman, far advanced in years, dated Jan. 12, 1743–4. To wife Esther and daughter-in-law Abigail Coe my lands and buildings in Newtown during widowhood for their maintenance and for the bringing up of my grandchildren, the children of my deceased son Benjamin[4] Coe, with reversion to my grandsons Jonathan[5] Coe and Benjamin[5] Coe; but whereas my said daughter-in-law is now great with child, if she bear a son he is to have an equal share with them, but if a daughter she to share equally with her sisters Elizabeth[5] Coe and Mary[5] Coe. To my said granddaughters, lands in Hempstead and Jamaica. Lambert Woodward of Newtown and my daughter-in-law Abigail Coe, executors. Witnesses: William Furman, Joseph Smith, Jr., Benjamin Hinchman. Probated Nov. 5, 1750. (Wills in Surrogate's Registry, New York City, vol. 17, p. 238.)

He married about 1700, ESTHER ———; "Esther Coe, an old woman, died June 18, 1758." (Newtown Church Records.)

Children born at Newtown, L. I.:

i. JONATHAN[4], b. about 1702. "Jonathan Coe, Jun., died Mar. 1, 1729." (Newtown Church Records.) He evidently never married.

13. ii. BENJAMIN, b. about 1705.

7. LIEUT. SAMUEL[3] COE (Capt. John[2] (2), Robert[1]), born at Newtown, Long Island, about 1672, first appears on records on Apr. 20, 1693, when he was a grantee with his four brothers of a meadow on Old Town Neck, Jamaica, from Morris Smith and his wife Bethia of Flushing. (Queens Co. Deeds, vol. A, p. 105.) From 1709 to 1719 he was a vestryman under the Act of 1693 (Hist. of Presb. Church of Jamaica, p. 256); and from 1724 to 1734 he was elder of the Newtown Presbyterian Church. ("Annals of Newtown," p. 226.) On Aug. 5, 1710, he was commissioned lieutenant of the military company in Newtown commanded by Capt. Daniel Stevenson, and was holding this office in 1715. (Rep. of Historian of N. Y., vol. 1, pp. 436 and 499.)

About 1734, when over sixty years of age, Samuel[3] Coe removed with most of his children from Newtown, L. I., to Kakiat, that part of Haverstraw, Orange Co., N. Y., which in 1791 was set off as a separate town in Rockland County and called New Hempstead, which name was changed in 1828 to Ramapo. Here he had purchased a tract of four hundred acres, and opposite the old Kakiat English Church he built a homestead where he passed his remaining years and died Sept. 19, 1742, aged seventy years. The following deed shows his ancestry and surviving sons: Apr. 30, 1751, Samuel[4] Coe and John[4] Coe of Haverstraw, N. Y., convey to John Smith twenty-six acres of land in Hempstead, L. I., on the proprietor's right of John[2] Coe which right descended to his son and heir John[3] Coe who by his will left one half of said right to Samuel[3] Coe, father of the grantors, and by the will of said Samuel[3] Coe given to his four sons, Samuel[4] and John[4] the grantors, and Benjamin[4] and William[4]; and as said William[4] [sic., should be Benjamin[4]] died intestate his right descended to his three surviving brothers, of whom William[4] hath by letter of attorney empowered his said brothers Samuel[4] and John[4], the grantors, to dispose of same, etc. (Printed Records of Hempstead, L. I., vol. 4, p. 87.)

In 1802, William Thompson of New York City (see No. 16, i.), a great-grandson of Lieut. Samuel[3] Coe, compiled the first genealogy of the Coe family in America, it being a record of all the descendants of Lieut. Samuel[3] Coe to that time. The manuscript was afterwards passed about among the descendants in Rockland County, and the records of later generations were added in many lines. This manuscript is now in the possession of the family of the late Augustus Coe Esq. of Ramapo, N. Y. (No. 86, ii.), who kindly allowed it to be copied for this work. As no town vital records were kept in New York State until recent years, this manuscript genealogy is very valuable, giving data that in no other way has been preserved.

For several generations each male descendant of Samuel[3] Coe used a middle initial in his name which was the initial letter of his father's first name; i. e., Matthew D. Coe was son of Daniel Coe, Samuel W. Coe was son of William Coe, John J. Coe was son of John Coe, etc. This system of nomenclature is very helpful to the genealogist.

The will of Samuel[3] Coe of Haverstraw, Orange Co., yeoman, dated May 11, 1741. To wife Margaret £100 and maintenance for life. To daughter Margaret wife of Benjamin Skillman of Newtown £40, to daughter Sarah wife of Moore Woodward of Newtown £25, and to youngest daughter Abigail £50 when of age. To my four sons Samuel, John, Benjamin, and William, all lands and houses, etc., both in Orange Co. and Queens Co. To my sons Marten [should be Matthew] and Daniel £60 each when of age. Wife Mary [should be Margaret] and sons Samuel and John executors. Probated Oct. 30, 1742. (Wills in Surrogate's Registry, New York City, vol. 14, p. 325.)

He married at Newtown, L. I., Dec. 23, 1712, MARGARET VAN ZANDT, daughter of John Van Zandt; in the marriage record in the Newtown Church Records her name is given as Vincent. The record of their family is preserved in the Thompson Mss. referred to above.

Children born at Newtown, L. I.:

i. MARGARET[4], b. Oct. 27, 1713, m. BENJAMIN SKILLMAN, b. at Newtown in 1710, son of Thomas and Annetje (Aeten) Skillman. They resided at Newtown, L. I., where he d. before 1783. Children (according to Thompson Mss.): Samuel, Anne, Margaret, Thomas, Elizabeth, Mary, Sarah, Mercy, Benjamin.

ii. SARAH, b. June 30, 1715, m. July 9, 1735, MOORE WOODWARD, b. at Newtown about 1712, son of Nathaniel and Mary (Moore) Woodward. They lived in Newtown, and according to the Thompson Mss. had these children: Samuel, Nathaniel, John, Oliver, Abigail, Daniel, Sarah, Mary.

14. iii. SAMUEL, b. Mar. 26, 1718.

15. iv. JOHN, b. Dec. 7, 1719.

v. BENJAMIN, b. May 20, 1722, d. unm. between 1741 and 1751.

16. vi. WILLIAM, b. Sept. 23, 1724.

vii. ISAAC, b. Dec. 2, 1726, d. unm. before 1741.

viii. MATTHEW, b. Dec. 16, 1728, perhaps did not go to Orange Co. with his parents in 1734, but remained in Newtown with his eldest married sister Margaret Skillman, as he was a witness at Newtown to the will of his cousin John[4] Coe (No. 11), Aug. 11, 1748, and he also married in Newtown. He was a wheelwright by occupation and removed from Newtown, first to Fishkill, Dutchess Co., N. Y., and later to Rockland Co. On Aug. 11, 1762, Matthew Coe of Fishkill, wheelwright, Daniel Coe of Tappan, Orange Co., blacksmith, and Mary Coe, singlewoman of Newtown, conveyed to Thomas Hinchman eight acres of salt meadow on Old Town Neck, Jamaica. (Queens Co. Deeds, vol. E, p. 177.) The identity of this Mary Coe and the reason for her association with Matthew and Daniel Coe are not apparent. Probably there is an error in her name in the deed. Matthew Coe appears as private in the 2[d] regiment of Orange Co. militia in the Revolution. (New York in the Revolution, p. 158.) In the U. S. Census of 1790, Matthew Coe of Haverstraw appears as head of a family of two males over sixteen years, no males under sixteen years, and one female. (In this Census the number of males over sixteen years of age listed in a family, included the head of the family himself and those over age of his white servants or other males as well as his sons, who were living in his family.)

Matthew Coe died in 1802 according to the Thompson Mss., which also gives his marriage and family.

He m. at Newtown, L. I., Jan. 17, 1754, ELIZABETH BRINKERHOFF. Child:

1. ELIZABETH[5], m. JOHN ARMSTRONG and resided in New York City. Children: Matthew, Catherine, Elizabeth F., Phebe, Charlotte, Martin, John Coe.

17. ix. DANIEL, b. Feb. 19, 1730–31.

x. ABIGAIL, b. Dec. 10, 1732, m. CALEB HALSTEAD, and according to the Thompson Mss. had these children: Martha, Margaret, Sarah, Abigail, Hannah, Phebe, Elizabeth, Mary, Rachel, Catherine.

8. CAPT. JOHN[3] COE (Robert[2] (3), Robert[1]), born at Stratford, Conn., May 10, 1658, when a small child was taken by his mother to New Haven, Conn., upon her marriage to Nicholas Elsey of that place, and he lived there until attaining his majority. On Jan. 12, 1678–9, his mother, Hannah Elsey of New Haven, conveyed to him the real estate of his father in Stratford, consisting of the home lot of about one acre on the west side of Main St., and various other parcels containing twenty-nine acres of upland, nine acres of meadow, two acres of swamp, thirty-six acres of woodland, and rights in ten acres of commons. (Stratford Land Records, vol. 1, p. 106.) On Dec. 13, 1683, he exchanged his homelot for one of one acre across the street, then belonging to Thomas Uffoot and formerly to the Hurd and Barlow families. On this land he built a capacious dwelling which he occupied the rest of his life, and which was a homestead of the family for six successive generations.

Capt. Coe was a man of ability and energy of character, and besides acquiring a handsome estate and well establishing in life a large family of children, he also became the leading man of the town in public affairs. His business interests were many, as he was a farmer, land speculator, merchant, miller, and innkeeper, as appears from his account book in the possession of his descendant, Mr. David Coe of Stratford (No. 506). Besides holding numerous town offices, in 1701 and 1715 he was deputy for Stratford in the Connecticut Assembly. (Col. Rec. of Conn., 1689–1706, p. 359; and 1706–1716, p. 519.)

In military matters he was also prominent, being successively commissioned ensign on May 25, 1698, lieutenant on May 20, 1706, and captain on Oct. 13, 1709. (Col. Rec. of Conn., 1689–1706, pp. 252 and 534; and 1706–1716, p. 115.) Nor was his military service confined to mere militia training, as he was in active service in the French and Indian War in 1708. While on this expedition he dispatched a letter to his wife which illustrates the spirit of the times and so seems worthy of presentation. The original letter is now in the possession of his descendant, Mr. David Coe of Stratford, Conn.

"Westfield Mass.
Aug. 23[d] 1708.

My Dear Wife:

Thies come to bring my harty love and efections to you and to tell you of my earnest desiar to imbrace you in the arms of my love hoping they may find you and ouers in health.

I have been very well ever since I left you for which I prays God. The post from Albani last weeke brings news that the enimy disagre and the french indians are turned bak; the scouts from dearfield have not yet discouvered the army. We look for a post from Albani tomorrow after which we are in great hops of being drawn ofe or the greater part of us. I am just now agoing to Northampton to wait on our govener which makes me in so much hast. So I remain til death your loving husband

John Coe.

Our soldiers here are all well.
[Superscribed] To Mrs. Mary Coe Living at Stratford, these dd."

The will of Capt. John[3] Coe of Stratford, dated Jan. 29, 1740. Having already given and advanced in position my four sons, viz., Robert and Joseph in lands in Durham, John in lands in Haddam, and Ephraim in lands in Middletown, I give to my son Ebenezer all lands and buildings in Stratford. To daughters Hannah wife of James Curtis of Durham, Katharine wife of David Calhoun of Stratford, Mary wife of Samuel Pickett of Durham, and Abigail wife of John Guthrie of Durham; to granddaughter Mary Burritt daughter of my late daughter Sarah Burritt late wife of Israel Burritt of Durham. Probated May 5, 1741. (Probate Records, Fairfield Conn., vol. 1741–48, pp. 58–62.)

Capt. John[3] Coe died Apr. 19, 1741; both he and his wife were interred in the Congregational Church Burial Ground in Stratford.

He married Dec. 20, 1682, MARY HAWLEY, born at Stratford, July 16, 1663, died there Sept. 9, 1731, daughter of Lieut. Joseph and Catherine (Birdsey) Hawley.

Children born at Stratford, Conn.:

18. i. ROBERT, b. Sept. 21, 1684.
19. ii. JOSEPH, b. Feb. 2, 1686–7.
    iii. HANNAH, b. Apr. 14, 1689, m. Sept. 16, 1709, DEA. JAMES CURTIS, b. at Stratford, May 4, 1686, son of Benjamin and Esther (Judson) Curtis. They settled in Durham, Conn., where she d. in March 1758 and he d. in 1762. Children: Ruth, Sarah, Esther, Mary, Phebe, John, David, Hannah, James, Abigail, Eunice.

20. v. JOHN, b. Dec. 5, 1693.
    vi. SARAH, b. Mar. 26, 1696, m. Mar. 4, 1718–19, DEA. ISRAEL BURRITT, b. at Stratford in 1687, son of Stephen and Sarah (Nichols) Burritt. They settled in Durham, Conn., where she d. Feb. 6, 1731–2, and he d. June 19, 1750. Child: Mary, b. June 12, 1719, m. May 11, 1741, Daniel Merwin Jr.
21. vii. EPHRAIM, b. Dec. 18, 1698.

viii. CATHERINE, b. Sept. 23, 1700, m. (1), Nov. 11, 1725, JOSEPH FAIRCHILD, b. at Stratford, Dec. 28, 1689, son of Joseph and Joanna (Willcoxson) Fairchild. They lived in Fairfield, Conn., where he d. Apr. 20, 1727. Children: Catherine, Joanna. She m. (2), Aug. 24, 1728, DAVID CALHOUN, and lived in that part of Stratford later Trumbull. Children: Joseph, James, Mary, Hannah, David, John, Ebenezer.

ix. ABIGAIL, b. Nov. 11, 1702, m. June 1, 1727, JOHN GUTHRIE of Stratford, Conn. In 1735 they removed to Durham, Conn., and thence in 1743 to Southbury, Conn., where she d. in March 1747, and he d. in 1756. Children: John, James d. y., William, James, Joseph, Mary, Ephraim, Ebenezer, Abigail, Sarah, Lydia.

22. x. EBENEZER, b. Aug. 18, 1704.

9. BENJAMIN[3] COE (Benjamin[2] (4), Robert[1]), born at Jamaica, Long Island, about 1660, is evidently the one male over age listed in the family of Benjamin[2] Coe in the tax rate for Jamaica in 1683, and as eldest son was heir to his father's estates. But little information of him has been found. On May 19, 1699, he bought of Benjamin Thurston a lot of land in Jamaica. He died about 1707, certainly before Feb. 4, 1708–9, on which date "Widow Coe" appears on a rate for Jamaica, being taxed 3 sh. 6 d. 3 q. 1 w. (Hist. of Presb. Church in Jamaica, p. 243); and the inventory of his estate amounting to £84–6–6, was presented Mar. 28, 1710. (Authority, Ernest E. Coe, Esq., No. 509.)

The following deed helps to establish his heirs: On June 19, 1723, Benjamin[4] Coe of Jamaica, heire of Benjamin[3] Coe late of Jamaica, deceased, and Hannah Coe of same, wife of Daniel[4] Coe deceased and executor of her husband for his heir, divided land laid out to their father and land purchased of George Woolsey and land bought of Benjamin Thurston; said Benjamin[4] to have the west half and said Hannah for the heir of said Daniel[4] to have the east half. Witnesses: Elizabeth Coe, Sam. Higbee. (Records of Jamaica, vol. 3, p. 235.)

Benjamin[3] Coe was certainly married twice. The name of his first wife, whom he married about 1684, is unknown; but it seems very likely that she may have been a daughter of Maj. Daniel Whitehead by his first wife Abigail Stevenson.

He married second about 1700, MARY EVERETT, born about 1679, daughter of Nicholas Everett of Jamaica; she married second, DEA. JAMES WHEELER and removed to Newark, N. J., where she died Jan. 1, 1763, aged 84. She is mentioned as "my daughter Mary Wheeler" in the will of her father Nicholas Everett dated June 5, 1723. (Wills in Surrogate's Registry, New York City, vol. 10, p. 234.)

Children by first marriage, born at Jamaica, L. I.:

28. i. DANIEL[4], b. about 1685.

ii. JOHN, b. about 1687, appears on the rate list of Jamaica dated Feb. 4, 1708–9, being taxed 5 d. (Hist. of Presb. Church in Jamaica, p. 243.); he also possessed a small lot of land in Newtown, and soon after removed to Hopewell, N. J., where he was living in 1715, as is learned from the following deed: Aug. 6, 1715, John Coe of Hopewell in the Province of Nova Cesaria [New Jersey] sells land in Newtown to John Hunt. (Records of Newtown, vol. 4, p. 414.) In a tax list in 1722 for Hunterdon Co., N. J. (in which county Hopewell was situated), John Coe, a married man, was assessed for four cattle, four horses, and forty acres of land. No later records of him have been found. In 1715 he had land in Hopewell and the neighboring town of Princeton, N. J., the deed to which was lately in the possession of descendants of his half-brother, Benjamin[4] Coe of Newark, N. J. (Authority, Ernest E. Coe, Esq., of Newark, N. J.) The collateral descent of this deed, and the fact that John[4] Coe is not mentioned in the division of the lands of his father Benjamin[3] Coe in 1723, makes it probable that he d. towards the close of 1722, leaving no issue, or at least no sons.

Children by second marriage, born at Jamaica, L. I.:

24. iii. BENJAMIN[4], b. Apr. 4, 1702, as recorded in a family record in possession of descendants. (Authority, Ernest E. Coe, Esq., of Newark, N. J.)

iv. ELIZABETH (probably), a witness to the partition deed of her father's estate June 19, 1723. (Records of Jamaica, vol. 3, p. 235.)

v. PATIENCE, b. about 1707, m. about 1726, BENJAMIN PIERSON, b. at Newark, N. J., about 1701, son of Abraham and Hannah Pierson. They settled at Morristown, N. J., where she d. Jan. 7, 1785, and he d. Aug. 2, 1783. Children: Elijah, John, Mary, Sarah, Benjamin, Moses, Keziah, Isaac, Patience, Aaron, Abraham, Daniel.

10. JOSEPH[3] COE (Benjamin[2] (4), Robert[1]), born at Jamaica, Long Island, probably about 1665, first appears on records on Aug. 20, 1696, when he sold to Eldered Lucas ten acres of land in Jamaica. (Records of Jamaica, vol. 1, p. 276.) On April 5, 1707, Joseph Coe and Samuel Higbee made a division of land they had bought of Jonathan Whitehead. (Ibid. vol. 2, p. 23.) On the rate list of Jamaica dated Feb. 4, 1708–9, Joseph Coe was taxed 5 sh. 3 d. 1 q. 3 w. (Hist. of Presb. Church at Jamaica, p. 243.) On May 1, 1714, Joseph Coe and "Judah" his wife of Jamaica, for £230 conveyed to Yeary Rider, a house and sixty-three acres of land there, at a place called "Springfield." (Records of Jamaica, vol. 2, p. 157.)

Having thus disposed of his homestead in Jamaica, he removed to that part of Hanover, N. J., near Morristown, N. J., and appears as a freeholder of Hanover in lists in 1724 and 1727. In 1718 a Presbyterian church was organized at Hanover, N. J., of which Joseph[3] Coe and his wife Judith were early members; in 1733 there was a dissension in this church resulting in a withdrawal of a large number of its members to form a new church at Morristown, and among the seceders appear Joseph[3] Coe, Joseph[4] Coe, Jun., and Benjamin[4] Coe. (The Record of Morristown Church, p. 48.) Joseph[3] Coe was living in 1742, but no record of his death or settlement of his estate is to be found.

He married about 1703, JUDITH ———. No record of their family has been preserved; doubtless they had several daughters in addition to the following who must have been their

Sons born at Jamaica, L. I.:

25. i. JOSEPH[4], b. Dec. 11, 1704, according to records held by descendants.
26. ii. BENJAMIN, b. about 1709.
27. iii. THOMAS, b. about 1715.

11. JOHN[4] COE (Capt. Robert[3] (5), Capt. John[2], Robert[1]), born in Newtown, Long Island, Sept. 27, 1702, was a farmer in his native town. But little is known of him, he took no part in public affairs, and he was cut off by death in middle life. "John Coe died Sept. 25, 1748." (Newtown Church Records.) His will dated Aug. 11, probated Oct. 5, 1748, left the bulk of his estate to wife Phebe for support of herself and their children during their minority; then real estate to be given to sons John, Samuel, and Benjamin, they to pay to youngest son William Coe £200 when he became of age. House and lands bought of John Wood to be sold after ten years, and the money to be paid to daughters Abigail, Millicent, and Mary. "My daughter Abigail is subject to Fitts and my sons are to care for her." To sisters Mary now wife of Joseph Smith, Abigail now wife of William Furman, and Hannah now wife of John Wood, all meadow at Morris Point, Jamaica. Wife Phebe and brother Robert executors. Witnesses: Nathaniel Woodward, Matthew Coe, Benjamin Hinchman. (Wills in Surrogate's Registry, New York City, vol. 16, p. 331.)

He married about 1733, PHEBE FIELD daughter of Elnathan and Elizabeth Field of Newtown. She was born probably about 1710 and lived to advanced age, her name appearing in Newtown in the U. S. Census of 1790 as head of a family of two females only (the other being probably her epileptic daughter Abigail); and it was not until July 30, 1802, that administration on her estate was given to her granddaughters Susanna Burroughs and Nancy Jaggers and their husbands Thomas Burroughs and Lufus Jaggers. (Queens Co. Adms., vol. A, p. 135.)

i. JOHN[5], b. probably about 1735; is mentioned in the will of his father in 1748, but no further record has been found of him, and he probably died soon after, in youth.

ii. ABIGAIL, was epileptic and doubtless died unmarried.

iii. MILLICENT (also variously called in different records Amelia, Emilia, Mille, and Pamelia); m. July 28, 1764, her cousin, JOHN[5] COE (No. 29) of Newtown.

iv. SAMUEL, b. probably about 1741, was a farmer in Newtown, L. I., and is stated to have been a soldier in the Revolution. He occupied a portion of the paternal estate, and apparently was of weak constitution (doubtless caused by too close intermarriage among his forbears), as he died at the early age of thirty-five, after a protracted illness. His will dated May 6, 1776, refers to his long weakness; mentions land of his brother Benjamin Coe; gives all estate to wife Mary for maintenance of his family until youngest child Samuel Coe is twenty-one, when estate is to be sold, wife Mary to have £100, and the residue to be divided among three children, William, Jesse, and Samuel. Executors, wife Mary, Robert Furman, Benjamin Coe Sr. (No. 30), and Hezekiah Field. He died in the summer of 1776, but the will was not probated until Aug. 28, 1786, owing to the British military occupation of Long Island during the Revolution. (Wills in Surrogate's Registry, New York City, vol. 39, p. 226.)

He m. Oct. 7, 1769, his first cousin, doubly related, MARY[5] COE, b.

in Newtown about 1743, daughter of Robert[4] (12) and Mary (Field) Coe. Like her husband she inherited the Coe-Field consumptive constitution, and survived him but a few months, being deceased before Jan. 30, 1777 (the date of her father's will), aged under thirty-five. Her three young children were taken in care by Hezekiah Field who married her sister Phebe Coe; all three were probably consumptive as were their parents, and as the latter were double first cousins, the influence of the intermarriage must have been deleterious to their offspring.

Children born at Newtown, L. I.:

1. WILLIAM[6], b. about 1770; no further record; probably d. in youth.
2. JESSE, b. about 1773; no further record; probably d. young.
3. SAMUEL, b. about 1775, was a farmer in Newtown where he joined the church Mar. 7, 1802; d. of consumption May 1, 1802, unmarried. His will dated Feb. 14, 1801, refers to himself as long weak, and leaves all his estate to his uncle [by marriage] Hezekiah Field, and aunt Susanna Coe. Probated June 9, 1802. (Queens Co. Wills, vol. B, p. 111.) From this disposal of his estate it seems obvious that his brothers had died without issue. [A Samuel Coe, a carman, house on Bayard St., appears in the New York City Directory in 1796 and 1797. Possibly he was this Samuel[6] Coe.]

v. BENJAMIN, b. probably about 1743, was a farmer in Newtown; in the "Annals of Newtown" his name as Benjamin Coe, Jr., is given in the list of Newtown Patriots of the Revolution; his will dated, Feb. 23, 1777, gave all estate for life to mother Phebe and sister Abigail, with reversion to the children of late brother Samuel Coe, to the children of sister Amelia Coe, and to the children of late sister Mary Leverich. Executors mother Phebe Coe, brother-in-law John Coe, and Benjamin Field, Jr. This will was not probated until Dec. 6, 1784, on account of the military occupation of New York and Long Island by the British forces until the end of the Revolution. (Wills in Surrogate's Registry, New York City, vol. 37, p. 309.) He died unmarried.

vi. MARY, m. May 2, 1767, ELNATHAN LEVERICH, b. about 1742, d. Apr. 25, 1784, son of John and Susanna (Field-Sackett) Leverich of Newtown. They resided in Newtown where she d. before 1777. Children: Susanna (m. Thos. Burroughs), and Nancy (m. Lufus Jaggers), who with their husbands administered the estate of their grandmother Phebe Coe in 1802.

vii. WILLIAM, b. probably about 1747. "William Coe died suddenly June 29, 1770." (Newtown Church Records.) He was probably unmarried.

12. ROBERT[4] COE (Capt. Robert[3] (5), Capt. John[2], Robert[1]), born in Newtown, Long Island, Mar. 11, 1706–7, appears to have been the most capable of his father's children, and the favorite of his uncle Judge John[3] Coe by whom he was willed the latter's homestead in Newtown and the mill which was established about 1655 by his grandfather Capt. John[2] Coe. He attained no prominence in public affairs, but in his farming and mill operation seems to have been a man of good business ability, as judging from his will his estate was a large one considering his environment.

The will of Robert Coe of Newtown, miller, dated Jan. 30, 1777, directed whole estate to be sold and proceeds distributed as follows: To wife Mary annuity of £16; to sons Robert, John, and James, £150 each; to son Elnathan an annuity of £20 he to be under the care of daughters Hannah and Susanna; all residue equally to sons Robert, John, and James, and daughters Elizabeth, Hannah, Susanna, Phebe, and Aletta, and to the children of daughter Mary deceased. Daughter Aletta's portion to be in trust for her maintenance and at her death to be divided among her sisters. "Son John may have the place I bought of him, for £610; if he decline it is to be sold at public vendue." Executors William Furman, Sr. and William Howard. Probated July 8, 1780. (Wills in Surrogate's Registry,New York City, vol. 32, p. 290.)

He married Feb. 6, 1734, MARY FIELD, born probably about 1712, daughter of Elnathan and Elizabeth Field of Newtown, and sister of Phebe Field the wife of his brother John[4] Coe. It seems likely that there had been previous intermarriage between the Coes and Fields, as both of these Coe-Field unions were unfortunate in that most of the seventeen children of the two marriages were weaklings either physically or mentally; and as a climax two intermarriages between these two Coe families in the next generation caused the practical extinction of this branch of the family. Mary (Field) Coe survived her husband many years, attaining advanced age. "Mary widow of Robert Coe, adult, baptized Nov. 21, 1793." (Newtown Church Records.) This is the last record found of her.

There are no records to show the order and dates of births of their Children born in Newtown, Long Island:

28. i. ROBERT[5], b. probably about 1736.
ii. ELIZABETH, living 1777; no further record.
29. iii. JOHN, b. probably about 1740.
iv. MARY, m. Oct. 7, 1769, her cousin SAMUEL[5] COE (son of John[4], No. 11).
v. HANNAH, living 1777; no further record.
vi. ELNATHAN, living in 1777, non compos; died unmarried.
vii. SUSANNA, living unmarried in 1801, a legatee of the will of her nephew Samuel S.[6] Coe (son of Samuel[5], and grandson of John[4], No. 11); no further record.
viii. JAMES, b. probably about 1750, living in 1777; further history untraced.
ix. PHEBE, m. Dec. 27, 1776, her cousin HEZEKIAH FIELD of Newtown, son of Benjamin Field.
x. ALETTA, living in 1777, non compos; died unmarried.

18. BENJAMIN[4] COE (Lieut. Jonathan[3] (6), Capt. John[2], Robert[1]), born at Newtown, Long Island, about 1705, lived there until his death in middle life. Only a few memorials of him are found. From the Newtown Church Records we learn that he was baptized an adult and admitted a member Sept. 24, 1738, and died Apr. 12, 1743. Predeceasing his father, his children inherited the estate of their grandfather by the latter's will.

He married Feb. 9, 1733–4, ABIGAIL WOODWARD, born about 1708, daughter of Nathaniel and Mary (Moore) Woodward of Newtown; she married second, as his second wife, Jan. 18, 1758, EDWARD HOWARD of Newtown, born about 1698, son of William and Abigail Howard. She died Dec. 7, 1761.

Children born at Newtown, L. I.:

i. LIEUT. JONATHAN[5], b. 1734, bapt. Sept. 24, 1738, was a farmer in Newtown, and displaying activity in the patriot cause at the outbreak of the Revolution, on May 10, 1776, was commissioned "cornet" (ensign) of a Newtown troop of horse. On Aug. 29, 1776, two days after the battle of Long Island, Lieut. Coe was captured by British dragoons while attempting to escape across Long Island Sound to Connecticut. He was subjected to insults and carried to Flatbush jail, where he shortly became ill with acute dysentery, and soon died from ill-treatment and neglect. ("Annals of Newtown," p. 189.) He was probably unmarried.

ii. MARY, b. 1736, bapt. Sept. 24, 1738; m. Feb. 11, 1765, her step-brother WILLIAM HOWARD of Newtown, b. Aug. 14, 1730, d. May 28, 1792, son of Edward and Susanna (Fish) Howard. She d. in 1821. Children: Abigail, Edward, Susanna, Benjamin, Jonathan, William, Mary.

iii. ELIZABETH, b. 1738, bapt. Sept. 24, 1738; d. July 14, 1760. (Newtown Church Records.)

30. iv. BENJAMIN, b. June 11, 1741, according to his gravestone; bapt. July 11, 1742.

v. ABIGAIL (posthumous), b. in January, 1743–4, bapt. Apr. 8, 1744. "Died a child of widow Abigail Coe, Apr. 16, 1750." (Newtown Church Records.)

14. SAMUEL[4] COE (Lieut. Samuel[3] (7), Capt. John[2], Robert[1]), born at Newtown, Long Island, Mar. 26, 1718, when sixteen years of age accompanied his parents in 1734 in their removal to what was then called Haverstraw precinct, Orange Co., N. Y., but later established as New Hempstead and finally as Ramapo, Rockland Co., where he afterwards resided and died in his 42[d] year, Apr. 4, 1759.

He married in 1738, PHEBE SEAMAN, born May 29, 1718, daughter of Jonathan and Elizabeth (Denton) Seaman, of Long Island and Haverstraw. The record of their children is derived from the Thompson Mss. referred to in the account of Lieut. Samuel[3] Coe. (See ante, p. 85.)

Children born in Haverstraw (now Ramapo), N. Y.:

31. i. SAMUEL S.[5], b. March 18, 1739.

ii. DEBORAH, b. Oct. 22, 1741; m. about 1760, ELI GURNEE son of Francis Gurnee. Children: Ann, Phebe, Eli, Elizabeth, Deborah, Hannah, William, Sarah, Samuel.

iii. MARGARET, b. Aug. 25, 1743, d. Aug. 3, 1828; m. DR. WILLIAM DUSENBERRIE. Children: William, Samuel, Elizabeth, Abigail, Dorcas, Daniel C., John, Stephen, Henry, Isaac.

iv. ELIZABETH, b. Apr. 8, 1745; m. MARTIN ARMSTRONG who was drowned in the Hudson River, Feb. 6, 1817. Children: John, Samuel, William, Daniel, Martin, Catherine, Sarah, Phebe.

32. v. ISAAC S., b. Jan. 23, 1746–7.

33. vi. WILLIAM S., b. Jan. 25, 1748–9.

vii. SARAH, b. Nov. 25, 1750; was drowned with several of her relatives by the capsizing of a sloop in the Hudson River, Nov. 25, 1774.

34. viii. DANIEL S., b. Feb. 4, 1758.
35. ix. JOHN S., b. July 27, 1755.
x. PHEBE, b. June 27, 1758, d. Jan. 16, 1832; m. PETER DUSENBERRIE. Child: Sarah.

15. HON. JOHN[4] COE (Lieut. Samuel[3] (7), Capt. John[2], Robert[1]), born in Newtown, Long Island, Dec. 7, 1719, in his fifteenth year went with his parents in their emigration to Orange (now Rockland) Co., N. Y., and remained in Haverstraw (now Ramapo), where he became a prominent man. In 1754 he was elected an elder of the Presbyterian Church of Kakiat (Ramapo), which office he held for life. He also was honored in public service, holding the office of judge of the Court of Common Pleas for Orange Co. from 1764–1775; and was an ardent patriot in the Revolution, serving as a delegate for Orange Co. at the Provincial Congress held in New York City, May 23, 1775. In 1775, 78, 79, and 1780, he was a member of the New York Assembly for Orange Co. (New York Civil List.) On Mar. 24, 1778, the Continental Congress appointed Maj.-Gen. [Nathaniel] Greene quarter-master-general, and John Coe and Chas. Pettit, Esqs., assistant-quarter-master-generals. (Virginia Magazine of History, vol. 15, p. 51.) This appointment probably applies to this John Coe.

Hon John[4] Coe died May 11, 1782, and was buried in the family burying ground on the old Coe estate, where a broken headstone bears the inscription: "In Memory of John Coe, Esq., son of Samuel Coe, who departed this life the 11 of May, 1782, aged 62 years, 5 months, 4 days." His will dated March 4, 1782, probated Oct. 25, 1782, mentions wife, and names eldest daughter Abigail Gurnee, other daughters Margaret Vandervoort, Hannah Smith, and Sarah Coe; eldest son Benjamin Coe, other sons John, Samuel, Jonas, Halstead, and Matthew (youngest). (Wills in Surrogate's Registry, New York City, vol. 33, p. 389.)

He married in 1741, HANNAH HALSTEAD, born Jan. 28, 1722, died May 14, 1804, daughter of Jonah and Martha Halstead. The births of their children are given in the Thompson Mss.

Children born in Haverstraw, N. Y.:

i. ABIGAIL[5], b. Jan. 20, 1741–2; m. JOHN GURNEE, son of Francis Gurnee. Children: Hannah, John J., Benjamin, Abigail, Coe, Elizabeth.
ii. MARGARET, b. Sept. 12, 1744; m. in Dutch Church, New York City, June 25, 1763, GABRIEL VANDERVOORT, and removed to New Jersey. Children: John, Paul, Catherine, Benjamin, Gabriel, Hannah, Sarah.
36. iii. BENJAMIN, b. Nov. 13, 1746.
37. iv. JOHN, b. Aug. 28, 1749.

40. ix. JONAS, b. Mar. 20, 1759.

x. SARAH, b. July 28, 1761; m. June 15, 1783, her cousin, JOHN D.[5] COE (No. 42).

xi. MATTHEW, b. Sept. 13, 1766; m. CHARLOTTE DE NOYELLES, daughter of John and Rachel (Stratford) De Noyelles. He died without issue soon after his marriage. (Thompson Mss.) He was probably the Matthew Coe, physician, who appears in the New York City Directories 1791–1794.

16. WILLIAM[4] COE (Lieut. Samuel[3] (7), Capt. John[2], Robert[1]), born in Newtown, L. I., Sept. 23, 1724, when ten years old was taken by his parents in their removal to what is now Ramapo, Rockland Co., N. Y., where he afterwards resided. On Nov. 25, 1774, when in a sloop on the Hudson River with a party of his relatives, the boat capsized, and he and nine others were drowned.

He married June 9, 1748, HANNAH SEAMAN, daughter of Jonathan and Elizabeth (Denton) Seaman. The record of their children is given in the Thompson Mss.

Children born at Haverstraw, now Ramapo, N. Y.:

i. HANNAH[5], b. Mar. 8, 1753, d. Oct. 30, 1789; m. WILLIAM COWLEY THOMPSON of New York City, b. Aug. 27, 1748. Children: William, the compiler of the mss. genealogy of the descendants of Lieut. Samuel[3] Coe (7) which is mentioned in the account of the latter (see ante p. 85), Samuel, Peter, Sarah, Andrew.

ii. PHEBE, b. Sept. 13, 1755; m. PETER VANDERVOORT, b. in Rockland Co., Nov. 25, 1753. Soon after the Revolution they removed to Rockaway, N. J., where he d. about 1830. Children: William, Eleanor, Peter, Garrett, Hannah, Elizabeth, Phebe, Samuel.

iii. CAPT. WILLIAM W., b. Dec. 10, 1757, appears in Haverstraw in the U. S. Census of 1790 as head of a family comprising one male over sixteen years, one male under sixteen years, and three females. We are indebted to the Thompson Mss. for the record of his family, which also states that in May 1791 he removed to Plattsburgh, Clinton Co., N. Y., on Lake Champlain. Here he was successively commissioned cornet in 1793, lieutenant in 1796, and captain in 1800, of a Clinton Co. troop of horse. (New York Council of Appointment, pp. 267, 339, and 482.)

He m. Jan. 18, 1787, MARTHA ADAMS.

Children, 1. and 2. b. at Haverstraw, the remainder at Plattsburgh, N .Y.:

1. ELIZABETH[6], b. Jan. 10, 1788.
2. ARCHIBALD, b. Feb. 3, 1790, d. Sept. 24, 1794.
3. JOHN, b. June 28, 1793.
4. HANNAH, b. July 1, 1795.
5. PHEBE, b. Apr. 5, 1797.
6. CHARITY, b. Mar. 17, 1799.

41. iv. SAMUEL W., b. Apr. 2, 1760.

v. ELIZABETH, b. Aug. 25, 1762, d. Jan. 30, 1839; m. (1), May 21, 1788, JOHN DIXON who d. Dec. 31, 1804. Children: Hannah d. y., Elizabeth d. y., Hannah, William, John. She m. (2), Oct. 12, 1806, ABRAHAM POST, who d. Jan. 20, 1813. No children.

17. DANIEL[4] COE (Lieut. Samuel[3] (7), Capt. John[2], Robert[1]), born at Newtown, Long Island, Feb. 19, 1730–31, the youngest son of his parents, was less than five years old when they removed to Orange (now Rockland) Co., N. Y., whither he accompanied them, and where he passed the rest of his life. He was a blacksmith and farmer, and eventually succeeded to and occupied the homestead of his father at Kakiat (Ramapo) opposite the old English Church, which next passed to his son John D.[5] Coe. During the Revolution he was appointed chairman of the Committee of Safety of Orange Co., as appears by a letter to Gen. Sullivan, dated Dec. 6, 1776. (American Archives, vol. 3, 1776.) His life was terminated Oct. 20, 1777, at the age of forty-six; but he had acquired a good estate and reared well a family of a dozen children.

His will dated Oct. 11, 1777, probated Nov. 7, 1782, mentions wife Rachel, eldest son John, sons Matthew, Daniel, Samuel, and Alexander; eldest daughter Sarah, and daughters Elizabeth, Mary, and Rachel. Executors, son John, and nephew Benjamin Coe. Witnesses: John Coe, Jacob Cole, and William Crom. (Wills in Surrogate's Registry, New York City, vol. 33, p. 394.)

He married first, in 1754, SARAH PALMER, daughter of John Palmer, who died in 1764; and he married second, Nov. 7, 1765, RACHEL SLOAT daughter of John Sloat, who survived him. The Thompson Mss. gives the record of his children, all of whom were born in Orange (now Rockland) Co., N. Y.

Children by first marriage:

42. i. JOHN D.[5], b. May 26, 1755.
43. ii. MATTHEW D., b. Oct. 15, 1757.
44. iii. DANIEL, b. Nov. 25, 1759.
iv. SARAH, b. Jan. 25, 1762; m. BENJAMIN GURNEE, son of Stephen and Sarah (Halstead) Gurnee. Children: Martha, Benjamin, Abigail, Daniel, Stephen.
v. SAMUEL, b. Apr. 6, 1764, d. February 1765.

Children by second marriage:

vi. ELIZABETH[5], b. Jan. 6, 1767, m. in 1787, her second cousin, SAMUEL S.[6] COE (No. 79).
vii. MARY, b. Aug. 17, 1768, m. PAUL VANDERVOORT. Children: John C., Maria, Margaret.
viii. SAMUEL D., b. Jan. 24, 1770, d. s. p. 1804.
45. ix. ALEXANDER, b. Oct. 26, 1771.
x. WILLIAM, b. probably in 1774, d. young.
xi. RACHEL, b. probably in 1776.
xii. PHEBE, (posthumous), b. Mar. 30, 1778, m. Nov. 30, 1805, LOUIS B. DUBOIS, b. Feb. 22, 1774, d. Sept. 8, 1843. Children: Rachel, Catherine Ann, Daniel Coe, John, Gertrude, Levi.

18. ENS. ROBERT[4] COE (Capt. John[3] (8), Robert[2], Robert[1]), born in Stratford, Conn., Sept. 21, 1684, was reared there on his father's farm, and when he became of age was given by the latter a tract of land in the new town of Durham, Conn., whither he removed as one of the pioneer settlers, and at the first town meeting in 1706 he was chosen lister. Here he improved a farm, and in October 1718 was commissioned ensign; and he continued to reside there until about 1721 when he removed to that part of Middletown which is now Middlefield, Conn., where he established a new home where he lived until his death, Feb. 2, 1762, aged seventy-seven years.

His will dated Feb. 21, 1761, probated at Middletown Feb. 20, 1762, directs son-in-law John Wilcox to support for life Barbara Coe, wife of testator; mentions eldest son Jonathan Coe; son Jedediah Coe and daughter Mary of East Guilford; sons William, Ebenezer, Thomas, and Reuben, and daughters Martha and Hannah. Executors, son Jonathan, son-in-law Thomas Hart, and Capt. Joseph Curtis of Durham.

He married Dec. 21, 1708, BARBARA PARMELEE, b. in Guilford, Conn., June 23, 1689, daughter of Sergt. John and Mary (Mason) Parmelee; she died at Bristol, Conn., Sept. 26, 1774, aged eighty-five years.

Children, ii.–vii. born and recorded at Durham, viii.–xiii. born and recorded at Middletown (now Middlefield):

i. (JOHN[5], b. 1709)? Not recorded. The inventory of the estate of a John Coe of Wethersfield, amounting to £121, was filed by Jonathan Curtis, administrator, on Oct. 3, 1738. (Hartford Probate Records, [printed] vol. 3, pp. 110–111.) The parentage of this John Coe is uncertain, but he cannot be elsewhere placed, and while evidence is lacking to show that Robert[4] and Barbara Coe had a son named John[5], yet it would seem likely for them to name their eldest son "John" as the fathers of both of them bore this name and were men of local distinction.

46. ii. JONATHAN, b. about February 1710–11. (Not recorded.)

iii. MARTHA, b. Mar. 21, bapt. Mar. 22, 1712–13; m. JOHN WILCOX, son of John and Deborah (Parmelee) Wilcox. They resided in Middletown, Conn. Children: Barbara, John, Benjamin, Esther, Rebecca, Sarah, Matilda.

47. iv. EBENEZER, b. Aug. 21, 1715.

v. MARY, b. Apr. 4 or 11, bapt. Apr. 14, 1717, d. Jan. 23, 1798; m. (1), July 8, 1736, JAMES CRAMPTON (or CRANSTON) b. 1713, d. Aug. 10, 1771. They resided in East Guilford until about 1767 and then removed to Litchfield. Children: James, Sibyl, Abigail, Anne, Miles, Neri, Molly. She m. (2), JOSHUA GARRETT of Litchfield.

vi. ROBERT, b. June 11, bapt. June 14, 1719; d. Oct. 28, 1721.

vii. HANNAH, b. Apr. 12, bapt. Apr. 16, 1721, d. in November 1783; m. Mar. 23, 1742, THOMAS HART, b. Sept. 29, 1714, d. July 12, 1801, son of Hawkins and Sarah (Royce) Hart of Wallingford, Conn. They lived in Farmington and Bristol, Conn. Children: Mary, Ruth, Jonathan, Hannah, Thomas, Esther, Amasa, Abel, Barbara, Benjamin, Lydia.

viii. ROBERT, bapt. June 17, 1723, d. young.

48. ix. JEDEDIAH, b. Aug. 4, 1725.

49. x. THOMAS, b. May 18, bapt. June 25, 1727.

50. xi. REUBEN, b. Nov. 17, bapt. Nov. 24, 1728.

51. xii. WILLIAM, b. Apr. 29, bapt. June 7, 1730.

xiii. RACHEL, b. Sept. 6, bapt. Oct. 22, 1732, d. Oct. 24, 1760; m. Mar. 3, 1752, BENJAMIN SMITH. Children: Elihu, Roswell, Rachel.

19. CAPT. JOSEPH[4] COE (Capt. John[3] (8), Robert[2], Robert[1]), born in Stratford, Conn., Feb. 2, 1686–7, in early manhood was established by his father in the new settlement of Durham, Conn., where, with his brother Robert, he became one of the pioneer settlers in 1706, and continued there throughout the rest of his life, improving an extensive farm and becoming one of the town's most prominent and substantial citizens. He was a man of ability, energy, honorable character, and religious piety, and enjoyed the confidence of his fellow citizens by whom he was repeatedly elected to various town offices; and he also served as representative for Durham in the Conn. Assembly in 1728. He was prominent also in military matters, being commissioned ensign in May, 1722, lieutenant in May 1725, and captain in May 1729. (Colonial Records of Conn., 1717–1725, pp. 319 and 516; and 1726–1735, p. 225.) On Jan. 3, 1755, he conveyed lands to his sons Josiah[5] Coe and Abel[5] Coe. (Durham Land Records, vol. 6, p. 277.)

He died in Durham July 15, 1754, aged sixty-eight years, and with his wife, was buried there; and their gravestone still remains with the following epitaph: "They were both righteous, walking in the commandments and ordinances of the Lord, blameless." Nearly all of the most distinguished members of the Coe family of America are descendants of Capt. Joseph[4] Coe.

He married in Durham, Conn., Nov. 21, 1708, ABIGAIL ROBINSON, born in Guilford, Conn., Apr. 3, 1690, daughter of David and Abigail (Kirby) Robinson; she died in Durham July 6, 1775, aged eighty-five years.

Children born and recorded in Durham, Conn.:

20. JOHN[4] COE (Capt. John[3] (8), Robert[2], Robert[1]), born in Stratford, Conn., Dec. 5, 1693, lived there until manhood, when, like his brothers, he was promoted by his father by gift of a tract of land lying in that part of the town of Haddam, Conn., which in 1773 was officially annexed to Durham, although for a generation the inhabitants had attended Durham church.

Settling here about 1715 he improved a farm on which he passed his life, which was not of the prominence of those of his brothers, and but little mention of him appears in the records.

In a Haddam rate list dated Jan. 14, 1719, the estate of John Coe was valued at £42. His death took place Sept. 24, 1751, in his fifty-eighth year, according to his gravestone.

He married Dec. 22, 1715, HANNAH PARSONS, born about 1698, daughter of Samuel and Rhoda (Taylor) Parsons; she died Oct. 14, 1760, aged sixty-two years (gravestone).

21. EPHRAIM[4] COE (Capt. John[3] (8), Robert[2], Robert[1]), born in Stratford, Conn., Dec. 18, 1698, like his older brothers was set up in life, on attaining manhood, by his father who deeded to him lands in that part of Middletown now Middlefield, on which the young man located and established a farm where he remained until 1741, when by two deeds dated Mar. 14 and Apr. 6, 1741, he sold his homestead containing sixty-one acres with mansion house, etc., to John Lyman for £820 (old tenor). (Hawley Genealogy, p. 505.) He then removed to Durham where he afterwards lived, his name appearing on several deeds as grantor of land to his sons; and he died there Nov. 10, 1765, in his sixty-seventh year, according to his gravestone, having taken but little part in the public affairs of the town. Both he and his wife were members of the church in Durham.

He married in Middletown, Conn., Nov. 28, 1723, HANNAH COMFORT MILLER, born June 1, 1704, daughter of Benjamin and Mary (Johnson) Miller. In her old age she removed to West Granville, Mass., to live with her sons, and died there in February 1793, aged eighty-eight years.

Children born and recorded in Middletown (now Middlefield), Conn.:

58. i. EPHRAIM[5], b. July 25, bapt. July 26, 1724.
59. ii. SAMUEL, b. Aug. 5, bapt. Aug. 7, 1726.
iii. TIMOTHY, b. Oct. 15, bapt. Nov. 24, 1728; d. Nov. 6, 1733, in sixth year. (Gravestone in Durham.)

viii. MARY, b. Mar. 24, 1739–40, bapt. Mar. 30, 1740; m. May 12, 1763, CAPT. BENJAMIN BARNES, b. in Durham, Conn., Mar. 8, 1741, son of Ebenezer and Mehitable (Miller) Barnes. They settled in West Granville, Mass., where he became a prominent citizen and d. June 13, 1834; she d. July 3, 1795. Children: Rhoda, Elijah, Anna, Lucy, Benjamin.

62. ix. BENJAMIN, b. and bapt. Mar. 7, 1742.

x. (DIANA)? A "Dianna" Coe m. at Granville, Mass., Nov. 5, 1766, EBENEZER STRONG. Her parentage has not been proved, but it seems probable she was a daughter of Ephraim[4] Coe.

22. CAPT. EBENEZER[4] COE (Capt. John[3] (8), Robert[2], Robert[1]), born at Stratford, Conn., Aug. 18, 1704, was the youngest child of his parents. His elder brothers on attaining manhood were successively established in life by their father in Durham, Middletown, and Haddam; but Ebenezer remained with his parents in Stratford, and inherited the homestead of his father, residing in the house on Lower Main St., built by the latter in 1684. He was a prosperous farmer, and a man of distinction in the religious, social, and military life of the town. Both he and his wife became members in the Congregational church, the former in 1728, the latter in 1724. In the local militia he was successively commissioned ensign in May 1740, lieutenant in October 1744, and captain in May 1750. (Colonial Records of Conn., 1735–1743, p. 291; and 1744–1750, pp. 49 and 506.) He died Mar. 26, 1766, aged sixty-one years, and is buried, as also is his wife, in the Congregational Church Burial Ground in Stratford. His will dated June 6, 1765, probated April 28, 1766, gives to wife Mary certain personal and real estate and a Negro woman Ann; bequeathes the old homestead to his son Ebenezer, and also mentions sons John, Zechariah, and James. (Fairfield Co. Probate Records, 1764–5, pp. 209 and 235.)

He married Dec. 18, 1728, MARY BLAKEMAN, born in Stratford Sept. 2, 1705, died there May 23, 1773, daughter of Zechariah and Elizabeth (Denman) Blakeman, and great-granddaughter of Rev. Adam Blakeman, the first minister of Stratford in 1639.

Children born and recorded in Stratford, Conn.:

63. i. JOHN[5], b. Sept. 18, 1729.

64. ii. ZECHARIAH, b. Sept. 29, 1732.

65. iii. EBENEZER, b. July 24, 1735.

66. iv. JAMES, b. Feb. 3, 1741.

23. DANIEL[4] COE (Benjamin[3] (9), Benjamin[2], Robert[1]), born at Jamaica, Long Island, about 1685, first comes in recorded view on the rate for Jamaica dated Feb. 4, 1708–9, on which he is taxed 6 sh. 4 d. 2 q. 2 w. (Hist. of Presb. Church in Jamaica, p. 243.) No further record of him has been found until the making of his will which was dated Dec. 28, 1722, and bequeathed the estate as follows: To my loving wife that now is, one third of goods, the remaining two thirds to be divided among my daughters. Lands to revert to my son if he come to legal age, if not to my daughters. Wife that now is, Hannah Coe by name, to hold all lands and goods for maintenance of my children until the youngest comes of age. My wife that now is, Hannah Coe, and Nathaniel Oakley and Samuel Higbee to be executors. This will was recorded Sept. 17, 1723. (Queens Co. Deeds, vol. C., p. 117.)

He married first, about 1708, SARAH MOORE, daughter of Capt. Samuel and Mary (Reed) Moore of Newtown; and he married second, HANNAH ———. By his first wife he had a daughter Hannah, but the maternity of his other children is uncertain, nor is the full list of his children known, although it is clear he had but one son.

Children born at Jamaica, L. I.:

i. HANNAH[5], b. about 1710, is named in the will of her grandfather Samuel Moore in 1717; no further record.

ii. SARAH, b. about 1712, m. at Hempstead, L. I., June 11, 1730, DANIEL SEARING who d. about 1763. (Records of St. George's Church, Hempstead.) Children: John, Coe, Moses, James, Daniel, Jemima, Sarah.

67. iii. DANIEL, b. about 1715.

iv. etc. Perhaps other daughters of whom no records have been found.

24. BENJAMIN[4] COE (Benjamin[3] (9), Benjamin[2], Robert[1]), was born at Jamaica, Long Island, Apr. 4, 1702, according to a family record in possession of descendants. When a boy he went to Newark, N. J., with his mother who had married second, Dea. James Wheeler and removed thither. On becoming of age in 1723 he inherited half the lands of his father in Jamaica, which were divided on June 19 of that year (see ante p. 89), and he immediately sold his interest therein, and with the money thus obtained, on Oct. 23, 1723, he bought of John Ward for £171, an estate of six acres in Newark, N. J., located on the south side of Court St. and extending from High St. to Washington St. He settled on this homestead most of which was owned and occupied by his descendants as late as 1900.

Benjamin[4] Coe was a farmer and tailor and held various town offices in Newark. He was of ardent patriotic spirit in the Revolution, and being too old for military service he provided as a substitute his slave Cudjo, whom at the close of the war he rewarded with freedom and the use for life of an acre of land. In November 1776, in a raid on Newark, the British troops looted and burned the house of Benjamin[4] Coe, his loss being estimated at £337–14–4. He then removed to Hanover, N. J., but at the close of the war returned to his estate at Newark.

He died at Newark, N. J., Dec. 21, 1788. His will dated Apr. 30, 1783, probated June 25, 1789, gave certain lands bought of Hezekiah Johnson, Silas Halsey, Joseph Jones, and Joseph Webb, to his four daughters, Mary Roberts, Sarah Tuttle, Vinie Baldwin, and Abigail Tichenor. All residue to son Benjamin Coe. Executors, sons-in-law Moses Roberts, David Tuttle, Joseph Baldwin, and Daniel Tichenor.

He married first, ABIGAIL ———, born in February 1708, d. Dec. 4, 1761. She was the mother of all his children.

He married second, at the old Dutch church in New York City, Jan. 19, 1766, MARY YOUNG, widow.

He married third RACHEL ———, born about 1709, died in 1779.

Children by first marriage born at Newark, N. J.:

i. MARY[5], b. Nov. 10, 1726, d. Dec. 13, 1791; m. MOSES ROBERTS.

ii. SARAH, b. Oct. 13, 1728, d. November 1793; m. about 1756, DAVID TUTTLE, b. in Hanover, N. J., Oct. 4, 1730, son of Joseph and Abigail (Ogden) Tuttle. They lived at Hanover, N. J., where he d. in 1815. Children: Caleb, Jabez.

iii. DANIEL, b. Sept. 28, 1731, was a merchant, as on Aug. 9, 1762, he advertised for sale at "Turkey" in Elizabethtown, N. J., a dwelling-house and store "where he had kept some years." (New Jersey Archives, vol. 24, p. 66.) In March 1758 he was commissioned ensign in the New Jersey regiment for the French and Indian War. (New Jersey Archives, vol. 9, p. 187.) On Aug. 10, 1760, Daniel Coe and his wife renewed the covenant with the church at Morristown, N. J., and had a child Daniel[6] bapt. the same day. As neither Daniel[5] Coe nor any descendants of him are referred to in the will of his father Benjamin[4] Coe in 1783, it seems obvious he had died without surviving issue before that time. According to tradition among the descendants of his brother Benjamin[5] Coe, it is stated that Daniel[5] Coe was killed in the Revolutionary War, leaving no family.

Child:

1. DANIEL[6], bapt. at Morristown, N. J., Aug. 10, 1760; d. young.

iv. EUNICE, b. May 11, 1733, d. Aug. 24, 1801; m. JOSEPH BALDWIN, b. about April 1729, d. Oct. 13, 1792, son of Nathaniel and Mary (Conger) Baldwin. They resided at Newark, N. J. Children: Mary, Abigail, Eunice, Ezra.

68. v. BENJAMIN, b. Dec. 28, 1738.

vi. ABIGAIL, b. May 8, 1742, d. Nov. 2, 1826; m. DANIEL TICHNOR.

25. ELDER JOSEPH[4] COE (Joseph[3] (10), Benjamin[2], Robert[1]), born at Jamaica, Long Island, Dec. 11, 1704, according to a family record in possession of descendants, was taken to New Jersey in childhood by his parents who removed thither about 1715. He was among the seceders from the Hanover Church in 1733 who formed the Morristown Church, of which he was elected an elder on Mar. 1, 1748, and appears on the records of the sessions to Nov. 8, 1759. He died in Middlesex Co., N. J., Nov. 22, 1760, and on May 4, 1761, administration on his estate was given to his only son Joseph[5] Coe. (New Jersey Admons., vol. G., p. 373.)

He married about 1727, ESTHER ———, who died June 24, 1760.

Children born at Hanover, N. J.:

i. RUTH[5], b. Sept. 21, 1728, d. Feb. 10, 1763; m. Oct. 20, 1745, CAPT. PETER DICKERSON, b. at Southold, L. I., about 1726, d. May 10, 1780, aged fifty-four years, son of Thomas and Abigail (Reeve) Dickerson. They lived at Morristown, N. J. Children: Mary, Jonathan, Jesse d. y., Phebe, Jesse, John, Esther, Nancy. Peter Dickerson m. (2), Nov. 7, 1763, SARAH (ARMSTRONG) O'HARA, b. about 1729, d. Aug. 18, 1798, daughter of John and Mary Armstrong and widow of John O'Hara. Children: Peter, Ruth, Joseph, William.

ii. RACHEL, b. May 28, 1731, d. Sept. 24, 1794; m. May 14, 1748, HENRY GARDINER, b. about 1724, d. Nov. 22, 1796, aged seventy-two years. They resided in Morristown, N. J. Children: Jemima, Hannah, Joanna, Daniel, Joseph, Ruth, John, Rachel, Henry, Silas, Catherine, Esther, Abigail.

69. iii. JOSEPH, b. Sept. 30, 1738.

26. BENJAMIN[4] COE (Joseph[3] (10), Benjamin[2], Robert[1]), born at Jamaica, Long Island, about 1709, went in childhood about 1715 to Hanover, N. J., and first appears in 1733, when he was one of the seceders from the Hanover Church who soon after organized the Presbyterian Church of Morristown, N. J. On Sept. 8, 1756, a corporation charter was granted to the Morristown Church by Gov. Belcher, and Benjamin[4] Coe was named as one of the seven charter trustees, and his name appears on the records of their meetings down to Sept. 12, 1777, when he was dismissed to the Redstone Presbytery in Westmoreland Co. (now Fayette Co.), Pa.

On Dec. 20, 1782, Benjamin Coe registered in Westmoreland Co., Pa., a slave named Titus who had been baptized at Morristown, as a member of his family, Aug. 30, 1767. In a rate for Huntington Township, Westmoreland Co., in 1783, Benjamin Coe Sr. was taxed for two horses, two cattle, and one sheep.

After the Revolution Benjamin[4] Coe crossed the Allegheny River into the wilderness of the "Indian Country," and built a stockade on the river about twenty miles north of Pittsburg near the present town of Tarentum, which was called "Coe's Station," his name appearing in the U. S. Census of 1790 as located in "Depreciation Tract," Allegheny Co., Pa., as head of a household of five males over sixteen years, four males under sixteen years, and four females. (This enumeration evidently includes the families of his two sons Ebenezer[5] Coe and Benjamin[5] Coe who do not appear anywhere themselves as heads of families in that Census.) This patriarch of the wilderness was then over four-score years of age, and no further record of him has been found.

As no records of the Morristown Church before 1742 are in existence, his marriage and the baptisms of his elder children are not of record. The baptisms of ten children are recorded 1743–1761, and the family Bible of Aaron Williams, who married one of the daughters, Elizabeth[5] Coe, states she was the youngest child of a family of fourteen children.

Benjamin[4] Coe married about 1735, RACHEL PRUDDEN, born about 1718, daughter of Elder Joseph and Joanna (Lyon) Prudden of Morristown, N. J.; she died at Morristown, Dec. 20, 1776, aged fifty-eight years.

Children born near Morristown, N. J.:

70. i. EBENEZER[5], b. about 1736.

73. ix. MOSES, bapt. Oct. 7, 1750.

x. PETER, bapt. Jan. 21, 1753, served as sergeant from February 1776, to March, 1777, in Capt. Peter Dickerson's company, in a N. J. regiment commanded by Cols. Dayton and Wayne; in 1778 removed to Westmoreland Co., Pa., and in 1779 served one month in an expedition under Gen. Hand against the Indians up the Big Beaver River, and also one month under Col. James Smith up the Allegheny River. On June 18, 1832, then living in Hanover Township, Washington Co., Pa., he applied for a pension for foregoing services and the claim was allowed. (U. S. Pension Archives.)

Peter Coe of Hopewell Twp., Washington Co., Pa., was taxed in 1781 for two horses and two cattle; and in the U. S. Census of 1790 he is given as head of a family in Washington Co., Pa., consisting of one male over sixteen years, two males under sixteen years, and three females.

On Feb. 9, 1819, Peter Coe of Mount Pleasant Twp., Westmoreland Co., Pa., sold his farm to Josiah Scott for $1,280; and on May 26, 1824, Peter Coe and wife Mary sold to Patrick Miller land in Buffalo Twp., Washington Co., Pa. The last record found of him is his pension application, dated June 18, 1832, at Hanover Twp., Washington Co., Pa.

He had a wife MARY and several children, of whom no details have been secured.

xi. PATIENCE, bapt. Feb. 29, 1755.

xii. RACHEL, bapt. June 6, 1757, m. at Morristown, N. J., Nov. 21, 1773, URIAH ALLEN, b. at Hanover, N. J., June 13, 1756, son of Aaron and Abigail (Bonell) Allen. In 1777 they removed with her father's household to Westmoreland Co., Pa., where according to tradition her husband was killed in an Indian raid. Children: Aaron, Moses.

xiii. JANE, bapt. Apr. 22, 1759, removed to Westmoreland Co., Pa., with her father in 1777, and there m. (1), about 1778 MATTHEW LAMB, who was killed by the Indians a few years later. Children: John, Rachel. She m. (2), about 1783, ABRAM FULTON, b. at Articlave, co. Derry, Ireland, about 1750, son of Abram and Margaret (Guthrie) Fulton, who came to America and located in western Pennsylvania about 1772. Children: Benjamin, Henry, Joseph, Jane, Elizabeth, Abram, Margaret, Moses A., Robert, James.

xiv. ELIZABETH, bapt. Apr. 19, 1761, went to Westmoreland Co., Pa., with her father in 1777; m. June 5, 1780, AARON WILLIAMS, b. in Sussex Co., N. J., May 2, 1753, son of Josiah and Phebe (Rogers) Williams. They lived on Turtle Creek and later on Peter's Creek, Washington Co., Pa., where he built a mill. He was an elder in the Mingo Presbyterian Church, and both he and his wife were of most fervent piety, and have had many descendants prominent as ministers and elders in the Presbyterian church. He d. May 10, 1829, and his wife d. June 19, 1847. Surviving childhood were two children: Phebe, and Benjamin who was the father of Rev. Aaron Williams D. D., a prominent Presbyterian minister.

27. THOMAS[4] COE (Joseph[3] (10), Benjamin[2], Robert[1]), born at Jamaica, Long Island, about 1715, was taken in infancy by his parents to Hanover, Morris Co., N. J., in which region he passed his life. The first record found of him is his "renewing the covenant" with the Morristown Church, Nov. 17, 1746. The information found of him is meagre. On June 5, 1764, Benjamin[4] Coe and Thomas[4] Coe sold to Garret Rapalje of New York for £150 their half interest in a forge with water-power and five acres of land in Roxbury Township, Morris Co., N. J. (Deeds at Trenton, N. J.) On Apr. 20, 1778, Thomas Coe advertised for sale an estate of 131 acres in Morristown and Hanover, formerly of William Demayne, which he had secured by judgment in a suit against the latter. (N. J. Archives, Series II, vol. 2, p. 104.) Thomas[4] Coe died before 1794, but the exact time is unknown.

The name of his first wife, whom he married about 1743, is unknown.

He married second, at Hanover, Jan. 11, 1749, SARAH DOUGLAS, born about 1725, who died a widow, July 5, 1794, aged sixty-nine years.

Children by first marriage recorded at Morristown, N. J.:

i. ENOS[5], b. probably in 1744, bapt. Nov. 17, 1746, was a soldier in the Revolution (see N. J. in the Revolution, p. 544). He d. apparently unmarried, as on June 10, 1794, adm. on his estate was given to Jared Coe [his brother]. The inventory showed an estate in Roxbury Twp. appraised at £223–18–0.

ii. JOANNA, bapt. Nov. 17, 1746, d. Apr. 10, 1770; m. Feb. 8, 1769, ISAAC AYRES, b. about 1737, d. June 7, 1794.

Children by second marriage, recorded at Morristown, N. J.:

28. ROBERT[5] COE (Robert[4] (12), Capt. Robert[3], Capt. John[2], Robert[1]), born at Newtown, Long Island, about 1736, was living in Newtown Jan. 30, 1777, the date of his father's will, but his later residence and history have not been discovered.

He married (license dated June 2, 1764), PHEBE PETTIT of Newtown. No proof has been found that they had any issue, but as the two following individuals cannot be elsewhere placed, it seems probable that they were their

Children:

76. i. WILLIAM[6], b. about 1765.

ii. THOMAS, b. about 1767, is mentioned in the New York City Directories of 1789 and 1796 as a blacksmith in Brooklyn, N. Y. Further history untraced.

29. JOHN[5] COE (Robert[4] (12), Capt. Robert[3], Capt. John[2], Robert[1]), born probably about 1740 in Newtown, Long Island, was a farmer, and occupied a part of the estate of his father. He is stated to have been a soldier in the Revolution. He died in middle life, before Mar. 15, 1787, when administration on his estate was given to his widow Mille Coe and his son John Coe, both of Newtown. (Admons. in Surrogate's Registry, New York City, vol. 3, p. 47.)

He married July 28, 1764, his first cousin, doubly related, PAMELIA[5] COE (also variously called Amelia, Emilia, Millicent, and Mille), daughter of John[4] (11) and Phebe (Field) Coe. On Mar. 19, 1787, Pamelia Coe and her son John[6] Coe, administrators of John[5] Coe, sold the latter's 70 acre farm in Newtown to Cornelius Hyatt for £610. (Queens Co. Deeds, vol. K., p. 82.) On May 6, 1788, Emilia Coe, widow, of Newtown, bought of Mary Smith, widow, a house and eight acres of land in Newtown for £250; and on Oct. 4, 1794, Emilia Coe, widow, of New York City conveyed same to Garret H. Van Wagener for £325. (Queens Co. Deeds, vol. G., pp. 34 and 43.) On Feb. 9, 1799, administration on the estate of Pamelia Coe, late of New York City, widow, was given to her son Robert Coe of New York City. (Admons. in Surrogate's Registry, New York City, vol. 6, p. 73.)

Both John[5] Coe and his wife Pamelia[5] Coe were of weak constitutions and died in middle life; and as they were double first cousins probably their children were also delicate.

Children born at Newtown, L. I.:

i. JOHN[6], b. about 1766, was an administrator of the estate of his father on Mar. 15, 1787. (Admons. in Surrogate's Registry, New York City, vol. 3, p. 47.) He appears as the head of a family in Newtown in the U. S. Census of 1790, comprising one male over sixteen years, one male under sixteen years, and five females, but soon after removed to New York City where he was a witness on the deed by his mother to Garret H. Van Wagener dated Oct. 4, 1794. (Queens Co. Deeds, vol. G., p. 34.) A John Coe, carman, presumably this man, appears in the New York Directories in 1793, 1794, and 1795. No further record of him has been found and it seems likely that he d. before 1799 as his younger brother Robert[6] Coe was the administrator of their mother's estate on Feb. 9 of that year. Whether or not he was married and had children, has not been ascertained.

ii.–v. Probably four daughters, names and history unknown, who were included in the five females listed in the family of their brother John[6] Coe at Newtown in the U. S. Census of 1790, the fifth being his mother.

vi. ROBERT, b. about 1775, removed to New York City with his mother about 1792, and was appointed administrator of her estate Feb. 9, 1799. (Admons. in Surrogate's Registry, New York City, vol. 6, p. 73.) His name appears as a shoemaker in the New York City Directories from 1799 to 1812. From 1815 to 1825 a Mary Coe, widow, boarding-house keeper, is given at various addresses in the Directories of New York City; perhaps she was widow of Robert[6] Coe. In 1817 a Robert Coe, a shoemaker (perhaps their son), appears in the New York Directory. The further history of this family has not been ascertained.

30. CAPT. BENJAMIN[5] COE (Benjamin[4] (13), Lieut. Jonathan[3], Capt. John[2], Robert[1]), born in Newtown, Long Island, June 11, 1741, although without a liberal education, was a man of natural talents and abilities and rose to prominence and political distinction in his native town. At the outbreak of the Revolution he was an ardent patriot and was appointed lieutenant of the Newtown company, and on June 17, 1776, was promoted to captain. (New York in the Revolution, p. 286.) After the battle of Long Island, Aug. 27, 1776, he was taken prisoner by the British, and to save himself from certain death in the prison-pen he consented to a parole not to serve again during the war. His Newtown estate was seized by the British and he was compelled to live with his family in exile at Warwick, N. Y., during the Revolution. At the close of the war he returned to his Newtown estate which had been occupied by the family of Lieut. Alexander Grant of the 42[d] regiment; the latter left property in New York City which the state awarded to Capt. Coe for losses he had sustained. ("Annals of Newtown," pp. 194, 223.)

During the Revolution, although in exile, he represented Queens Co. in the New York Assembly, 1778–1784; and on his return to Newtown he became the leading man in town affairs, served as a judge of the Court of Common Pleas for Queens Co., 1793–1806, and was again representative for Newtown, 1804–1806. He was also prominent in the Presbyterian Church of Newtown, holding the office of elder for over fifty years. In the U. S. Census of 1790 he appears as head of a family in Newtown, with two males over sixteen years, one male under sixteen years, six females, and nine slaves. His last years were clouded by mental derangement, and conservators were appointed for his estate. (Queens Co. Deeds, vol. P., p. 271.)

His will dated Oct. 4, 1804, probated May 21, 1821, names wife Elizabeth; negroes Thomas, Patience, Jeff, and George to be freed; and directs real estate to be sold and proceeds divided among children, viz.: Abigail wife of James Burt, Grover Coe, Elizabeth wife of Thos. Betts, Mary Coe, and minor children, Benjamin E. Coe, Sarah Coe, Frances Coe, and Susanna Coe; also children of daughter Phebe Furman. To Presbyterian Church of Newtown £25. Executors, Edward Leverich, Peter Vandervoort, and William Howard. (Queens Co. Wills, vol. D., p. 364.) He died Mar. 9, 1821, aged seventy-nine years, eight months, twenty-six days, according to his gravestone in the Presbyterian Church cemetery, where several of his children are also interred.

He married first, Nov. 14, 1762, PHEBE HORTON, daughter of Rev. Simon Grover and Abigail (Howell) Horton of Newtown, where her father was pastor of the Presbyterian Church for twenty-six years. She died Apr. 23, 1766. He married second, Nov. 1, 1770, ELIZABETH EDSALL, daughter of Philip Edsall Esq. of Newtown, whose wife Elizabeth was daughter of Rev. Samuel Pumroy, pastor of the Newtown Presbyterian Church for thirty-six years.

Children by first marriage, born in Newtown, L. I.:

i. ABIGAIL[6], b. May 20, 1763, d. Feb. 14, 1837; m. Aug. 15, 1783, CAPT. JAMES BURT, b. Oct. 25, 1760, d. Mar. 17, 1852, son of Daniel and Hannah (Benedict) Burt of Warwick, N. Y. They resided in Warwick, Orange Co., N. Y., where her husband was member of the N. Y. Assembly nine years, and served in the State Senate eleven years. Children: Mary, Benjamin, Stephen A., Phebe, James, Thomas M.

77. ii. GROVER, b. July 2, 1764.

Children by second marriage:

iii. PHEBE, b. about 1772; m. Sept. 25, 1792, AARON FURMAN of Newtown.

iv. SAMUEL, b. about 1775; d. Nov. 13, 1781.

v. ELIZABETH, b. about 1778; m. THOS. BETTS.

vi. MARY, b. Feb. 12, 1781; d. Dec. 4, 1861 (gravestone). Unmarried.

78. vii. BENJAMIN E., b. June 11, 1784.

viii. SARAH, b. about 1786; d. Dec. 3, 1809, aged forty-three years (gravestone). Unmarried.

ix. FRANCES, b. about 1789; d. Apr. 5, 1850, aged sixty years (gravestone). Unmarried.

x. SUSAN, bapt. July 14, 1793. She was probably the Susanna Coe of Brooklyn who d. Nov. 5, 1870, leaving no husband, child, grandchild, father, mother, brother, or sister; but nieces Susan E. Woodward of Brooklyn, Sarah C. Betts of Newtown, and Elizabeth Crummelin. Her will dated July 22, 1868, probated Dec. 2, 1870, left all estate to Susan Emma Woodward, Eliza Louisa Woodward, Mary A. Woodward, Cornelia Betts Woodward and Adeline Furman Woodward. (Kings Co. Wills, vol. 41, p. 275.)

31. SAMUEL S.[5] COE (Samuel[4] (14), Lieut. Samuel[3], Capt. John[2], Robert[1]), born in Haverstraw, Orange Co. (now Ramapo, Rockland Co.), N. Y., Mar. 18, 1739, presumably lived there, but his history is very obscure, and our sole knowledge of him is derived from the Thompson Mss. which merely gives his marriage and two children. He probably died when a young man.

He married in 1761, GREITCHE BLAUVELT, daughter of Johannes Blauvelt.

Children:

79. i. SAMUEL S.[6], b. Oct. 28, 1762.

ii. JANE, m. JACOB TEN EYCK.

32. LIEUT. ISAAC S.[5] COE (Samuel[4] (14), Lieut. Samuel[3], Capt. John[2], Robert[1]), born in Haverstraw, Orange Co. (now Ramapo, Rockland Co.), N. Y., Jan. 23, 1746–7, resided in his native town. His name appears as private in the second regiment of Orange Co. militia. (New York in the Revolution, p. 158.) Later he was first-lieut. in Col. Nichols' regiment, Aug. 1, 1776. (American Archives, vol. 3, 1776.) In the U. S. Census of 1790 he is listed as head of a family in Haverstraw with two males over sixteen years, one male under sixteen years, and seven females. His further history is unknown, and the record of his family is secured only by means of the Thompson Mss.

He married about 1768, RACHEL ARCHER, daughter of Jacob Archer. Children born in Rockland County:

80. i. SAMUEL I.[6], b. 1768.

ii. MARTHA, m. SAMUEL WILSON. Children: Isaac, Elizabeth.

iii. SARAH, m. LAWRENCE MYERS, and lived in New York City. Children: John, Anne, Sarah, Sophia, Mary, Eliza, Angelina.

v. REBECCA, b. Apr. 8, 1777, m. Dec. 25, 1797, GARRET ONDERDONK, b. in Rockland Co., N. Y., Mar. 9, 1776, son of Adrian and Willemtje (Eckerson) Onderdonk. They lived in Ramapo, N. Y., where he d. Sept. 27, 1809. Children: Asa, William, Garret.

vi. ISAAC, b. Aug. 10, 1779, was taxed $1.73 on estate valued at $540 on an assessment roll for New Hempstead (Ramapo) in 1812. On Feb. 18, 1822, Isaac Coe jun. and Nancy his wife of Gorham, Ontario Co., N. Y., conveyed land in New Hempstead; and on May 21, 1827, Isaac Coe and Nancy his wife of Hopewell, Ontario Co., N. Y., conveyed land in New Hempstead. (Rockland Co. Deeds, vol. F., p. 160, and vol. 90, p. 103.) The Thompson Mss. names his wife and children, but his further history has not been traced.

He m. probably about 1805, ANN OR NANCY KIESLER, daughter of Peter Kiesler.

Children:

1. ELIZA[7].
2. HANNAH MARIA.
3. ISAAC.
4. SARAH.
5. NANCY.
6. JOHN MYERS.
7. SUSAN.

The history of these children has not been learned.

vii. ELIZABETH, m. in May 1806, ABRAHAM STEVENS.

viii. HANNAH, m. ——— MOFFATT.

ix. BARBARA, m. JOSEPH PALMER, b. Jan. 4, 1773, d. Dec. 15, 1858, son of John and Sarah (Hopper) Palmer. Children: John, Rachel, Isaac, Jesse, Abram, Hannah, Samuel.

33. WILLIAM S.[5] COE (Samuel[4] (14), Lieut. Samuel[3], Capt. John[2], Robert[1]), born in Haverstraw, Orange Co. (now Ramapo, Rockland Co.), N. Y., Jan. 25, 1748–9, was a farmer and passed his life in his native heath. He was enrolled as private in the second regiment of Orange Co. militia. (New York in the Revolution, p. 158.) In the U. S. Census of 1790 he is stated to be head of a family of one male over sixteen years, five males under sixteen years, and two females. In the assessment roll of New Hempstead (now Ramapo) in 1812, he was taxed for a lot valued at $20. On Apr. 8, 1829, William Coe and wife Martha of Ramapo conveyed to Dominy Coe real estate in Ramapo. In this deed both grantors are stated to be blind and signed with their marks. (Rockland Co. Deeds, vol. G., p. 24.) They were then past eighty years of age and probably ended their days with their son Dominy Coe. The Thompson Mss. gives the list of their children.

He married MARTHA CONNELLY, daughter of Dominy Connelly.

Children born in Rockland Co., N. Y.:

i. SAMUEL[6], b. probably about 1778; the sole knowledge obtained of him is derived from the Thompson Mss. which names his wife and children.

He m. probably after 1800, MARY PARKER, daughter of Isaac Parker.

Children:

1. ISAAC[7].
2. WILLIAM.
3. AARON.

ii. ROBERT, b. probably about 1780, lived and died at Ramapo. In his last years he was blind and lived with his daughter Sarah Wanamaker. (Authority Mr. Alpheus J. Coe, No. 186.) The Thompson Mss. names his wife and children.

He m. probably about 1810, MARTHA KING, daughter of John King.

Children:

1. JOHN[7].
2. WILLIAM.
3. JONAS.
4. SARAH, m. ——— WANAMAKER.

iii. ARTHUR, b. probably about 1782, appears on an assessment roll of New Hempstead (Ramapo) in 1812, being taxed $1.60 on a farm valued at $500. On May 10, 1830, Arthur Coe, farmer, and Letty his wife, of Ramapo, for $2,000 conveyed to James Suffern, land in Ramapo. (Rockland Co. Deeds, vol. G., p. 350.)

He m. about 1807, LETTY ———. No record of their family has been found, but they had at least two sons as appears from the death records of the latter in New Jersey.

Children born at Ramapo, N. Y.:

1. WILLIAM[7], b. about 1809, d. at Paterson, N. J., July 9, 1862, aged fifty-three years. He m. MARGARET HENION, daughter of David Henion of Ramapo, as appears by the latter's will and by Rockland Co. Deeds, vol. 27, p. 52. Further history not learned.
2. SAMUEL, b. in 1813, d. at Waldwick, N. J., Sept. 16, 1906, aged ninety-three years, eight months. Further history not learned.

81. iv. JOHN W., b. probably about 1784.

34. MAJ. DANIEL S.[5] COE (Samuel[4] (14), Lieut. Samuel[3], Capt. John[2], Robert[1]), born in Haverstraw, Orange Co. (now Ramapo, Rockland Co.), N. Y., Feb. 4, 1753, lived there until May 4, 1802, when he and his wife Abigail of New Hempstead (now Ramapo) sold their homestead to Dowah Blauvelt for £1006. (Rockland Co. Deeds, vol. O., p. 477.) He then removed to Fishkill, Dutchess Co., where he resided until Apr. 1, 1825, when he bought of William Stewart for $3,075 a farm at Blooming Grove, Orange Co., N. Y., on which he settled and passed the remaining three years of his life. (Orange Co. Deeds, vol. Z, p. 435.) In the U. S. Census of 1790 he is given as head of a family in Haverstraw comprising two males over sixteen years, three males under sixteen years, and four females.

In his earlier years he was active in military matters, and was successively commissioned lieutenant in 1786, captain in 1787, and major in 1789, of the Orange Co. militia. (New York Council of Appointment, pp. 92, 123, 320.)

His will dated Sept. 12, 1827, probated Sept. 3, 1828, names wife Abigail, son Matthew, daughters Mary now widow of Gilbert Bloomfield, Elizabeth wife of Solomon Smith, Sarah wife of Thos. Phillips, Jane wife of Jacob Dolson, Phebe wife of Nathaniel Boyce, Abigail wife of Comfort Cropsey, and Deborah wife of John Myer; granddaughter Maria Coe, daughter of son Samuel Coe, deceased; grandsons Daniel Smith and Samuel Smith, sons of daughter Elizabeth Smith, and grandson John Lawrence, son of daughter Mary; grandsons Cornelius Dolson, Samuel Boyce, and Samuel Cropsey. Sister Phebe Dusenberry and brother William Coe. Amount of bequests about $4,500. Real estate to be sold and proceeds divided. Executors sons-in-law Jacob Dolson and Comfort Cropsey. (Orange Co. Wills, vol. H., p. 444.) On May 4, 1829, the executors of the estate of Daniel Coe sold his farm of ninety-eight acres in Blooming Grove to Jesse Hulse for $4,021.50. (Orange Co. Deeds, vol. 37, p. 276.) He died Aug. 18, 1828, aged seventy-five years, according to his gravestone at Bethlehem, Orange Co., N. Y.; but the Surrogate's Records recite his death as of Aug. 25.

He married in May, 1778, ABIGAIL KNIFFEN, daughter of Daniel Kniffen of Newburgh, N. Y. The list of their children is given in the Thompson Mss.; but the dates can be only approximated.

Children born in Rockland Co., N. Y.:

86. HON. BENJAMIN[5] COE (Hon. John[4] (15), Lieut. Samuel[3], Capt. John[2], Robert[1]), born at Haverstraw, in Orange (now Rockland) Co., N. Y., Nov. 13, 1746, was a resident of that town throughout his life, and a man of talents, ability, and high character, and he attained distinction in the public service in which he was engaged for many years, besides carrying on the fine farming estate at Mt. Ivy where he resided.

His name appears in the U. S. Census of 1790 as the head of a family at Haverstraw consisting of three males over sixteen years, two males under sixteen years, and five females. He also owned property in New Hempstead (Ramapo), being taxed on the assessment roll of 1812 for land valued at $180.

During the Revolution he was active in the patriot cause, and on Feb. 26, 1776, was commissioned captain of a company of South Orange Co. minute-men. (New York in the Revolution, p. 293.) About this time he also began his political career, being representative in the Assembly for Orange Co. in 1778 and 1779. Upon the formation of Rockland Co. he was elected representative in 1798, and from 1807 to 1812 was a member of the State Senate. He also was a member of the New York Council of Appointment, 1808–1811, and for many years a judge of the Court of Common Pleas. On Feb. 20, 1817, he was elected elder of the New Hempstead Presbyterian Church which office he held until the close of his life, May 14, 1831, aged eighty-four, and he was buried in a private family cemetery on his estate. The record of his family is preserved in the Thompson Mss.

He married first, Nov. 13, 1777, SARAH JOHNSON daughter of John Johnson; she died Mar. 1, 1797.

He married second, Nov. 17, 1799, SARAH MYNDERSE daughter of Martin Mynderse; she died Aug. 14, 1818, aged forty-three years.

37. DEA. JOHN[5] COE (Hon. John[4] (15), Lieut. Samuel[3], Capt. John[2], Robert[1]), born at Haverstraw in Orange Co. (now Ramapo, Rockland Co.), N. Y., Aug. 28, 1749, inherited his father's homestead on which he passed a long extended life. He appears in Haverstraw in the U. S. Census of 1790, as head of a family of one male over sixteen years, no males under sixteen years, and four females. In the assessment roll of New Hempstead (Ramapo) for 1812 his farm was valued at $1,100.

As "John J. Coe" he was ensign of Capt. Garrett Eckerson's Co. of Haverstraw militia, May 28, 1776 (New York in the Revolution, p. 291); and on Jan. 2, 1834, as John Coe aged eighty-four years of Rockland Co., N. Y., he was pensioned for services in the Revolution in the New York militia. (U. S. Pension Rolls.)

For many years he was deacon of the New Hempstead Church and died May 2, 1839, at the advanced age of nearly ninety years.

The will of John Coe of Ramapo, dated Sept. 5, 1831, probated Oct. 12, 1839, left maintenance to wife Mary, and to son Amzi Coe his homestead farm in Ramapo of about one hundred acres, the latter to pay to Elizabeth, Martha, Phebe, Hannah, Mary, and Catherine, daughters of the testator, $300 each. (Rockland Co. Wills, vol. D., p. 9.)

He married in 1786, MARY HALSTEAD, daughter of Caleb and Catherine Halstead.

Children born in Ramapo, N. Y.:

38. SAMUEL[5] COE (Hon. John[4] (15), Lieut. Samuel[3], Capt. John[2], Robert[1]), born in Haverstraw, Orange Co., N. Y., Jan. 7, 1757, lived in that part of the precinct of Haverstraw which later became the township of Clarkstown, Rockland Co. He was not prominent in public life, but appears to have been successful and prosperous in farming, and accumulated considerable property.

On April 6, 1831, he purchased from William A.[6] Coe (No. 98) for $8,000, the old Coe homestead at Kakiat (Ramapo) opposite the English Church, formerly owned and occupied by the latter's father John D.[5] Coe, grandfather Daniel[4] Coe, and great-grandfather Samuel[3] Coe, the progenitor of the Rockland Co. Coes. Dying a few months later, this old homestead descended to his son John R.[6] Coe, the last of the family who possessed it, and by whom the estate was sold out of the family after a tenure of over a century.

In the U. S. Census of 1790, he is named as head of a family of one male over sixteen years, two males under sixteen years, and four females. He was a soldier in the Revolution, as his widow Sarah Coe, aged seventy-one, appears in the Pension Census of 1840, living at Clarkstown, N. Y., with her son Richard Coe. (U. S. Pension Rolls.)

He died at Clarkstown, N. Y., Aug. 3, 1831. His will dated July 18, 1831, probated Jan. 5, 1832, left all estate to wife Sarah for life, at her death all real estate to sons John R. Coe and Richard Coe. To eldest son, Walter S. Coe, a silver watch. To the children of said son, $2,500 to be equally divided among them when of age. (Rockland Co. Wills, vol. C., p. 56.)

He married Feb. 27, 1786, SARAH ONDERDONK, born Oct. 30, 1768, daughter of Jacob and Annatje (Clarke) Onderdonk; she died at Clarkstown March 4, 1848.

Children born in Rockland Co., N. Y.:

GARRISON, daughter of Abraham and Catherine Ann Garrison of Clarkstown; after the death of her husband she lived at Nyack, N. Y. No children.

39. HALSTEAD[5] COE (Hon. John[4] (15), Lieut. Samuel[3], Capt. John[2], Robert[1]), born at Haverstraw, Orange Co. (now Ramapo, Rockland Co.), N. Y., March 20, 1759, settled in the present town of Haverstraw where he appears in the U. S. Census of 1790 as head of a family of one male over sixteen years, one male under sixteen years, and one female. On May 21, 1796, he sold to John J. Montagne of New York City for £2200 his estate of five hundred acres in Haverstraw. (Orange Co. Deeds, vol. E., p. 498.) He removed to Newark, N. J., where he resided some years and died Aug. 19, 1832.

For several years he was an elder in the Presbyterian church; and he was a man of deep religious faith and unfeigned piety, as is evidenced in a letter yet extant, written to his brother-in-law John D.[5] Coe, on the occasion of the death of his son Timothy Ward[6] Coe, in Aug. 1817.

Halstead Coe appears as private in the second regiment of Orange Co. militia in 1776. (New York in the Revolution, p. 158.) He also served in the Revolution with the New Jersey troops. (New Jersey Soldiers in the Revolution, p. 544.)

He married first, PHEBE HALSTEAD, daughter of Caleb Halstead, who died leaving no children.

He married second, about 1788, ABIGAIL WARD, born Mar. 30, 1770, daughter of Timothy Ward; she died at Newark, N. J., Jan. 20, 1855.

40. REV. JONAS[5] COE, D. D. (Hon. John[4] (15), Lieut. Samuel[3], Capt. John[2], Robert[1]), born at Haverstraw, Orange Co. (now Ramapo, Rockland Co.), N. Y., Mar. 20, 1759, when a youth served in the American army in the Revolution (New York in the Revolution, p. 158), and it is said that he, his four elder brothers, and their father, were all together in some battle. After the war he entered Rutgers College, graduating A. B. in 1789, and A. M. in 1792, and at the same time took courses at Princeton College, also receiving there the degree of A. M. in 1792. Meanwhile he had studied theology under the Rev. John Rodgers, D. D., of New York, was licensed a Presbyterian minister on Oct. 7, 1791, and on June 25, 1793, was ordained and settled over the church at Troy, N. Y., with which the church of Lansingburgh was united for some ten years.

During the remainder of his life, a period of nearly thirty years, Dr. Coe continued in his charge at Troy, was very successful in his ministry, and highly esteemed and greatly beloved. Although not a man of brilliant talents, he was an accomplished scholar, and his indefatigable labors, sympathetic tenderness, and ardent piety, greatly endeared him to his parishioners. His abilities and merits were recognized by the conferring on him of an honorary A. M. by Union College in 1797, and in 1815 the degree of D. D., both by William and Mary College and Middlebury College. In 1796 he was appointed regent of New York University, but resigned this position a year later. He died at Troy, N. Y., July 21, 1822, greatly lamented.

He married first, Sept. 27, 1794, Elizabeth Hunting Miller, born in Dutchess Co., N. Y., Apr. 10, 1778, died at Troy, N. Y., Apr. 19, 1805, daughter of Dr. Matthias B. and Phoebe Miller.

He married second, May 14, 1810, ABIGAIL WALLACE, born in Dutchess Co., N. Y., in 1771. No children by this marriage.

James Brown came to America in youth and later for some years was associated in business with his father who became an opulent merchant and banker in Baltimore, Md. In 1825 he removed to New York City and founded the eminent international banking house of Brown Brothers and Co. and Brown, Shipley, and Co., acquiring an immense fortune of which he gave large donations to Presbyterian charities, and d. in New York City Nov. 1, 1877. Seven of his family, a son, two daughters, a son-in-law, a daughter-in-law, and two grandchildren, all perished in the sinking of the steamer Arctic, Sept. 27, 1854. Children of James and Eliza Maria (Coe) Brown: John C., George H., Maria C.

41. SAMUEL W.[5] COE (William[4] (16), Lieut. Samuel[3], Capt. John[2], Robert[1]), born in what is now Ramapo, Rockland Co., N. Y., Apr. 2, 1760, was a thrifty, energetic, and successful farmer there, and so educated and brought up his family that his children acquired opportunities for entering broader fields of life than had been pursued by their forbears. His name appears in the U. S. Census of 1790, as head of a family at Haverstraw (now Ramapo), consisting of two males over sixteen years, two males under sixteen years, two females, and two slaves. But few particulars are known of his life, which terminated Jan. 20, 1822; but the Thompson Mss. furnishes a complete record of his family.

His will dated Aug. 27, 1819, probated Feb. 15, 1822, names wife Elizabeth; sons William, Jesse, and Samuel; grandchildren John and Mary, children of son John, deceased; and daughters Abigail, Hannah, Elizabeth, Catherine, and Sarah. (Rockland Co. Wills, vol. B., p. 77.)

He married Sept. 10, 1786, ELIZABETH DUSENBERRY, born Aug. 25, 1765, daughter of William Dusenberry.

Children born at Ramapo, N. Y.:

42. HON. JOHN D.[5] COE (Daniel[4] (17), Lieut. Samuel[3], Capt. John[2], Robert[1]), born in what is now Ramapo, Rockland Co., N. Y., May 26, 1755, was a resident of his native place throughout his life; and possessing talents and abilities of a high order, and an upright and energetic character, he acquired a handsome estate and also enjoyed a successful political career. He succeeded to and occupied the old Coe homestead at Kakiat (Ramapo) opposite the English Church, which was established by his grandfather, Lieut. Samuel[3] Coe, in 1734; and he appears here in the U. S. Census of 1790 as head of a family of one male over sixteen years, one male under sixteen years, five females, and four slaves. This estate was valued in the assessment roll of New Hempstead (Ramapo) of 1812, at $2,970; but evidently was much increased in value, as a few years after his death in 1824, it comprised nearly two hundred acres, and passed by sale through his son William Alexander[6] Coe, to Samuel Coe (No. 38) for $8,000. (Rockland Co. Deeds, vol. E., p. 467 and vol. H., p. 76.)

Soon after the beginning of the Revolution he enlisted, on Aug. 17, 1775, in Capt. Robert Johnson's Co., in the Continental army, and is described as "John D. Coe, a farmer, born in Orange Co., twenty years old, with fair complexion, blue eyes, and brown hair." He served under Gens. Schuyler and Montgomery, and was present at the capture of Fort Johnson on Lake Champlain. In 1786 he was commissioned captain in the Orange Co. militia. (New York Council of Appointment, p. 92.) Soon after the close of the Revolution he entered into public service, and was a member of the New York Assembly 1789–1794, and of the State Senate for Orange Co., 1795–98. He also served three terms as commissioner of loans.

He was a man of stern morality, strict integrity, and impartial judgment, and often served as a referee in disputes between his fellow townsmen.

His will dated Mar. 6, 1822, probated Sept. 7, 1824, left an annuity to sister Sarah Gurnee for life; all residue of estate to be divided equally among his children, Hannah wife of Halstead Gurnee, Catherine widow of Daniel Robart, Sarah wife of Jasper S. Armstrong, John D. Coe, Matthew D. Coe, William Alexander Coe, and Mary wife of Peter Schuyler Post. (Rockland Co. Wills, vol. B., p. 133.) He died May 3, 1824.

He married June 15, 1783, his cousin, SARAH[5] COE, born July 28, 1761, daughter of Hon. John[4] and Hannah (Halstead) Coe. She died Sept. 26, 1801; and in a letter of condolence, still extant, written to her husband by her brother Rev. Jonas[5] Coe, D. D., of Troy, she is referred to as of a most estimable character.

46. JONATHAN[5] COE (Ens. Robert[4] (18), Capt. John[3], Robert[2], Robert[1]), born in Durham, Conn., about February 1710–11, was brought up there on his father's farm; but on Mar. 18, 1737, purchased a tract of wilderness land in what became the town of Torrington, Conn., whither he removed and became the first permanent settler of that town. He remained in Torrington until after 1784 when he removed to Winchester, Conn., where he passed his declining years and died Apr. 23, 1795, aged eighty-four years.

At the organization of the First Congregational Church in Torrington, Jonathan[5] Coe was one of the original members, and he was an influential and highly esteemed citizen of that town, holding many town offices, and serving as deputy to the Conn. Assembly in 1762, 64 and 65. (Colonial Records of Conn. 1762–1767, pp. 74, 242, 295, 341.) In 1764 he purchased one hundred acres of land in Winchester, Conn., which he deeded to his sons Oliver and Robert.

He married Sept. 23, 1737, ELIZABETH ELMER, born in 1710, died June 28, 1794, daughter of Dea. Jonathan and Mary Elmer of Windsor, Conn.

47. CAPT. EBENEZER[5] COE (Ens. Robert[4] (18), Capt. John[3], Robert[2], Robert[1]), born in Durham, Conn., Aug. 21, 1715, located in Torrington, Conn., a few years after his elder brother Jonathan went there. He is said to have been a wealthy man, prominent in the civil and religious affairs of the town, and captain of the militia. An Ebenezer Coe appears in Torrington in the U. S. Census of 1790, as head of a family of three males over sixteen years, no males under sixteen years, and three females. This record probably includes the family of his son Roswell[6] Coe, who does not appear himself as a head of family in that census, although he was living in Torrington at the time.

He married about 1740, JANE ELMER, daughter of Dea. Jonathan and Mary Elmer of Windsor, Conn., and sister of the wife of his brother Jonathan.

He married first, in Middletown, Feb. 23, 1752, RACHEL ROBERTS, who died there Nov. 5, 1766.

He married second, June 17, 1767, MARY ALLIN, who died Apr. 17, 1788.

Children by first marriage recorded at Middletown, Conn.:

i. JOHN[6], b. Jan. 2, 1753, appears at Middletown, Conn., in the U. S. Census of 1790 as head of a family comprising one male over sixteen years, three males under sixteen years, and four females. No further information whatever has been secured of this family, but there are some reasons for believing they removed to northern Pennsylvania.

ii. MAJ.-GEN. SAMUEL, b. May 10, 1755, had a military career of nearly forty years. At the beginning of the Revolution he enlisted May 5, 1775, in Capt. Noadiah Hooker's Co., and served around Boston until Dec. 18, 1775. On Nov. 24, 1776, he enlisted for three years in Capt. Champion's Co., which served mostly on the Hudson River and was in the storming of Stony Point under Gen. Wayne. (Report of Adj.-Gen. of Conn., pp. 45, 49, 168–9.) He was promoted to sergeant in Capt. Henry Champion's Co. on Jan. 1, 1777, served as such two and a half years, and then served in the department of the quarter-master-general under Gen. Clinton until the close of the war in 1783. He was in the battles of Long Island, White Plains, Kingsbridge, Stony Point, and in Gen. Sullivan's campaign against the Indians. After the Revolution he served twenty-five years in the New York militia, attaining the rank of maj.-general.

After the Revolution he removed to Tioga Co., N. Y., and later to Broome Co., N. Y., and in the militia was successively appointed major in 1792, lieut.-colonel in 1804, brig.-general in 1808, and maj.-general in 1810; resigned in 1814. (N. Y. Council of Appointment, pp. 216, 720, 1014, 1263.) On Apr. 25, 1818, Samuel Coe aged sixty-three, of Lisle, Broome Co., N. Y., applied for a pension for his Revolutionary services as sergeant in the Conn. Line; his wife Mary aged sixty-five, and daughter Betsey aged twenty-six, are mentioned; the pension was granted Apr. 12, 1819, and he d. at Virgil, Courtland Co., N. Y., July 15, 1824. (U. S. 64. CAPT. ZECHARIAH [5] COE (Capt. Ebenezer [4] (22), Capt. John [3], Robert [2], Robert [1]), born in the old Coe homestead, Lower Main St., Stratford, Conn., Sept. 29, 1732, on becoming of age settled in the North Parish of Stratford (later Trumbull) where he became a prominent citizen. His name appears in the U. S. Census of 1790 as head of a family in Stratford with two males over sixteen years, two males under sixteen years, and four females (this enumeration evidently including also the family of his son John [6] Coe who does not appear separately).

On Dec. 28, 1760, Zechariah Coe and his wife were received into full communion in the North Stratford (Trumbull) Church, of which he was later chosen a deacon. He was successively commissioned ensign in October 1769, lieutenant in May 1773, and captain in October 1775, of the North Stratford militia (Colonial Records of Conn., 1768–1772, p. 240; and 1772–1776, pp. 87 and 155); and was in service with his company in Col. Whiting's regiment, under Gen. Sullivan, stationed at Fairfield, and Stratford, Mar. 7–Apr. 9, 1777.

In his old age Capt. Coe returned to Stratford Centre, where he died Aug. 8, 1805, aged nearly seventy-three years; both he and his wife are buried in the Congregational Church Burial Ground at Stratford.

65. CAPT. EBENEZER [5] COE (Capt. Ebenezer [4] (22), Capt. John [3], Robert [2], Robert [1]), was born July 24, 1735, in the old Coe homestead, Lower Main St., Stratford, Conn., built in 1684 by his grandfather, Capt. John[3] Coe, and to which he eventually succeeded according to the will of his father Capt. Ebenezer[4] Coe. On this estate he passed his life which was one of activity and influence like those of his father and grandfather, and like them he was a successful and prosperous farmer, and prominent in the civil, religious, and military affairs of the town. In the U. S. Census of 1790 he is given as head of a family in Stratford comprising two males over sixteen years, one male under sixteen years, and two females.

For many years Capt. Coe held the office of deacon in the Congregational church; and he was a man of fervid piety and deep religious thought. He was the author of a pamphlet of forty pages which he published with the following title: "A Present to the Unprejudiced; Being an attempt to prove that the Soul and Body of Man cannot be separated; that when the Body dies, the Soul dies also; and that at the Resurrection they both shall rise together; By a Layman; Printed by Beach and Jones, 1795; Newfield."

Ebenezer Coe was successively commissioned ensign on May 28, 1770, lieutenant on Oct. 12, 1772, and captain on Nov. 21, 1776, of the 1st (Stratford) company in the 4th regiment of Conn. militia. (Colonial Records of Conn., 1768–1772, p. 295; 1772–1775, p. 10; and 1776–1778, p. 74.) During the Revolution he fought in the battle of Long Island Aug. 27, 1776, and was taken prisoner, but two weeks later escaped. In the following spring he was badly wounded in a skirmish at Ridgefield, Conn. He left the following written narration of his Revolutionary experiences: "An account of a singular misfortune and deliverance which happened to Capt. Ebenezer Coe during the contest with Great Britain, recorded by himself. Aug. 13, 1776, marched to New York with my company, and on September 15 escaped from the enemy out of [that] place to Harlem Hills and arrived home Sept. 27, and was sick for some months. On Apr. 25, 1777, 12 o'clock at night marched to Fairfield, 26th to Danbury, 27th to Ridgefield, being Lord's Day; attacked the enemy, and received a musket ball through my head, cut off part of my right ear, and carried out my right eye. I fell as dead for a time, but recovered my thoughts after being inhumanly stabbed with a bayonet in my side and right hand, while unfeelingly by me . . . Being come to my thoughts, was insulted, abused, robbed, and threatened with instant death; but blessed be God which delivered me from death and from the hand of the enemy, which heard my cry in the heights of distress, as in the 142nd Psalm, and brought me to my house May 21. Bless the Lord, O my Soul, and forget not all his benefits! In 1781 the enemy landed on the Great Neck in Stratford, killed a valuable horse, and carried off 27 sheep from me." (Orcutt's Hist. of Stratford, vol. 1, pp. 376–7, and vol. 2, p. 1177.) The State of Conn. voted to pay his expenses while disabled, and granted him £60 for the loss of his eye. (Records of Conn., 1776–1778, p. 381.) Capt. Ebenezer Coe of Fairfield Co. of the 4th Conn. militia, was placed on the invalided pension roll of the U. S., Nov. 25, 1788. (U. S. Pension Rolls.) His injuries sustained at Ridgefield precluded further field service, but he was commissioned lieutenant of the Home Guards, Feb. 9, 1779.

Capt. Coe closed an honored life Aug. 1, 1820, aged eighty-five years, and was buried in the Congregational Church Burial Ground at Stratford. His will dated Feb. 10, 1812, probated Sept. 5, 1820, gave legacies to daughters Mary wife of John Brooks and Alice wife of James R. Edwards, and the homestead and all residue to son John Ebenezer Coe.

He married Jan. 9, 1763, SARAH (BENJAMIN) BACKUS, born Oct. 21, 1735, died Oct. 15, 1802, daughter of John and Mary (Smith) Benjamin, and widow of John Backus, all of Stratford.

John*[3], Robert[2], Robert[1]), born in the old Coe homestead on Lower Main St., Stratford, Conn., Feb. 3, 1741, always lived in his native town and was a farmer. On Jan. 27, 1763, he purchased a homestead from Daniel Foote, located on the corner of Main St. and Mitchell's Lane, on which he settled, and it is still (1910) owned and occupied by his descendants. His house was situated on the north part of this estate. He was a member of the Congregational church, and a man of exemplary life and character.

James Coe appears as private in Capt. James Booth's company of guards detached from the fourth regiment of militia and stationed at Fairfield in the spring of 1777; service eighteen days. (Conn. Hist. Soc. Coll., vol. 8, p. 181.) In the U. S. Census of 1790 he is given as the head of a family in Stratford, Conn., comprising three males over sixteen years, one male under sixteen years and three females. His will dated Jan. 29, 1790, probated Sept. 15 following, names wife Huldah, sons Josiah, Isaac, and James (of whom the latter eventually succeeded to all of his father's homestead), and daughters Phebe Birdsey, and Anne and Huldah Coe. 70. LIEUT. EBENEZER[5] COE (Benjamin[4] (26), Joseph[3], Benjamin[2], Robert[1]), born near Morristown, N. J., about 1736, renewed the covenant with the Morristown Church Mar. 12, 1763. During the Revolution he removed to western Pennsylvania, and in 1783 was taxed in Huntington Township, Westmoreland Co., Pa., for two horses, two cattle, and four sheep. On Nov. 10, 1790, he bought of his brother-in-law Edward Byram, two hundred and fifty acres on Lyon's Run, Pitt Township, which on Apr. 17, 1795, he sold to George Hanks. (Wallace Mss.) His name does not appear in the U. S. Census of 1790, his family being included under the head of his father, Benjamin[4] Coe, at "Depreciation Tract," Penn. (See ante, p. 104.) Later he lived with his sister Mrs. Williams, and with his son Stephen[6] Coe in Jefferson Co., O., and near Dalton, Wayne Co., O., where he died July 25, 1827, aged ninety years.

In a centennial address in 1875, Rev. Aaron Williams, D. D., grandnephew of Ebenezer[5] Coe, stated: "A kinsman of my own, 'father' Ebenezer Coe, was a soldier in the Revolution and in his old age made his home mostly in my grandfather's house. He was a man of fervent piety and daily had secret prayers in his chamber."

On Nov. 9, 1818, Ebenezer Coe, aged eighty, of Ross Township, Jefferson Co., O., applied for a pension for Revolutionary service, having enlisted in Washington Co., Penn., Feb. 26, 1778, as lieutenant in Capt. James Leach's Co., Col. George Baird's regiment of Penn. Line, and served eleven months. He lived in Washington Co., Penn., and Jefferson Co., O., with his sister and his son, by turns. Claim allowed. (U. S. Pension Records.)

He married Sept. 17, 1761, EUNICE JAGGAR, daughter of Samuel and Mary Jaggar of Southampton, L. I.

71. UZAL[5] COE (Benjamin[4] (26), Joseph[3], Benjamin[2], Robert[1]), baptized at Morristown, N. J., June 7, 1747, renewed the covenant with the Morristown Church Aug. 23, 1772. He was a soldier in the Revolution. (See New Jersey in the Revolution, p. 544.) During the Revolution his father and all his brothers and sisters removed to western Pennsylvania, and Uzal Coe was the only one of the large family to remain at Hanover, N. J., where he died Oct. 10, 1784; administration was given Dec. 9, 1784, to his widow Mary Coe and her brother Matthias Burnett.

He married Aug. 29, 1770, MARY BURNETT, who died at Hanover, N.J., in 1823. Her will dated Dec. 29, 1822, probated June 2, 1823, mentions son Benjamin Coe, daughters Phebe Tucker and Rachel Johnson; and Thurssa wife of Dr. Samuel Burr.

72. LIEUT. BENJAMIN[5] COE (Benjamin[4] (26), Joseph[3], Benjamin[2], Robert[1]), baptized at Morristown, N. J., Nov. 6, 1748, during the Revolution removed to western Pennsylvania with his father and brothers. As Benjamin Coe Jr. he was taxed in Pitt Township, Westmoreland Co., Penn., in 1786. His family is included under the head of his father Benjamin[4] Coe, at "Depreciation Tract," Pa., in the U. S. Census of 1790. He probably inherited his father's lands at "Coe's Station," now Tarentum, Allegheny Co., Penn., where he died about 1833. For many years he was elder of the Bull Creek Presbyterian Church.

During the Revolution he served in the Westmoreland Co. rangers, 1778–1783, under Capt. Samuel Cunningham and Ens. Moses Coe. (Penn. Archives, vol. 23, pp. 216, 308.) He also appears as lieutenant of the Washington Co. militia, in a list of Revolutionary soldiers who had received depreciation pay for their services. (Penn. Archives, series V, vol. 4, p. 395.)

His will dated May 3, 1828, recorded in 1833, names wife Margaret, sons Daniel, Benjamin, Moses, and James Coe, and daughters Jane Skillen, Rachel Miller, Margaret Critchlow, Abigail Robinson, and Phebe Green. (Will Book 4, p. 63.)

He married Mar. 26, 1775, MARGARET BIEGLE.

They resided at Tarentum, Pa., where he was a farmer and elder in the Presbyterian church. Children: Hugh, Benjamin Coe, Mary, Samuel, John S., James K., Thomas Hamilton, Margaret.

166. ix. BENJAMIN, b. Mar. 17, 1795.

73. ENS. MOSES[5] COE (Benjamin[4] (26), Joseph[3], Benjamin[2], Robert[1]), baptized at Morristown, N. J., Oct. 7, 1750, during the Revolution removed to western Pennsylvania with his father and brothers, and in 1781 was taxed in Peters Township, Washington Co., Penn., for three horses, four cattle, and four sheep. In the U. S. Census of 1790, Moses Coe of Washington Co., Penn., was head of a family of two males over sixteen years, two males under sixteen years, and four females. He was a farmer and miller, and a large landowner in Washington Co., Pa., and also acquired a tract of land in Jefferson Co., O. For many years he held the office of elder in the Presbyterian church.

During the Revolution Moses Coe served as ensign in the Westmoreland Co. rangers, and his name appears as ensign in a list of Revolutionary soldiers who had received depreciation pay for their services. (Penn.

Archives, vol. 23, p. 308, and series V, vol. 4, p. 395.) He died in Washington Co., Pa., Mar. 27, 1813, leaving a will dated Mar. 23, probated Mar. 30, 1813. In a deed in 1819 his heirs were: Benjamin Coe and wife Elizabeth, Moses Coe and wife Esther, John Gibson and wife Jane, all of Jefferson Co., O.; and Daniel Crane and wife Esther, Erasmus Allison and wife Mary, Sarah Coe, and Daniel Coe, all of Washington Co., Penn.

He married Mar. 26, 1778, SARAH HOWELL, born Oct. 18, 1753, died Apr. 6, 1813.

76. WILLIAM[6] COE (probably Robert[5] (28), Robert[4], Capt. Robert[3], Capt. John[2], Robert[1]), born probably about 1765, appears in the U. S. Census of 1790 as head of a family at Newtown, L. I., comprising one male over sixteen years, one male under sixteen years, and two females. We have not been able to secure proof of the parentage of this individual, but as he cannot be elsewhere placed it seems likely he was a son of Robert[5] and Phebe (Pettit) Coe of Newtown, although no evidence has been found to prove that this couple had any children. We presume he was the William Coe who died at Newtown, Dec. 25, 1804, as appears in the records of the old Newtown Church.

The record of his marriage has not been found, but his listing in the census of 1790 indicates that he had a family, and it seems probable that the following individuals whose marriages are recorded in the registers of the Dutch Reformed Church of Newtown, L. I., were his

78. BENJAMIN E.[6] COE (Capt. Benjamin[5] (30), Benjamin[4], Lieut. Jonathan[3], Capt. John[2], Robert[1]), born at Newtown, Long Island, June 11, 1784, was a merchant in Newtown and died there Aug. 17, 1814, aged only thirty years. On Sept. 5, 1814, administration on his estate was given to his widow Catherine and William Leverich. (Queens Co. Admons. vol. B., p. 147.)

He married about 1805, CATHERINE NOSTRAND, daughter of John Nostrand of Brooklyn; she survived her husband but a few years, dying about 1820. Her will dated Sept. 15, 1820, probated Feb. 15, 1821, directed that her two children Cornelia S. Coe and Benjamin Coe be maintained until twenty-one when they were to equally share her estate. Executors, brother-in-law Peter Sharp of New York City, and uncle William Leverich of Newtown, L. I. (Queens Co. Wills, vol. D., p. 345.)

Children born at Newtown, L. I.:

i. BENJAMIN[7], b. about 1806, was of New York City on Mar. 1, 1834, when Peter Sharp, merchant, and Christina his wife, Abraham Meserole and Cornelia S. his wife, and Benjamin Coe, all of New York City, conveyed their interests in Nostrand estates in Brooklyn. (Kings Co. Deeds, vol. 45, p. 184.) Benjamin Coe appears in the New York City Directories from 1835 to 1839, first as a jeweller and then as a tea merchant. After 1839 there is no record of him in New York, and he was probably identical with one Benjamin Estel Coe whom descendants claim was born about 1805, lived in New York City whence he removed to Washington, D. C., where he was a carriage builder 1843 to 1850, and finally located at Richmond, Va., where he d. Aug. 15, 1858.

Y., Oct. 28, 1762, as Samuel Coe Jr. appears as private in Capt. Garrett Acker's company of Orange Co. militia towards the close of the Revolution. (New York in the Revolution, p. 254.) By some error his name is omitted in the U. S. Census of 1790, and no further information of him has been found except his family record preserved in the Thompson Mss., according to which document he died Oct. 18, 1816.

He married in 1787, ELIZABETH [5] COE, born Jan. 6, 1767, died Apr. 10, 1848, daughter of Daniel [4] (17) and Rachel (Sloat) Coe.

113. WILLIAM [6] COE (William [5] (51), Ens. Robert [4], Capt. John [3], Robert [2], Robert [1]), "was born March 23d 1764, in Torringford, Litchfield County, State of Connecticut, contrary to his will, wishes, or consent," as he himself cynically states in a valuable family record that he left which descended to his great-grandson C. C. Elliott; this document gives the names of the grandparents and parents of the writer, and a full detailed record of his own family which is quoted below.

When a young man he settled in Newton, Sussex Co., N. J., where he lived some years, but finally moved to Lunenburg Co., Va., where he died at 4 o'clock P.M., Friday, Dec. 29, 1809, and was interred in the private graveyard of Mr. James Smith, according to a memorandum on his family record, made by his son W. T. M. [7] Coe.

He married first, Apr. 1, 1793, HANNAH EDSALL, born in Orange Co., N. Y., Apr. 11, 1776, died at Newton, N. J., Dec. 23, 1801, daughter of John and ——— (Minthorne) Edsall.

114. JAMES [6] COE (Dea. Joseph [5] (52), Capt. Joseph [4], Capt. John [3], Robert [2], Robert [1]), born at Middletown (now Middlefield), Conn., Nov. 19, 1740, when a young man settled in Granville, Mass., where several of his kinsmen had located, and here he acquired and improved an extensive farm and built a stone dwelling-house which he occupied until his decease Oct. 3, 1794. In the U. S. Census of 1790 James Coe of Granville, Mass., is given as head of a family of three males over sixteen years, one male under sixteen years, and four females.

In the Revolution he served as corporal from Oct. 21 to Nov. 17, 1776, in Capt. William Cooley's company, Col. John Moseley's regiment of militia which marched under the command of Lt. Col. Timothy Robinson to reinforce the northern army at Fort Ticonderoga commanded by Gen. Wayne. (Mass. Soldiers and Sailors in the Revolution.)

He married Jan. 21, 1767, RACHEL BENTON, born Jan. 26, 1743, died March 31, 1827, daughter of Ebenezer and Esther (Crittenden) Benton of North Guilford, Conn. In the Mass. Direct Tax of 1798, Rachel Coe and her son James Coe were assessed as owners and occupiers of an estate in the East Parish of Granville, consisting of a house and homelot of two acres and a farm of one hundred and ninety acres; total value $1666, one of the largest assessments in the town.

115. REV. CURTIS[6] COE (Dea. Joseph[5] (52), Capt. Joseph[4], Capt. John[3], Robert[2], Robert[1]), born in Middletown (now Middlefield), Conn., July 21, 1750, holds the distinction of being the first Coe in America to acquire a collegiate education, graduating A. B. at Rhode Island College (now Brown University) in 1776. His diploma, which is still in possession of the family, was awarded to him a few years after the establishment of the college, and is printed on ancient vellum, bearing the signatures of James Manning, the first president, and other associate officers. He then studied theology under Rev. Abner Benedict of Middletown, Conn., and is said to have served for a short time as a chaplain in the Continental army in the Revolution; and on Nov. 1, 1780, he was ordained a Congregational minister and settled as pastor of the church at Durham, N. H., in which office he continued over a quarter of a century.

Mr. Coe was employed by the town according to the old New England custom, and his salary was payable semi-annually in lawful money, but it was provided that the amount should vary with the varying prices of certain farm products named in the contract. The town meeting at which it was voted to settle him as "gospel minister" was held June 5, 1780, when it was voted that Mr. Coe should receive from the town for his annual maintenance, "The full use and improvement of the parsonage house and all the parsonage lands in said town, and a salary of seventy-five pounds, lawful money, the value of said money to be computed yearly, agreeable to the prices of the following articles, and to be more or less as the prices of said articles shall rise or fall, viz.; Indian corn at four shillings per bushel, beef at four coppers per pound, good sheared sheeps'wool at two shillings per pound, and sole-leather at a pistareen per pound; the price of said articles to be ascertained yearly, according as the most current prices of them shall be in Durham at the following periods, viz., Indian corn on the first of January, beef the middle of November, sole-leather the middle of November, and sheep's wool the first of June." Mr. Coe was enabled to maintain his family in comfort by adding to the above support furnished by the town, the income of property which came to him from other sources.

In the U. S. Census of 1790, Curtis Coe, the only representative of the family name in New Hampshire, was enrolled as the head of a family of nine persons in Durham, comprising two males over sixteen years, three males under sixteen years, and four females, this enumeration including a farmer and a maid-servant in his household.

During the later years of his pastorate the Unitarian controversy commenced to agitate New England, his church declined in strength, and unharmonious conditions resulted in his resignation and dismissal, May 1, 1806. It is a family tradition that on the occasion of preaching his farewell sermon he requested the congregation to join in singing the 120th psalm, as follows:

Thou God of Love, thou ever blest, Pity my suffering state.
When wilt thou set my soul at rest
  From lips that love deceit?

Hard lot of mine! My days are cast
  Among the sons of strife Whose never-ceasing brawlings waste
  My golden hours of life.

O, might I fly to change my place,
  How would I choose to dwell
In some wild, lonesome wilderness,
  And leave these gates of hell!

After his work at Durham was ended, he declined further settled pastoral work and soon moved to South New Market (now Newfields), N. H., where he purchased a good farm for his own homestead, and preached frequently as a missionary at various places in Maine and New Hampshire, until his decease, June 7, 1829, aged nearly seventy-nine years. "He was a good man, rigorous in doctrine and discipline, clear and impressive in his pulpit ministrations, wise in counsel, and skilful in the management of financial affairs. Six feet in height and of stalwart proportions, his bearing was dignified and his demeanor generally serious." A few of his sermons were printed.

He married in Durham, N. H., Feb. 22, 1781, ANNE THOMPSON born there Jan. 30, 1761, daughter of Hon. Ebenezer and Mary (Torr) Thompson. (Judge Thompson was educated a physician but soon abandoned practice for politics and public service in which he acquired distinction; was a representative for Durham in the New Hampshire Legislature 1766-1775 and 1786-1787; was an ardent and prominent patriot of the Revolution, serving in the State Provincial Congresses and on the Committee of Safety; served as secretary of New Hampshire 1775-1786, member of the Council 1776-1781, member of the State Senate 1787-1788, judge of the Court of Common Pleas 1787-1795 and 1796-1802, and judge of the Superior Court 1795-1796.) Mrs. Coe survived her husband but a few months, dying at South New Market (now Newfields), N. H., Oct. 10, 1829, aged sixty-eight years, and was buried beside her husband in the Newfields Cemetery near their home.

John* [3], Robert [2], Robert [1]), born at Middletown (now Middlefield), Conn., July 19, 1755, was a soldier in the Revolution. From July 12, 1775, to Sept. 29, 1775, he served in Capt. William Hubbell's company, Col. Samuel Webb's militia regiment, stationed on the Conn. coast. He immediately re-enlisted as sergeant in Capt. Elihu Hubbard's company, Col. Jedediah Huntington's Continental regiment, which took part in the siege of Boston until evacuated by the British, Mar. 17, 1776. The regiment then went to New York and on Aug. 27, 1776, was in the battle of Long Island where the American army commanded by Gen. Putnam was badly defeated. In this battle Ebenezer Coe was captured by the British and imprisoned in an old sugar house in New York City, but he managed to escape and returned to his home at Middlefield, Conn. (Report of Adj.-Gen. of Conn., pp. 83, 102.)

About 1777 Ebenezer Coe removed to New Jersey where he lived in New Market, Succasunna, Randolph Township, Morris Township, and other places near Morristown, and served also in the New Jersey forces in the Revolution. (New Jersey Soldiers in the Revolution, p. 463.) On Feb. 11, 1833, Ebenezer Coe, aged seventy-nine, of Morris Co., N. J., was pensioned for service in the Revolution as sergeant in the Conn. Line. (U. S. Pension Rolls.)

225. JOSEPH [7] COE (Rev. Curtis [6] (115), Dea. Joseph [5], Capt. Joseph [4], Capt. John [3], Robert [2], Robert [1]), born in Durham, N. H., June 1, 1782, when a youth of sixteen years established himself in business there as a saddler and dealer in saddlery and harness, and carried on the enterprise with success for some time. Later for several years he engaged in shipbuilding, and he and his associates also took ventures in sending cargoes to Europe in the seagoing vessels which they built on the coast near Durham. During most of his career, however, he was a merchant, maintaining for many years a general store in Durham, and for some time had two stores there. Besides these business pursuits he compiled and published late in life a volume entitled "The True American," a collection of patriotic selections, which attained popularity.

Mr. Coe was a man of enterprise and energy, unusual commercial ability, and honorable character, and for many years conducted an extensive and successful business. On Nov. 2, 1851, he became a member of the church in Durham, where he died Apr. 22, 1852.

He married Sept. 24, 1812, TEMPERANCE PICKERING, born Aug. 22, 1788, daughter of Richard and Mary (Thompson) Pickering of Newington, N. H.; she joined the church in Durham, Sept. 2, 1817, and died there Jan. 29, 1864.

226. EBEN[7] COE (Rev. Curtis[6] (115), Dea. Joseph[5], Capt. Joseph[4], Capt. John[3], Robert[2], Robert[1]), born in Durham, N. H., Dec. 6, 1785, started his mercantile career at the age of sixteen years as a clerk in the store of Mr. George Frost at Northwood, N. H. Two years later, in 1804, he bought out his employer and began business there for himself, his ability being recognized by the old established Haven firm of Portsmouth, N. H., who advanced him on credit a stock of general merchandise. By his energy, shrewdness, keen judgment, and integrity, he soon developed a prosperous business in which he was uniformly successful throughout an active business career of nearly forty years, during the latter part of which he was president of the Laconia Bank.

Although unambitious for political preferment, Mr. Coe was induced at times to render public service, and was elected selectman of Northwood in 1813, 14, 15, 18, 19, 21, 22, 24, 26 and 35; and in 1816, 19, 20 and 28, was representative for the town in the New Hampshire Legislature.

In his later years Mr. Coe became interested in his family history, and in 1859 reprinted the "Record of the Coe Family" (which was published in 1856 by Rev. David B. Coe, D.D. of New York), issuing a small edition and adding to it the records of his own branch of the family.

Having acquired an ample estate he retired from business at the age of sixty, and in 1846 removed to Bangor, Me., where he passed his remaining years, enjoying "otium cum dignitate," and died Oct. 26, 1862, aged nearly seventy-seven years.

He married first, Nov. 4, 1813, MEHITABLE SMITH, born June 20, 1794, died May 18, 1833, daughter of Hon. Eben and Mehitable (Sheafe) Smith of Durham, N. H. (Mr. Smith was a successful lawyer, represented Durham in the N. H. Legislature six years between 1783 and 1793, and was a member of the N. H. Council in 1788, 93, 94 and 95. His wife, Mehitable Sheafe, was descended from the leading families of Portsmouth, N. H.)

He married second, Nov. 30, 1835, MARY (UPHAM) BARKER, born in Rochester, N. H., Sept. 16, 1802, died in Bangor, Me., Dec. 4, 1893, daughter of Hon. Nathaniel and Judith (Cogswell) Upham, and widow of Hon. David Barker. (She was of distinguished New England lineage, among her ancestors being Gov. Thomas Dudley, Gov. Simon Bradstreet, Maj.-Gen. Daniel Gookin, Rev. John Cotton, Maj. Thomas Savage, Hon. Edward Tyng, Col. Joshua Wingate, Col. Thomas Cogswell, and Gen. Joseph Badger. Her father, Hon. Nathaniel Upham, was one of New Hampshire's most eminent men. In early manhood

357. HON. ISRAEL[8] COE (Abijah[7] (206), Robert[6], Jonathan[5], Ens. Robert[4], Capt. John[3], Robert[2], Robert[1]), born in Goshen, Conn., Dec. 14, 1794, had a long, strenuous, and checkered career, and became a man of mark, his native energy surmounting the handicap of the loss of his right arm in an accident in boyhood. Having received an education in the common schools supplemented by two years in Winsted Academy, for two terms he taught school, and then when eighteen years old commenced his business career as a clerk in a Torrington cotton factory where he continued a few years until the concern failed in 1820, whereupon he removed to Waterbury, Conn., where he resided some fifteen years, during the first five of which he was proprietor of a hotel and then for some ten years was successfully engaged in the manufacture of gilt buttons in the firm of Benedict and Coe.

In 1834 he sold out his interests in Waterbury and removed to Wolcottville, Torrington, Conn., where he joined with others in establishing a brass manufactory, in which business he continued for ten years with varying fortune, the great panic of 1837, foreign competition, and revolutionary changes in the methods of manufacture being embarrassments which prevented any great success in that business at that time. About 1844 he disposed of his stock in the Wolcottville Brass Co., went to Detroit, Mich., and for about ten years engaged in the banking and lumber business in that city, and then removed to New York City where he remained a decade during which he lost his fortune through the rascality of a business associate. In 1867 he removed to Bloomfield, N. J., which was his home nearly twenty years, and then he finally returned to Waterbury, Conn., where he died Dec. 18, 1891, at the great age of ninety-seven years.

Besides his business activities Mr. Coe also was occupied in public affairs. In his early years he was collector and constable in Torrington and in Waterbury, represented the latter town in the Connecticut Assembly in 1824 and 1825, and in 1843 while a resident of Wolcottville was a member of the State Senate. When over four-score years of age he was elected commissioner of deeds of Essex Co., N. J., for a five-year term. On attaining his majority in 1815 he joined the Masonic order in which he held membership over seventy-five years, at his death being the oldest Mason in Connecticut. In his later years he took considerable interest in local history and genealogy, and being endowed with a remarkably retentive memory was able to furnish much valuable information for Orcutt's History of Torrington, Conn.

Mr. Coe was a man of exceptional physical and mental vigor, good abilities, honorable principles, and great energy of character, and was the founder of the brass business which after passing through several hands and vicissitudes of fortune was eventually secured by his son, who, under more favorable conditions and greater experience combined with unusual ability, developed it to the largest concern of its kind in the country.

391. REV. DAVID BENTON [8] COE, D.D. (Dea. Oliver [7] (224), James [6], Dea. Joseph [5], Capt. Joseph [4], Capt. John [3], Robert [2], Robert [1]), born in Granville, Mass., Aug. 16, 1814, graduated at Yale College, A.B. 1837, and at the Yale Theological Seminary, B.D. 1840. During 1839 and 1840 he was a tutor in Yale College, and on Oct. 14, 1840, was ordained a Congregational minister and settled as pastor of the First Congregational Church of Milford, Conn., where he continued until Aug. 25, 1844. His next pastorate was over the Allen Street Presbyterian Church in New York City where he served from Oct. 14, 1844, to May 13, 1849, when he permanently relinquished pastoral work and devoted the remainder of his life to the missionary field. After acting some eighteen months as district secretary for New York of the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions, in Jan., 1851, he became corresponding secretary of the American Home Missionary Society in which position he served with distinction for over thirty years until his resignation in 1882, when he was appointed honorary secretary in appreciation of his long and efficient labors in which he had become widely known. In 1857 the honorary degree of D.D. was conferred upon him by Middlebury College, Vt.

During his early life Dr. Coe became much interested in the history of his family and was the first person to compile and publish a Coe genealogy, printing in 1856 a small edition of a fourteen page pamphlet entitled "Record of the Coe Family, 1596-1856," which gave a partial account of Robert [1] Coe and some of the Connecticut lines of the family, principally the descendants of Capt. Joseph [4] Coe of Durham, Conn. Besides this genealogical work, Dr. Coe was also the author of various publications on the subject of home missions.

During most of the forty years of his active career, Dr. Coe resided in New York City, but his closing years were passed in Bloomfield, N. J., where he died Feb. 13, 1895, aged eighty years.

He married in New Haven, Conn., June 6, 1841, REBECCA PHOENIX, born in New York City, Mar. 18, 1818, died there Apr. 16, 1899, daughter of Rev. Alexander and Elizabeth (Tappan) Phoenix.

392. JOSEPH WILLIAM[8] COE (Joseph[7] (225), Rev. Curtis[6], Dea. Joseph[5], Capt. Joseph[4], Capt. John[3], Robert[2], Robert[1]), born in Durham, N. H., Feb. 1, 1825, succeeded to his father's homestead in that town where he passed a long and honorable life. Successfully continuing the mercantile interests established by his father, he acquired a handsome estate (which was also augmented by inheritance from his bachelor brother Richard C.[8] Coe, a successful Boston and New York merchant); and retiring from active business his later years were occupied as a gentleman farmer and capitalist.

Mr. Coe was a man of fine mind and high character, and was greatly esteemed by his fellow-citizens. Having no political ambitions he held no public offices except that of postmaster of Durham which he sustained for twenty-three years. On May 3, 1868, he joined the Durham church of which he continued an active member until his death, Aug. 2, 1907.

He married at Lawrence, Mass., Dec. 2, 1861, HARRIET SOPHIA CHURCHILL, born in Lubec, Me., Sept. 30, 1840, daughter of Samuel and Eliza (Willett) Churchill of Cornwallis, Nova Scotia, and later of Salem, Mass.; she resides (1910) on the old Coe homestead in Durham, N. H.

He is now (1910) chemist of New Hampshire College Agricultural Experiment Station at Durham, N. H.

vii. HELEN EDITH, b. July 24, 1881, d. Mar. 9, 1885.

393. EBEN SMITH [8] COE (Eben [7] (226), Rev. Curtis [6], Dea. Joseph [5], Capt. Joseph [4], Capt. John [3], Robert [2], Robert [1]), was born in Northwood, N. H., Nov. 5, 1814. His father desired he should pass through college and take a profession, so he early acquired an excellent preparatory education, attending several terms at the academies in Gilmanton, N. H., Derry, N. H., Manchester, Vt., and Andover, Mass. His natural talents appearing pronounced in mechanical and business directions rather than in literary pursuits, a college course was relinquished; and choosing the profession of civil engineering he completed his course of study about 1838 at a private engineering school in Hartford, Conn.

At about this time the building of American railroads was commencing, and during the next few years the young engineer found desultory and irregular employment in surveying for projected railroads in New York State; but railroad development was then pursued under great difficulties on account of financial depression and the opposition of water-navigation interests, and after deep discouragements and failure to secure adequate compensation, Mr. Coe returned home to seek a more promising business opportunity.

In 1842, through his father's influence, he became manager of the investments in Maine and New Hampshire timber lands of Mr. David Pingree, a wealthy capitalist of Salem, Mass., and soon after established his home permanently in Bangor, Me. This field of business proved congenial, and for over half a century he pursued it in all its branches with unceasing concentration and energy, and with marked success, both on his own account and also in representing large interests of others. Throughout this career he enjoyed the highest reputation for integrity, far-sighted and sound judgment, keenness of perception for business opportunities, and methodical executive ability. To facilitate his lumbering operations he planned and erected early in his career the extensive dams which still control the outlets of the Rangeley Lakes in Maine, and which are now used for water storage by the large manufacturing interests on the Androscoggin River.

Although Mr. Coe acquired a large estate, his own tastes were always simple and unostentatious, and being of a philanthropic disposition he gave freely and liberally to innumerable worthy causes. He was especially interested in Coe's Northwood Academy, for several years contributing liberally to its needs, his total benefactions to this institution amounting in value to nearly $100,000. On June 29, 1900, services commemorative of his connection with this academy were held at Northwood, the proceedings of which have been published.

Mr. Coe was endowed with a fine physique, and was a gentleman of the old school; dignified but courteous and genial in manner, broad-minded and tolerant in his views, and simple and refined in his tastes and manner of life. Always enjoying excellent health he remained in business to the close of his life, and died Dec. 9, 1899 aged eighty-five.

He married Nov. 15, 1846, MARY UPHAM BARKER, born Sept. 5, 1826, daughter of Hon. David and Mary (Upham) Barker of Rochester, N. H.; she, with an infant daughter, died Mar. 27, 1849. (Her father graduated at Harvard College in 1815, and was an able lawyer, eloquent orator, and honorable politician. After representing Rochester in the New Hampshire Legislature in 1823, 25, and 26, he was elected a Member of Congress, serving from Dec. 3, 1827 to Mar. 4, 1829.)

394. HENRY WILLARD [8] COE (Eben [7] (226), Rev. Curtis [6], Dea. Joseph [5], Capt. Joseph [4], Capt. John [3], Robert [2], Robert [1]), born in Northwood, N. H., Feb. 6, 1820, was a man of adventurous disposition and unusual activity and energy. Leaving his father's home early in life to seek his fortune, he engaged in mercantile business in various places in the Eastern States and Canada, and failing to find a location well suited for mercantile pursuits, he sought a different line of work and took the management of an extensive factory for the printing of cotton goods, located in New Jersey. Lack of capital preventing a successful development of this business he relinquished it, and following the tide of westward emigration he joined a party formed for the long and hazardous journey over the unexplored region west of the Mississippi and across the Rocky Mountains to the Pacific Coast. Escaping safely from the perils of the desert and frequent attacks of hostile Indians, he finally arrived in Oregon in 1847 and entered a homestead claim near where now the city of Portland is situated. In this vicinity he remained a year or more, earning a living by any kind of work that offered, teaching school a part of the time.

When the discovery of gold in California was announced in 1849, he immediately journeyed down the coast to San Francisco and went to the mining district where he remained several years, engaging in mining and speculation with varying fortune.

In 1858, being thirty-eight years of age, he married, purchased a hop ranch in the suburbs of San Jose, California, and there established his home. The business of hop raising suited his venturesome temperament, favorable conditions producing large profits but bad seasons subjecting him to equally heavy losses. For some ten years he continued in the business with much success, raising and curing hops not only for the home market but also exporting large quantities to England. At length a series of unfavorable seasons caused his faith in hop culture to waver, and disposing of his hop ranch he purchased a farming tract of land known as Rancho San Felipe not far from the city of San Jose in which quiet place he settled and passed the remainder of his days with his family, dying there June 17, 1896, aged seventy-six years.

Mr. Coe was a man of fine personal appearance and graceful figure, six feet tall and perfectly erect even in his old age; and to the close of his life he retained remarkably his youthful appearance and activity. His mind was always alert, his conversation brilliant, his habits correct, and his character sound. With gracious and engaging manners he easily made friends wherever he went and his home exemplified the spirit of hospitality of his adopted State which he loved. In his closing years he often spoke with pride of the fact that he was one of California's earliest pioneers.

He married Nov. 10, 1858, HANNAH HUNTINGTON SMITH, born Aug. 16, 1821, daughter of Rev. Henry and Hannah T. (Huntington) Smith of Camden, N. Y., and of distinguished New England ancestry. (Her father, Rev. Henry Smith, was a native of Durham, N. H., son of Hon. Ebenezer and Mehitabel (Sheafe) Smith; graduated at Bowdoin College in 1810 and at the Andover Theological Seminary in 1815; ordained pastor at Camden, N. Y., Oct. 8, 1817, and died there July 19, 1828.) Mrs. Coe died near San Jose, Cal., Jan. 17, 1901.

Children born near San Jose, Cal.:

i. HENRY WILLARD [9], b. April 17, 1860, took a commercial course of study in San Francisco, and then with his brother Charles acquired a large tract of grazing land near San Jose, capable of sustaining about a thousand head of cattle, and they engaged in the business of raising cattle for the market. After a few years the younger brother relinquished his interest in the cattle range, but the elder has continued successfully in this business up to the present time (1910).

He married at San Jose, Cal., Aug. 21, 1905, RHODA DAWSON SUTCLIFFE, b. in Halifax, Nova Scotia, Feb. 10, 1879, daughter of Rev. Ingham and Anna (Bent) Sutcliffe. (Rev. Ingham Sutcliffe was b. in 1804 at Cowling, near Bradford, Yorkshire, England, son of Ingham and ——— (Emmott) Sutcliffe. In 1832 he became a Wesleyan missionary in Nova Scotia, where he labored during most of the remainder of his life, and died about 1885.)

Children:

1. HARRY SUTCLIFFE [10], b. in Oakland, Cal., May 30, 1906.
2. SADA SUTCLIFFE, b. in San Jose, Cal., Dec. 7, 1910.

ii. CHARLES WILLARD, b. March 31, 1863, took a special course of study at the University of California at Berkeley, and later was engaged for some time with his brother Henry in the cattle business near San Jose. Relinquishing this interest after a few years, he then gave his attention to the real estate business in which he still (1910) continues, making his home at Rancho San Felipe, formerly his father's homestead.

He m. at San Jose, Cal., June 4, 1901, LEONTINE CARTERI, b. at Santa Barbara, Cal., July 24, 1880, daughter of Leon Carteri, a native of France, and Mathilde Foxen his wife, a native of California.

Children b. near San Jose, Cal.:

1. EBEN [10], b. Oct. 10, 1902.
2. WILLARD, b. Jan. 8, 1904.
3. LEONTINE, b. June 21, 1905.
4. ROGER, b. May 2, 1907.

895. THOMAS UPHAM [8] COE, M.D. (Eben [7] (226), Rev. Curtis [6], Dea. Joseph [5], Capt. Joseph [4], Capt. John [3], Robert [2], Robert [1]), born in Northwood, N. H., Dec. 8, 1837, was eight years of age when his parents removed to Bangor, Me., which city has ever since been his home. Having received a preparatory education in the public schools of Bangor, he entered Bowdoin College where he graduated with the degree of A.B. in 1857, later receiving in course the degree of A.M. in 1860. Electing the medical profession for his career, he pursued the course at the Jefferson Medical College of Philadelphia where he received the degree of M.D. in 1861, and then continued his studies for two years in Paris, attending the hospital clinics and the lectures at the École de Médicine.

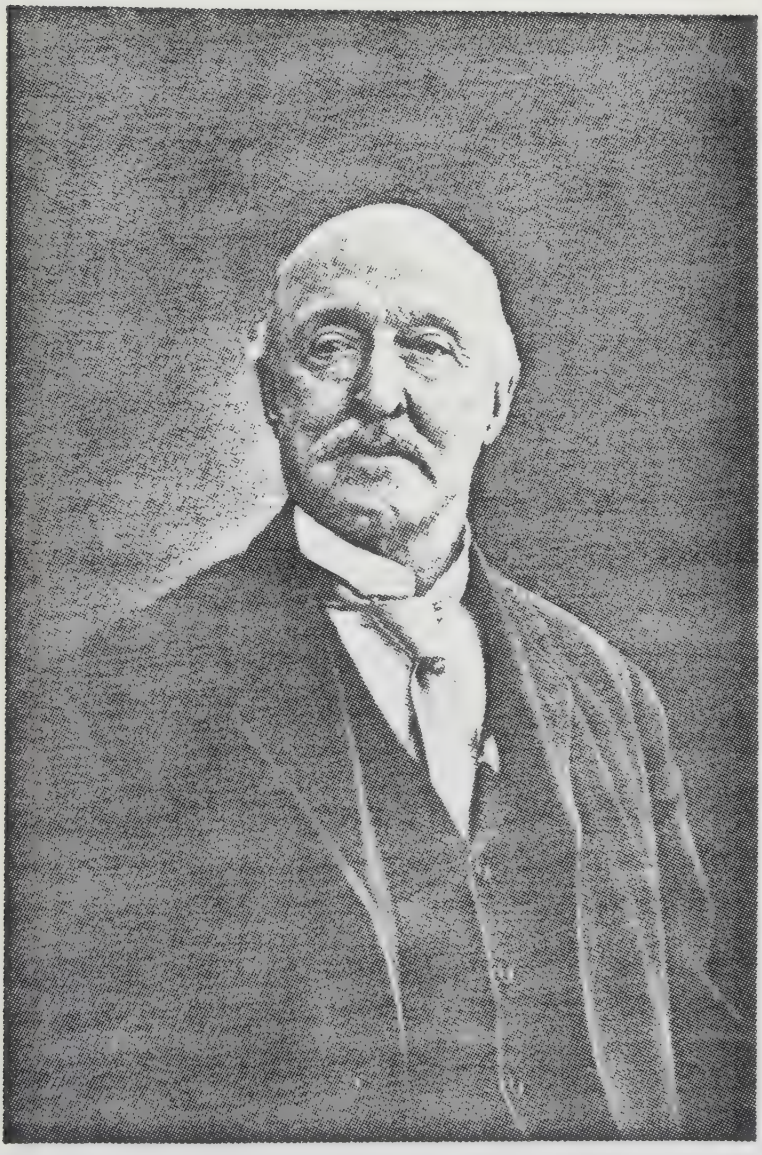
Returning to Bangor in 1864 he commenced the active practice of his profession in which he continued successfully for about fifteen years, and then relinquished it in order to give better attention to the management of the business interests which devolved upon him. Relief from the exacting duties of the medical profession enabled him also to indulge occasionally his taste for travel.

Although political work has no attraction for him and he has never desired or held any political offices, Dr. Coe has continually rendered civic service in various directions. In his professional line he has been connected with the American Medical Association, the County Medical Society, the Maine State Medical Association and the Maine State Sanatorium. He also served for many years as a trustee of the Bangor Public Library and a member of the City School Board and City Water Board.

In the financial affairs of Eastern Maine he is actively interested, having the care of a considerable area of timber land in Maine and New Hampshire and city real estate in Bangor and elsewhere. He is president of the Bangor Opera House Association, a trustee of the Penobscot Co. Savings Bank, a director of the Merrill Trust Co. of Bangor, a director of the Bangor and Aroostook R.R. Co., a director of the European and North American R.R. Co., and a director of the Orono Pulp and Paper Co.

Dr. Coe is a member of the Maine Historical Society, the Bangor Historical Society, the New England Historic Genealogical Society, the American Association for the Advancement of Science, the National Geographical Society, and the Academy of Political and Social Science. He is connected with the Tarratine Club of Bangor, the Alpha Delta Phi Club of New York and the Moosehead Lake Yacht Club of Kineo, Maine.

He has always been much interested in the history and genealogy of the Coe family, and was vice-president for Maine of the Coe Association. Appreciating the valuable research work done in this connection by David Coe of Stratford, Connecticut, and other persons of Coe descent, and desiring that the results of their labor should be preserved and extended to completion, he favored and aided the compilation and publishing of this volume.



Thomas Upham Pine, M. D.

He married at Bangor, Maine, May 23, 1867, SADA LOANTHA HARTHORN, born in Milford, Me., July 17, 1849, daughter of Paul Dudley and Loantha (Wyman) Harthorn. (Mr. Harthorn was a descendant of Gov. Thomas Dudley and Gov. Joseph Dudley, early Colonial magistrates of Massachusetts. He was a successful manufacturer of lumber, a man of high character, and was greatly esteemed by the community in which he lived.)

Child:

i. DUDLEY [9], b. in Bangor, Me., Dec. 31, 1873, d. there June 19, 1887.

396. CURTIS SAMUEL [8] COE (John [7] (227), Rev. Curtis [6], Dea. Joseph [5], Capt. Joseph [4], Capt. John [3], Robert [2], Robert [1]), born at Center Harbor, N. H., July 12, 1824, succeeded to the proprietorship of the "Senter House," a favorite summer hotel in that town, which formerly had been managed by his father and by his grandfather Senter. For many years he continued as host of this establishment and then retiring from active business he removed to Attleboro, Mass., where his children had located, and died there Nov. 10, 1892. He was a man of firm convictions and upright character.

He married Mar. 28, 1850, LAURA MERRILL, born in Franklin, N. H., Nov. 1, 1824, daughter of Dr. Jesse and Sarah (Johnson) Merrill of Franklin, N. H., and Hopkinton, Mass.; she died at Center Harbor, N. H., Dec. 16, 1888.

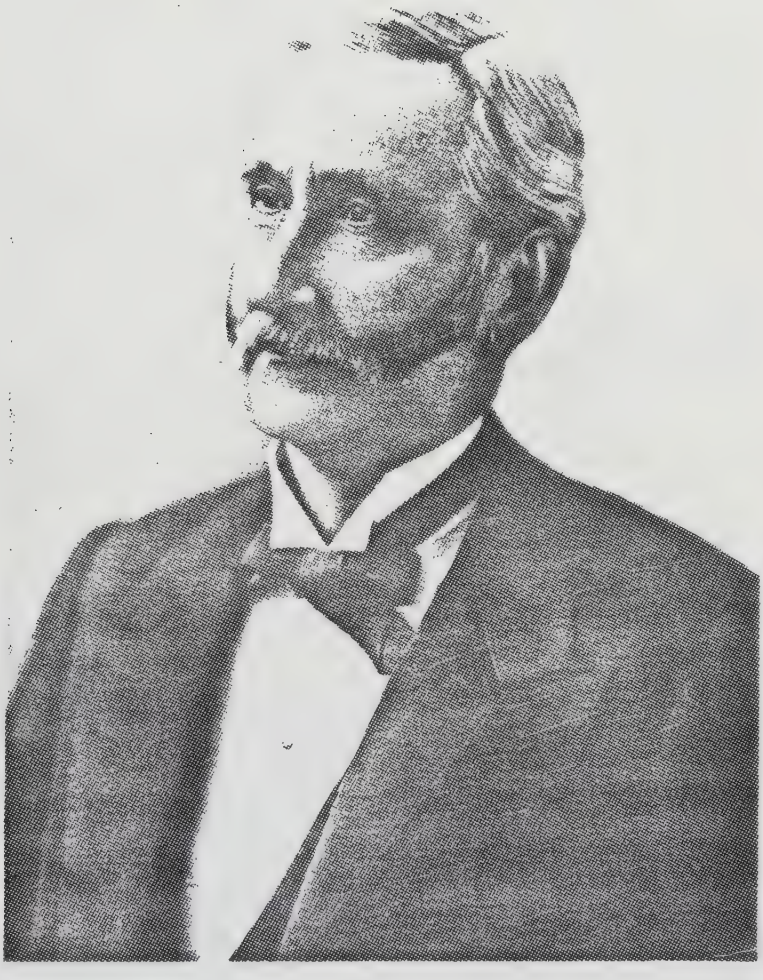
426. HON. LEVI ELMORE[8] COE (Col. Levi[7] (252), Eli[6], Capt. David[5], Capt. Joseph[4], Capt. John[3], Robert[2], Robert[1]), born in Middlefield, Conn., June 6, 1828, received a good education at Post's and Chase's Academies, and when eighteen years of age became a schoolteacher which occupation he followed during the eight years from 1846 to 1854. In the latter year he settled in Meriden, Conn., which was his home during the remainder of his life and where his abilities and worth were quickly appreciated by his fellow citizens, by whom he was continually chosen for positions of trust and responsibility in financial, political, and civic affairs.

Upon locating in Meriden in 1854 he entered into the real estate business in which he was engaged for half a century, and was also appointed treasurer of the Meriden Savings Bank, holding the latter position until 1881 when he was elected president of the bank and continued in that office for twenty-two years until his death. In 1899 he was elected president also of the Meriden National Bank, of which he had been a director since 1862, and this position also he held at the time of his decease.

For nearly forty years Judge Coe was continually in the public service holding a great variety of offices. After serving five years as registrar of vital statistics, twenty-three years as a justice of the peace, eighteen years as judge of the Meriden City Court, and several years as town clerk, judge of probate, and water-commissioner, in 1894 he was elected mayor of Meriden and was re-elected in 1896 and 1897, filling all these various positions with ability and distinction. Throughout his life he was much interested in promoting scientific agriculture and for years was secretary of the Farmers' Club, president of the Meriden Poultry Association, president of the Meriden Agricultural Association, secretary and treasurer of the Conn. Agricultural Society, and a member of the Conn. State Board of Agriculture. He was also a prominent Mason and Knight Templar, for some time was president of the Meriden Historical Society, and for forty-five years was a vestryman of St. Andrew's Episcopal Church.

In the history and genealogy of his family Judge Coe had a deep and lasting interest, and he compiled and published in 1897 the "Coe-Ward Memorial," a hundred and thirty-six page history of his own branch of the Coe family and of the various allied families from which he was descended. In 1898 when Mr. David[8] Coe (No. 506) of Stratford, Conn., made a proposal to compile a history of all the descendants of Robert[1] Coe and to form a Coe Association for furthering that purpose, Judge Coe gave his hearty support to the undertaking, was elected treasurer and chairman of the executive committee of the association, and for several years gave much personal time in preparing the records of the Middlefield and Meriden branches of the family which he turned over to Mr. David Coe. His love of kindred and home associations as well as his public spirit is further exemplified by his gift in 1893 of a handsome public library building to his native town of Middlefield, Conn.



Hon. Levi P. Coe

Judge Coe was a man of marked and varied abilities, strong intellect, sound judgment, cultured refinement, and the highest integrity of character. His financial career of half a century was conducted on the conservative lines of the old school of strict integrity, unsullied by any methods of "frenzied finance"; his long record in civic and political service was one of honorable distinction; and at his death on Nov. 2, 1903, there passed away one of Meriden's foremost citizens.

He married Nov. 27, 1851, SOPHIA FIDELIA HALL, born Apr. 6, 1829, daughter of Harley and Martha (Cone) Hall of Middlefield, Conn.; she still (1910) resides in Meriden, Conn. Like her husband, Mrs. Coe has long been interested in the history of her ancestors, and she compiled a large volume concerning them entitled "Memoranda Relating to the Ancestry and Family of Sophia Fidelia Hall," which was published in 1902.

506. DAVID [8] COE (Dennis [7] (312), James [6], James [5], Capt. Ebenezer [4], Capt. John [3], Robert [2], Robert [1]), was born Nov. 28, 1844, in a house situated on the northern part of the homestead in Stratford, Conn., acquired in 1763 by his great-grandfather James [5] Coe. His education was obtained in the public schools and academy of his native town, and after graduation he taught for a few years in the public schools of Stratford. In 1868 he relinquished teaching, and removing to New York City entered the employ of the New York News Company as cashier and bookkeeper of the city department, this company later being incorporated with the American News Company. For twenty-five years Mr. Coe continued in this position, residing in Brooklyn, N. Y., until 1894, and then retiring from business he returned with his family to his native town of Stratford, Conn., where he has since made his home, his time being largely occupied with the duties of various town offices which he has held for several years.

Many years ago Mr. Coe became interested in the history of his family and gradually collected data on the Coes of Stratford and other families from which he is descended. After his retirement from business in New York City and return to Stratford, he decided to devote himself to the compilation of a comprehensive history and genealogy of the Coe family, and to further this object he initiated in the spring of 1898 the formation of the Coe Association which was soon organized with the following officers: President, Rev. Edward B. Coe, D.D., of New York City; Vice-presidents, Ernest E. Coe, Esq., of Newark, N. J., and twenty other members of the family; Treasurer, Hon. Levi E. Coe of Meriden, Conn.; Secretary, David Coe of Stratford, Conn.; Executive Committee, Hon. Levi E. Coe of Meriden, Conn., Hon. Edward T. Coe of Torrington, Conn., Ernest E. Coe, Esq., of Newark, N. J., Hon. Lyman A. Mills of Middlefield, Conn., Andrew M. Camp of Durham, Conn., Miss Emma Camp Savage of Meriden, Conn., and Mrs. Ellen Coe Rylance of New York City.

This Coe Association raised about $250 for the printing of blanks and circulars and for postage, and Mr. David Coe volunteered to perform the work of compilation and immediately entered upon this arduous undertaking. For nearly five years much of his time was devoted to this work which he pursued with unremitting zeal and patience and careful accuracy, collecting mostly by correspondence the records of nearly three thousand descendants of Robert [1] Coe born of the name, and of many others descended in female lines. In 1903 Mr. Coe suspended his collecting as there then appeared no means for publication, so the work lay dormant for about six years until the spring of 1909 when the present editor undertook the compiling, editing, and publishing of a genealogy of the family. Thereupon Mr. David Coe turned over to the editor of this volume all his collections embracing the results of the labors of himself and of several other members of the Coe Association, which collections furnished the editor with material suitable for a foundation for the genealogy of the family in America. All members of the Coe family are deeply indebted to Mr. David Coe for his long and pains-

509. ERNEST EUGENE [8] COE (Joseph Davis [7] (314), Sayers [6], Benjamin [5], Benjamin [4], Benjamin [3], Benjamin [2], Robert [1]), born in Newark, N. J., Feb. 14, 1841, was educated in the public schools of his native city and at Newark Wesleyan Institute (now Newark Academy). He then read law in the office of David A. Hayes, and in Feb. 1862 was admitted an attorney-at-law, and in Feb. 1865 a counsellor-at-law of the Essex County bar, and actively pursued the practice of his profession in Newark until within a few months of his decease, which took place May 25, 1910, in his seventieth year.

From early manhood to the close of his life Mr. Coe was deeply interested in historical, antiquarian, and genealogical matters. On Jan. 31, 1864, he was elected a member of the New Jersey Historical Society, and for forty years was an influential factor in its work, holding for extended periods the offices of trustee, treasurer, recording secretary, and chairman of the membership committee, serving in all these positions with efficient zeal. In the preservation, compilation, and publication of the historical records of the State of New Jersey he was a prominent figure, and he was also largely instrumental in obtaining for the New Jersey Historical Society their present building in West Park St. Under the nom de plume "Antiquary" he was for several years a frequent and authoritative contributor of articles on historical subjects to newspapers and periodicals. He was also one of the organizers of the Revolutionary Memorial Society, and was a member of the Sons of the American Revolution.

Over thirty years ago Mr. Coe commenced to compile a genealogy of the New Jersey branches of the Coe family and collected a large amount of material, copies of which he gave about 1892 to Mr. Charles D. Coe who was then attempting to compile a complete genealogy of the family; and after the failure of the latter's undertaking, Mr. Coe joined enthusiastically in the compilation started in 1898 by the Coe Association of which he was a vice-president and member of the executive committee, turning over all his material to Mr. David Coe of Stratford, Conn., the secretary and compiler of the Association, which material has been incorporated into this volume.

For many years Mr. Coe was a director and the treasurer of the Newark Library Association, and treasurer and trustee of the High St. Presbyterian Church of Newark. He was a man of handsome physique, strong intellect, deep religious convictions, and exalted character, sustaining throughout a long, honorable, and useful life an umblemished reputation and the esteem of the community in which he lived.

He married Sept. 6, 1870, JULIA PATTERSON BURNET, born in Newark, N. J., May 3, 1846, died there Feb. 14, 1910, daughter of Jacob Halsted and Charlotte A. (Coe) Burnet.

540. HON. LYMAN WETMORE [9] COE (Hon. Israel [8] (357), Abijah [7], Robert [6], Jonathan [5], Ens. Robert [4], Capt. John [3], Robert [2], Robert [1]), born in Torrington, Conn., Jan. 20, 1820, was taken in infancy by his parents in their removal to Waterbury, Conn., where he passed his boyhood and was educated in the common schools, the Waterbury High School, and Morris Academy. In 1834 his parents returned with their children to Torrington, and he soon commenced his business career as a mercantile clerk in which occupation he continued some six years. In 1841 he was appointed secretary of the Wolcottville Brass Co. (of which his father was founder and president), which office he held about four years, and then resigned and sold out his interests to undertake the management of the Waterbury Brass Co. to which city he removed and with which company he continued for eighteen years with great success.

Having acquired sufficient capital for personal enterprise, in 1863 Mr. Coe severed his connection with the Waterbury Brass Co. and for $40,000 purchased all the property of the old Wolcottville Brass Co. founded by his father in 1834 and which had in thirty years passed through various hands and, at times fairly prosperous, had then become demoralized. With this property as a basis he formed the Coe Brass Manufacturing Co., at first with a capital of $100,000, of which he was president and held the controlling interest for thirty years until his death. By his great ability coupled with long experience and ample capital the business was rapidly developed to large proportions, has become the largest concern of its kind in the country, and through it Mr. Coe had acquired a large fortune at the time of his decease, Feb. 9, 1893.

Although engrossed in large business interests, Mr. Coe at times held public office, being a member of the Conn. Assembly in 1845 and 1858, and a member of the State Senate in 1862 and from 1877 to 1882. He was a member of several organizations including the Union League Club of New York City and the New York Yacht Club.

Mr. Coe was a man of great business ability, phenomenal organizing genius, liberal public spirit, and of energetic, enterprising, and honorable character. In the material growth and prosperity of Torrington he was the most prominent factor.

He married Nov. 3, 1841, ELIZA SEYMOUR, born May 25, 1820, daughter of Samuel and Lura (Taylor) Seymour.

Children born in Waterbury, Conn.:

i. ADELAIDE ELIZA [10], b. Oct. 29, 1845, m. at Wolcottville, Conn., Oct. 31, 1866, WILLIAM H. K. GODFREY, b. in Coventry, Conn., May 14, 1839, son of Clement Jennings and Mary B. (Cooley) Godfrey. Mr. Godfrey was paymaster of Wallace and Sons of Ansonia, Conn., and later of the Coe Brass Manufacturing Co. of Torrington, Conn., and they resided in Waterbury, Union City, Torrington, and Litchfield, all in Conn. Child: Mary.

ii. HON. EDWARD TURNER, b. June 1, 1848, received his education at a private school in Waterbury, Conn., the Gunnery School in Washington, Conn., and Gen. Russell's School in New Haven, Conn. Removing in 1863 with his parents to Torrington, Conn., he commenced his business career there three years later, entering the employ of the Coe Brass Manufacturing Co. of which his father was founder and president. After a training in the workshops in the practical side of the business, he entered the offices of the company as bookkeeper, and a few years later became treasurer of the corporation in which office he continued over thirty-five years until 1907, when he retired from business and removed to New Haven, Conn., where he d. Oct. 5, 1909.

Upon the consolidation of various brass manufacturing concerns into the American Brass Company Mr. Coe became a director in this corporation; and he was also a director of the Torrington Water Co. and a trustee of the Torrington Savings Bank. For many years he was a vestryman of the Episcopal church in Torrington, and he was also prominent in Masonic circles being a member of Seneca Lodge of Torrington and of the Royal Arch Chapter. He took an interest in the history of the Coe family and was a member of the executive committee of the Coe Association. In 1886 Mr. Coe represented Torrington in the Conn. Assembly, and in 1905 was elected state senator from the thirtieth district.

He m. Oct. 9, 1873, LILLIE A. WHEELER, b. Apr. 10, 1855, daughter of Amos and Martha (Chidsey) Wheeler of Avon, Conn.; she resides (1910) in New Haven, Conn. They had no children.

iii. ELLA SEYMOUR, b. Feb. 23, 1854, resides (1910) in Litchfield, Conn.

541. WILLIAM HENRY [9] COE (Hon. Israel [8] (357), Abijah [7], Robert [6], Jonathan [5], Ens. Robert [4], Capt. John [3], Robert [2], Robert [1]), born in Waterbury, Conn., Jan. 17, 1824, passed his boyhood in that town and in Torrington, Conn., where he received a common school education.

In 1844 he accompanied his father in the latter's removal to Detroit, Mich., and a year later spent several months at Eagle Harbor, near the extreme northern point of Michigan, in connection with some copper mines in which his father became interested. About the time of his marriage (1846) he located in Waverly, Ill., where he engaged in flour-milling for nearly four years, but in 1850 returned to Eagle Harbor, Mich., remaining there four years as manager of the copper mines. In 1853 he came East and settled in Torrington, Conn., where he resided about six years and kept a general store, being also postmaster there from 1854 to 1858. His next venture was a general store in Birmingham, Conn., where he resided during the Civil War, and then disposing of this interest in 1865 he went for a third time to Eagle Harbor, Mich., as agent of the copper companies; but the mines proving unproductive he soon relinquished this connection and removed to Appleton, Wis., where he remained about eight years, occupied in the insurance business and in superintending railroad construction. In 1873 he settled in Volusia County, Florida, and engaged in orange culture there until his death, Oct. 23, 1879, also holding the position of deputy-collector of customs at New Smyrna, Fla.

Mr. Coe was of energetic but roving disposition, and was esteemed as an honorable and public spirited citizen. The place of his decease in Florida was named "Glencoe" in his honor.

He married Nov. 11, 1846, DEBORAH LITTLE ARCHER, born Sept. 1, 1824, daughter of John Woodwell and Deborah H. (Little) Archer of Salem and Beverly, Mass.; she is still (1909) living in Washington, D. C., in excellent health and with unimpaired faculties, in her eighty-sixth year.

Children:

i. FREDERICK ARCHER [10], b. in Alton, Ill., Aug. 12, 1847, was an expert telegraph operator, being one of the first to operate by sound, and was also a talented musician. He resided in various parts of the United States and was finally located in La Harpe, Ill., where he d. Apr. 23, 1883, unm.

iii. CHARLES HENRY, b. in Torrington, Conn., Feb. 3, 1856, lived during boyhood in his native town, in Birmingham, Conn., and in Appleton, Wis., receiving a common school education and learning the printer's trade. In 1873 he went to Florida with his parents and after a few years' employment with newspapers in Jacksonville, Fla., in 1877 he established the "Florida Star" at New Smyrna, Fla., which he published for three years, and then succeeded his father as deputy collector of customs at that port. Resigning this post about 1885 he was next employed for about three years by the American Publishing Company of Hartford, Conn., and then in 1888 went to Highlands, Macon Co., North Carolina, where he established the "Highlands Star." In 1891 he removed to Washington, D. C., and took a position in the U. S. Government Offices where he still (1909) continues.

Mr. Coe is well versed in archæology and natural history, has written numerous articles on these subjects for scientific magazines, and has gathered a valuable and interesting private collection of Indian relics. He is the author of "Red Patriots: the Story of the Seminoles" (published in 1898), an interesting work which attracted much attention and favorable comment. He is also much interested in historical and genealogical matters, is a member of the Maryland Original Research Society and of the Columbia Historical Society of Washington, D. C., and is compiling some historical works. His interest in the Coe Genealogy has been enthusiastic, he has assisted in its compilation, and was a vice-president of the Coe Association.

John* [3], Robert [2], Robert [1]), born in Randolph, Portage Co., Ohio, July 7, 1827, was brought up in her native town and received a superior education. When twenty years of age she married Edwin Hillyer and two years later in 1850 they settled in Waupun, Wis., which still (1910) continues to be her home, and where for three score years she has been the leader in the social and religious life of the town, and active in literary, charitable, and temperance work and in other good causes. She has traveled extensively in the United States and in recent years has passed the winters in the genial climate of St. Petersburg, Florida, thus permitting her to enjoy throughout the whole year the bloom of nature in which she delights.

For many years Mrs. Hillyer has been investigating the history of her ancestors and is a member of the Daughters of the American Revolution. Especially interested in her Coe and Spelman lineages, she has rendered valuable assistance in compiling her branches for the genealogies of these two distinguished families. Although in her eighty-fourth year she enjoys excellent health, her faculties are unimpaired, and she continues vigorously active in the duties and pleasures of life.

She married Apr. 4, 1848, CAPT. EDWIN HILLYER, born in Atwater, Portage Co., Ohio, Sept. 30, 1825, son of Daniel and Charity (Loomis) Hillyer, and their union in wedlock was extended over sixty years. Capt. Hillyer was educated in the public schools and in the academy of Farmington, O. A few months after his marriage the discovery of gold in California lured him thither, and in the Spring of 1849 he went to Sacramento but remained but a year, and returning to Ohio in 1850 he removed with his bride to Waupun, Wis., where they permanently settled and for over a half century he engaged successfully in the fire

John* [3], Robert [2], Robert [1]), born in Waupun, Wis., Nov. 4, 1857, when three years old was taken by his parents in their removal to Morristown, Minn., which was his home until attaining manhood. His education was obtained in the public schools and in a partial course at the University of Minnesota, and choosing the medical profession he began its study under his father and supplemented this instruction by attending lectures at the University of Michigan in 1877 and 1878 and at the Long Island College Hospital, graduating from the latter institution with the degree of M.D. in 1880. Locating in Mandan, North Dakota, he commenced the practice of his profession and quickly acquired success and prominence, attaining the positions of division surgeon of the Northern Pacific R.R., supt. of the Dakota State Board of Health, president of the Dakota State Medical Society, and representative to the Dakota Legislature in 1885.

Desiring a wider field for his activities, in 1891 Dr. Coe removed to Portland, Ore., where he immediately became a prominent citizen and has been an influential factor in the phenomenal growth of that metropolis of the Northwest. As a physician he has specialized in nervous disorders, taking post-graduate courses in this line in various American institutions supplemented by an extensive tour in Europe in investigating nervous sanitariums, and in 1893 he established at Mt. Tabor the "Crystal Springs Sanitarium for Nervous Diseases" of which he is proprietor and medical director; he has also been professor of anatomy and professor of nervous and mental diseases in Willamette Medical College, Portland, Ore. In his profession he has become widely known, being ex-president of the Portland Medical Society, the Multonah County Medical Society and the Oregon State Medical Society, ex-president of the American Medical Editors Association, and publisher of the Medical Sentinel since 1892. He is a life member of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, a member of the Portland Chamber of Commerce and of the Arlington and Commercial Clubs, and also holds membership in several other social and business organizations. In religion his affiliations are with the Congregational denomination.

Besides his professional activities, Dr. Coe is also prominent in the financial and political affairs of the Northwest. He is president of the First National Bank of St. Johns, Ore., president of the First National Bank of Kelso, Wash., vice-president of the Scandinavian-American Bank of Portland, Ore., director of the Scandinavian-American Savings Bank of Astoria, Ore., one of the proprietors of the Coe-Furnish Irrigation Project of Stanfield, Ore., and also has extensive mining interests. Always an active Republican he was a delegate to the Republican National Conventions at Chicago in 1904 and 1908, and in 1906 and 1907 was a member for Portland in the State Senate of Oregon. During his residence in North Dakota he was a neighbor and became an intimate friend of Col. Theodore Roosevelt, then a ranchman there, and during the presidency of the latter Dr. Coe was the confidential representative of his interests in Oregon.

He married June 24, 1882, VIOLA MAY BOLEY, born in Bourbon, Ind., Apr. 20, 1863, daughter of Hon. Elijah and Sarah (Llewellyn) Boley. Mrs. Coe graduated with the degree of M.D. at the Women's Medical College of Chicago, Ill., but has not practiced since her removal to Oregon, giving much of her attention to literary and philanthropic work, being particularly interested in the Home for Unemployed Women in Portland, Ore.

Children:

i. GEORGE CLIFFORD [11], b. in Mandan, No. Dak., Jan. 17, 1885, graduated at Portland Academy and at Leland Stanford University, A.B. in 1908. During 1909 he attended the Harvard College Medical School but abandoned medicine to engage in fruit raising and is now (1910) proprietor of an extensive orchard near Stanfield, Ore., of which city he was the first mayor.

ii. WAYNE WALTER, b. in Portland, Ore., Oct. 10, 1894.

iii. EARLE ALPHONSO, b. in Portland, Ore., Aug. 7, 1896.

MISCELLANEOUS COE FAMILIES

JOHN COE OF STAMFORD, GREENWICH, AND RYE, AND SOME OF HIS DESCENDANTS

1. JOHN[1] COE*, the progenitor in New England of the family herewith treated, was born in England as early as 1622. As his first appearance in America was in 1641 at Stamford, Conn., where Robert[1] Coe was then located, it would seem probable he was related to the latter, and perhaps he was identical with the John Coe baptized at Stoke Nayland, co. Suffolk, England, Apr. 14, 1622, son of Henry[0] and Hester (Nyce) Coe, this Henry[0] Coe of Stoke Nayland being own cousin to Robert Coe the Puritan colonist of New England. (See ante, p. 62.)

John[1] Coe first appears in Stamford, Conn., in 1641, and the following mentions of him appear in the records of that town:

Dec. 7, 1641. Jo Coe was granted a house-lot of two acres and a wood lot of three acres, several others receiving grants of lots at the same time.

Sept. [1642 ?] "Jo Coe his rate due to the town 13 sh. 8 d.," his name thus appearing in a tax list.

Apr. 25, 1647. "John Coo complayns agt Daniel Fenc [Finch] for destarbing ye ordnance of God on a Saboth Daye."

May 3, 1649. "At a Court: A Compleaynt by Humfry Trembe [Turner ?] agt Mark Menlove for prophaning ye name of God by oths, swaring 'by God's blood I think the devills in it.' Testimony of John Coo yt Mark Menlov upon ye selling of a chesill sayd before God he would have his paye."

May 13, 1651. "Witness an agreement or barging bettween John Coe the on pty and Ellyas Baylly ye other pty, that ye said John Coe

* The "History of Rye" and other works have erroneously made this John[1] Coe to be identical with Capt. John[2] Coe (Robert[1]); but contemporary records show that John[1] Coe was a resident at Rye then under Conn. jurisdiction, at the same time that Capt. John[2] Coe (Robert[1]) was a resident at Newtown, L. I., under New York jurisdiction.

The appended reproductions of signatures of Capt. John[2] Coe of Newtown, L. I., and of John[1] Coe of Rye, indicate two separate individuals.

In 1649 John[1] Coe joined with others in Stamford in settling Greenwich, Conn., and appears in a list of inhabitants there Sept. 18, 1649. (N. Y. Gen. and Biog. Rec., vol. 11, p. 16.) After about ten years stay in Greenwich, John Coe and others bought of the Indians Manursing Island (now City Island off Rye, N. Y.) and also land in Rye, whither they removed and afterwards resided as appears from the following records:

June 29, 1660. Peter Disbrow, John Coe, and Thomas Studwell "all living at this present at Greenwige" bought Manursing Island of the Indians, and a few weeks later settled on the island. (" History of Rye," pp. 10, 19-21.)

Nov. 8, 1661. John Coe was witness on a deed of lands in Rye bought from the Indians by the settlers on Manursing Island. (Ibid. pp. 13-14.)

June 2, 1662. John Coe, Peter Disbrow, Thomas Studwell, and John Budd bought from the Indians lands north of Rye. (Ibid. p. 15.)

July 26, 1662. John Coe appears in a list of the inhabitants of Manursing Island who took the oath of allegiance to King Charles II. (Ibid. p. 23.)

Mar. 26, 1663. John Coe appears on a petition of the inhabitants of Manursing Island and Rye to the Conn. government, requesting the appointment of officers there. (Ibid. p. 25.)

April 28, 1663. Peter Disbrow, John Coe, Thomas Studwell, and John Budd conveyed Manursing Island and Rye to another syndicate consisting of Samuel Allen, Richard Vowles, Philip Galpin, Thomas Applebee, William Odell, John Brondige and John Coe. (Ibid. p. 26.)

Aug. 1663. John Coe was proprietor of two lots among thirteen lots of salt meadow on Manursing Island.

Dec. 8, 1666. John Coe sold land in Rye to Hackaliah Brown. (Records of Rye, vol. B., p. 3.)

In 1668 John Coe sold to Stephen Sherwood his house and home lot on the north end of Manursing Island, and moved to the mainland in Rye, but kept his meadow lots on the island. (History of Rye, p. 407.)

Oct. 1669. It was reported to the Conn. General Court that the people of Rye had no "orthodox" minister but were "satisfyed without one, in the improvement of John Coe and Marmaduke Smith, who both are represented to this Court as persons unsound and heterodox in their judgements if not scandalous in their lives," etc. The court directed that the magistrate of Fairfield County summons Coe and

Smith and "examine" them, to preclude opportunity "to sowe the seede of error among the people there." [Probably they had expressed Quaker sentiments.] (Colonial Records of Conn., 1665-1678, p. 120.)

In 1672 John Coe was proprietor of salt meadow lots Nos. 5 and 9 on Manursing Island.

Sept. 5, 1685. John Coe subscribed 10 sh. towards the salary of the minister at East Chester, N. Y.

The later history of John [1] Coe has not been learned and no records of his marriage and family can be found; but it can hardly be doubted that he was father of the two children given below and perhaps of others.

Children:

i. HANNAH [2], b. about 1655, d. about 1700; m. about 1683, CAPT. TITUS HINMAN, b. in Stratford, Conn., in Jan. 1655-6, son of Edward and Hannah (Stiles) Hinman. They were among the early settlers of Woodbury, Conn., where he d. Apr. 5, 1736.

Children (HINMAN):

1. EPHRAIM HINMAN, bapt. July 26, 1685.
2. JOSEPH HINMAN, bapt. in June 1687.
3. ANDREW HINMAN, bapt. in Apr. 1690, m. in Aug. 1711, MARY NOBLE, bapt. Oct. 16, 1692, daughter of John and Mary (Goodman) Noble. Children: Andrew, Hannah, Coe, Mary, Margaret, Aaron, Nathan, Elisha, Noble.
4. TITUS HINMAN, bapt. in June 1695.

2. ii. ANDREW, b. about 1660.

2. ANDREW [2] COE (John [1]), born about 1660, first appears in 1679 as a witness on a deed in Stratford, Conn. In 1680 he was a witness on a deed in Rye, N. Y., where he resided thereafter, also owning meadow lots on Manursing Island. ("Hist. of Rye," p. 408.)

The records of Rye have the following mentions of him: Land granted to Andrew Coe at Port Chester, N. Y., Feb. 27, 1698-9. His house in Rye is mentioned in 1699 as near Fox Island. He was townsman in 1701, sergeant in 1705, and on Jan. 9, 1710-11 was appointed a vestryman of Christ Church. In 1708 land was laid out to him at Port Chester. His later history has not been learned but he died before 1713, and was probably the only son of John [1] Coe, at least that left issue.

He married about 1685, DEBORAH LYON, daughter of Thomas and Mary (Hoyt) Lyon of Rye, N. Y.; she married second, WILLIAM PROBY of Rye, who in his will dated Feb. 26, 1731-2, names his stepdaughters and their husbands. (Westchester County Wills, p. 59.)

Children born in Rye, N. Y.:

i. SAMUEL [3], b. about 1685, had land at Port Chester laid out to him in 1713 in right of Andrew Coe. In 1715 his ear mark for cattle was assigned him and in 1718 he had further land laid out to him and also was fence-viewer. He d. without issue about 1720, and probably never married. His will dated Jan. 23, 1719-20 probated Jan. 23, 1724-5, names his mother Deborah Coe, brothers John Coe and Jonathan Coe, brother-in-law Nathan Kniffen, and sisters Phebe, Mary, and Hannah Coe. (New York Historical Society Collections, vol. 35, pp. 89-90.)

ii. DEBORAH, m. NATHAN KNIFFEN.
3. iii. JOHN, b. about 1690.
iv. JONATHAN, b. about 1695, lived in Rye, N. Y., and with his brother John sold in 1720 to Samuel Brown the salt meadow lots on Manursing Island originally belonging to their grand-father John [1] Coe. ("History of Rye," p. 407.) He d. without issue about 1720, and was probably unm. His will dated Nov. 21, 1720, probate missing, names his mother Deborah Coe, brothers Samuel Coe [evidently deceased] and John Coe, kinsman Nathan Kniffen, and sisters Phebe, Mary, and Hannah Coe. (New York Hist. Soc. Coll., vol. 35, pp. 94-5.)
v. PHEBE, m. JOHN HENDRICKS.
vi. MARY, m. ISRAEL STOCKHOLM.
vii. HANNAH, m. JOSHUA BRUNDIGE.

3. JOHN [3] COE (Andrew [2], John [1]), born in Rye, N. Y., about 1690, appears to have been the only grandson of John [1] Coe who left descendants of the name. He lived during most of his life in Rye, N. Y., but later removed into Greenwich, Conn., where he was assessed on £22-10-0 on a rate in 1734. He died intestate about 1741, letters of administration on his estate being given to Jabez Mead of Greenwich on May 5, 1741, and on the same day Samuel Lane of Rye was appointed guardian of Andrew Coe son of John Coe late of Greenwich, deceased. On July 7, 1741, David Ogden of Rye was appointed guardian of Jonathan Coe son of John Coe deceased. On Mar. 6, 1749-50, Jabez Mead was appointed guardian of Samuel Coe aged over fourteen years son of John Coe deceased.

John [3] Coe was twice married, but the name of his first wife has not been ascertained.

He married second, Oct. 1, 1734, ATHALANAH (CLAY) DENTON, daughter of Humphrey Clay and widow of Solomon Denton of Jamaica, L. I., who died in 1727 and by whom she had had five children. On Oct. 1, 1734, John Coe was appointed guardian of his son-in-law [step-son] Samuel Denton aged over fourteen years.

Children by first marriage:

4. i. ANDREW [4], b. in Rye, N. Y., about 1722.
5. ii. JONATHAN, b. in Rye, N. Y., Feb. 18, 1727.
iii. JUDITH, b. in Rye, N. Y., June 29, 1729, according to a family Bible record in possession of descendants on Nantucket Island, which record also gives the birth-date of her brother Jonathan Coe. She m. Sept. 15, 1749, JACOB MORRIS, and they settled on Nantucket Island and had several children, among them Jonathan and Esther.

Children by second marriage:

iv. SAMUEL [4], b. at "Horse Neck" in Greenwich, Conn., Aug. 5, 1735, was a Quaker, and the Friends' Records give the particulars of his parentage and family. He removed to "Oblong," N. Y., locating in what is now North Salem, Westchester Co., N. Y., where he d. June 7, 1768. His will * dated May 9, 1768, names wife Jane, son John, and mentions three daughters (not named). Proved Oct. 21, 1768. (Westchester Co. Wills, p. 267.)

* Riker's "Annals of Newtown," p. 401, erroneously states this Samuel Coe to be Samuel [4] (Capt. Robert [3], Capt. John [2], Robert [1]).

He m. Dec. 1, 1757, JANE FIELD, b. in South East, Dutchess Co., N. Y., Apr. 18, 1733, daughter of Samuel and Mary (Palmer) Field; she d. Jan. 17, 1808.

Children b. in North Salem, N. Y.:

1. MARY [5], b. Sept. 15, 1758, d. June 3, 1840; m. ELEAZER RYDER of South East, N. Y.
2. ELIZABETH, b. Feb. 16, 1761, d. Apr. 28, 1795, unm.
3. JOHN, b. Sept. 7, 1763, d. in Apr. 1776.
4. ATHALANAH, b. July 5, 1765, d. Nov. 25, 1827; m. SOLOMON CRANE of South East, N. Y.

v. JOSEPH, b. in 1737. On Apr. 5, 1760, Joseph Cooe, aged twenty-two, a cordwainer, b. at Horse Neck, Conn., enlisted in Capt. John Van Ness' company. (New York Muster Rolls, p. 260.)

4. ANDREW [4] COE (John [3], Andrew [2], John [1]), born in Rye, N. Y., about 1722, when a lad removed into Greenwich, Conn., with his father, and after the latter's death was assessed on a Greenwich rate in 1743, evidently becoming of age in that year. Soon after this he went to Woodbury, Conn., settling in that part of the town later Southbury. In the U. S. Census of 1790 Andrew Coe appears as the head of a family in Southbury, Conn., comprising three males over sixteen years, one male under sixteen years, and one female. During the year 1790 three of his sons removed to that part of Herkimer, N. Y., now called Norway, and it is supposed that later Andrew [4] Coe and his wife moved thither and there ended their days.

He married at Woodbury, Conn., Sept. 8, 1748, MARY SANFORD, bapt. there Mar. 9, 1728-9, daughter of Nathaniel and Bethia (Stebbins) Sanford.

Children born in Southbury, Conn.:

i. JERUSHA [5], b. about 1750, m. Oct. 20, 1768, ELISHA BALDWIN.

ii. DAVID, b. about 1752, lived in Southbury, Conn., until about 1800, his name appearing there in the U. S. Census of 1790 as head of a family of one male over sixteen years, three males under sixteen years, and five females. About 1800 he removed to Tioga County, N. Y., and descendants still (1910) continue in that vicinity.

He m. in Southbury, Conn., Mar. 7, 1776, SARAH SQUIRE, b. there Mar. 27, 1755, daughter of Daniel and Sarah (Tomlin) Squire.

Children b. in Southbury, Conn.:

1. ASA [6], b. Apr. 14, 1777.
2. SARAH ANN, b. May 14, 1779.
3. POLLY, b. Aug. 23, 1781.
4. DAVID, b. Feb. 29, 1784.
5. CURRENCE, b. Feb. 29, 1784, m. June 9, 1803, EZRA MALLORY.
6. LUTHER, b. June 16, 1786.
7. DANIEL, b. Dec. 23, 1788.
8. ANNA, b. June 8, 1793.
9. BETSEY, b. Dec. 30, 1795.

iii. MOLLY, b. 1754, m. Feb. 15, 1776, ELIJAH HINE of Southbury, Conn.

iv. ANDREW, b. about 1756, was a soldier in the Revolution from June to December 1776. (Conn. Men in the Rev., p. 395.) In the U. S. Census of 1790 he appears as head of a family in Southbury, Conn., consisting of one male over sixteen years, two males under sixteen years and three females. Right after being enrolled at Southbury in the census, he went to Herkimer, N. Y., in advance of his family where also a few weeks later he was enrolled alone on the same census. From Herkimer he removed to Oswego, N. Y., and thence about 1810 to Stirling, Ontario, Canada, where he died. There are numerous descendants in Ontario, Michigan, Nebraska, Colorado, etc.

He m. about 1785, but the record has not been found.

Children, b. about 1785-1795:

1. ESTHER [6].
2. BENJAMIN.
3. STEPHEN.
4. ERASTUS.

v. JOHN, b. about 1760, moved in the Spring of 1790 to Herkimer (now Norway), N. Y., where his name is listed in the Census of 1790 as head of a family of one male over sixteen years, two males under sixteen years, and two females. About 1810 he removed with his children from Norway, N. Y., to Chautauqua County, N. Y., and late in life is said to have been a preacher. There are descendants in western New York and elsewhere.

He m. in Southbury, Conn., about 1785, LOVINA JOHNSON.

Children, b. about 1785-1800.

1. ALBERT [6], b. about 1785.
2. ALVIN.
3. ADASSA.
4. MATILDA.
5. LOIS.
6. STEPHEN.
7. ANDREW.

vi. AMOS, b. about 1763, is enrolled in the U. S. Census of 1790 as head of a family in Southbury, Conn., of one male over sixteen years, one male under sixteen years and one female. The same year he joined his brothers John and Andrew at Herkimer (now Norway), N. Y., where he afterwards resided until his death Nov. 14, 1805, aged forty-two years. There are numerous descendants in western New York, Minnesota, and elsewhere.

He m. in Southbury, Conn., about 1787, ELIZABETH BURWELL, b. about 1766, d. Sept. 5, 1814.

Children:

1. CYRUS [6], b. in 1788, left issue.
2. IRA, b. Nov. 1, 1790, a prominent farmer and lawyer in Norway, N. Y. He m. ELIZABETH NORTON; seven children.

APPENDIX II

JOHN COE OF COLNE-ENGAINE, CO. ESSEX, ENGLAND, AND BROOKLYN, NEW YORK, AND SOME OF HIS DESCENDANTS

1. JOHN[1] COE* of Colne-Engaine, co. Essex, England, born probably about 1660, was an early purchaser of land in Brooklyn, N. Y., as appears from the following deeds.

Oct. 3, 1696, Richard Gibbs and wife Sarah conveyed to John Coe of the town of Ganscone [Colne-Engaine], co. Essex, England, land in Brooklyn, L. I., near the ferry [now Fulton Ferry]. (Kings Co. Deeds, vol. 2, p. 77.)

June 8, 1697, Henry Filkin of Flatbush, L. I., conveyed to John Coe of Gans Coone [Colne-Engaine], co. Essex, England, land in Brooklyn, L. I., near the ferry. (Kings Co. Deeds, vol. 2, p. 143.)

Colne-Engaine, co. Essex, England, is about four miles from Maplestead, co. Essex and about eight miles from Stoke-Nayland, co. Suffolk, at both of which places descendants of cousins of Robert[1] Coe were living about 1700, so it seems likely that this John[1] Coe of Colne-Engaine was descended from a cousin or a brother of Robert[1] Coe, which would account for his buying land in America within five miles of where contemporary grandchildren of Robert[1] Coe were then residing. The registers of Colne-Engaine (which begin in 1630) show no Coe entries previous to the baptisms of the children of John[1] Coe. Whether or not John[1] Coe himself ever came to America is not clear, but his son John[2] Coe and daughter Sarah[2] Coe certainly did and were living at Flushing, L. I., in 1715 as appears by the following deed: May 7, 1715, William Nicoll of Islip, L. I., Gerrard Beekman of Flatbush, L. I., John Coa of Flushing, L. I., and Sarah Coa, spinster of Flushing, L. I., conveyed to Thomas Parmiter of Flushing, L. I., an estate near the ferry in Brooklyn late of Anne Everenden, deceased. This Anne Everenden, a widow, was probably a sister of John[1] Coe as is evidenced by her will, as follows:

The will of Anne Everenden of the Ferry in Kings Co., widow, dated Nov. 15, 1708. To kinsman [sic!] Sarah Coa certain goods; all residue to loving cousins [i.e. nephews and niece] Richard Coa, John Coa,

* It has been erroneously stated in several historical and genealogical works that this John[1] Coe was identical with Judge John[3] Coe (Capt. John[2], Robert[1]) of Newtown, L. I.

and Sarah Coa, but if Richard Coa come not in person to the province of New York within six years, then residue to the other two. Friends William Nicoll and Gerrard Beekman executors. (New York Hist. Soc. Collections, vol. 35, p. 14.)

John [1] Coe married in England before 1691, SARAH ———.

Children baptized at Colne-Engaine, co. Essex, England:

i. RICHARD [2], bapt. May 3, 1691, probably did not come to America.

ii. SARAH, bapt. Jan. 22, 1692-3, came to America and was living at Flushing, L. I., in 1715 as proved by the deed previously quoted. She m. in Apr. 1717, ISAAC VINCENT [Van Zant]. (Newtown Church Records.)

iii. JOHN, bapt. Nov. 18, 1694, came to America and was living at Flushing, L. I., on May 7, 1715, as shown by the deed previously quoted. Soon after this date he married and removed to New York City where he became a member of the old Dutch Church the registers of which give the records of his family. On Mar. 30, 1731, he became a freeman of New York City and on Dec. 7, 1737, as John Coe senior, was a witness to the baptism of Frederyk Janssen in the old Dutch Church, which is the latest record yet found of him.

He m. about 1716, JANNETJE VAN ZANT.

Children bapt. in the old Dutch Church, New York City:

1. JOHN [3] (not recorded), b. about 1717, first appears on Dec. 7, 1737, when as John Coe junior he was a witness to the baptism of Frederyk Janssen. He was a blockmaker, and appears on voting lists in New York City in 1761, 68, 69, and 74. On Jan. 26, 1747, he was appointed an executor of the will of Arthur Helme of New York City (and was dead when this will was probated Oct. 29, 1781), and on July 3, 1755, was a witness to the will of Simon Grimes of New York City. The will of John Coe, blockmaker, of New York City, dated Dec. 15, 1776, left all estate to wife Hester, she to be sole executrix. (Wills in Surrogate's Registry, New York City, vol. 42, p. 232.)

He m. about 1745, HESTER ———. Her will dated Aug. 12, 1791, probated Mar. 8, 1792, mentions granddaughter Hester wife of Thomas Shepard, grandsons John Coe and Thomas Coe (both under age), and sister Mary Forcie. (Wills in Surrogate's Registry, New York City, vol. 40, p. 510.) The history of this family has not been further traced.

Child:

1. JOHN [4], b. about 1745, was living in New York City in 1775, but apparently died during the Revolution. The name of his wife has not been learned.

Children:

a. HESTER [5], b. about 1770, m. THOMAS SHEPARD.

b. JOHN, b. about 1773.

c. THOMAS, b. about 1776.

2. RICHARD, bapt. Oct. 12, 1720, d. y.

3. SARAH, b. in 1723, m. July 28, 1740, PIETER ALBONY.

4. ELIZABETH, bapt. Sept. 22, 1725.

5. RICHARD, bapt. Sept. 30, 1730.

6. JENNEKE, bapt. Mar. 11, 1733.

PHILIP COE, A REVOLUTIONARY SOLDIER OF NEW YORK AND PENNSYLVANIA, AND SOME OF HIS DESCENDANTS

1. PHILIP [1] COE, born probably about 1740-1745, a soldier in the Revolution, has many descendants in the central and western States. The traditions among his descendants concerning his history are conflicting, and we have not been able to determine his origin and ancestry. According to some of his descendants he was a * Scotch-Irish emigrant from the north of Ireland and was living near Albany, N. Y., at the beginning of the Revolution. According to other descendants he was located in 1775 at Colerain, Mass. [This town was largely settled by Scotch-Irish from the north of Ireland where is located the ancient town of Coleraine from which place the Mass. town and two townships of the same name in Pennsylvania derived their names.] According to still other descendants he was born in Pennsylvania.

The earliest records of him that we have found mention him as in the military service in New York and Pennsylvania towards the close of the Revolution, and shortly after the Revolution he was residing in Washington Co., Pa., in the southwestern corner of that State, where were located at the same time Moses [5] Coe, Peter [5] Coe, and several others of the children of Benjamin [4] Coe (No. 26) born about 1709 (Joseph [3], Benjamin [2], Robert [1]). According to the family Bible of Aaron Williams, his father-in-law Benjamin [4] Coe had fourteen children, of whom we have been able to find positive records of but thirteen, and there appears to be a chance for a son Philip to be born in this family about 1742. (See ante, pp. 104, 105.) Moreover it is suggestive that Moses [5] Coe of Washington Co., Pa. (Benjamin [4], Joseph [3], Benjamin [2], Robert [1]), had a son Philip [6] born in 1798, the only positively known case of this name among the descendants of Robert [1] Coe until late in the nineteenth century. (See ante, p. 147.)

We can only state, however, that if Philip [1] Coe was descended from Robert [1] Coe, he was probably born about 1742 and a son of Benjamin [4] Coe (No. 26) born about 1709 (Joseph [3], Benjamin [2], Robert [1]); but if he was not descended from Robert [1] Coe he was probably a Scotch Irish emigrant from near Coleraine in the north of Ireland.

*Philip [1] Coe may have been a native American, but he having married into Scotch-Irish families his descendants could get the tradition of Scotch-Irish origin from that cause.

The following records have been found concerning Philip Coe's military service in the Revolution.

Philip Coe enlisted in the 5th company 5th regiment of New York Line July 29, 1780; transferred to the Invalid Regiment Aug. 10, 1781, where he served until his son a boy of twelve years was accepted as a substitute. Ichabod Coe, fifer, aged twelve years, enlisted in the 2nd regiment, New York Line, as a substitute for his father; discharged June 10, 1783. (New York in the Revolution, pp. 227, 197.)

Philip Coe, private in Capt. Hill's company of the 2nd New York regiment, was in the Invalid Regiment from July 3 to Nov. 12, 1781; service four months and nine days; also Philip Coe, sergeant(?) in 2nd New York regiment, was discharged from Capt. Matthew McConnell's company of the Invalid Regiment, Nov. 10, 1781. (Penn. Archives, series V, vol. 4, p. 69.)

On Feb. 17, 1854, Hannah Holdren of Washington Co., Ohio, applied for a pension on account of the services in the Revolution of her father Philip Coe who was discharged from Col. Lewis Nicola's Invalid Regiment Nov. 10, 1781, having procured another man to serve in his place. The pension was not granted as claimant failed to prove her father served six months as required by the pension law of 1832. (U. S. Pension Records, I. S. C., R. File 2095, Rev. War.)

Soon after the Revolution Philip Coe is found in Washington Co., Pa. He was a carpenter by occupation, and in Jan. 1787 was engaged to hew timber for the construction of the Washington Co. Court House. He was a warrantee on Mar. 1, 1787, of one hundred acres of land and on Mar. 5, 1796, of two hundred acres of land, all in Washington Co., Pa. (Penn. Archives.) In the U. S. Census of 1790 Philip Coe is listed as head of a family in Washington Co., Pa., of one male over sixteen years, two males under sixteen years, and four females. Later he moved a few miles into the "Panhandle" of West Virginia, settling near Moundsville in that State and died May 8, 1818. The records of his marriages and children (except Ichabod) have been supplied by descendants.

He married first, BARBARA NESTON.

He married second, ABIGAIL O'CONNOR.

Children by first marriage:

i. ICHABOD [2], b. about 1769, was a soldier-boy in the Revolution, serving as private in the Invalid Regiment from Nov. 12, 1781 to Dec. 31, 1781; also continued in the service as a fifer until the Invalid Regiment was disbanded in Apr. 1783. (Penn. Archives, series V, vol. 4, pp. 71 and 90.) On July 12, 1828, Ichabod Coe of Hudson, Columbia Co., N. Y., applied for a pension for twenty-one months service in the Revolution as a fifer in Capt. McGowan's company of the Invalid Regiment, his discharge being dated June 10, 1783. Claim allowed. On Nov. 2, 1848, his widow POLLY COE, aged sixty-eight years, applied for a pension, stating she married Ichabod Coe in New York City July 17, 1797, and that he d. at Hudson, N. Y., Dec. 24, 1835. Claim allowed. (U. S. Pension Records, I. S. C., Wid. File 2593, Rev. War.) Whether or not they had children has not been learned.

APPENDIX IV
MATTHEW COE OF NEW ENGLAND, 1640

MATTHEW [1] COE, born as early as 1620, first appears in America in 1640 at Portsmouth, N. H. About 1645 he settled in Gloucester, Mass., where he continued until 1661, when he sold his property there and, in company with several of his neighbors, removed to Falmouth (now Portland), Maine, where he died about 1670. His occupation was fisherman.

According to tradition among his descendants, Matthew [1] Coe came from Suffolk County, England; but extensive research has failed to secure information of his parentage, or even to locate his origin. His heirs in 1731 are shown by three deeds executed in the latter part of that year in which his son Isaac [2] Coe of Roxbury, Mass., cordwainer, his daughters Martha [2] (Coe) Farnum of Boston, widow, and Elizabeth [2] (Coe) Tucker of Roxbury, widow, his grandson John [3] Coe of Little Compton, R. I. (son and heir of John [2] Coe deceased), and his grandson Benjamin Ingersoll of Falmouth, yeoman (eldest surviving son of Sarah [2] (Coe) Ingersoll, deceased), all conveyed to Phineas Jones all their interests in the lands of Matthew [1] Coe in Falmouth (now Portland) Maine. (York Deeds, vol. 15, fols. 168-170, and vol. 16, fol. 196.)

Matthew [1] Coe married at Gloucester, Mass., June 15, 1647, ELIZABETH WAKLEY, daughter of Thomas and Elizabeth Wakley.

Children:

i. JOHN [2], b. at Gloucester, Mass., June 30, 1649, went to Falmouth, Me., with his parents in 1661, and on the destruction of that town by the Indians during King Philip's War in 1676, he located in Duxbury, Mass., where he resided a few years, and then settled in Little Compton, R. I., where he continued until his death, Dec. 16, 1728.

He m. at Duxbury, Mass., Nov. 10, 1681, SARAH PABODIE, b. there Aug. 7, 1656, d. at Little Compton, R. I., Aug. 27, 1740, daughter of William and Elizabeth (Alden) Pabodie, and granddaughter of John and Priscilla (Mullins) Alden who came to New Enlgand in 1620 with the Pilgrims in The Mayflower.

Children:

1. LYDIA [3], b. Feb. 26, 1682-3, d. young.
2. SARAH, b. Feb. 25, 1685-6, d. young.
3. LYDIA, b. in 1688.
4. SARAH, b. in 1690.
5. SAMUEL, b. Dec. 12, 1692.
6. ELIZABETH, b. Mar. 28, 1694.
7. HANNAH, b. Dec. 29, 1696.

8. JOHN, b. Feb. 1, 1699, d. at Little Compton, R. I., in Nov. 1784; m. Dec. 10, 1740, REBECCA TAYLOR, b. Jan. 4, 1719, daughter of Peter and Hannah (Wood) Taylor. They had eight children and were the ancestors of all persons named Coe now living whose lines have been traced to Matthew [1] Coe.
9. JOSEPH, b. Mar. 24, 1700.

ii. SARAH, b. at Gloucester, Mass., Mar. 14, 1650-1, d. there May 29, 1714; m. about 1670, JOSEPH INGERSOLL, b. there Oct. 4, 1646, son of George and Elizabeth Ingersoll. He was a carpenter and they lived at Falmouth, Me., Charlestown, Mass., and finally at Gloucester, Mass., where he d. Mar. 12, 1718. Children: Martha, Stephen, John, Benjamin, Joseph, Hannah.

iii. MARY, b. at Gloucester, Mass., May 15, 1653, probably left no descendants.

iv. MARTHA, b. probably about 1656, m. about 1684, CAPT. JONATHAN FARNUM, b. at Dorchester, Mass., Jan. 16, 1639-40, son of John and Elizabeth Farnum. They resided in Boston, Mass., where she was living, a widow, as late as 1731. Children: Jonathan, John, Elizabeth d. y., Joseph, Martha, Elizabeth.

v. ABIGAIL, b. at Gloucester, Mass., June 5, 1658, probably left no descendants.

vi. MATTHEW, b. at Gloucester, Mass., Jan. 3, 1660-1, d. there Feb. 8, 1660-1.

vii. ISAAC, b. at Falmouth (now Portland), Me., about 1665, was in Roxbury, Mass., in 1703, where he appears as a witness on several deeds and is mentioned several times on the town records up to 1732, after which time no trace of him has been found, but he probably continued in Roxbury until his death. He m. at Roxbury, Sept. 11, 1706, MARTHA RAMSEY, who was b. about 1665 and is mentioned in the records of the church in Roxbury as early as 1683. No records of any children have been found and they probably had no issue.

viii. ELIZABETH, b. at Falmouth (now Portland), Me., about 1670, d. at Roxbury, Mass., Sept. 11, 1740; m. about 1696, BENJAMIN TUCKER, b. there Mar. 8, 1670-1, son of Benjamin and Ann (Payson) Tucker. They resided in Roxbury where he d. in 1728. Children: Ann, Elizabeth, Benjamin, Stephen, Henry, Catharine, Samuel.

The descendants of Matthew [1] Coe, through his son John [2], resided as far as known in Little Compton, R. I., until about 1800, since which time most of them have lived in or near Boston, Worcester, and New Bedford, Mass., Portland, Me., Little Compton, Newport, Smithfield, Woonsocket, and Block Island, R. I., Ashford, Woodstock, and Groton, Conn., Madison, N. Y., and Englewood, N. J. This family is a small one, all the known descendants of Matthew [1] Coe born of the name amounting to only about three hundred persons, among whom the late George Simmons [6] Coe, a distinguished banker of New York City, and his nephew Henry Clark [7] Coe, M.D., a prominent physician of the same city, are the most widely known.

Henry F.[7] Coe (b. 1835, d. 1906) of Boston, Mass. (Joseph [6], Ezra [5], Benjamin [4], John [3], John [2], Matthew [1]), compiled and published in 1894 a small forty-seven page genealogy of this family entitled "Descendants of Matthew Coe."

APPENDIX V

COE HEADS OF FAMILIES IN THE U. S. IN 1790

At the time of the U. S. Census of 1790 there were sixteen States, viz.: Vermont, New Hampshire, Massachusetts (with Maine), Connecticut, Rhode Island, New York, Pennsylvania, Maryland, North Carolina, and South Carolina; also New Jersey, Delaware, Virginia, Kentucky, Tennessee, and Georgia. Of these States the census returns for the last six named were lost by fire in 1813, and no Coes appear as heads of families in Vermont and South Carolina.

In New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Connecticut, New York, and Pennsylvania there were living eighty-four Coe heads of families descended from Robert[1] Coe, and eleven descended from John[1] Coe of Stamford, Conn. In Rhode Island there were living four Coe heads of families descended from Matthew[1] Coe.

There were also living in the United States in 1790 the following Coe heads of families whose ancestors have not been ascertained, but probably none of them (except perhaps Philip Coe) descended from Robert[1] Coe, the colonist of New England in 1634.

APPENDIX VI
THE COE FAMILY OF BOXFORD AND GROTON, CO. SUFFOLK, ENGLAND

This Coe family became seated in Boxford early in the fifteenth century and gained wealth as clothiers [cloth-makers]. Their pedigree appears in the Visitations of Suffolk in 1561, 1577 and 1612, and of Essex in 1634, with the same arms as those allowed the Coe family of Gestingthorpe at the Visitation of Essex in 1612, viz., Argent, three piles in point wavy gules, a semée of martlets sable, and in addition the Boxford-Groton family had a crest, viz., A dexter arm embowed, armed ppr., holding in the hand a chaplet vert. and supported by a pilaster, or.; but the exact connection between the Gestingthorpe and Boxford families has not been determined.

Lack of space precludes the printing of much interesting material collected concerning the Coes of Boxford.

1. JOHN [1] COO of Boxford, co. Suffolk, born probably about 1410, is the earliest member of this branch who has been found located there. (Perhaps he was son of William Coo and grandson of John [1] Coo, progenitor of the Coes of Gestingthorpe. See ante, pp. 8, 18.) His will dated Dec. 3, 1452, gave bequests to the churches of Boxford, Groton, Edwardstone, and Waldingfield, and to Jane Jeckett, John Jeckett, and Richard Bradhead, and to daughter Isabel. Executor, William Bronde. Probated Mar. 14, 1452-3. (Arch. of Sudbury, Bury St. Edmunds, Book II, p. 118.)

He was probably father of a son:

2. i. WILLIAM [2] Coo, b. about 1440.

2. WILLIAM [2] COO (John [1]), born about 1440, was living in 1483 when he was a bondsman for John Barker in a suit against the latter by Thomas Purser, priest, of Boxford, and sued the sheriff of London for illegal arrest. (Chancery Suits, Early Series, 63-109.) The name of his wife has not been learned.

Probable children:

i. WILLIAM [3], b. about 1465; on Muster Roll of Babergh Hundred in 1522 as "William Coo of Great Waldingfield, landowner." Further history untraced.

3. ii. THOMAS, b. about 1470; on Muster Roll of Babergh Hundred in 1522 as "Thomas Coo of Boxford, clothworker."

4. iii. JOHN, b. about 1475; on Muster Roll of Babergh Hundred in 1522 as "John Coo of Groton, pedder."

3. THOMAS [3] COO (William [2] (2), John [1]), born at Boxford about 1470, appears as a cloth-worker of Boxford in the Muster Roll of Babergh Hundred in 1522. He heads the pedigrees of the Coes of Boxford and Groton which appear in the Visitations of Suffolk, and died in 1531. His will dated Apr. 28, 1531, mentions sons William, Richard, and John Coo, and daughter Katharine wife of John Pace; and he gives to Thomas Coo, son of his son William Coo, his capital messuage and lands in Groton when twenty-one. Executors, sons William and John Coo. Probated Jan. 15, 1531-2. (P. C. C., 4 Thrower.)

The name of his wife has not been found.

Children born at Boxford, co. Suff.:

5. i. WILLIAM [4], b. about 1495.
   ii. RICHARD, second son; stated in the Visitations to have married a daughter of Lord Clifford and died s. p.
6. iii. JOHN, b. about 1500.
   iv. CATHARINE, m. JOHN PACE of Boxford.

4. JOHN [3] COO (William [2] (2), John [1]), born about 1475, appears as a "pedder" in Groton on the Muster Roll of Babergh Hundred, 1522. The will of "John Cooe of Groton, pedder," dated Mar. 14, 1526-7, gives to wife Jone his lands for life, with reversion to son John [4] Coo and his heirs, and for want of same, reversion successively to sons William [4], James [4], and Richard [4] Coo. When son John [4] Coo succeeds to the lands he is to pay 10 sh. to each of his brothers and sisters. Residue to wife Johan, she to be executrix. Probated May 3, 1527. (Arch. of Sudbury, Bury St. Edmunds, 272 Bryden.)

The name of his wife was JOANE ———.

Children born at Groton, co. Suff.:

7. i. JOHN [4], b. about 1500.
   ii. WILLIAM, second son; history unknown.
   iii. JAMES, third son; history unknown.
   iv. RICHARD, fourth son; history unknown.
   v. DAUGHTERS; names and history unknown.

5. WILLIAM [4] COO (Thomas [3] (3), William [2], John [1]), born at Boxford about 1495, first appears in 1522 on the Muster Roll of Babergh Hundred, as "William Coo of Boxford, clothworker." On the Subsidy Rolls of 5 and 6 Edward VI. (1551-2), "William Coo sen." of Boxford was assessed x sh. on lands of yearly value of £x. (Lay Subsidies, Suffolk, 181-308 and 181-318.) He probably died soon after; no will or admon. can be found.

According to the Visitations of Suffolk, he married MARGARET GOLDING, daughter of John Golding of Cavendish, co. Suff.

Children born in Boxford, co. Suff.:

8. i. THOMAS [5], b. about 1520; settled in Groton, co. Suff.
9. ii. WILLIAM, b. about 1525, second son, remained in Boxford.
   iii. MARGARET, m. EDWARD REAVE of Bury St. Edmunds.

6. JOHN [4] COO (Thomas [3] (3), William [2], John [1]), born at Boxford about 1500, appears as a clothworker in Boxford in the Muster Roll of Babergh Hundred, 1522, and was an executor of the will of his father in 1531. Later he lived in the adjoining parish of Groton where he died about Sept. 1557. His will dated Aug. 27, 1557, names wife Agnes, sons Robert [5] Coe and Edmund [5] Coe, and daughters Agnes Dixon and Johan Coe. Probated Oct. 20, 1557. (Arch. of Sudbury, Bury St. Edmunds, 200 Dax.)

He married about 1530, AGNES ———.

Children born at Boxford or Groton:

i. ROBERT [5], b. about 1530, living in 1557; no further record at Boxford and Groton; perhaps the Robert Coo who m. at Bures St. Mary, Apr. 9, 1554, ALICE FYBURE.

ii. AGNES, m. before 1557, ——— DIXON.

iii. EDMUND, b. about 1535; m. at Boxford, July 7, 1560, THOMASYN WORLANDE, daughter of Thomas Worlande.

Children:

1. THOMASYN [6], m. at Boxford, Oct. 18, 1593, THOMAS PANNELL.
2. SIMON, bapt. at Kersey, Apr. 6, 1567.

iv. JOANE, unm. in 1557.

7. JOHN [4] COO (John [3] (4), William [2], John [1]), born at Groton about 1500, appears as a weaver at Groton in the Muster Roll of Babergh Hundred, 1522. He later adopted his father's business of "pedder" by which designation he afterwards appears. The will of "John Cooe of Groton, Pedder," was dated Dec. 20, 1580. To wife Cicelye for life my dwelling house in Groton with reversion to son Thomas [5] Cooe. To my sons Willm [5] Cooe, Peter [5] Cooe, olde John [5] Cooe, and younge John [5] Cooe, 40 sh. each after the death of my wife. To daughter Joane [5] Cooe £3 and a poste-bed with its furnishings, after the death of my wife. To Susane [6] Coo, daughter of son Willm [5] Coo, 20 sh. at age of twenty-three. To Joane [6] Coo, daughter of son olde John [5] Coo, 6 sh. 8 d. at age of twenty-three. To Margaret [6] Coo, daughter of son Peter [5] Coo, 6 sh. 8 d. at age of twenty-three. All goods to son Thomas [5] Coo, he and wife Cicelye Coo to be executors. Witnesses: Thomas Robinson, John Bronde, Peter Clarke, John Cooe. Probated June 22, 1592, by Thomas Coe, the other executor being dead. (Arch. of Sudbury, Bury St. Edmunds, 226 Bacon.) "John Coe the elder," was buried at Groton, Sept. 27, 1591.

He married about 1530, CECILIE WHITING, the daughter of William and Katharine Whiting of Boxford; "Ciclye Cooe wife of John Cooe, peddar," was buried at Groton, Mar. 10, 1583-4. The will of Willm Whityng of Boxford, dated June 12, 1535, gives £10 to his daughter Cicely Coo wife of John Coo, and bequests to their children when twenty years of age. Probated Nov. 8, 1535. (P. C. C., 28 Hogan.)

Children born at Groton:

10. i. THOMAS [5], b. about 1531.

ii. JOANE, d. unm. "Johan Cooe daughter of John Cooe the elder, peddar, buried May 11, 1590," at Groton. The will of Joane [5] Cooe of Groton, singlewoman, dated May 8, 1590, gave legacies to brother William [5] Coe and his wife and their son John [6] Coe and their three daughters; to John [6] Coe, Susan [6] Coe, and Margaret [6] Coe, children of brother Thomas [5] Coe; to the wife of brother old John [5] Coe, and to his son Thomas [6] Coe and daughter Joane [6] Coe; to the children of brother Peter [6] Coe; to Thomazine [7] Coo daughter of Thomas [6] Coo of Edwardstone; to numerous friends named. All residue to brothers William [5] Coe and Thomas [5] Coe, they to be executors. Probated June 18, 1590 by Thomas [5] Coe, with power reserved for William [5] Coe. (Arch. of Sudbury, Bury St. Edmunds, 360 Goddard.)

11. iii. WILLIAM, b. about 1535.

iv. "OLD" JOHN, b. about 1538, m. and had issue.

1. THOMAS [6] of Edwardstone, who had a daughter Thomasine [7].
2. JOANE.

v. "YOUNG" JOHN, b. about 1540; probably the John Coe of Capell, co. Suffolk [about ten miles east of Boxford] who left the following will dated there Apr. 30, 1589. To poor of Bentley, to Alice Bentler (?), and to Joane (Hardie?) 20 sh. each. To my master Mr. Robt. Forth, a colt. To children of brother William [5] Coe 20 sh.; to children of brother Peter [5] Cooe 20 sh; to children of brother John [5] Coe 5 sh.; and to children of brother Thomas [5] Coe 10 sh. To daughter Frances [6] Coe £30 at twenty-one. Residue of goods between my wife Faith and my son John [6] Coe at twenty; if he die before then his share to my brothers William [5], John [5], Peter [5], and Thomas [5], or their children. My brother Thomas [5] Coe, and William Boulter of Capell to be executors and to have 40 sh. for their pains. Probated July 18, 1589. (Arch. of Suff. (Ipswich), book 32, fol. 408.)

He m. FAITH ————.

Children:

1. JOHN [6], under age in 1589.
2. FRANCES, under age in 1589.

12. vi. PETER, b. about 1545.

8. THOMAS [5] COO (William [4] (5), Thomas [3], William [2], John [1]), born at Boxford about 1520, when he became of age inherited by the will of his grandfather an estate in Groton called "Tomblyns" where he settled, but lived but a few years to enjoy same, dying in 1546. The will of Thomas [5] Coo of Groton, Co. Suff., clothmaker, dated Oct. 14, 1546, left to wife Agnes profits of a capital messuage called "Tomlyng," given to him by his grandfather, for twentyone years, then to revert to his son John [6] Coo when one and twenty years of age. Residue of estate to wife Agnes, she to be executrix, and brother William [5] Coo to be supervisor. Probated Mar. 24, 1546-7. (P.C.C., 31 Alen and 31 Coode; also proved in Arch. of Sudbury, Bury St. Edmunds, 624 Cole.)

He married AGNES CLAYTON; she was probably the Agnes Coe, widow, who married at Boxford, July 10, 1576, RICHARD SLADE, widower.

Child born at Groton:

13. i. JOHN [6], b. 1546.

9. WILLIAM [5] COO, GENT. (William [4] (5), Thomas [3], William [2], John [1]), born at Boxford about 1525, followed the clothmaking business of his ancestors, acquired wealth, and entered a pedigree of the family in the Visitations of Suffolk in 1561 and 1577. He and his son employed his nephew John [6] Coo of Groton to manage this latter affair the last time, which resulted in a long-standing feud between the Boxford and Groton Coe families as the following litigation shows: In 1599, John [6] Coo of Groton, gent., complained that twenty-three years past at the especial instance and request of William [5] Coo and his son Thomas [6] Coo of Boxford, gents., the plaintiff "traveyled, labored, and delte with one Robert Cooke Esq., then Herald at Armes, for touchinge, procuringe, obteyninge and settinge forthe of the Armes of the said Thomas [6] Coo," etc.; and £3 was given to plaintiff by defendant for expenses, for which plaintiff gave a bond of £10 to defendant, it being agreed that if plaintiff "did procure or sue forthe the sayd lettres of Antiquytye and shew the same under the seale of office of the said heralte," then the bond should be cancelled. Although plaintiff procured the "lettres of Antiquytye," defendant refused to give up the bond, and has sued plaintiff for same, "intendinge by the strickte course of the comon lawe to recover the same, contrarye to equytye and good conscyence," etc. Thomas [6] Coe, defendant, states that the plaintiff was outlawed [bankrupted] recently in a suit in the Common Pleas by John Spencer, and claims he is not obliged to answer, the outlawry being still in force. (Chancery Suits, Series II, 262-47.)

In the Subsidy Rolls, William [5] Coo appears at Boxford in several rolls between 1547 and 1581.

William [5] Coo was buried at Boxford, Nov. 14, 1586. His will dated Oct. 31, 1585, names wife Joane; son Thomas [6] Coo and his children Susan [7] and Thomas [7] at twenty-one; daughter Agnes [6], wife of Jasper Laughlye and their children William, Thomas, John, and Jasper Laughlye, at twenty-one; daughter Elizabeth [6] wife of Richard Spencer, and her children John, Elizabeth, Susan, and Bridget Spencer, at twenty-one. Son Thomas [6] Coo executor. Probated Nov. 25, 1586. (P. C. C., 61 Windsor.)

He married about 1550, JOANE FOUCHER; she was buried at Boxford, Nov. 19, 1598. Her will dated Nov. 8, 1597, mentions son Thomas [6] Coe and his youngest son William [7] Coe when twentyone; daughter Elizabeth Spencer and her children John, Elizabeth, Bridget, Susan, Anne, and Judith Spencer, at twentyone; children of son-in-law Jasper Lafelings. 4. JOHN, bapt. Oct. 13, 1626.
5. SUSAN, bapt. May 4, 1628.
6. ANNA, bapt. Mar. 21, 1629-30.

13. JOHN [6] COO, GENT. (Thomas [5] (8), William [4], Thomas [3], William [2], John [1]), born at Groton in 1546, on becoming of age inherited "Tomblyns" in Groton, formerly possessed by his father, grandfather, and great-grandfather, and appears in Groton on the Subsidy Rolls of 10 Eliz. (1568), 18 Eliz. (1576), 23 Eliz. (1581), 39 Eliz. (1597), and 8 James I. (1610). He became financially involved, resulting in a feud with his wealthy uncle and cousin William [5] Coo and Thomas [6] Coo of Boxford, as already described on p. 538, and also resulting in his imprisonment for debt. (Chancery Suits, Series II, 264-71.)

On Nov. 10, 1593, John [6] Coo of Groton and Agnes his wife sued John Locton, executor of John Gamlyn, in regard to a marriage settlement in 1559 between Margaret, mother of said Agnes, and the said John Gamlyn late of Spalding, co. Linc., her second husband. (Chancery Suits, Series II, 236-43.) On Dec. 1, 1600, John [6] Coe the elder and John [7] Coe the younger of Groton, gents., sued John Winthrop, lord of the Manor of Groton, in regard to certain lands there to which they claimed that John [6] Coe the elder was admitted to copyhold upon the death of his father Thomas [5] Coo. John Winthrop, defendant, replies that the lands in question were conveyed to his brother Adam Winthrop [father of Gov. John Winthrop of Mass.]. (Chancery Suits, Series temp. Eliz., C-c-9-4.) Thereupon it appears Adam Winthrop was sued thereupon, as his diary records: "1604, The xiiij of August, Mr. Coe of Tomblyns gave me warnynge of the first of September to be at Sudbury," etc.; and "The first of Sept. I was before S^{r} W^{m} Waldegrave, S^{r} Tho. Eden & Mr. Gurdon to answere to Coe's complaint against me for occupienge of Stone medowe." ("Life and Letters of John Winthrop," pp. 420-421.)

No records have been found of the burial, will, or administration of John [6] Coo.

He married about 1570, ANNE or AGNES SARGENT, daughter of Richard and Margaret (Locton) Sargent of Wyndham, co. Norfolk. (Harl. Mss. 1560, p. 276.)

ix. SUSAN, bapt. July 25, 1597.

14. THOMAS[6] COO, GENT. (William[5] (9), William[4], Thomas[3], William[2], John[1]), born in Boxford about 1553, continued successfully the clothmaking business of his ancestors, in which he became the wealthiest Coe up to his time and a considerable land owner, acquiring extensive estates in Boxford and vicinity; and in 1612 he entered the family pedigree in the Visitation of Suffolk, with these arms: Argent, three piles in point wavy gules, a semée of martlets sable; impaling, Argent two bars gemel, between three eagles displayed, sable, for Spencer. Crest. A dexter arm embowed, armed proper, holding in the hand a chaplet vert., and supported on a pilaster or.

The Subsidy Rolls of 39 and 43 Eliz. (1597 and 1601) show Thomas[6] Coe, gent., was taxed xxxij sh. for lands of yearly value of £xij. (Lay Subsidies, Suff., 182-426, and 182-447.) He also appears in the Suffolk Feet of Fines in numerous land transactions between 1583 and 1619.

Besides being defendant in the suits in Chancery and Star Chamber brought by his cousin John[6] Coo of Groton as described on p. 538, Thomas[6] Coo of Boxford also appears in several other litigations in the Court of Chancery.

Thomas[6] Coo died at West Hanningfield in the southern part of co. Essex, in 1622; the record of his burial has not been found. His will dated at West Hanningfield, July 27, 1622, names wife Susan Coo; daughters Bridget[7] Coe and Amy[7] Coe, executrices; son and heir William[7] Coe, and the latter's children William[8] Coo, Thomas[8] Coo, and Mary[8] Coo at twenty-one; daughter[-in-law] Julian Coo wife of son William[7] Coo; daughter Susan[7] Crooke and her children Samuel Crooke and Lucy Crooke at twenty-one. Son-in-law Paul Ambrosius Crooke and wife Susan Coo, overseers. Probated Oct. 4, 1622. (P. C. C., 87 Savile.)

He married (license in Arch. of Sudbury at Bury St. Edmunds dated Aug. 22, 1580) SUSAN SPENCER, daughter of John Spencer of Groton; she was buried at Stock-Harvard, co. Essex, Aug. 31, 1638.

iv. WILLIAM, bapt. Apr. 18, 1588, second but eldest surviving son; about 1620 he settled at Stock-Harvard in the southern part of co. Essex, and later in the neighboring parish of Boreham, co. Essex, where he d., probably in 1650.

In 1624 he was one of the defendants in a suit brought by the churchwardens of Stoke-Nayland. (See ante, p. 63.)

The will of William [7] Coe of Boreham, co. Essex, Esq., dated Apr. 26, 1645. To be buried in the church of Stocke [Stock-Harvard]. To wife Elizabeth, lands for life with reversion to eldest son William [8] Coe. To grandchild William [9] Coe, son of my son William [8] Coe, and to the other children of my son William [8] Coe. To son Thomas [8] Coe an annuity of £40. To cousin Susan wife of my nephew Gyles Allen of Stock, co. Essex, Esq., who is to be overseer. To brother-in-law John Nivil of Stock and Amie his wife, my sister. To cousin Paule Crooke. To Aylmer Whitgift , son of my said wife. To the poor of Boxford, Boreham, and Stock £50 each, at discretion of my son William [8] Coe, my sole executor. Probated Aug. 15, 1650. (P. C. C., 128 Pembroke.) This last bequest was used to establish the "Coe Charity" at Boxford "founded by will or deed dated Mar. 6, 1650-1," and which exists to this day, invested in land, the income thereof being used for the poor of the parish. An inscription put up in the church in 1834 states: "Benefactions and Charities: Coe by Will gave 5 acres, 2 roods, 9 perches, near Hagmoregreen, held by Mr. Edward Parsons at £15 per annum." etc.

APPENDIX VIII
THE COE FAMILY OF LOWESTOFT, CO. SUFFOLK, ENGLAND

Lowestoft is situated on the coast of Suffolk, about forty miles north-east of Ipswich, and very near the borders of Norfolk. The origin of the Coe family of this place is unknown; but it would seem more likely to have derived from some Coe family in nearby Norfolk, than from the Coes of Boxford, co. Suff., or of Gestingthorpe, co. Essex, some fifty to sixty miles to the south-west.

1. ————[1] COE was the father of
2. i. HENRY [2] of Lowestoft, b. about 1560-65.
   ii. MARY, m. ———— CLARKE of Lowestoft.
3. iii. ROBERT of Lowestoft, b. about 1570.

2. HENRY [2] COE, born about 1560-65, was a merchant in Lowestoft where he died in Jan. 1616-17, but a few days after the death of his wife Rebecca who was buried Jan. 19, 1616-17. The will of Henry [2] Coo of Lowestoft, merchant, dated Jan. 13, 1616-17, names brother Robert [2] Coo, and gives houses and lands in Lowestoft to wife Rebecca, she to be executrix, but if she die, son Thomas [3] Coo to be executor. Probated Feb. 16, 1616-17. (P. C. C., 17 Weldon.)

He married REBECCA ————.

Children born and recorded at Lowestoft:

i. PHEBE [3], b. about 1588; m. at Lowestoft, Sept. 22, 1606, FRANCIS KNIGHTS. Her will prob. Oct. 15, 1656. (P. C. C., 426 Berkeley.)

APPENDIX IX
THE COE FAMILY OF LONG MELFORD, CO. SUFFOLK, ENGLAND

The earliest Coe that has been found at Long Melford is ROGER COO, a fuller, who appears there on a Muster Roll of Babergh Hundred in 1522, and also is taxed there on goods valued at £10 in the Subsidy of 1524. (Lay Subsidies, Suffolk, 180-134.) He is probably the "god-son Roger Coo" mentioned in the will of Roger Ponder of Great Waldingfield, co. Suffolk, dated Feb. 22, 1507-8. ("Suffolk Manorial Families," vol. 1, p. 35.) This Roger Coo probably was connected with the Boxford-Groton Coes, but no further information of him has been obtained. He may have been identical with Roger Coo the Martyr, an account of whom is given later, but there is no evidence of it. The Long Melford Registers commence in 1560, but the earliest Coe entry in them is in 1608.

1. HENRY [1] COE, born about 1545, is the earliest Coe of Long Melford from whom a direct descent can be traced. He was sometime of Poslingford, co. Suffolk, before locating in Long Melford, but his ancestry has not been ascertained. In the winter of 1611-12 Henry [1] Coe, two of his sons, and three of his grandchildren, living together in Long Melford, all died within a few weeks; perhaps this mortality was due to unsanitary conditions about their residence.

Henry [1] Coe "the elder" was buried at Long Melford, Dec. 15, 1611, and on Jan. 14, 1611-12, administration on his estate was given to his son Edward [2] Coe of same, yeoman. (Admons., Arch. of Sudbury, Bury St. Edmunds.)

He married July 3, 1567, JANE GUESTBOWLE.

Children:

2. i. HENRY [2], b. about 1568.
   ii. JOHN, b. about 1570. "John Coe sonne of Henry Coe thelder, a blind man, teacher in the arte of musique, bur. y^{e} 21th Decemb. 1611." (Registers of Long Melford.) He was probably unmarried.
   iii. RICHARD, b. about 1573, was living in 1611 but his further history has not been traced. He m. at Poslingford, co. Suffolk, Sept. 28, 1596, ANN PERKINSON.
   iv. ALICE, living 1611.
   v. EDWARD, b. about 1578, was parish-clerk of Long Melford at the time of his death. His will was dated Dec. 21, 1611. To be buried by [beside] my brother John. To eldest brother Henrie 11 sh., and to each of his children 1 sh. To brother Richard £3. To sister Allise a bed and to each of her children a silver spoon. All residue to sisters Joane and Margery, they to be executors. Probated Apr. 21, 1612. (Arch. of Sudbury, vol. 1611-1613, p. 175.) "Edw: Coe, Clerke of the p'ish was bur. y^e^ 29^th^ January, 1611." [1611-12.] (Registers of Long Melford.) He was evidently unmarried.

vi. MARGERY, living 1611.

vii. (ROBERT, b. about 1583)? A Robert Coe m. at Long Melford, Dec. 6, 1608, ELIZABETH MARCH. (This is the earliest Coe entry on the Long Melford Registers which commence in 1560.) If this be a son of Henry [1] Coe, as seems likely, he probably d. before 1611 as he is not mentioned in the will of Edward [2] Coe, given above.

Child:

1. WILLIAM [3], bapt. at Long Melford, Sept. 9, 1609; further history untraced.

viii. JOANE, b. probably about 1587, m. at Long Melford, May 1, 1617, THOMAS KERRINGTON.

2. HENRY [2] COE (Henry [1]), born about 1568, was of Poslingford and after 1608 of Long Melford where he was buried Mar. 30, 1639. No will or administration of his estate can be found.

He married about 1593, MARGARET* ————.

Children:

i. MARGARET [3], b. about 1594, m. May 12, 1610, EDWARD HAYWARD.

ii. HENRY, bapt. July 12, 1596, d. young.

3. iii. STEPHEN, b. about 1598.

iv. MARY, b. about 1601. "John a bast. to Mary Coe bapt. the 6^th^ of July 1620, bur. y^e^ 16^th^ day of July 1620." (Registers of Long Melford.)

4. v. EDMUND, b. about 1603.

vi. GRACE, b. about 1606, m. Feb. 8, 1629-30, ROBERT CLARK.

vii. JOANE, bapt. at Long Melford, July 2, 1609, buried there Aug. 17, 1610.

ix. ALICE, bapt. at Long Melford, in Feb., 1611-12, bur. there, Feb. 29, 1611-12.

x. HENRY, bapt. at Long Melford, Oct. 9, 1614, history untraced.

3. STEPHEN [3] COE (Henry [2] (2), Henry [1]), born about 1598, was of Poslingford, co. Suffolk about 1625, and later of Alpheton, co. Suffolk, where he appears on the Suffolk Shipmoney Tax of 1640. His later history has not been learned.

He married about 1621, but the name of his wife has not been discovered.

Children:

i. GRACE [4], bapt. at Poslingford in Feb. 1621-2.

ii. STEPHEN, b. about 1624, was a clothier [cloth-maker] and resided in Alpheton, co. Suffolk, where he d. in 1692. His will dated April 23, 1691, probated Nov. 6, 1692, bequeathed his lands in Alpheton and Shimpling to son John [5] Coe of Cockfield and to the latter's son

*Her name does not appear in the Long Melford Registers, but the transcripts of them for 1609 in the Archdeaconry of Sudbury have this record: "Julij. Joane Daught^r^ of Henry & Margret Coe baptised y^e^ second day."

Stephen [6] Coe when twenty-one; to daughter Hannah [5] wife of Abraham Coe of Melford an annuity of £4 for life; to son Moses [5] Coe, clerk, [clergyman] £100; to daughter-in-law Hannah now wife of Miles Burroughs and relict of my son Stephen [5] Coe of Bury St. Edmunds, a messuage in Cockfield for life with reversion to her daughter Hannah [6] Coe; to daughter Martha [5] now wife of David Browne of Cockfield; to grandchild Rose Austyn daughter of William Austyn, deceased; to son-in-law William Michell of Lavenham, who married my daughter Sarah [5] Coe, £60, and to her two children William and John. Executors, son John [5] Coe of Cockfield, son-in-law William Michell of Lavenham, and son Abraham Coe of Melford. (P. C. C., 191 Fane.)

His marriage has not been found.

Children:

1. JOHN [5], b. about 1648, was of Cockfield, co. Suffolk and had issue.
2. HANNAH, b. about 1650, m. ABRAHAM COE of Long Melford. (He was probably the Abraham [4] Coe son of Thomas [3] Coe of Shimpling. See ante p. 546.)
3. REV. MOSES, b. about 1652, graduated at Magdalene College, Cambridge, M.A. 1676, and for over forty years was rector of Elmsett, co. Suffolk, where he d. Feb. 23, 1726-7.

He m. Elizabeth ———.
Children:
1. Elizabeth [4], b. in 1675.
2. Ann, b. in 1679.

From the Coes of Long Melford descended the late George Coe of High Street Farm in that parish, born Nov. 29, 1831, son of George J. and Anna A. (Tiffin) Coe. Mr. Coe was a substantial farmer, for some years was a church-warden of Long Melford, and had an interest in the family history. Over thirty years ago some of the American Coes started a correspondence with him and in recent years several of them had called upon him at his home in Long Melford, as he had an idea that Robert Coe, the colonist of New England, came from Wash Farm situated in that parish and the adjacent parish of Alpheton. Mr. Coe also sent to correspondents in America numerous extracts from the registers of Long Melford purporting to be of Coes, nearly all of which a careful examination of the registers shows were erroneously copied, doubtless on account of his lack of knowledge of ancient handwriting; and no evidence has been found to substantiate his idea that Robert Coe, the colonist of New England came from Long Melford. Mr. Coe left a son George John Coe, an expert rider to hounds, who resides (1910) at Lodge Farm, Long Melford, and a daughter married to Rev. Alfred G. W. Sayer, now (1910) curate of Ilford, near London.

APPENDIX X
ROGER COO, THE MARTYR, 1555

For over three centuries Roger Coo, a martyr of the Reformation, has been a character well known to historical investigators of the Coe family, because of the account of his trial given in "Acts and Monuments" by John Foxe (born 1517, died 1587), commonly known as Foxe's "Book of Martyrs." He is described as "ancient" and "of long extended years" at the time of his martyrdom in 1555, so doubtless he was born as early as 1475; but except for Foxe's account, we have secured no information of this hero of religious liberty, nor learned to what Coe family he belonged, nor ascertained whether or not he left descendants.

Foxe's account of Roger Coo is as follows:

ROGER COO, an ancient gentleman, was brought before the Bishop of Norwich, and the following account of his examination will give a good idea of the degree of mercy and justice to be expected at such a tribunal, it being evident that the examination was a mere mockery.

Roger Coo, being brought before the bishop, was first asked by him why he was imprisoned.

Coo. At the justice's commandment.

Bishop. There was some cause why.

Coo. Here is my accuser, let him declare.

Accuser. He would not receive the sacrament.

Bishop. Then he has transgressed the laws.

Coo. There was no law to transgress.

Bishop. What do you say to the law that now is?

Coo. I have been in prison a long time and know it not.

Accuser. No, nor will not. My lord, ask him when he received the sacrament.

Coo. I pray you, my lord, let him sit down and examine me himself.

Bishop. No; but why will you not receive?

Coo. Because the bishop of Rome has changed God's ordinances and given the people bread and wine instead of the gospel and the belief of the same.

Bishop. Is not the holy church to be believed?

Coo. Yes, if it be built on the word of God.

Bishop. I have charge of your soul.

Coo. Have you so, my lord? Then if you go to the devil for your sins, what shall become of me?

Bishop. Do you not believe as your father did? Was not he an honest man?

Coo. It is written, that after Christ hath suffered, then shall come a people with a prince that shall destroy both city and sanctuary. I pray you, show me whether their destruction was in my father's time or not?

Bishop. Will you or will you not obey the King's laws?

Coo. As far as they agree with the word of God, I will obey them.

Bishop. Whether they agree with the word of God or not, we are bound to obey them, even if the King were an infidel.

Coo. If Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego had so done, Nebuchadnezzar had not confessed the living God.

Bishop. These two and twenty years we have been governed by such Kings.

Coo. My lord, why was you then dumb, and did not speak or bark?

Bishop. I durst not for fear of death.

And there they ended.

Mr. Coo was an aged man, and was at length committed to the fire at Yoxford, in the county of Suffolk, where he most blessedly concluded his long extended years in the month of September, 1555. (Foxe's "Acts and Monuments of Christian Martyrs," p. 327.)

INDEX OF PERSONS

The numerals refer to the pages on which the names are to be found. Descendants of Robert [1] Coe bearing the name "Coe" have appended to their names the number of their generation in descent from him.
